Fall & Winter Coat Event

Weeks ago we anticipated that many of our customers would find their budget would allow not more than $50.00 for a Winter Coat, so we planned to give them the best possible garment for that amount. By very careful buying and by keeping our own mark-up very low, we have succeeded. These coats have all the newest style features, the materials are all pure wool, fully lined and chamois interlined. In fact, they are very desirable coats. Sizes 10 to 20 and half sizes. Budget terms if desired.

DOROTHY DIX

Young Marriage Is Grief Wed Teenagers Unhappy

DEAR MISS DIX: A most tragic thing has come into my life I married a man twenty-four years my senior and after living with him for seventeen years I have fallen madly in love with his son by a former marriage, who is just my age. He returns my affection, and the course we have decided upon is to mark time, if possible, until my husband passes on. The son is devoted to his father and says he will gladly await the time when we can have each other without any regret or heartaches. My husband has been a wonderful husband and I love him devotedly. Can you imagine a worse situation than we are in?

MARION.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: You present an aspect of the human triangle that is as morbid and ghastly as any ever set forth in a Eugene O'Neill play. Yet such grisly tragedies do happen in real life, perhaps oftener than we know. One can even understand how they happen when a girl marries a man old enough to be her father and then is thrown in contact with his son of her own age. Youth calls to youth, and nobody is to blame unless it is cynical old Mother Nature, who made things that way and left us poor, weak mortals to take the consequences.

Gruesome Thing

But it is a horrible and gruesome thing to wait for dead men's shoes. It atrophies everything that is fine and noble in a man and woman to sit and watch for some sign of disease in another, for them to coldly calculate the chances of some one being run over by an automobile or meeting with some other accident. Whether they admit it or not there is murder in the heart of every man and woman whose happiness and wellbeing depends upon the death of another.

So, if you want to save your love and save your respect for each other, break off this dreadful engagement to wait until your husband passes on to marry. The only decent thing is for you to part and forget each other as much as you can, substitute other interests and other thoughts and do your duty to the man who has been a good, kind father and husband. And never let him find out about this unhappy love that has come into your lives.

DEAR MISS DIX: My complaint is that the present-day American woman has placed her physical attractiveness above her charm. She is succeeding quite well in making herself physically attractive, but very definitely she is losing her charm. That is why you meet so many women who are merely attractive to look at, but insufferably dull and uninteresting to talk to, and who have really no appeal. What a pity that women do not realize that beauty is only the frame, charm is the masterpiece within. Can't you do something about it?

S. W.

ANSWER: No, because women are sold on the idea that the only thing that counts is beauty. They believe that their looks are the only thing that attracts a man to a woman. That is the reason they devote their every thought and energy to improving their bodies and pay no attention whatever to developing a spiritual beauty.

Wherever we go we meet women who are a treat to the eyes but a weariness to the ear. They are good to look at, but they haven't an idea under their perfectly waved hair.

These women lack charm, and no matter how orchidaceous they are, they cannot hold us. We turn from them to some women who may not have a single good feature to bless herself with, but who has sympathy and understanding and gentleness and a subtle hand that strokes our fur the right way.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 years old and I want to marry a girl who is six months younger than myself. My parents are very much opposed to it. They say I am too young. I think that age doesn't matter as long as we love each other. I am writing you in hopes that you can convince my parents that they are just being selfish in refusing to let me marry and making me very unhappy.

A. H. S.

ANSWER: Age does not matter in your case, son, because at 18 a boy is incapable of a lasting love. Nor is he ready to settle down. Any girl that you would marry now you would be sick and tired of by the time you are grown up.

You may think you are unhappy now, but you are not so unhappy as you would be if you were tied down with a family and had to forego all the pleasures of youth. Listen to your parents and save yourself a lot of grief.

W.I. of Westwood Entertains Percy Institute

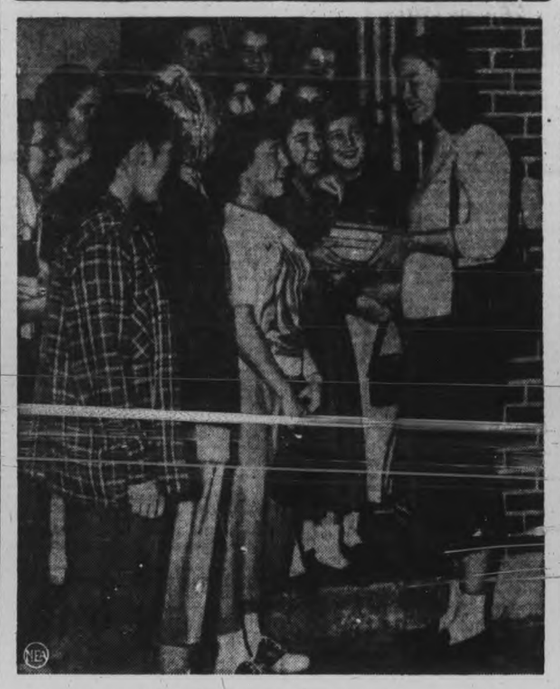
WESTWOOD, Sept. 22—(ENS)—More than 20 members of Percy Womens' Institute were guests on Tuesday of Westwood W.I. The meeting, which was in the Town Hall, opened with a pot-luck dinner at the noon hour, after which the regular monthly meeting was held.

The program, in charge of the visiting group, had Mrs. Shaw as leader. Humorous readings were given by Mrs. Laver and Mrs. Vansickle; a song by Mrs. McCubbin, who played her own accompaniment and who also rendered a piano solo. A bird contest was won by Mrs. F. E. Birdsall.

Mrs. McCubbin voiced the appreciation of the visitors for the dinner and her vote of thanks was responded to by Mrs. Birdsall.

To Take Short Course

During the business discussion with the president, Mrs. William Post presiding, the members were reminded of the short course on oven meals to be held in the Town Hall on November 24 and 25. The annual Westwood W.I. prize to Norwood Fair will be for home-made candy.



It was decided to start a euchre party series every two weeks, starting October 5, perhaps with bingo on that date.

A committee was appointed to have charge of all arrangements and included Mrs. Post, Mrs. Pacey, Mrs. E. Elmhurst and Mrs. L. Hutchinson.

Events of current interest, both local and abroad, were given by Mrs. W. Mood and the motto "God taught me to read, He lent me the world for a book," was read by Mrs. Everett Elmhurst.

There was an exhibition of fancy work by the visiting branch.

Of Interest to Women

SCHOOL GIRL AGAIN—Shirley May France, who won fame for her courage even though she failed in her attempt to swim the English Channel, was just another bobby soxer, when she returned to high school in Somerset, Mass. Here admiring fellow students hand the 17-year-old girl her books, which will be her main interest until next Spring when she'll start training again for another try.

first raid on Dunkirk, who arrived from Largs, Ayrshire, Scotland, accompanied by Mr. Wilson and the latter's son, Cyril Barrett. The newcomers also plan to make their homes in this district. Miss Morris, who worked with an anti-aircraft unit during the war, came here in January and has been staying with Mrs. McKay.

38 At Mission Band

Nettie McKenzie Mission Band of Knox Church met Wednesday evening with 37 members and one guest present in the primary room. They were under supervision of Mrs. K. Fairbairn, superintendent. President Dorothy Ann Johnston conducted the opening ceremony. Secretary David Ross and treasurer Joan Dunn reported. Maurietta Rosborough conducted the worship service, Arlene Williams and Carol Young lighted candles, while Christine and Carol Douglas gave the call to worship. Scripture was read by Joan Cruikshank, Jane Lembke and Daisy Panter, and prayers given by Vivian Gillespie, Bernice Rosborough and Dennis McDonald. The offering was taken by Benny Mander and Wayne Rosborough. The Rev. H. G. Douglas visited the meeting to welcome the boys and girls and remind them of the rally on Sunday. Mrs. Fairbairn took up the first chapter of their study book.

Scottish Sisters Re-United

Five sisters are together today for the first time in 20 years. Mrs. Donald McKay, Mrs. Mary Nicholls and Miss Ruby Morris, of Bridgenorth, on Wednesday welcomed Mrs. Wm. Miller and Mrs. Barrett, a widow since the first raid on Dunkirk, who arrived from Largs, Ayrshire, Scotland, accompanied by Mr. Wilson and the latter's son, Cyril Barrett. The newcomers also plan to make their homes in this district. Miss Morris, who worked with an anti-aircraft unit during the war, came here in January and has been staying with Mrs. McKay.

"Our whole family uses Noxzema," says charming Mrs. Constance Raymond of Toronto. "It's tops," she adds, "Grand for the children's tender skins . . . and it's my regular all-purpose beauty cream."

CANADIAN FAMILIES FIND NOXZEMA GREAT FOR MANY SKIN TROUBLES

Get your big jar NOW! New beauty . . . new skin comfort for the whole family

● EVERY FAMILY has its share of annoying little skin problems . . . embarrassing facial blemishes, for instance, or rough, dry skin. Then there are red rough hands from housework . . . uncomfortable baby rashes . . . children's little burns and chafes . . . painful chapping.

Pictured here are five Canadian women who have found the answer to these typical skin troubles. They are only five among the thousands of smart women all over Canada who are turning to the delightful medicated cream—Noxzema—to bring new comfort to the whole family and new skin beauty to themselves.

Lovelier Face, Hands

How about you—are you having any trouble with your skin? Are ugly blemishes marring your beauty . . . does rough dry skin spoil your loveliness . . . are you ashamed of your hands—are they red, rough and irritated from housework? Then take a tip from scores of professional women, models and actresses who rely on medicated Noxzema Skin Cream to help keep their skin soft, smooth and lovely.

Try Noxzema as a dainty protective powder base. Holds make-up beautifully yet doesn't clog your pores. Use it as your night cream before retiring. It's greaseless . . . doesn't stain.

Get your jar while the big 6 ounce 93¢ jar is offered for only 79¢. If you now have Noxzema on hand—stock up at this bargain price—and save. Time is limited—so don't delay! At all drug and cosmetic counters

Dry skin. Pat Heselton of Montreal says, "My skin was so dry and flaky I couldn't even use powder. But since using Noxzema regularly, I get many compliments on my skin."

Red, rough hands..."In our home we all use soothing Noxzema all winter long to protect our hands and faces from wind and weather," says Mrs. Johanna West of Winnipeg.

Children's tender skin needs wintertime protection! Mrs. Henry Clifford of Anaster says, "I always use Noxzema on their faces when I put the children out to play."

Facial blemishes. Charming Hazel Gradinger of Montreal first used Noxzema for blemishes. "It proved so wonderfully effective," she says, "It's now my regular beauty cream."

Campbellford Graduates Urged Become Leaders

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 22—(ENS)—"Your companions will either lead you or you will lead them," A. A. Martin, Public School Inspector, Brighton, told the Public School graduating class at a meeting of the Home and School Association Wednesday night.

"You had leadership in the home, the school, the community and I hope in the church," he continued. "Now the time has come when you must learn to lead."

Mr. Martin said the world needed people today who were not afraid to work. Work was not as popular as it used to be, he declared.

"No doubt," he said, "you have consuming faith in your parents. You should have faith in yourselves, in others and above all a crowning faith in God.

"To succeed in school," he stated, "you must have courage, endurance and an enthusiasm for your work. Life is packed full of opportunities and success comes to those who strive."

The following successful entrance pupils were called to the platform, where Mr. Martin presented them with diplomas:

Robert Barnum, Shirley Boyce, Doris Brethour, John Doan, Joyce Dunk, Dorothy Ferris, Barbara Finlay, Barbara Fox, Margaret Gummo, Joyce Haig, Anne Hay, Beverly Heenan, Laurence Johnston, Hilliard Jones, Pauline Latimer, and Doris Linn.

John MacDonald, Maxine MacArthur, Gerald McNaughton, Gaele Meyers, Donna Mutton, Jean Pettifer, Robert Poulton, Wilma Rose, Donna Sharp, Gerald Sills, Eileen Simpson, Donalda Smith, Sherwin Stapley, Gwenneth Stephens, Jean Stephens, Della West, Joan Wilmink, Gearold Young and Jean Haig.

Dorothy Ferris, an honor graduate, gave the valedictory address. She said that it was hard to leave the teachers who had piloted them through the public school. "Now we find ourselves in a strange world with plenty of hard work ahead of us," she said. "We hope to make the best of it."

Mrs. Jack Cowell reported on the course to train leaders in child psychology which was held last week in the Parish Hall.

She said that the object of the course was to train leaders in child psychology so that they could impart the knowledge to others. The material will be condensed and made available for parent study groups this winter, she stated.

The entertainment program included a violin solo by Gerald Young with his brother, Donald, at the piano; a dance by Gaele Meyers, accompanied by Donna Sharp, and a song by Anne Hay. Mrs. A. C. Newman presided.

Border Patrol Changes Made

ST. ALBANS, Vt, Sept. 22. — (AP).—The transfer of 22 border patrol officers to New York City and plans to close nine stations along the international boundary in New York, Vermont and Maine were announced yesterday by the immigration service.

James W. Butterfield, district director, also said 15 other units will be assigned wider areas to cover.

He said a reorganization in the border patrol's first district will close units at Island Pond, Newport and Alburg, Vt.; Mooers, Morristown and Watertown, N.J.; and Fort Fairfield, Fort Kent and Rangeley, Me.

A wider area of coverage, he said, will be assigned units at Beechers Falls, Derby Line, Richford and Swanton, Vt.; Rouses Point, Chateaugay, Fort Covington, Massena, Clayton and Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Calais, Vanceboro, Van Buren, Jackman and Houlton, Me.

UE Wants Wage Loss Boost

Devaluation will mean a decrease in the value of the Canadian workingman's wage dollar, it was stated Wednesday at the closing session of the 13th annual District 5 Convention of the UE-CIO.

A statement issued at the conclusion of the three-day convention urged "united action on the part of the Canadian Congress of Labor to lead a national, co-ordinated wage drive that will restore the real value of our wage dollar and raise our living standard."

The contention of the UE, the statement continued, remains the same: that Canadian labor has been faced with the necessity of wage increases since the war. Re-imposition of price controls, and the excess profits tax were advocated to prevent unnecessary increases in prices and profits.

Devaluation should not be the excuse for profiteering and unwarranted price rises, the release stated.

Representing Local 524 at the Hamilton convention which ended Wednesday were George Niles, Art Hunter, William Whibbs, Geo. Wallace, Herbert Youngs, Tom Davies and George O'Brien.

2 Dangerous Storms Advancing Northward

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP) — Two "potentially dangerous" tropical storms — one a full-fledged hurricane, but weakening in strength—churned near land in widely separated sections today.

The entire Texas coast remained on the alert as a still undeveloped storm wallowed through the Gulf of Mexico about 170 miles south of Galveston.

Residents of the southern and eastern sides of Nispaniola—the Dominican Republic and Haiti—and the southwest tip of Puerto Rico watched anxiously as a larger and stronger disturbance moved west northwestward along a path about 35 miles east of San Pedro.

The Caribbean storm, about a thousand miles southeast of Florida, showed evidences of weakening, the weather bureau at Juan reported.

Cotton Growing Tried In West

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Sept. 22.—(CP).—This southeastern Alberta city — western end of the prairie drought season — will be the heart of Canada's only cotton bowl if a retired blacksmith's dream comes true.

The start of a long-term experiment in hardy cotton growing was made in the district this year after Alderman Simon F. Scott returned from a trip to Texas with 100 pounds of seed.

The seed was planted in about 100 district plots—on farm lands, in Ald. Scott's garden, in city greenhouses and in an irrigated field and under glass at the city plant nursery.

Although an early September frost killed off most of the unprotected plants before the cotton was to come out, enough seed was rescued from covered plants to ensure continuation of the experiment in 1950.

Ald. Scott's optimism is based on the fact that the climate of this corner of Alberta is quite similar to that of Texas where the original seed was obtained.

Big Corn Crop Fills All Silos

If the hay mows of Ontario were packed with timothy and alfalfa to the same degree of tightness plus overflow as are the nearby silos, it would be a winter of plenty for the livestock of the province.

Farmers have made little mention of corn this fall because it ceased to be a novelty. It was one of the most uniformly tall crops in a long time.

The weekly report of the Ontario Department quotes a typical comment from Huron: "Silo filling is about complete Most farmers have an abundance of corn."

Norfolk says: "Silos are beginning to bulge with the bountiful corn harvest, and there is plenty left over for a second filling."

Effect of the remembered dry summer is indicated in the Halton report: "The winter feed situation is grim. Many barns are nearly empty. Good quality hay has been delivered to local barns at $25 to $27 a ton."

Seeding of fall wheat is about completed. The young growth is as vitally green as the pasture fields. Lambton farmers who seeded long term pasture mixtures in August have a splendid catch of grass and clovers.

Cheese production in Hastings is 25,000 pounds heavier than last year. Northumberland orchards are yielding an excellent quality crop of McIntosh Reds. Victoria says quite a number of farmers are having trouble with weevils in their fall wheat. "Most of the corn is ensiled, and there is a large quantity left over."

Oxford crop of tomatoes for canning is "very heavy." Early sown fall wheat has made a strong start in Durham.

Lincoln: "The peach and plum market is slow, and unless the basket shortage is relieved and the price improved, many tons of peaches and plums will remain on the trees."

St. Peter's Remains Found–Archbishop

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 22 — (AP)—The Roman Catholic Archbishop of New Orleans said today the remains of St. Peter have "definitely" been found in a tomb in the St. Peter's Basilica in Rome.

Most Rev. Joseph F. Rummell spoke to reporters just before he boarded the Queen Mary for New York after a pilgrimage to the Vatican.

Pope Pius has long entertained the theory that St. Peter's remains were buried in a crypt in St. Peter's Church.

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 22 (AP) —A spokesman for the press office of the Vatican said today he could neither confirm nor deny the Archbishop's report.

The information received by Archbishop Rummell could not have been official, the spokesman said, because official information could not have been revealed by him. All who have worked on the excavations have been sworn to secrecy by Pope Pius, the spokesman added.

Riot Flares After Tangle With Picket

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP) — Violence broke out again this morning in the Bell Aircraft strike.

Undersheriff Arthur Muisiner said a small-scale riot started as the result of a fight between a picket from striking Local 501 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) and a non-striker.

Within seconds, pickets raced to the aid of the union member and mounted Sheriff's deputies began wielding clubs to break up the disorder.

Union spokesman said several persons were tramped in the melee and that one of their men was injured seriously and taken to hospital in nearby Niagara Falls.

The incident occurred when a bus load of non-strikers arrived at the main gate of the plant. It was the first outbreak since the company and the union resumed negotiations Monday with State and Federal mediators.

The strike of the plant's 1,700 production workers began last June 13.

Shortly after the incident, about 200 unionists, four and five abreast, marched up Niagara Falls Boulevard from a nearby strike headquarters tent singing "solidarity forever."

The marchers halted at the main gate and massed facing the plant. They chanted "we want Hartl." A few minutes later the union members reformed and marched back to their headquarters.

Brinton Cub Wins Praise

The wish of the Social and Athletic Club of Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. to contribute something to the community spirit of the south end of the city by Tuesday night's band concert was satisfactorily realized.

The program by Peterborough Citizen's Band was fully appreciated. Eighteen boxes of chocolates were distributed as attendance prizes. The carpet company donated two mats which were won by bandsmen, and the whole affair was free. But the weather doesn't get any mention for its mixture of chill and dampness.

"We were a little disappointed," said Walter Dyer of the employees club. "We thought we might have had a few more hundred. Attendance was between two and three hundred. That was a pretty fair response, and I think everybody who came liked the program. Bandmaster Peryer commented on each of the numbers in advance. It was the only free concert of the season in that large area of the city."

The concert was held in the main building at Exhibition Park.

Mary Garden On Trip

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Mary Garden, once one of the world's most glamorous opera singers sailed Wednesday night for her first visit to the United States in 15 years. The 72-year-old soprano sailed for New York aboard the liner Nieuw Amsterdam. Miss Garden has been living in retirement in her native Aberdeen, Scotland.

Hydro Fails Twice As Wires Entangle

NORWOOD, Sept. 22 (ENS).—Two hydro cut-offs, one lasting an hour on Tuesday and another on Wednesday morning shortly before noon, were caused by the blasting on the Hastings Road. Some rocks had to be removed by dynamite and during the process wires became tangled.

Wants Tourists Told Of Rules Crossing Border

OTTAWA, Sept. 22 — (CP) — Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC-Macleod) suggested Tuesday night in the Commons that steps be taken to inform United States tourists they are not allowed to bring fruit across the border at certain points

A member of the Commons since 1935, Mr. Hansell confessed he had never heard of a regulation barring the entry of uninspected fruit as a protection against the spread of fruit and tree disease in Canada.

He was stopped at a border point during the summer and told he had the option of throwing the fruit ni the customs disposal bins or of eating them He chose to share his bag of peaches with customs officials, but while eating them he noted the annoyance of others who first learned of the regulations He suggested the tourists be given a leaflet giving the reasons for the regulations.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the suggestion was a good one and probably would be studied by the Department.

"NO WELFARE, NO WORK" — Miners Alex Santone and Charles Backus survey an idle coal mine scene at Library, Pa.,, after the "no welfare, no work" protest took most of the nation's soft coal miners out of action. The strike was expected to idle about 180,000 United Mine Workers members.

United Church Camp Grows At Moira Lake

HAVELOCK, Sept. 22—(ENS) — Quin-Mo-Lac, the Young People's Camp of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, at Moira Lake, was the scene of great activity on Friday and Saturday when 30 members of the Havelock YPU formed themselves into a work speeding the completion of this youth project.

Quin-Mo-Lac comprises 300 acres of land and one mile of lake front. It is two-thirds wooded, with cedar, white birch, poplar, beech, oak, maples, bass-wood, elm, ironwood and some other types. The beach is sandy and free of rocks for 100 yards near where the first buildings are erected.

Four cottages were built this year. Two of these were given a coat of paint by a group of 10 girls under the direction of Miss Marie Vanderburgh. A group of boys under Bruce Melville gave their attention to the ball diamond, clearing away the stones, erecting a back stop for which five poles were used, standing 12 feet out of the ground. The spaces between the poles were filled with lumber to the height of five feet, wire being used from there to the required height.

The young people were well organized under the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, chairman of the building committee for the project, and gave a good account of themselves in all the work undertaken. Mrs. Vanderburgh was in charge of the meals which were served out of doors in a beautiful spot where tables, covered with white oilcloth, were erected between trees. Groups of girls and boys took turns in cooking and washing dishes.

The recreational periods comprised a sing-song on the beach on Friday night, followed by the serving of hot cocoa and sandwiches in the kitchen, a marshmallow roast and swimming. On Saturday morning they assembled on the beach for a devotional service led by Mr. Vanderburgh.

Those who supplied transportation to Moira Lake for the young people were: the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, R. Vansickle, G. E. Bales, James Watson, Albert Smith and Bruce Melville.

Gives Organ For Camp

An organ was donated for the camp by Mrs. E. Fennell, which belonged to her mother, the late Mrs. Jesse Campney.

The aim in constructing the Quin-Mo-Lac camp is to build well and thoroughly so that when it is completed the young people of the Bay of Quinte Conference will have one of the finest youth camps of the Christian Church to be found anywhere in Canada.

The large main dinnig hall is planned to be 75 feet long and 30 feet wide. Fifteen L-shaped cottages and three lodges are also planned to accommodate from 125 to 150 persons. These are to be built in three units, one lodge and five cottages comprising a unit. Each cottage has a cement stoop and steps. A street car now being used as sleeping accommodation for eight persons, was painted this year and when the project is completed will be converted into a workshop.

Cupboards are being built in the main kitchen and 24 (3 foot) buttresses have been erected for the foundation of the main dining hall.

It is hoped that Quin-Mo-Lac will be officially opened in 1950 on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the United Church of Canada.

E. Ingham, fourth year science of agriculture course, O.A.C., Guleph.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Larmer returned at the weekend from their trip to the west coast.

Mrs. Gordon Powell, of Peterborough, was in town Monday night attending the meeting of the local Lady Lions Club, of which she was president last year.

No Change in Lauder

STRATHAVEN, Lanarkshire, Scotland, Sept. 22 (CP)—Condition of Sir Harry Lauder, critically ill from cerebral thrombosis and uremia, has been "unchanged" for two weeks, his doctor said today. A fortnight ago the aged Scottish comedian was reported resting quietly and recovering some strength.

Harvest For Overseas

HASTINGS, Sept. 22—(ENS)—St. George's Anglican Church will hold its annual harvest Sunday next weekend. There will be a basket at the entrance to the church to receive donations of food and money to help with the packing of the monthly overseas parcels.

RUSSIA MASTERS ATOM BOMB SECRET

Witness Says Noronic Capt. Drunk

CSL Starts Libel Suit For $250,000 Against American

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23 (CP)—Sharply different views on the condition of the captain of the ill-fated Great Lakes steamship Noronic at the time she burned at her Toronto pier was presented by two survivors of the disaster at an inquiry held here on Thursday.

C. R. Willson charged before Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, who called the one-day inquiry for Canadian authorities, that the captain, William Taylor, a veteran of 43 years on Great Lakes waters, was so drunk that he should not have been aboard.

Taylor, who suffered burns on his face and right hand in the fire which cost an estimated 130 lives, immediately denied the allegation. Willson claimed he saw the 65-year-old captain on the jetty at Toronto, supported by two policemen.

The other survivor, Miss Ann Marie Malone, testified that she saw the captain in a lobby of the Noronic about 15 minutes before the fire and that "he bowed a greeting to us and walked up the steps very proudly." The holocaust broke out around 2:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

(At Toronto Captain Taylor denied that he was intoxicated when his ship was swept by fire. He said: "Ask Capt. Albert Galloway. Ask Frank Wilkinson. They saw me. Others saw me."

Mr. and Mrs. Dick O'Brien, of Fort William, survivors of the Noronic fire, today branded the statement that Captain William Taylor was drunk aboard the ship the night of the disaster as a "vicious lie."

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, visiting at Woodstock, declared they had been standing beside the captain on C deck and he was perfectly normal. He was doing his best to fight the fire, they said.

(Captain Galloway, shore captain of Canada Steamship Lines, owners of the Noronic, also denied the drunkenness charge

PLOT BOMB'S FUTURE—British, Canadian and United States officials meet in Washington to determine the future of their war-born atomic-bomb partnership. Front row, left to right, Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador to the United States; James Webb, United States undersecretary of state, and C. D. Howe, Canadian minister of trade and commerce. Back—Sir Derick Hoyer-Millar, British minister; William Webster, deputy (atomic) to the United States secretary of defence, and Sumner Pike, acting chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Britain Testing Air Defences

LONDON, Sept. 23 (Reuters)—At dusk tonight pilots and the ground staff from the United States, France Belgium and the Netherlands will join with the RAF in a mock air war to test Britain's air defence system.

On the side of the RAF attacking forces will be the new American B-50 bombers and their smaller predecessors, the B-29s, stationed in Britain.

French and Belgian pilots will, for the first time since the war, contribute fighter squadrons to the defending forces and Dutch jet Meteor air crews will again co-operate with the RAF Fighter Command in blunting "enemy" raids.

Helen Hayes Daughter Dies From Infection

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Mary MacArthur, actress Helen Hayes' 10-year-old "Act of God" daughter whose birth stirred a theatre controversy, died Thursday night.

Miss MacArthur, an actress in her own right, died in hospital of what was termed a "generalized virus infection." Her father is Charles MacArthur, the playwright. Her parents were at her bedside when she died.

The "act of God" controversy came during the run of a Broadway play, "Coquette." Miss Hayes suddenly withdrew from the cast because she was expecting a baby.

Her withdrawal was followed by closing of the play and a consequent dispute over actors' salary rights.

Miss Hayes' side contended that having a baby constituted an "act of God" and could not be construed as a contract breach or other cause for withholding salaries.

Cabbie Dares Killer To Shoot Him

MONTREAL, Sept. 23 (CP)—The murder of a 46-year-old taxidriver, who apparently dared his slayer to shoot him, today gave police what they said was one of the toughest cases in years.

Homicide squad detectives said they had not a single clue to the man who fatally shot Avila Legault, whose body was found slumped over the wheel of his cab early this morning on east-end Fullum Street.

Paul Dufresne, who lives near the spot where Legault was found slumped over the wheel of his cab, said he heard the cabbie say: "Go on and shoot, what's the matter? Why don't you shoot?"

Then a shot rang out. Dufresne called police.

Dr. C. Martel, who also lives nearby, said he ran out of his house at the sound of the shot and pulled Legault from the cab. He said the driver was shot through the heart and nothing could be done to save him.

Legault died on his way to hospital and police said he had been shot by a 45-calibre bullet.

The shooting climaxed a wave of taxi holdups in the city. Two days ago driver Lucien Leonard was held up near the same spot and $12 taken from him.

Police found Legault's cab up on the curb with it front bumper hard against a tree. Dash-board lights and the roof-sign were lighted.

Robbed Of Payroll

OSHAWA, Sept. 23 — (CP)—Ruth Henry, an employee of the H. R. Stark Plumbing and Heating Company here, said today she was robbed of the company payroll by two men who met her outside the Bank of Commerce branch shortly after noon. Miss Henry, said the men forced her to walk about four blocks to the outskirts of the business district where they robbed her and fled.

Won't Cut Dollar Any More Howe Sure 10% Enough

OTTAWA, Sept. 23—(CP)—Trade Minister Howe believes Canada won't move to devalue the dollar further. "I believe we can hold it at 10-per-cent devaluation," he told a press conference Thursday. Few countries in the world 'dared' free their currencies, he added as he discussed sterling and dollar devaluation and the impact on Canada's foreign and domestic trade.

The days were over when currency could be bought and sold on the free market "where every speculator can shoot at it."

With the Canadian dollar devalued 10 per cent, there appeared to be an advantage to the Canadian exporter shipping to the United States, Mr. Howe said. He wasn't certain how long this trend would continue.

There was an uncertainty, too, about Canadian trade with Britain. By 1952, the minister believed, Canada would have to balance trade with that country —there by disrupting her one big traditional trading triangle.

Traditionally, Canada sold more to the U.K. than she bought and with the favorable balance paid for some imports from the U.S. where she almost always has a deficit.

No Disadvantages

Before arriving at the press conference, Mr. Howe disagreed with H. R. Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) that Canada had a disadvantage in the United Kingdom market.

"I think, if anything, Canada is in better competitive position in the British market than she was prior to devaluation," he said.

The Trade Minister told reporters later that Canada had an advantage over the U.S. in exports to the sterling area since the Canadian dollar was 10-per-cent lower than the American.

In view of the dollar situation, Mr. Howe said he was discussing with other government officers the need for reviewing import controls and making adjustments.

Need Controls

He believed there would be need for controls against the import of U.S. steel and other capital goods which consumed large parts of Canadian dollar reserves.

Other adjustments may include upward adjustments in the quota group, specifically to make up for devaluation. Most quotas were based on 75 per cent of the value of 1947 imports. These may be increased to 85 per cent.

Union Expulsion Death Sentence

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (CP)—A British Columbia Supreme Court justice Thursday termed a union's action in expelling one of its members "little less than a sentence of industrial death."

Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker awarded Myron Kuzych, a welder, $5,000 damages in this suit against the Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of Canada, Local No. 1.

The jurist found the committee which suspended and later expelled Kuzych was without jurisdiction because it was not properly constituted.

The committee ruled Kuzych out of the union because of acts allegedly discreditable to the union, including slandering a union leader and opposing union policies.

Calling the action "contrary to natural justice," Mr. Justice Whittaker said it was alarming to think a man's well-being and happiness could rest in the hands of a tribunal exercising powers not conferred by parliament.

Packinghouse Union Ratifies Agreement

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP)—In a Canada-wide vote members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO) ratified by an overwhelming majority working agreements providing for a basic wage increase of six cents an hour, a union official said on Thursday.

S. W. Dowling, UPWA national director, said three of Canada's biggest meat packing concerns were notified Thursday of the of the result of the vote. They are Canada Packers Limited, Burns and Company and Swift Canadian Company.

Figures on the balloting were not released.

The new one-year contracts provides for an increase in the hourly rate of pay from 97 cents to $1.03. Additional increases of 7½ to 12½ cents an hour are provided to eliminate geographical differential.

The increases are retroactive to Aug. 1, effective date of the contracts.

Bus Smashes Hydro Pole Football Players Injured

GRIMSBY, Sept. 23 — (CP).—Several players and officials of the St. Catharines Rams football team were injured or shaken up when their chartered bus taking them to Toronto for a game smashed into hpdro poles on the Queen Elizabeth Way after the front tire of the vehicle blew out.

Taken to hospital were Donald Miller 20, of St. Catharines, with injured neck and shoulder, and John Royal 20, Port Colborne, with head injury.

Tony Vaughan of St. Catharines and Joe Manarino of Niagara Falls, NY, were cut about the head, but did not require hospitalization. Jim Joy, the trainer, was badly bruised and shocked, and all other members of the team were shaken up considerably.

Fred (Jerry) Rogerson, of St. Catharines, driver of the Canadian National transportation, probably had the narrowest escape of anyone. The safety hatchet, standard equipment on all buses, was knocked from its case, only a few inches above the driver's head, and hurtled across the aisle and embedded its blade three inches into the roof on the opposite side. It was believed that it missed the driver's head by a matter of inches.

The game with Parkdale Lions was cancelled and the players returned to St. Catharines by special bus.

Say Canada Won't Alter Basic Policy

Chalk River Plant Will Stick To Peaceful Uses

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (CP)—Evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia is not expected to change Canada's atomic basic policy of working only on the peaceful aspects of atomic energy, a high source said today.

Trade Minister Howe, the Cabinet's atomic expert, said recently Canada could make an atomic bomb at her Chalk River Ont., plant, but won't. The high source indicated this policy will continue.

Prime Minister St. Laurent's office said a statement will be made in the Commons this afternoon on President Truman's disclosure that the United States has evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia.

The Prime Minister knew President Truman intended to make the announcement today, it was learned.

It is expected the statement will be made either by Mr. St. Laurent or Mr. Howe shortly after the House meets at 3 p.m. EDT.

Canadian policy has assumed for years, the source said, that Russia would eventually get the bomb. For that reason news of the explosion does not disturb the context of Canadian policy.

Can't Catch Up

The feeling in official quarters in Ottawa is that the United States is so far ahead of the Russians in atomic matters that the latter can't possibly catch up. They also feel that this difference will widen rather than contract.

Mr. Howe returned late this week from Washington, where exploratory atomic energy talks have been going between Canada, Britain and the United States.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, director of the Defence Research Board, and Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, head of Canada's Atomic Energy Control Board, accompanied Mr. Howe to Washington and have not yet returned to Ottawa.

Been Expected

In London the British Government announced today that, like the United States, it has "evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion has occurred in the U.S.S.R."

The announcement from Prime Minister Attlee's office continued: "Ever since atomic energy was first released by man the eventual development of this new force by other nations has been expected. This probability has always been taken into account by us.

"In the three nations declaration of the president of the United States and the prime ministers of the United Kingdom and Canada dated Nov. 15, 1945, it was emphasized that no single nation could in fact have a monopoly of atomic weapons."

Pacific Pact Urged In House

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 — (CP) — Canada, a leader in the drive to North Atlantic security, has been urged to start thinking about defence in the Pacific.

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver Quadra) asked the government in the Commons Thursday night to take a stand in favor of a Pacific defence pact.

"We believe there should be a Pacific pact similar to the North Atlantic treaty, a pact designed to hold Communism in the Pacific," Mr. Green said.

The Philippines were in favor of such a pact as were Korea, Australia and New Zealand.

"I believe that the Canadian government should take a stand in favor of a Pacific pact before it is too late."

Discusses Trade Problems

Mr. Green discussed trade and defence problems of the Pacific Coast during the throne-speech debate which occupied the Commons throughout all of Thursday's session.

He expressed hope that arrangements could be made to expand trade between Canada and Australia and New Zealand.

Will Visit Ottawa

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 — (CP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain will leave here Sept. 30 for a two-day visit to Ottawa, a spokesman of the British delegation to the United Nations said today. No details of the trip were available.

Hint Sabotage Suspected In Plane Crash

MONTREAL, Sept. 23—(CP)—Despite official denials that police were working on a sabotage angle in the Sept. 9 crash of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane near Quebec, it was learned on high authority today that sabotage is suspected "and a big break in the case" can be expected soon.

The Canadian Press learned this in the wake of publication in Montreal of a story that the RCMP detectives were on the trail of a woman alleged to have shipped a mysterious box from Quebec aboard the plane which crashed and killed 23.

From Quebec came an unconfirmed report that a woman had already been arrested and that another arrest was expected soon. This report, as did all previous reports concerning the "mystery woman" angle, met with denials from RCMP and Provincial Police.

At Quebec, Hon. Antoine Rivard, acting attorney general, said no arrests had been made and none were contemplated.

"RCMP detectives," the newspaper said, "were reported ready to arrest momentarily a woman who shipped from Quebec a box supposedly containing clothes, to a non-existent person at Baie Comeau, eastern terminus of the line."

Leaves Parcel

The paper quoted well-informed sources as saying that the day of the crash a woman called the Airline Express office seeking information on parcel rates. She was said to have brought the parcel to the airline office in Quebec five minutes before the take-off.

It added that investigators were unable to find any trace of the shipper at the address she gave and it was established that the name and address of the consignee were fictitious.

In Ottawa, RCMP officials said the story was their first indication of any contemplated arrest.

They had had no previous suggestion of sabotage, although there were indications that a parcel had been shipped aboard the aircraft just before it took off.

Purse Escapes Fire But $700 Stolen

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) —A waitress on the Noronic told police today that $700 was missing from her purse when it was recovered from the hulk of the ship.

Miss Gertrude Craig, of Toronto, said her purse had apparently been ripped or slashed open. There was nothing in it, although the purse was undamaged by the fire.

The money represented her savings from tips and wages from April to September.

When the fire broke out Saturday she was ashore. By special permission of the Canadian Steamship Lines, she boarded the ship, and found the empty purse in her cabin.

Recent Atomic Explosion In Soviet Territory Truman Tells U.S. Public

Stress Need For Truly Effective Control Advocated By UN Members, Cabinet Meets In Special Hour-Session

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—The United States has evidence of a recent atomic explosion in Soviet Russia—news indicating the Russians at long last have learned to make an A-bomb. President Truman disclosed this in a statement today. He then held an hour-long session with his cabinet about it. The President said the probability that some other nation might develop an atomic bomb "has always been taken into account" by the United States.

Quickly after the White House announcement came word from London that the British government also had evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia. A British statement was promised later.

In Washington, the word swept swiftly around government departments and through Congress.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission, in reply to queries, said: "We have nothing to say."

Closed Meeting

At the Capitol, Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.), chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, called a closed meeting of the committee with Atomic Energy Commission officials.

In a Senate speech only yesterday, McMahon said that if Russia had the atomic bomb she could send the bombs to American ports on tramp steamers and blow up 35,000,000 people.

There was no official hint as to how the United States obtained its evidence of the atomic explosion in Russia.

But it is known that American scientists have been ready with delicate instruments for months to record an atomic explosion anywhere in the world.

The impact of the news was certain to be felt around the world and to have major international repercussions.

In a statement sent to reporters, Truman said the development emphasizes the necessity "for that truly effective enforcible international control of atomic energy which the government and the large majority of the members of the United Nations support."

Learned To Make Bomb

His statement made it clear that top American officials regard the development as meaning the Russians have learned to make the atomic bomb.

Truman said the probability that some other country might develop an atomic bomb "has always been taken into account" by the United States.

The text of Truman's statement:

"I believe the American people, to the fullest extent consistent with national security, are entitled to be informed of all developments in the field of atomic energy. That is my reason for making public the following information.

"We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the U.S.S.R.

"Ever since atomic energy was first released by man, the eventual development of this new force by other nations was to be expected. This probability has always been taken into account by us.

Attlee Gov't Will Seek Confidence Vote

LONDON, Sept. 23—(Reuters)—The government will seek a vote of confidence from parliament when it meets specially next week to debate devaluation of the pound. The government, it was learned today, has decided that the debate—which is to last from Tuesday to Thursday—will be on an official motion seeking approval of government policy.

The government decision on the form of debate may prove an embarrassment to the Conservative opposition—particularly if the motion which has still to be framed asks for categorical endorsement of devaluation.

Conservative leader Winston Churchill and his followers in certain circumstances might move a vote of censure against the government on its general handling of economic policy.

But the opposition would not, it was thought, formally condemn the government for devaluing the pound.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will open the debate. Other government speakers already scheduled are Prime

Will Protect Ship Witnesses

TORONTO, Sept. 23 — (CP).—Witnesses testifying at the Dominion Government inquiry into the SS Noronic fire which brought flaming death to more than 100 persons, "have no reason to fear any action for libel or slander," J. W. Pickup, counsel appointed to assist the commissioner, said today.

In a prepared statement regarding the inquiry which opens here next Wednesday under Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, Mr. Pickup said: "I desire to assure all persons who come forward to give evidence or are called as witnesses at the investigation, whether such persons live in Canada or the United States, that they have no reason to fear any action for libel or slander arising out of the giving by them of information to counsel, to the commission, or in their giving evidence before the court."

"Information given to counsel or to the commission will be kept confidential until the witness gives his evidence before the court," said Mr. Pickup. "All evidence given before the court will be on oath and will be absolutely privileged under Canadian law and thereby protected."

Crucial Battle For Amoy Pushed Furiously By Reds

CANTON, Sept. 23—(AP) — The crucial battle for Amoy, the best port left to Nationalist China, swelled in fury today.

Hard-pressed land defenders were aided by air and naval forces in an attempt to halt the crushing Red assaults on the southeastern city, pro-government reports said.

(The pro-Communist newspaper Hwa Shiang Po in Hong Kong asserted the Communists had landed troops on the island on which the big port stands. This remained unconfirmed in a later dispatch from Canton).

The port has become a focal point in southeast China for Nationalist resistance to the Red tide surging down from the north. Recently, reinforcements from Formosa were unreported.

Amoy is only 140 miles across the Formosa Strait from the island of Formosa. And Formosa has been turned into a bastion by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

A lull persisted on the front north of this refugee capital of what remains of Nationalist China. But the storm of a new Red offensive may break at any moment.

Police Crack Down On Sleeping Pill Sales

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Eight New York druggists were under arrest today as authorities pressed a drive against sale of sleeping pills without prescriptions.

The crackdown was spurred by a mounting death toll from overdoses of sleeping potions.

Two of the eight druggists booked on charges Thursday were said to have done a lucrative business in sleeping tablets among persons in the Broadway theatrical district.

The police department reported that there were 661 cases last year of poisoning from overdoses of the pills, and 500 cases so far this year.

Use Safeguards To Keep Gov't Within Powers

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (CP)—The freight rates question led off Thursday's session a Transport Minister Chevrier told Parliament he does not believe the government has a right to interfere with the Board of Transport Commissioners' judgment awarding an eight per cent freight rate increase to railways.

Mr. Chevrier was replying to M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, who asked if the government would consider delaying the application until the Commons had a chance to discuss it and the provinces had an opportunity to appeal the decision.

Answering a question, Mr. Howe said flax is still being sold direct from the farmer to the private trade.

A Progressive Conservative and a CCF member reached a degree of unanimity on the question of human rights in the Commons throne-speech debate.

Watching Powers

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) urged establishment of safeguards to see that the government does not act beyond the powers delegated to it by Parliament.

He asked extension of powers of the Supreme Court of Canada to allow any person the right of appeal to that court when there has been interference with civil liberties.

Mr. Diefenbaker also called for re-establishment of a Commons committee on freedom and fundamental rights to make the people conscious of any invasions or infractions of freedoms that may take place.

Alistair Stewart (CCF-Winnipeg North) supported the stand, suggesting that if the Constitution is not amended to fill the loopholes, then legislation should at least be passed to make it a criminal offence to discriminate against any person for his race, creed or color.

Won't Solve Crisis

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) said the government's dollar-devaluation plan would not solve the trade crisis that faces Canada.

No one could seriously believe that the reduced purchasing power of the pound would not reduce the purchases of Britain in Canada, he said. The aim should be toward complete convertibility of currency.

G. F. Higgins (PC-St. John's West), in his maiden speech, said he hoped the Federal government would consider better financial terms for Newfoundland.

The tax agreement, under which Newfoundland agreed to become the 10th province of Canada, provided for about $6,800,000 a year, he said.

At the current rate of expenditure, this would mean an over-all deficit of some $5,000,000 by the end of this year.

It would mean further that Newfoundland would have to find new sources of revenue, a possibility that was unpopular because the island already was facing a recession.

Dr. R. Poulin (Ind.-Beauce) and Henri Courtemanche (PC-Labelle) reached agreement on the principle of abolishing appeals to the Privy Council.

Holds Rope In Teeth Halts Plane Takeoff

ST. MALO, France, Sept. 23—(Reuters)—Andre Le Gall, "the man with steel jaws," Thursday won a tug-of-war with "140 horse-power" when he fixed his teeth in a rope attached to a light plane at nearby St. Servan airport and prevented it from taking off.

With his teeth, earlier in the day, he had hauled a 600-ton sailing ship the length of St. Malo dock, and had dragged a plow nearly 50 feet to make an eight-inch furrow.

When his truck went off Highway 28 and turned over Thursday night, Gordon Howe of Emerson Ave., Toronto, sustained bodily injuries and a sore back. He was taken to Civic Hospital and his condition today was described as "satisfactory."

The accident occurred on Highway 28, near the Waterworks, about a mile north of the city.

Howe lost control of the half-ton panel truck, it plunged into the ditch and rolled over. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at about $600.

Provincial Constables J. Hanson and E. G. Patterson investigated.

Use Skymaster Planes Replacing Argonauts

LONDON, Sept. 23—(CP)—A spokesman for the British Overseas Airways Corporation said today two DC-4 Skymaster planes have been put into service temporarily on B.O.A.C.'s United Kingdom-Karachi route.

They replace Canadian-built Argonauts which have been grounded in B.O.A.C.'s Far East service because of a defect in their British-manufactured Merlin engines.

The Skymasters are from a group of three which B.O.A.C. chartered some months ago from Skyways, Limited, a British non-scheduled airline. They had been used on the Persian Gulf oilfield service.

B.O.A.C. said the diversion was a purely temporary arrangement. But no indication was available yet when the Argonauts will be ready for service again.

against the Noronic master, saying: "I was with him from the time his ship docked Friday evening to about 10 p.m., and he had not a drink then. I saw him again immediately after he came off the Noronic early on Saturday morning. He was in a nervous state, soaking wet, burned, but he certainly was not drunk. There was no evidence of his having had a drink—none at all."

(Frank Wilkinson, K.C., counsel for the line and the ship's officers, declared he has issued instructions to start suit for $250,000 for libel or slander against the person making the charge. "That is about the most positive denial I can make—the only time Captain Taylor was in contact with police was when they forcibly prevented him from returning to the ship.")

Coroner Gerber will hold another hearing in Detroit Monday to get the views of other survivors. Most of the passengers aboard the Noronic were from the Cleveland and Detroit areas.

During the Cleveland inquiry, other survivors testified that no fire alarm was sounded on the Noronic and that fire-fighting equipment on the ship and personnel to man it were in adequate.

Fire In Linen Closet

J. Donald Church of Silver Springs, O., said he saw the fire for the first time in a linen closet as he walked along C deck. A crew member tried to put it out with a fire extinguisher but failed. Then Church said he grabbed a hose but it failed to produce water although he turned the valve.

Other statements seemed to agree that the blaze started in the linen closet and roared to a centre stair well. One witness said she had seen a crew member smoking a cigaret in the linen room at 10:30 p.m. Friday night.

Charges that the crew had been boisterous were denied by Ben Kozman, personnel manager of Thompson Products, Inc., who said he had travelled on the Noronic 16 or 17 times.

"This was one of the quietest trips I've seen," he said, "because of the preponderence of older people."

Mr. Howe produced figures which showed that Canada's trade position with the U.S. was worsening. Trade for August showed exports to the U.S. of $117,000,000 and imports of $160,300,000.

This compared with exports in August, 1948, of $115,000,000 and imports of $136,000,000. This stretched the deficit in August to $43,300,000, more than double the $21,000,000 deficit in August last year.

Charges Lewis Using Fund

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—A 54-year-old beneficiary of the Coal Miners' Welfare Fund Thursday charged John L. Lewis and other trustees with making illegal expenditures out of the $100,000,000-a-year fund.

The life-long coal miner, G. H. Livengood, of Fayette County, Pa., asked the Federal Court here to remove Lewis and two other trustees and require them to give a full accounting.

Lewis told reporters at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.:

"The suit is probably a part of the program of harassment of the fund by various coal interests and other opponents of welfare."

12 CG Employees Walk Off Job

Peterborough Works of the Canadian General Electric Co. had its second work stoppage within a week Thursday afternoon when 12 employees at the transformer plant on Perry St. walked off the job.

The separate plant at Perry and Aylmer Sts. manufactures current and potential transformers.

Dissatisfaction with the company handling of grievances, and the slashing of piece-work prices, were stated by union officials to have sparked the walkout.

The workers left their job at 2 p.m. and went to the union office on George St. to file grievances. Then they pressed for company action on previous unsettled grievances.

Union officials say they returned to the plant shortly after 4 p.m., but walked out again for the day when the company insisted the men go back to work, and that it be approached through the steward, rather than through the representative and a special committee.

Base Metals Brighten On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) — Prices moved irregularly with a few scattered issues ending higher in the dull trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Base metals were ahead on the gains in key issues and western oils also brightened. Golds and industrials were under steady pressure.

Base metals opened mixed but Consolidated Smelters turned upwards 2½ at 104½ to lead the list into higher ground. Hudson Bay, Noranda and Quemont added fractions. East Sullivan featured in activity for a gain of 20 cents at $3.45 and sold at a new high at $3.50.

Papers, Thursday's strong industrial gainers, were under pressure of realizing sales. Losses were held at fractions. Steels continued firm while Fanny Farmer dipped a full point at 36½ in an easier food list. Early gains in utilities were wiped out in mid-session.

Senior golds dropped fractions and losses ranged up to 15 cents in juniors. Sullivan Consolidated was an exception, climbing slightly. Anglo-Canadian, Royalite and Pacific Petroleum showed gains ranging up to 15 cents in western oils.

Canadian Defence Stresses An Anti-Submarine Navy

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Sept. 23—(CP)—The Canadian Navy is beginning to look into the far north but the main concern remains familiar enemies—the North Atlantic and the submarines that can lurk beneath it. The Navy's chief, Vice-Admiral H. T. W. Grant has said: "Naval policy is based on the assumption that our principal role in war would be the protection of shipping from submarines, mining and air attack and that the maximum possible protection should be available without notice."

It remains an anti-submarine navy and its advanced training, both in the new air arm and in the surface ships, chiefly points in that direction. The background lies in the knowledge that Russia has four times as many submarines as Germany had in 1939.

To perpare itself, the navy has no subs and relies on the British and American fleets for them. Its manpower isn't sufficient, informed quarters say, to permit full concentration on both anti-sub and recruit training and it may be in danger of falling between the two.

First To Recruit

The navy was the first of the three services to recruit to authorized post-war strength—9,050—and it is quite rightly described as the one regular service capable of doing a fair-sized combat job on an immediate basis.

With the 16,000-ton aircraft carrier Magnificent, two destroyers, three frigates and two minesweepers active on the east coast, the 8,000-ton cruiser Ontario, two destroyers, two frigates and two minesweepers active on the west coast, it could put up an immediate combat force. But, informed quarters say, it "wouldn't be particularly effective."

Within the service itself, there is a feeling that the navy now is of a size that makes it neither a real navy nor toy navy such as Canada had before the war. Of its ships, a cruiser, seven destroyers, one frigate and five minesweepers are not in active use.

15,000 Men Minimum

A figure of roughly 15,000 men is given as the minimum essential to allow both adequate training for anti-submarine warfare and for absorption of new men and the training of reservists.

The authorized strength likely will be increased fairly soon but hardly to that level.

The first three of fast, husky anti-sub escort destroyers, as well as four minesweepers, have been ordered and this has been hailed by Admiral Grant as "a major step . . . it gears up the Canadian) shipbuilding industry to naval requirements before and not after the emergency."

The destroyer fleet is being modernized. The air arm, with its four squadrons of propellor-driven planes, is an innovation and absorbs roughly 1,000 men. The squadrons are based on the Magnificent and at Dartmouth, N. S.

15 Cities Plan Standard Time

By The Canadian Press

It's back to standard time for many Ontario cities this weekend.

But a Canadian Press survey shows that at least 15 other Canadian cities will remain on daylight time for two more months. However, Montreal and Quebec turn back the clocks Oct. 30.

All cities switched to daylight time last April 24 and were originally slated to revert to standard time Nov. 27 as a hydro-saving measure. Officials found it not necessary at some points.

Ontario cities going back to standard time Sept. 26 include: Windsor, London, Owen Sound, St. Thomas, Chatham, Sarnia, Niagara Falls, North Bay, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Kirkland Lake, Timmins, Gueleph and Stratford.

As an added measure for saving power, Hamilton, Ottawa, Cornwall, Brockville, Belleville, Oshawa, Peterborough, Galt, Brantford St. Catharines, Welland, Kingston, Kitchener and Woodstock will remain on daylight time until Nov. 26.

that the essential theoretical knowledge upon which the discovery is based is already widely known. There is also substantial agreement that foreign research can come abreast of our present theoretical knowledge in time' and, in the three-nation declaration of the president of the United States and the prime ministers of the United Kingdom and of Canada, dated November 15, 1945, it was emphasized that no single nation could in fact have a monopoly of atomic weapons.

"This recent development emphasizes once again, if indeed such emphasis were needed, the necessity for that truly effective enforcible international control of atomic energy which this government and the large majority of the members of the United Nations support."

The cabinet meeting lasted more than an hour.

Reporters crowded about Defence Secretary Johnson as he left.

"Have we made any change in the disposition of our forces since this happened?" a reporter asked.

"No," John replied.

"Does the cabinet know any more about this than is contained in the president's statement?"

"The cabinet knows all about it," Johnson said. "It was fully informed."

Senate Passes Arms Aid Bill With No Cuts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—The Truman administration has chalked up an important victory in United States foreign policy on the strength of the Senate's approval of an overseas arms program.

The Senate late Thursday reached its decision to rearm friendly countries after beating down two moves to make a $200,000,000 cut in the $1,314,010,000 arms bill. The vote on passage was 55 to 24.

The Senate's vote pledged Congress to a foreign arms program since the House of Representatives already has approved a similar military aid bill. The amount of money to be authorized remains in doubt.

The House voted $869,505,000 to carry out the arms plan—which is $444,505,000 less than the Senate figure. Senate and House members will work out their differences in conference.

The measure came through the Senate with only two minor changes. This was in part a personal triumph for Senator Tom Connally (Dem. Tex.) and Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep. Mich.), the two party leaders in foreign affairs who led the fight for the aid program.

Nineteen Republicans joined 36 Democrats in voting for passage. Ten Democrats and 14 Republicans voted against it.

Taft Objects

During the debate, Senator Robert Taft (Rep. Ohio) contended that the program contemplates arming every country in the world that might be opposed to Russia. This, he said, "is likely to incite Russia to war."

But Vandenberg argued that the goal is "stopping aggression before it reaches us." Had the foreign aid program to date been less successful than it has been, he said, "we probably would be voting billions" to fight a defensive war.

As the Senate bill now stands, it provides: $$1,000,000,000 for rearming North Atlantic Pact nations. Half would be in cash and half in contract authority; $211,370,000 for Greece and Turkey; $27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines; and $75,000,000 for the China area to be spent at the discretion of the president.

The luncheon of Bevan as a speaker is regarded by political quarters as a government move to Forestall trouble from the left wing.

Bevan recently gained the largest number of votes of any candidate on re-election to the party's national executive.

Resignation of the government would almost automatically follow its defeat in a vote of confidence on such a major issue, but no political quarter expects this. Labor has 393 of the 640 seats in the House of Commons and the Conservatives have 189. Smaller groups hold the remaining seats.

Sunday Sport Drive Increases

The pressure to commercialize the Lord's day is increasing, said the Rev. Dr. James Semple, George Street United Church, in reporting for the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church at the Presbytery meeting held this wek in Keene.

Dr. Semple added that further efforts have been made to have scheduled games of football, baseball, hockey, etc., played in public parks on Sundays.

"We commend Attorney General Dana Porter for instructions to the Crown Attorneys to act against those who sell goods or carry on commercialized amusements on the Lord's Day."

Sympathy for the relatives and friends of the victims of the fire of the Noronic was expressed by the Presbytery. A minute's silence was held for the victims.

President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, Rev. J. E. Anderson of Brighton gave a comprehensive survey of the 25th anniversary of the United Church. He stressed a deeping of spiritual life within the local congregations as the foundation fo rthe celebration.

The Rev. H. G. Tuttle of the Pensions Board gave an address. Mr. Tuttle made an appeal for support for the veterans of the Cross (retired ministers of the United Church).

Luncheon was served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Keene United Church.

Read 76 Books In Two Months

Forty-six children attended the closing party of the Wonderland Reading Club Wednesday afternoon at the Public Library. The club was started by Librarian Lilian Wesley for the summer months. The children of the Boys' and Girls' department had to read at least 10 books during July and August to be admitted to the party.

A certificate and admission to the party were won by the children if they had read at least 20 books during the Summer. Miss Wesley said that 52 children were eligible to attend the party. Weather conditions forced a change in plans, the party first being scheduled for Jackson's Park.

The children were divided into three groups, up to Grade III, Grades IV and V, Grades VI and VII. Winner of the first group was Carolyn McKee, having read 17 books. Diane Weidner was second with 11 books read. Alan Law took first place honors in the Grade VL and V group with 49 books read, while Leone Smedmor placed second with 47.

Robert James led all the members of the club, reading 76 books during the two months. Diane Gibson placed second in the older group reading 37 books.

The treasure hunt—30 parcels hidden throughout the Library—ended in a tie between Helen Sullivan and Donna Gibson. Carolyn Wilson won first prize in the costume contest. The costumes of the children represented characters from the story "Alice In Wonderland."

Accuse Paper Of Conspiring To Injure Radio

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23 (AP)—The United States Justice Department Thursday accused the Lorain (Ohio) Journal of conspiring to injure a competing radio station.

In a civil action filed in Federal court, the government said the newspaper and four of its officers had combined "to restrain and monopolize the dissemination of new advertising and other information in violation of the Sherman-Anti-trust Law."

The action named the radio station as WEOL and WEOL-FM, in Elyria, Ohio. It also said the paper had conspired against the Sunday News, a weekly newspaper published in Lorain.

Attorney-General Howard McGrath said in Washington the suit was the first case in the United States in which a newspaper has been charged with conspiring to injure a competing radio station.

According to the suit, the Journal refused to publish advertisements of business houses who advertise in the Sunday paper or over the radio station.

It also accused the Journal of inducing the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram not to circulate its paper in Lorain. The two cities are close together.

The action asked for a preliminary injunction to require the Journal to accept advertising from firms that also advertise in the Sunday paper and on the radio station.

Canadian Tour Thrills Formby

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (CP) — Soft-spoken George Formby, a droll man from Lancashire who enjoys reading western stories, says he's looking forward to his stage tour of Canada "like a big kid."

Already well-konwn in the Dominion through his films, the Lancashire comedian heads a company of British vaudeville players which next week will start a 5½ week engagement covering 18 Canadian cities.

Formby, who flew into New York from Britain Wednesday, said in an interview today that what pleases him most about the tour—his first visit of any kind to Canada—is that it will take him to many of the places in the west which he has read about in books.

"My only recreation is reading westerns and I'm going to get a big kick out of seeing some of the places I've read about," he said.

The tour starts Sept. 26 with a week in Toronto. Subsequently the Formby company will be seen in Hamilton, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston, Guelph, London, Windsor, Sudbury and Port Arthur.

Formby said he had word from Canada that all seats have been sold for the first week and that for later dates they are going "like an avalanche."

Marmora To Continue With Daylight Time

MARMORA, Sept. 23 (ENS) — Marmora village, in common with most other districts in this part of Ontario, is to stay on daylight saving time "indefinitely". At a meeting of the council Wednesday it was decided to revert to standard time next Sunday, but the decision was rescinded Thursday after it had been discovered that daylight saving time was to continue at Madoc and Deloro.

The first decision was made after taking into consideration the time table of school busses, but it was realised later than complications would arise because the other two villages were not reverting to standard time.

Drivers Fail To Stop Result: A Collision

Both expecting the other car driver to do something to avoid an accident, two men tangled fenders on Murray St. between George and Aylmer about 10 p.m. Thursday.

The drivers were Clinton D. Stockdale, RR 4, Peterborough, and Walter Garbutt, RR 9, Peterborough.

Cars were parked on both sides of the street. There wasn't enough room between for two cars to pass Traffic Officer McGillen reported.

Stockdale, who was driving west, said he thought the other car would pull to its right. Garbutt said he thought the other driver would stop.

A car, driven by Gordon Moore, 24, 922 Hurley St., ran into the back of a car driven by Alan S. Crocker, 19, 115 Maude St., at 8:40 p.m. Thursday, while it was stopped on George St. at the Charlotte St. traffic lights. Police reported brakes of the Moore car were in poor order.

Ice Contract Made At $30,815

COBOURG, Sept. 23 (ENS) — Directors of the recreational centre met last night to decide on the type of artificial ice equipment for the new Arena and awarded the contract to the Canada Ice Company.

The directors discussed details with representatives of tendering companies as to the merits of the brine system as compared with the direct expansion system and decided on the brine, feeling that it was more reliable and less costly to maintain.

The bid of Canada Ice of $30,815 was accepted and the directors were told by the company that once the building was ready for the installation of ice making equipment, it would take six weeks to have it ready for use. It is expected that the recreational centre will be finished and the ice ready by early December of this year.

Considering Loan

CANBERRA, Sept. 23 (Reuters) —The Australian government is considering the question of obtaining a loan "in some form or another" from the United States, Prime Minister Chifley said today in the House of Representatives.

Three Important Jewish Festivals Celebrated During Month Of Tishri

Just as the seventh day of the week — the Sabbath — is sacred to the Jew, so is the seventh month of the Jewish year, the month of Tishri — corresponding to September or October resp. dedicated to God, three out of five important Jewish festivals occurring during that month.

On the first and second of Tishri — corresponding to Sept. 24 and 25 of the current year — the New Year or Rosh Hashonoh is celebrated. This commemorates the days of the Creation; according to Jewish tradition 5710 years will have passed since the Universe was called into existence. A ram's horn — the Shofar — is sounded to make the importance of these Holy Days on which all mortals pass before the Heavenly Throne to give account of their deeds, and to receive the promise of mercy as a result of sincere penitence.

The 10th of Tishri, the Day of Atonement or Yom Kippur is essentially one of the greatest solemnity, chastened by the thought of having been selected as the Day of Divine Judgment. Absolute cessation of labor, in conformity with Sabbath and other major festivals, is commanded by the Bible and the strictest abstention from food and drink enjoined. The Day of Atonement is considered the annual regenerator of a purified Jewish life. Man is at-one in harmony with his God and men after a day of excessive prayer and fasting; hence the word "Atonement."

The Festival of Tabernacles or Succoth commencing on the 15th of Tishri and lasting nine days is a Thanksgiving holiday. Branches of palm trees and other products of the Holy Land are being used during the synagogue services, symbolizing man's gratitude for the good harvest. Huts or tabernacles are being erected which have to be covered with leaves and, as far as possible, meals are taken therein according to the Biblical command (111, 23, 42): "Ye shall dwell in booths seven days; all that are homeborn in Israel shall dwell in booths." The last day and climax of all the preceding Holy Days is the "Rejoicing of the Law" due to the annual reading of the Torah (5 Books of Moses) being finished and commenced anew.

Young Hoodlums

Last Saturday night seven Peterborough youths made a foray into Campbellford, fighting and swearing and behaving like bounders. The police pounced on them and three were arrested. In mid-week two youths mucked up a car in Peterborough and were brought into police court. A week or two ago some young fellows were picked up wearing "knuckle-dusters"—heavy metal weapons which fit over the finger like a ring. In a place as well-ordered as Peterborough, where there are no slums, where people live in families and know other families and help each other, and where schools, churches, service clubs and public welfare organizations combine to minister to people as individuals, it is surprising to find indications of gangdom.

* * *

There is no need for youths to run amock in gangs in Peterborough, no reason for it, and it must not be allowed. Stern strong-arm measures may not be the best method of dealing with young hoodlums—perhaps they need sweet reasonableness, coaxing and mental treatment if they are to improve socially—nevertheless one must be careless of the youths in order to be careful of the more numerous public whom they are molesting or might molest. Any sort of latent Beanery Gang—we suppose that in this city they would be called Peterborough Punks—must me ruthlessly suppressed.

* * *

The human male between the ages of fourteen and eighteen has a natural tendency to move in a gang, to belong to a group. There are a hundred ways offered in Peterborough in which this tendency can be expressed without social harm, and even to the benefit of society and the young males. If certain youths want to kick over the traces then they must be prepared for a kicking themselves. The best kicking some of them could get would be a beating from the person or persons they molest, given on the spot. It is because some of the young punks are getting away with their physical violence that they begin to scorn as a weakling a patient society which quietly reprimands them in court. Young Nazis used to have the same gang success. Like Nazi thugs, many of these youths who outrage society are brave in the gang but cowards at heart. Huddled into a gang, one hides the other's yellow streak.

* * *

There are social causes for these outbreaks which social scientists are studying. There are individual quirks in a youth's psyche which psychologists and psychiatrists must examine and treat. But whatever the conditions and ills which need remedial treatment, ruffians in gangs must not be tolerated.

* * *

We suspect that one cause of the youthful outrages is the notoriety given the word "teen-agers". Teen-agers are children, boys or girls, young men or young women; if they were so considered and not all lumped under the glamorous or infamous sobriquet "teen-agers", they might be less of a problem. Youths who go on the rampage should be considered as naughty children, mischievious boys, bad youths, persons with the bodies of men and the brains of pee-wees, or downright young thugs. If they are bad boys, treat them as such. If they are adults of eighteen acting like criminals, treat them so.

* * *

There are very large problems, both social and personal, which enter into the condition now known as "youthful delinquency". But whatever the cure, the first step to take for the public good, if not for the youths' sake, is to tramp hard on gangs.

Canada And The U.S. Must Play Up

Britain has taken a really drastic step in the violent devaluation she has imposed on herself. It is a last-ditch financial effort. It will make matters worse instead of better if inflation gets out of bounds in England, and if Canada and the United States take retaliatory measures against the cheap pound. As creditor nations, Canada and the United States must "buy British".

While the North Americans cannot be expected to allow wholesale dumping of British goods and a consequent destruction of their own industries, there should be no new tariff barriers. In his press conference in the United Kingdom on Monday, Sir Stafford Cripps drew attention to "an extremely important statement" made jointly by Britain, Canada and the U.S.A. after the Washington talks, to the effect that the American administration regards as a duty of the creditor country, (the U.S.A.), the easing of importation and services from debtor countries. Sir Stafford said, "That has already led to a very considerable improvement in customs procedure and a number more are contemplated very shortly. Further action is contemplated as regards tariff policy improvements".

After the spree of devaluations in 1931 a tariff war resulted; "Imperial Preference" established at Ottawa during the Bennett regime being one phase of it. Trade must be freed, not restricted. If Britain is surrounded by customs barriers, she cannot live as that great nation who bore the brunt of two wars deserves to live.

Service To International Education

As announced in our news columns a few days ago, and as elaborated in a letter published on this page today, the Rotary Club of Peterborough has contributed generously to Rotary International's Overseas scholarship Fund. It is a splendid purpose which Rotary has in this educational effort: to make study abroad financially possible to graduate students of special merit.

There are already numerous organizations giving financial help to students for this purpose: the I.O.D.E., the Rhodes Trust, the large American philanthropic funds, the Royal Society of Canada, the National Research Council, and even governments. For instance, the French Government has established scholarships for Canadian students, which give the selected students a year's tuition and living at a French university, as well as their fare from Ottawa. Another source of overseas scholarship money is, surprisingly, "blocked funds" of various European countries. For instance, Canadian army equipment, clothing and food were used to help the destitute Dutch in 1945. Financial recompense is being allotted by European governments so helped, and now a scheme is being studied to make these "blocked" assets over for the cultural and educational advancement of Canadian students who may go there. The United States has recently decided that any further war debts which Finland owes shall be used to enable Americans to study in Finland.

No matter how many overseas scholarships are made available, there cannot be too many. If the best students do not have the opportunity to study outside their own country or continent, and to learn foreign ways and cultures at first hand how can the country cultivate a good knowledge of other nations? How better can international good will be fostered than through the personal association of students of one country with those of another?

Federal Building For Peterborough!

Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, M.P. for Peterborough West put in a word the other day in Ottawa for the local ghost of Santa-Claus-to-come, otherwise known as the new Federal Building. The Minister of Public Works replied that plans for the building are expected to be completed within the next six months. It will be remembered that the last Parliament voted $50,000 for preliminary steps toward our new combined Post Office and Customs building.

So we may expect to see a plan within the next six months. It will be interesting to see a new one; always well to keep such things up to date. The last official plan we saw—complete with architect's drawings—was in this newspaper a decade ago. The Examiner carried very nice pictures of it. We shall be pleased to do likewise with this new plan. We shall do as well for the plan that comes ten years after that one, if need be. It is Peterborough's fairy castle, which qualifies it for a news picture every time its imaginary face is changed.

The new Federal Building has been talked about in and out of Parliament for decades. Parliament has even bought two sites for it the first in 1913. (One of them is now sold.) We shall believe in the building when we see it, or when the voters have the wits or good luck to put this parliamentary seat on the right side of the House. Peterborough has been in the political wilderness for ten consecutive years already, it still is.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: The United States has a "Methodist Episcopal" church. Surely Methodism and Episcopalianism are poles apart. Is the Methodist Episcopal church anything like the Methodist (now joined with the United Church in Canada?

ANSWER: The Methodist Episcopal church in the U.S.A. is much like the protestant episcopal church in Canada. That is, the Church of England. It is a large and strong denomination. As its name suggests, it has bishops. Nevertheless it is Methodist in origin, as Methodist as the methodists anywhere in the world.

The Methodist Episcopal Church was founded in 1784 by Thomas Coke, who was ordained Bishop or superintendent by John Wesley, the founder of Methodism. Wesley was himself an Anglican clergyman, and hoped that his evangelical movement would be contained within the Church of England. When he sent Thomas Coke out as a missionary to America, he, a mere priest of the Church of England, ventured himself to consecrate Coke a bishop, though he called it "Superintendent". This was too much even for Wesley's brother and co-worker Charles: "Wesley his hands on Coke hath laid, but who laid hands on HIM?", Charles asked.

A co-founder of the Methodist Episcopal church with Dr. Coke was Francis Ashbury. They organized the church on the basis of Wesley's Twenty-four Articles, selected from the Thirty-Nine of the Church of England.

After Wesley's death the Methodist church in England became a separate church from others. So it developed in Canada, without bishops. Yet in the U.S.A. the methodist branch continued from Coke, and, while many of its practices were (and some still are) peculiarly Methodist, it continued to have Bishops, and thus to be episcopal. It retains the itinerant system instituted by Wesley, and even its Bishops are required to move around from place to place, from see to see.

ALPHA: Could you give some general information on the Hunter Street Bridge; its cost, when it was begun and when completed, and by whom the work was done?

ANSWER: Hunter Street Bridge was begun in 1919 and finished in 1920. The chief engineer was Frank Barber, the architect Claude Bragdon, the engineer on the spot Fred Christie, and the contractors Russell-Townsend. They are (or were) all out-of-towners.

The cost of the bridge was $545,000. The Federal Government contributed $55,000, the rest was raised by debentures. The biggest single issue was one in 1920 for $260,000, repayable in thirty years. Interest rate on this was a now-fabulous, then ordinary, six per cent., or $15,600 a year, which will continue to be paid until next year. By 1950 a total of $468,000 will have been paid out in interest alone—that is, $208,000 more than the total sum borrowed. All this interest has not been entirely uncompensated for. A sinking fund has been built up during the last 28 years to redeem the debentures in 1950. The fund has now reached (to December 31st, 1948) a total of $245,542. This fund itself is drawing interest, though not at anything like six per cent. Municipalities no longer issue such debentures. The kind now approved are "serial", in which both principal and interest are paid off in annual instalments.

ALPHA: How long has Peterborough had a Bishop?

ANSWER: Since 1882, when the Roman Catholic Diocese of Peterborough was formed. The first Bishop was the Most Reverend John F. Jamot.

QUESTION: What is ceramics? Or what are? Is it, or are they, singular or plural?

ANSWER: Ceramics is the art of making pottery and the like from clay. It is a singular noun from the adjective ceramic or keramic (which in the original Greek means "made of earthenware" and is related to the word cremate) and has some connotation of burnt, or baked clay. Ceramic art is the art of manufacturing pottery and ornamenting it.

SIR: Is that a bird bath or what at the south side of the Normal School front steps? If it is, why don't they put water in it?

ANSWER: It's what's left of a sun-dial. You wouldn't think so to look at the cement pedestal because (a) it is almost entirely in the shade (b) the bronze or copper dial and the style which throws the shadow on it have been removed. I must chide Principal Copp about this and ask where are the working parts? It was put up at great labour by one of the Normal School classes some fifteen years ago and the students names were inscribed on it. If there is any thought of resurrecting the thing, I suggest it be moved to a spot where the sun will fall on it, so that time can be told.

DEAR SIR: When a lawyer has a K.C. does it mean that he is a better lawyer than one who has not? Is that why he is made a K.C.?

ANSWER: No. As there are ignorant and semi-literate doctors, merchants, chiefs, editors, columnists, and midwives, so are there ignorant and semi-literate lawyers. Some of them are K.C.'s. I know one K.C. (not of Peterborough) who has not opened a book other than one of his four thumbed lawbooks for twenty years. He does not even read the legal periodicals about new statutes and judicial decisions, nor even the comics. He hunts, fishes and draws up wills.

A Q.C. or K.C. used to be an honour, a sign of worth, integrity and the approbation of the legal fraternity. It means Queen's (in Victoria's time) or King's Counsel. A K.C. "takes the silk", that is, is entitled to wear a long silk gown in court, and to plead cases on behalf of the Crown.

In earlier days, the Provincial Government, vice the King, took the advice and recommendations of the Law Society of Upper Canada in naming new K.C.'s. F. D. Kerr, K.C., is the only pratising lawyer in Peterborough who was named K.C

on the recommendation of his legal brethren. It seems to me that such a K.C. carries more weight and honour than the ones bestowed since then by Governments. When Mr. Kerr was named, K.C.'s were few and far between, as they are still in England. Now every second lawyer who has stayed out of jail, has practised a few years, and has been on the right side of the government, is a K.C. Some, it is true, have been granted on merit alone. The blame for the lack of distinction is the provincial government's, past and present. K.C.'s have been handed around in the last thirty years like peanuts at a Hallowe'en party. It is said that in India, men who are able to read and write and wish to set up as tutors or public advisers, proudly display signs "Failed B.A. Cambridge". It is almost a distinction in Ontario for a lawyer to be able to say "Not a K.C.".

FOR THE RECORD: Amendment to the record of two weeks ago of the price of peaches. Last week Number 1's were selling at 49c a six quart basket....The pound has been devalued to $2.80 (U.S.). The Canadian dollar has been devalued to 90c (U.S.). Therefore the British pound is worth in Canadian dollars $3.08. Let's close up Canada for a cheap holiday in Britain and the 18 other countries which have devalued their currency!

ROTARY'S SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Sir: I was very pleased to see the attention given in last night's "Examiner" to the District Governor's official visit to the Peterborough Rotary Club. The photograph showing District Governor John W. Gooch receiving the $850.00 cheque from Rotarian Fred Roy on behalf of the club members was particularly well reproduced.

As a memorial to the late Paul Harris, founder of Rotary, the governing body of Rotary International inaugurated in 1947 a fund, now known as the Paul Harris Memorial Foundation. The individual members of each Rotary club in the countries throughout the world, were invited to subscribe individually to this fund. The members of the local Rotary Club have individually subscribed the $850.00 handed to District Governor John Gooch. It does not represent a distribution from the general funds of the club which, in accordance with Rotary policy, are ear-marked primarily for Crippled Children's work in the community.

The purpose of the Foundation is to provide scholarships to worthy students of any land to enable them to continue their studies in other lands and represents a contribution which Rotary International is making to international understanding. The local Rotary Club has an active committee engaged in seeking students in or from Peterborough County who may qualify for the fellowships which are being offered. That committee is very hopeful that one or more of our own local students will be granted the opportunity of continuing his studies in another country.

It occurred to me that the foregoing is of interest to the residents of Peterborough County who are readers of the "Examiner".

Yours faithfully,
J. A. McCOLL,
Treasurer, Rotary Club of Peterborough.

LOCK PROPOSED AT GILCHRIST BAY

Sir: In behalf of myself and the many hundred others, who gave their signature and in many cases gave efforts otherwise, to boost the proposal, that, I sponsored, namely, "We the undersigned are deeply interested in securing an improved highway (and bus service) between Lakefield and Havelock via Stony Lake and, as soon as, possible thereafter, make this proposed highway a paved highway (or worded similarly) wish to, publicly by article, express our deep gratitude for the wonderfully speedy, effective and appropriately built highway along the Stony Lake and the Nepheline Mine sections, which, by the most efficient guidance of the engineers and the co-operation of every worker and property owner concerned along the way, the work seems to be nearing completion of the long needed and deserved improvements. They have all worked under uncontrolable circumstances hindering the progress of speedy work partly by the yearly increase of tourist business many of whom are making purchase of lake property just because they can foresee the potentialities brought about by this section having such a highway under construction and having the only workable mine in the county, namely the Nepheline Mine.

I now wish to bring to the minds of the thinking public that about a year ago, I by a visit to a County Council meeting and by an article in the Examiner, suggested, that, a sufficient amount of land, according to the location and needs, be bought by the County Council, for each lake of much size to be used as a free public park making it possible for our people could use that public park for a day at a time without charge and feel that each and every citizen here has an ownership and interest in the park along their lake and help to preserve that much for future generations and public use.

Our new highway under construction is bringing White Lake and Stony Lake more like twin sisters. They should be brought into closer relationship for the sake of property owners, tourists and business demands and that closer relationship can be strengthened 100 per cent. by every effort on the part of all concerned to do everything in their power to persuade the necessary officials concerned to build a much needed floating, gate lift lock at the junction of the two lakes now called Gilchrist Bay. That section would be the most ideal public park grounds to be found in Peterborough County in case locks were built to connect Stony and White Lakes and having the exclusiveness made now by the location of the new bridge connecting or crossing the section.

We needed and have or are getting the hydro, bus service and the highway, now let all of us ask for, work for and save for Gilchrist Park to be purchased as a public park for all people alike and get necessary lift locks between the two lakes to connect, promote and bind business for property owners, tourists and resort owners along with promotion of and development of so called virgin lands surrounding both lakes. This will bring about advanced developments along every walk of life far distant.

MRS. JOSEPH HAMILTON.
Stony Lake.

Tenor Lanza White-Haired Boy At Studio

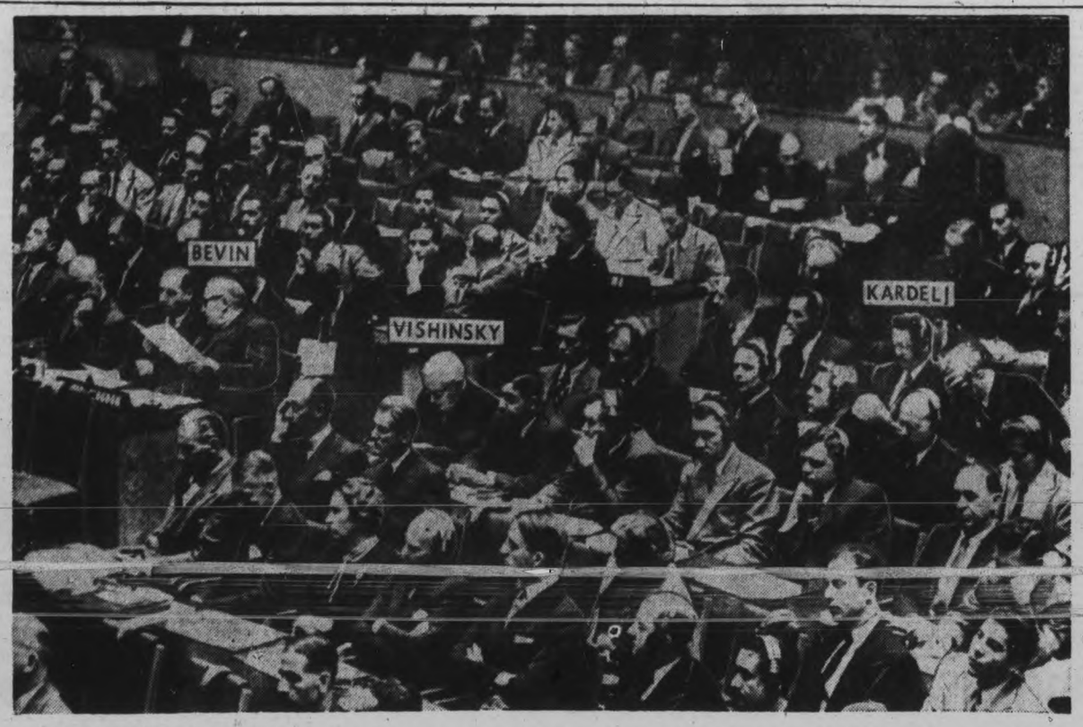
By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23 (AP). —Young Tenor Mario Lanza returned from an appearance tour to find good news — it's just about set for him to portray Caruso.

Studio execs have told the singer that details are being ironed out for obtaining the life story of Caruso, to whom he has been compared.

Lanza is the fair-haired boy since his month-long tour on behalf of "That Midnight Kiss."

"It was the biggest thrill of my life," Lanza enthused on his return. He told of receiving a hero's welcome to his home town, Philadelphia. His first chore was to sing to a gathering that included President Truman. The President had to leave before the entertainment and apologized to Lanza before the throng.



Key Questions

Here we go again. After watching the sights of San Francisco and the tides at Malibu, I'm back observing the wonders of Hollywood. Some of them being: Wonder to whom Elizabeth Taylor will get engaged now; wonder if they'll ever make "Born Yesterday"; wonder what Sam Goldwyn will say next?

Speaking of Elizabeth Taylor, which is one of my favorite pastimes, it's interesting to learn that she next works in a film with Montgomery Clift. Note: Clift has been Miss Taylor's screen idol. Added note: Clift is single. Or am I beginning to sound like one of the gossip columnists?

Red Skelton was asked on the "Yellow Cab Man" set if he hadn't lost some pounds. "Yes, it's true," he answered, "but then, I've got a lot of English investments."

Capsule Review: "Thieves' Highway" (TCF) answers the need for something new in film entertainment. It's a hard-hitting, almost nerve-jangling film of skullduggery in the produce market. Sharp-edged characters — notably Richard Conte, Lee J. Cobb and newcomer Valentina Cortesa — make the film grimly absorbing.

100 Planes Leave Britain Daily Carrying Freight

LONDON, Sept. 23 (Reuters). —One hundred chartered freight planes now leave Britain every day for points along the world's air routes, just as Britain's "tramp" ships have plowed the sea lanes of the Seven Seas for decades.

A hundred others stand ready at British airports to lift urgent cargoes anywhere in the world.

These aircraft — some were used on the Berlin air lift — form a major part of the world's rapidly - increasing fleet of "tramp" aircraft.

They supplement the scheduled flights of international airlines in the same way that the tramp ship supplements the work of the regular, ocean-going liner.

On the floor of London's Baltic Exchange, where shippers and brokers for 200 years have bought and sold cargo space for all parts of the world, air brokers and chartering agents now meet daily to arrange flights and quote freight rates for merchandise.

Similar exchanges are at work in Paris, Antwerp and Amsterdam, and others may soon be opened in Hamburg and Milan.

Business has increased by one-third, compared with 1948 figures since this section was established.

Moves Make 69 Million

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 — (CP) — The movies raked in $69,619,000 in Canada last year. The figure was a record, the Bureau of Statistics said Wednesday in a preliminary report. In 1947 box office returns were $62,865,000.

New Curtains Placed PCVS Auditorium

PCVS' auditorium is taking on that "new look." Thursday afternoon work was started in the assembly on the new wings, four for each side of the stage, and on the four borders. All the new wings and borders are of a light grey vicuna material.

The large garnet curtain will be the only survivor after the workmen have completed their tasks. The three blue and wine wings and the blue borders will be discarded and an additional wing will be added to each side of the stage and a border to the top. The large golden curtain at the rear will be replaced by two curtains of the light grey vicuna material.

James Annand, representative of the Mallabar Costume Company of Toronto, is supervising the hanging of the new drapes. He explained that the new curtains will give a better lighting effect. He added that the new wings will be arranged so that they will be movable. This will allow greater space on the stage.

During the past few months spotlights have been placed along the balcony of the auditorium and above the edge of the stage.

Two PCVS Teams Line Up For First Game

On Saturday evening the results of four weeks of running, hitting dummies and going through plays will be tested as the PCVS play the powerful Riverdale Collegiate teams of Toronto.

Coach Bev. Goulding is keeping mum about his squad until after he sees them in action against the Toronto boys. Al Northcott at the quarter position is tricky at all times and he will have plenty of time to do those tricks with the line in front of him.

On the starting line Coach Goulding has Killingbeck at snap with Burns and Grainger, two hard hitting boys on each side of him. At middle he has placed Knox and Lowes. Knox is one of last year's junior COSSA champions. Ward and Robinson are at the ends of the line, both capable of snatching a pass from enemy tacklers.

With Northcott in the backfield are Coon and Wood, blocking backs. Coon made several nice runbacks during putting practice Thursday night. Evans and Armstrong are placed at the running back position. Both these backs are well known to Collegiate football fans for their play in the junior ranks. Both are heavy and fast.

On his second line are players of equal knowledge and strength as those on the first. Taylor and Jenson are at the end positions with English at middle; Curtis, Grant, Wood and Telford, available insides. Galoska, a Sudbury boy, is in the backfield with Gandy and Brown. Sergeant, a light player with experience under fire is at quarter. Garth Jopling is snapping the ball back.

The Junior Squad

Coach Alex Londry has a big, snappy crew for the 1949 edition of the PCVS juniors. Playing his third year for the juniors is Bryon Young at the quarter position. He is surrounded by Stewart, Cunningham, Langhorne and Fowler. Stewart weighs 170, while Cunningham touches the scales at 190. Langhorne is small but works well in the backfield. Fowler has been showing up well in practices along the plunging line.

Howe and Facendi are the two heaviest men on the first line of juniors. Howe, 245 and Facendi 190. Howe is at right middle while on the opposite side is Jameson, a husky boy. While Facendi is at left inside the right inside is played by Fanning, a newcomer. Al McIlraith, a converted inside and middle, is at left end and promises to be a threat to any team judging from his play in practices. At the other end Braund, a second-year man, is ready at all times to snatch a pass. Johnston is the first string snap.

The choice of Coach Londry's second team seem to be Ferguson, at quarter; Turner at snap and Galley at middle. Galley was going great guns against the first line Wednesday night, slipping through the line several times.

Other juniors are: Clapper, Buckland, White, Outram, Grafstein, Scriver, Fortner, Ward, Floyd, Hope, Harrison, Forbes and Craw.

The Riverdale lineups are: (numbers are numbers on players' sweaters): 1 B. Clarke halfback; 2 Peroff, quarterback; 3 Haney, halfback; 4 Logue, halfback; 5 Ellis, halfback; 6 Jackson, middle; 7 Kaye, inside; 8 Hicks, inside; 9 Henshaw, end; 10 Ozawa, inside; 11 Tovell, middle, 12 Kanteroff, middle; 13 H King snap; 14 R. Wright, end; 15 Speck, quarterback; 16 Miller, end; 17 B. Wright, halfback; 18 G. Clarke, halfback; 19 McNulty, end; 20 Wilson, snap; 21 Kurita, halfback; 22 Ivany, halfback; 23 Currie, end; 24 B. King, halfback; Hollaman, quarterback.

Riverdale Juniors: 1 Fisher, halfback; 3 Bruce, end; 5 Fulcher, end; 2 Shapiro, snap; 6, Burgar, inside; 7 Quinn, inside; 8 Wilson, quarterback; 9 Johnston, middle; 10 Cartwright, end; 11 Snowden, middle; 12 Mighton, half; 13 Yeda, half; 15 Phillips, half; 16 Crighton, half; 17 Crook, half; 19 Smith, middle; 20 Reyd, quarterback; 21 Williams, half; 22 See, snap; 27 Timgren, half; 25 Yakimoff, half; Bissland, Boyer, Cal Cowan, Cam Cowan, Elver, Vradenburg, Corby, Sneyd.

REDSKIN BITES DUST—Red Sox' Vern Stephens fires to first for a double play, after taking Bobby Doerr's throw to force Johnny Berardino. The play occurred on Roberto Avila's bounder in the fourth inning of the game at Fenway Park, Boston, in which the Sox topped the Cleveland Indians, 5-2. The umpire calling the play is Charley Berry.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Next grid offering locally is tonight at 8.30 in Morrow Park when Oshawa Red Raiders clash with the Panthers under the arcs. An ORFU senior "B" scheduled fixture, and it promises to be the best football fray of the season. Raiders edged Panthers 3-2 in the Motor City two weeks ago to open their schedule, and Panthers are thirsting for vengeance. Not only that, but they've got to get in and win from now on or they're chances are phooie. You see, top team in the group at schedule's end prances into provincial playdowns, whilst the runner-up also hits the playdown trail but in the next lower class. Other two clubs are just out of luck. This tilt tonight rates a crowd.

* * * * * *

We also look for a whopping big turnout at Morrow Park tomorrow night when PCVS plays Toronto Riverdale Collegiate in junior and senior school grid exhibitions. Juniors go at 6.30, with the senior scrap at 8.30 under the floodlights. First time in local Collegiate history for Peterborough school squads to play football here under lights. Coach Bev Goulding of the senior PCI-ers no doubt will come up with another team of championship, or near-championship, calibre, and his squads always turn in a great open show of running football. Coach Alex Londry of the juniors also will have a fighting team out there. And the student body will be out in force lending color and plenty of noise to the doings.

Senior Ball Playoff

Toronto Uniques play the Petes at three Saturday aft in Riverside, second of their best-of-three OBA senior "B" playdowns. This may be a semi-final series, and it might also be the last senior ball game seen here this season. Because expenses are right heavy in the playdowns and the Petes haven't had a good financial season. They may call it quits after this series unless their gate improves a whole lot. Danny Brown will be over from Buffalo for this one, but Pat Wilson is a hockey absentee. Either Bill Edger or Lefty Dadson will be on the mound for the men o' Murphy. It shapes up as a swell diamond playoff as autumn crowds onto the scene.

* * * * * *

Glad to hear that Joe Stewart won the Jack Legris Trophy as most valuable player with the ball-playin' Petes this season. He will be presented with it at tomorrow's tilt here. Alex Kay, Ray Pammett and Lew LeBarr, made up the committee which picked Joe, with Al Menzies and Bill Dadson tied as runners-up. This new trophy went to Joe because of his team spirit, willingness, versatility and good work afield and at bat. We really feel that hard-working Joe (who would go in catching if asked to) rates this recognition. He never quits trying and that's the mark of a winner in anything.

Back In Hockey Fold

Peterborough Hockey Club will operate again this puck season and with a stronger squad according to reports at last night's meeting. Lot of new material expected, and Eddie Foley is the new coach. He helped Red Creighton a lot last year knows all the hockey answers, having starred here for years back around the time of Irvin Bailey and that classy crew. Red will act as manager this season. Don McGillis, Sr., was named honorary prexy, while Ed Riley goes back as president, Spiros Zakos being vice-prexy, Baz Phelan the new secretary, and Fred Scates treasurer. Other members are Rollie Glover, Frank Buckland, Hilly Yudin and Bill McMasters.

* * * * * *

Jim Ellis is with Legion as coach this semester and Bun Kingdon may coach the junior "B" Oddfellows or else take up refereeing. The Petes will hop around now and raise some dough and unearth more players. Some talk of Jake Wade staying here and playing for 'em, and also Freddy Mortimer. Joe Blewett and Ray Harding are expected back, along with Honey Tompkins, and Keith Montgomery will line up with them if he doesn't make it at Hershey. Others of last year, some newcomers and some ex-juniors will be trying for spots, too. We're glad to see the Petes back in the OHA hunt again as it'll mean keen competition in this senior "B" grouping in the cold weather a-coming.

New York Yankees' Charles (Red) Ruffing stopped Washington Senators' bid for the American League pennant 17 years ago today by handcuffing the Nats with three hits in 10 innings. The big redhead won his own game when he drove in the winning run with a single hit in the last of the 10th.

Foley Chosen To Coach Petes' Squad

Eddie Foley, star Peterborough hockeyist of some two decade ago, last night was named coach of the Petes' OHA senior "B" club at the re-organization meeting in the YMCA. Red Creighton will manage the team. It was decided at the well-attended meeting to operate the club again, and work will start at once on finances and players, with an exhibition game opening the season here on Oct. 10.

Following are the officers for the 1949-50 season: Honorary president, Don McGillis, Sr.; president, Ed Riley (re-elected); vice-president, Spiros Zakos; secretary, Basil Phelan; treasurer, Fred Scates; executive committee, R. M. Glover, Frank Buckland, Harry Yudin and Bill McMasters. The latter represents players.

There were a number of players on hand, including some newcomers who will try out with the team. Red Creighton stated that all of last year's team was available again, but the club would ice a stronger squad than last year. There are some good junior graduates and a possibility of having Jake Wade, Freddy Mortimer, Joe Blewett and Keith Montgomery, among others, out with the Petes this winter. Ray Harding will return if assured of a strong team in front of him.

Officials of the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen Senior OHA Club said Thursday night that they have been informed there is a good chance a fifth senior team will operate in the OHA using Welland Arena as home ice. The club, if the deal goes through, will be sponsored by the Buffalo Hockey Club of the AHL because no ice is available at Buffalo it is expected that the club will play in Welland but retain the Buffalo name.

Art Chapman, general manager of the Buffalo club told Dutchmen officials Thursday that the club would go to Welland if suitable finance terms can be arranged.

Conn Smythe, managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said Thursday he was attempting to communicate with president Bill Tobin of Chicago Black Hawks. The negotiations were believed to concern a possible goaltender for Leafs' Pittsburgh farm club. The Hawks purchased Frank Brimsek from Boston Bruins a few weeks ago as their first-string goaltender and Smythe was thought to be seeking Sugar Jim Henry, who played for Chicago last season.

Gordon (Grumpy) Spring, 60, one of the best-known figures in the Canadian lacrosse world, died at New Westminster, B. C., Wednesday night. As a player, he was associated with the old Salmonbellies when they won the Minto Cup some 25 years ago. He later coached the team to several Dominion titles and lately was with it in an advisory capacity.

L'il Arthur King of Toronto, the British Empire lightweight champion, meets Alfredo Prada of Argentina in a 10-round bout tonight. The fight is part of Madison Garden's "all-star" show to open the long winter schedule.

The Torontonian is the heavy favorite with the odds quoted at almost 1 to 4.

Good Time, three-year-old pacer owned by the Good Time Stable of Goshen, N. Y., Thursday won the fourth annual Little Brown Jug three-year-old pace at Delaware, O., and picked up $23,312 of the $58,281 purse. It was the largest ever offered for a pacing event or for any race on a half-mile track.

Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League broke up their Saskatoon training camp on Thursday with 28 players being retained from an original 106 who started in the drill two weeks ago.

The 1949 national fencing championships and the British Empire fencing trials will be held jointly at the Palestre Nationale in Montreal Oct. 7-10, Ken Yost, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, announced on Thursday night.

Tommy Price on Thursday became the first Briton to win the world motorcycle speedway championship. He scored 15 points in winning all his five rides before a crowd of 93,000 at London's Wembley Stadium.

A squad of 23 players has been selected to represent the Buffalo Hockey Club on an exhibition game tour to be launched Saturday in Montreal against the National Hockey League Canadiens. General Manager Art Chapman and coach Roy Goldsworthy made the selections at the close of the pre-season training sessions at Fort Erie.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Away back last May, long before the season's schedule was drawn up, the ladies' tournament committee decided that they would hold an open trebles tournament on Sept. 15th, and accordingly that date was recorded in the schedule book along with other tournament dates. Well, as time went on, something happened to cause the women to change the date to Sept. 21. We all know what happened on that day—rained out—but that didn't bother the women, they got busy on the phones and told the local players that the tournament would go on on Thursday p.m. Sure, it was all local rinks, and a small entry at that, but they report a good time and the weather was [illegible] bad. As one woman said to us "if we can't play one day, there are 365 days in the year and surely we would hit one good day."

We overheard this one on Wednesday, the ladies were playing the one game tournament and it was the last end of the game. The skip was about to play her last bowl. The vice said to her "Now play well up, take this much grass but don't dead the kitty."

The winners were:

First (each a parasol)—Mrs. L. Riley, Mrs. N. Killingbeck, Mrs. W. Hepburn, skip.

Second (Crystal Salt and Pepper Shakers)—Mrs. R. Burns, Mrs F. Hall, Mrs. H. Beatty, skip.

Third (Pillow Cases)—Mrs. J. Adams, Mrs. T. Doughty, Mrs. L Bearne, skip.

Fourth, (Vases)—Mrs. B. McLean, Mrs. H. Darling, Miss L. Allen skip.

Port Hope Team In Junior Group Opening Oct. 3

Port Hope High School's junior football team of 1948 will be the 1949 team with several newcomers being added. Coach J. G. Toye has enough players aurning out for two teams.

Karl Lenehan, one of last year's stars on the team, is expected to be back at the centre half, while Doug Anderson, Bill Cudmore, Ken Battersby, Ken Coughlin, Bill Porter, Bill Jordon, Alex Ross, Don Plummer and Peter Brockenshire are all fighting for line and half positions.

Newcomers to the team this year include Olie Welde, Terry Evans, Bud Quick, John Howe, Charlie Groome, John Kutrowski, Lawrence Scully, John Menelily, [illegible] and Philip Gilmer.

Port Hope is entered in the Lakeshore District Group with Trinity College School and Cobourg in Division A. Their schedule opens October 3.

Brooks Mop Up Cards 19-6 In Humiliating Massacre

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Pres Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinals, down through the years, have gained a reputation as a "never say die" team.

Baseball fans are wondering today if the present crew of Cardinals will live up to the saying.

The Cardinal spirit should be low. They suffered one of the most humiliating defeats in their long history Thursday night, a 19-6 trouncing at the hands of the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Coming on the heels of a 5-0 beating the previous night the Cardinal pennant outlook, which was peaches and cream Wednesday afternoon, has curdled somewhat.

The Cards now are only a half game in front of the charged-up Dodgers and they have seven games left to play to the Dodgers' six.

The Cards could have taken a stranglehold on the lead with a victory last night. But the Dodgers, with their backs to the wall, made the Cards look like a class-D outfit instead of the top team in the National League.

Remains Unchanged

While the Dodgers mopped up the Cards before 30,765 fans at Sportsman Park, the American League pennant picture remained unchanged. The first-place New York Yankees' scheduled night game with last-place Washington was rained out. The rest of the league was idle.

Brooklyn belted Red Munger and five St. Louis relief pitchers for 19 hits. The Dodgers scored in every inning except the second and seventh.

Carl Furillo led the massacre, driving home seven run on three doubles and two singles. Gil Hodges knocked home five on three singles. Duke Snider contributed two doubles and two singles to the attack.

Lefty Joe Hatten, who had failed to finish against the Cards in six previous starts, glided to his 12th victory. Two of the Card hits were homers by Stan Musial—his 34th—and Tommy Glaviano.

Jackie Robinson, of the Dodgers, regained the circuit batting lead from the Cards' Enos Slaughter. Robinson banged out two hits in four trips to boost his mark from .342 to .343. Slaughter went hitless in five tries and dropped from .345 to .342.

Both contenders are idle today.

In other National League games the Pirates blanked Boston Braves, 1-0, behind Murry Dickson; Chicago edged Philadelphia, 3-2, and New York Giants divided with the Reds in Cincinnati, winning the first game, 3-1, and dropping the second, 8-4.

Toronto Takes Softball Crown

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 23 (CP)—Toronto's undefeated Tip Top Tailors captured the 1949 World Softball Championship Thursday night, 3-1, after an 18-inning battle with Herb Dudley and the Clearwater (Fl.) Bombers.

Toronto's rightfielder, Art Upper, came through with the game-winning blow, a two-run single in the 18th inning, to wind up a bitter mound duel between Dudley and Russ Johnson and Clarie Justice of the Tailors.

Dudley, who in two days of fournament play struck out 89 batters in 46 innings of ball had a no-hitter for 6 1-3 innings against Toronto in the softball World Series final before the Canadians found a weak spot.

Dudley, a fireball wizard, then walked a man. Justice came into the line-up in the seventh as a pinch-hitter and sent the game into extra innings when he socked a single scoring catcher Len Gaull.

The Bombers had counted against starter Johnson, in the third inning, when Eddie Moore's single scored Clair Kane.

Dudley struck out 22 Toronto batters while his team mates counted eight safeties off Johnson and Justice. Dudley gave up 10 hits. Justice whiffed 13 men in the 12 frames he worked.

Ontario Trips BC Team 8-5 In Cup Game

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 23—(CP)—The Ontario All-Stars took a step toward regaining possession of the Minto Cup for the East here Thursday night when they came from behind to defeat the British Columbia All-Stars 8-5 in the first game of the Canadian Junior Lacrosse finals.

Second game in the best-of-five series will be played here Saturday night.

The Western champions dashed into an early lead when Lyle Kehoe scored after 53 seconds of play and they made it 3-0 when the first quarter ended. After that the Ontario squad took over. They tied the count 3-3 by half-time and led 5-3 after three quarters.

Slices Lead

Russ Buchanan sliced the Eastern lead with his second goal of the night shortly after the start of the fourth quarter but goals by Harold Knox and Derry Davies ten seconds apart boosted Ontario's lead to 7-4 and the Easterners were never threatened after that.

The Ontario squad are made up chiefly of players from the Ontario Lacrosse Association champions, St. Catharines Athletics. The B.C. players all are from Vancouver.

The teams played a clean game before 1,000 sepctators, with only five penalties being handed out.

Ted Howe, for Ontario, and Russ Buchanan, for the Western club, were the only players to score twice. Single Ontario counters went to Doug Smith, Jack Kapasky, Don Hay, Harold Knox, Don Moore and Derry Davies.

One-time snipers for the Westerners were Lyle Kehoe, Gordie Stewart and Gord Nickle.

Joe Stewart Voted The Most Valuable

Joe Stewart of the Petes' senior baseball club was voted the Jack Legris Trophy as most valuable player on the team this year at a meeting last evening. The committee named by Mr Legris for the voting was: Alex Kay, Ray Pammett and Lew LeBarr. Al Menzies and Bill Dadson tied as runners-up. The trophy will be presented to Stewart at Saturday's game. It is an annual trophy with an individual one each year for the winner.

The committee named Stewart this year's winner "because of his versatility, willingness, team spirit and success at bat and in the field." The trophy is put up by Jack Legris of the Mutual Benefit, Health and Accident Association. Mr. Legris is the local manager.

Noronic Toll At 126 To Date

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP)—The toll of named dead and missing in the Noronic ship fire stands today at 126, while work goes forward on the task of identifying victims and of investigating the cause of the disaster.

But establishment of the final death toll remains in the hands of medical experts seeking to learn the identity of bodies still at the improvised morgue at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds. The count of bodies recovered is 130.

The Canadian Press card-index of victims, revised as reported missing turned up safe, showed a total of 126 as follows: identified dead, 78; named missing, 48.

There were two possible explanations for the discrepancy. Some bodies may be those of unlisted passengers who have never been reported aboard. The morgue total of bodies recovered may be inaccurate.

Coroner's officials explained that the total of 130 is at best an estimate. Hose-streams used in fighting the blaze aboard the Canada Steamship Lines cruise ship last Saturday may have moved parts of bodies about. As a result, one body might conceivably be listed as two.

It is believed now that there were 699 persons, including six not listed as passengers or crew members, aboard the Noronic when she burned at her pier in Toronto harbor.

Federation of Agriculture To Be Host to Service Clubs

Federation of Agriculture is planning a luncheon meeting in December at which representatives of service clubs are to be guests.

It is intended to be an occasion of reciprocating club hospitality which many farmers have enjoyed. Mr. H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation, is being invited to attend as guest speaker.

The committee in charge of the affair was appointed Tuesday night. They are: W. W. Dawson, president; John Kitney, secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Thompson.

The first luncheon of the new season will be Tuesday, Nov. 8. The Federation has booked the second Tuesday of each month through the Winter for its luncheon series.

Mr. Clare Burt, Toronto, of Farm Radio Forum, congratulated Peterborough Federation members on these noon luncheons which were begun last Fall.

"It impresses me as a splendid idea, and I hope the new series will be as successful as the first one last winter," Mr. Burt said.

The directors voted a grant of $100 for the Central Ontario Holstein championships which are to be held here again in October.

"Let's pay it all now," was the proposal of Stewart Nelson of Otonabee, in a motion to send the Ontario Federation the $391 which is computed as Peterborough's contribution for 1949 to the provincial body. It was seconded by N. W. McConkey, and unanimously adopted.

Mixed Reaction To Increase Of Freight Rate

By The Canadian Press.

The eight-per-cent general freight rate increase is meeting with a mixed reaction across Canada.

A Canadian Press survey last night showed that comments range from a British Columbia statement that the verdict was "very favorable" for that province to Alberta business men's claims that the rate boost "ruined" efforts to hold down living costs.

Charles W. Brazier, British Columbia counsel in the tangled three-year battle over freight rates, said living costs in his province are not likely to rise appreciably as a result of the increase. He predicted that the increased rates on most consumer goods likely will be so small that wholesalers and retailers will absorb them.

Real Victory

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan called the rate decision a "real victory" for provincial governments and other organizations which opposed the railways' request for a 20-per-cent rate increase.

Premier D. L. Campbell of Manitoba said his government is "against any increase whatsoever."

The Edmonton Journal quoted Alberta retailers and manufacturers as predicting that the increase will eliminate any chance of distributing Alberta products farther afield. Business men also claimed that efforts to hold down the cost of living had been "ruined" by the increase.

The first comment from railway spokesmen came from R. C. Vaughan, president of the Canadian National Railways, in Calgary on an annual tour of C. N. R. lines. Said Mr. Vaughan:

"Well, that's something."

He said he wanted a fuller report before he commented further.

Washington Spotlight

Say Civil Rights Filibuster May End Senate Business

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(CP)—There is a possibility that the United States Senate will wind up its 1949 business with a wordy echo of its first big fight of the year—a filibuster on the Civil Rights issue.

Senator Walter F. George (Dem. Ga.) said this week he is certain the Truman administration will try to force a vote.

Civil Rights is but one of several important matters still on the Senate program and, in the drive for adjournment of a session already almost nine months old, it might be side-tracked.

But deep political feeling surrounds the issue. Civil Rights was one of Truman's main election campaign pledges last fall. It remains an important plank in his legislative program and he may well decide to try again this year, rather than postpone his effort until 1950.

Will Try Again

Despite a stinging administration defence on the civil-rights issue early this year, Senator Scott Lucas (Dem., Ill.), Senate majority leader, emphasized that the Truman forces "lost none of determination to try again." He gave no indication whether he meant in 1949 or 1950.

Whenever it comes, it will mean a filibuster by Southern Democrats. They are the traditional opponents of civil-rights legislation — they contend it is a matter for individual state governments — and the filibuster is their traditional weapon.

Shut-Off Attempt

George predicted there will at least be an attempt within the next few weeks to shut off debate. If that move was successful, the Administration then could more confidently introduce controversal legislation such as civil-rights measures.

However, the Southerners have a big advantage in the current Senate absenteeism. Under a rule adopted this year, 64 Senators must vote "Yes" to end a filibuster against any bill.

Chamber To Open Meet To Public

MARMORA Sept. 23 (ENS) — Chamber of Commerce second ladies' night to be held Sept. 28 will be open to the public as well as to wives of members. Main feature of the program in the Town Hall will be an address by Mr. Brand, secretary to the High Commissioner of South Africa, resident in Ottawa. Mr. Brand, who is an able speaker, will illustrate the talk on his native land with movies. A dinner is being served by the Marmora Women's Institute. After the meeting there will be bridge and euchre.

Country Ministers' Unrest United Church Problem

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 23 (CP) —"One of the greatest problems in the United Church of Canada today is unrest among the clergy," Rev. D. D. Gaynor, president of the United Church London Conference, said today. He spoke at the opening meeting of the Middlesex Presbytery for the 1949-50 season.

Mr. Gaynor said there were few dissatisfied ministers in the United Church, but some were restless because of small charges, and the false pride garnered by a move to the city.

"The psychology that a minister who has taken a charge in the city has become a success is false," he said. "We must get away from the attitude that there is something wrong with the minister who doesn't receive a charge in the city."

The president said that, in effect, the country pastor's job was more important or at least as important as work in the city.

The speaker said that since the day of small country churches the mode of transportation of persons has changed, so that they are able to travel longer distances to attend services.

In a report to the Presbytery, Rev. L. C. Harvey, secretary, said there are now 45 charges in the Presbytery, three less than last year, due to boundary readjustments. He said there are 86 ministers compared to last year's 83, the highest number of pastors in several years.

NORONIC MASTER—Captain William Taylor of Sarnia protesting against being photographed on the pier after flames sweeping through his ship had forced him from the engine-room exit. Face scorched and right hand bandaged, Capt. Taylor told The Canadian Press 18 hours after the fire that after going through the ship twice in an effort to return by the regular gangway but was prevented. Then, he said, he broke away and ran to the bow to get aboard but was stopped by the crowd at the ship-side. The photograph was taken by Art Cole of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Passenger Arrested For Attempted Holdup

TORONTO, Sept. 23—(CP)—Police today arrested James McCann, 36, on a charge of attempted robbery after a taxi driver complained that McCann, a passenger in his cab, had stuck a pencil, seized McCann by the to "keep your mouth shut and keep going."

Laverne Stafford, the driver, said when he felt an object pressed against his back he turned around and, seeing it was only a pencil, seized McCann by the throat.

Only 8 Medals and Stars Can Be Given Any Veteran

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Although a total of 11 campaign stars and medals will be distributed to former members of the Canadian armed forces in the Second World War, the most any one individual can be awarded is eight, according to Hon. Milton F. Gregg, Minister of Veterans' Affairs. Distribution of the stars and medals is expected to start about October 1, with it being necessary for all veterans to make application in order to insure that addresses are accurate.

"The War Service Records Divisions of the department, which has been checking the files in order to establish eligibility, has not yet been able to locate a veteran who will receive all eight," Mr. Gregg said. "There are a few we know of who will receive seven, but we can't yet say positively that any Canadian veteran will receive eight."

The rarest decoration for the Canadian forces is the Burma Star. Only 5,200 of these will be distributed by Canada, with the majority of the recipients members of the RCAF who served in that theatre. Army personnel who receive this star will largely be those of Chinese or Japanese extraction sent to Burma to serve on intelligence duties or as interpreters.

400 Combinations

Officers in charge of distribution of the decorations have figured out that the Second World War, with its eleven stars and medals, along with the several clasps which may be earned, offers a possible 400 combinations of awards. This compares with only five possible combinations in World War I when only four medals and stars were awarded, including the 1914 Star and the 1914-15 Star. They cited one possible combination which would include the 1939-45 Star, the Africa Star, the Italy Star, the France-Germany Star, the Pacific Star, the Defence Medal, the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal and Clasp, the War Medal, a clasp signifying entitlement to the Atlantic Star and an Oak Leaf for having meen mentioned in despatches. This same individual would be entitled to a figure "1" either the 1st or 8th Army in or "8" to signify service with North Africa.

Because of this large number of possible combinations a special booklet is being sent out to each veteran explaining the method and order of wearing for all decorations.

Air Rescue Service

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 23 (AP)—Col. Bernt Balchen of the United States Air Force, an authority on Arctic aerial operations, said in an interview Thursday a United States air rescue service will establish a base at the North Pole next spring. The base will be set up to gain experience in top-of-the- world regions.

Identify Four Bodies

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) — Bodies of Miss Rose Whitz, 36, of Cleveland, O., Miss Betty Fink, 39, of Cleveland Arthur S. Leybourn, 66, and his 63-year-old wife Bessie, of Rocky River, O., Thursday were identified as among those burned to death on the pleasure ship Noronic Saturday. This brings the total of identified dead to 78, morgue officials said.

Elected Chairman

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) — Drummond Giles of Cornwall, Ont., Thursday was elected chairman of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He succeeds W. F. Holding of Toronto, elected second vice-president of the association at the annual meeting in June.

Reduces Sentence

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 23 (AP) — Governor Stevenson Thursday reduced the 99-year prison sentence of Nathan Leopold, Chicago "thrill slayer," to 85 years. This makes Leopold eligible to apply for parole in January, 1953. Leopold, now 44, and Richard (Dickie) Leob were convicted in 1924 of the kidnap-murder of Bobby Franks, a 14-year-old boy, one of the century's most sensational crimes.

Too Many Rules Professor Says

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) — Professor Gordon Brown of the Toronto University School of Social Studies said Thursday Ontario schools are filled with a host of petty rules that make life difficult for children.

Addressing delegates to the Ontario Social Welfare Conference here he said:

"Children were growing up in a continually confusing social order—one divided by economics, education, religion, recreation and even by generation."

A teacher is usually a product of the middle classes, he added.

"He operates within the limits of middle class values. A child who doesn't conform is undesirable."

However, the strict conformity to rules required was not the fault of the teacher. If teachers were not in harmony with the ideals of the community parents would intervene.

TYPISTS! STENOGRAPHERS! STUDENTS!

Here's the key to the job YOU want!

(Handy Pocket Size)

... opens the door to better pay - and faster promotion

Here's What It Is!

The Underwood Proficiency Certificate is an invaluable new credential now awarded by Canadian Business Schools in conjunction with Underwood Limited. It is introduced to make a clear-cut distinction between the fully-fledged, finished graduate and the insufficiently trained student. It certifies that the holder has completed a prescribed course of training, and reached a recognized standard of proficiency.

Here's What It Means!

Possession of this Certificate is a priceless asset to YOU when applying for a job. It gives the employer immediate, concrete evidence of your proficiency! It tells him that you have successfully completed a prescribed course—and passed to recognized standards. It leaves him no room for doubt about your skill as a typist or stenographer. It distinguishes you instantly and completely from all semi-trained and "amateur" job-seekers. Most important of all, it gives you a tremendous advantage over students who left school without graduating, and lack this proof of their ability!

HERE'S HOW IT IS AWARDED!

This Certificate is issued by Business and Commercial Schools to all students who successfully graduate from a prescribed stenographic course.

IF YOU ARE A STUDENT—you will receive it upon successful graduation as described above.

IF YOU HAVE ALREADY GRADUATED—you may obtain your Certificate by taking a brief prescribed test at the School from which you graduated. The Certificate will be awarded immediately to all successful candidates.

IF YOU HAVE LEFT SCHOOL WITHOUT GRADUATING—you can still obtain your Certificate! Simply complete your original course (at Night School if you prefer) . . . and pass your prescribed test!

There are golden opportunities for the student with thorough training! This Certificate proves you have it!

This Just Wasn't Junior Scott's Day Has Enough Troubles To Last Lifetime

WHEELING, W.Va., Sept. 23—(AP). — Eighteen-year-old Junior Scott must think he has had enough troubles in one day to last a lifetime. Junior's dog jumped in front of him Wednesday and took the bite of a copperhead snake which was poised to strike.

While Junior was rushing the dog to a veterinarian in a horse and buggy, the horse bolted from the harness and the buggy crashed into a parked car.

The dog was hurried to the vet and his life saved, but Junior was arrested for reckless driving. However, the charge was dropped when it was found the city had no law covering such an offence with a horse and buggy

But Junior was not through having trouble. During the arraignment, his horse disappeared from the post to which it had been tied. It finally was found about four miles from town.

Junior got astride, carrying his dog and rode off.

Cattle Prices Up 50 Cents During Week

TORONTO,' Sept. 23 — (CP)— Cattleprices were strong to 50 cents higher on a few good bulls and choice weighty steers in trading here this week, reported the Dominion Marketing Service today. Other cattle grades, calves, lambs and sheep were steady, while hogs dropped $1.50 a hundredweight. Closing cattle trade was very weak.

Devaluation of the Canadian dollar made very little impression on the cattle market. A few better cattle sold a little higher for export, but the general run was not of good enough quality. Included in the supply were 1,600 Western cattle. Carryover from last week was 150 head and the carryover from this week's trading is expected to be 1,000 head. Small lots of good to choice weighty steers sold at $22-$23.50, with a prime load at $24.75. Good light steers were $21-$22.25 and good heifers $19.50-$20. Plain steers and heifers sold downward to $16 with boners as low as $13.

Medium to good cows closed mostly at $14-$15. Good export bulls brought $16.50-$17, with a few at $17.50. Choice fed yearlings were $24-$25 with mediums from $20-$22.

Stockers were fairly active for better quality. Picked Hereford feeders sold at $19-$20 a hundredweight. The general run of stocker sales were between $15-$18 a hundredweight. Ordinary quality milkers and springers sold for $135-$175 each.

Calf receipts totalled 2,277 head. Prices were steady at $24-$26 for choice quality vealers, with plain to medium from $16-$22. Grassers for slaughter closed at $13-$15.

Offerings of hogs totalled 2,692. Prices took a drop of $1.50 to $30 for Grade-A and $29.60 for Grade B1. Sows were unchanged at $19 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 3,817 head. Good ewes and wethers were steady at $22 a hundredweight. Buck lambs sold at the usual $1 discount. Cull lambs were $14-$16 a hundredweight. Good light sheep sold at $9-$11, with culls closing downward to $5.

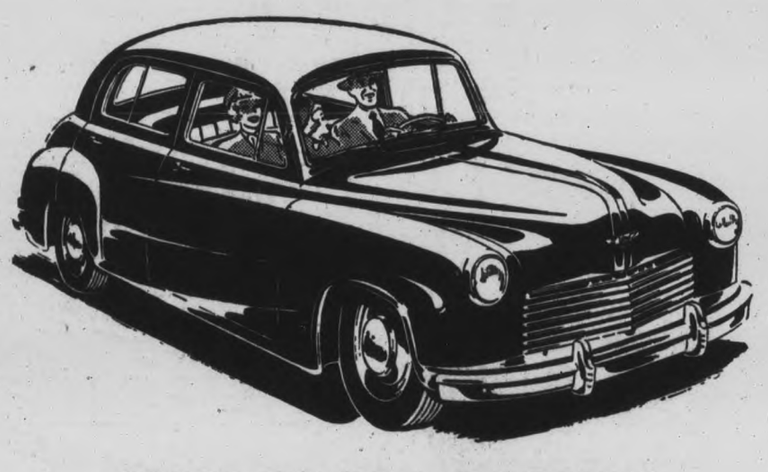
Will Begin Discussion Integrating Services

TORONTO, Sept. 23—(CP)—Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar said today the provincial government is ready to initiate proceedings or discussion among Toronto's 12 suburban areas to integrate essential services.

Mr. Dunbar said the municipalities involved would be given an opportunity to work out the problem by themselves. If they failed to agree on an integration plan, the cabinet would consider the matter.



UEW Urges Return Of Price Controls

HAMILTON, Sept. 23—(CP)—Return of price control on essential goods and restoration of the excess profits tax by the federal government were called for by the United Electrical Workers in a statement issued today.

An increase in prices and a decrease in the real value of the wage dollar were seen as results of the devaluation of the Canadian dollar by the 170 delegates at the close of their 13th annual convention here yesterday.

The statement agreed with the reported remarks of Pat Conroy, secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, that a "new splurge in profiteering" will result from devaluation of the dollar. The electrical workers called on the Canadian Congress of Labor to lead a national co-ordinated wage drive to restore the real value of the wage dollar and to raise the standard of living.

Never before has such value been offered for so little!

No Wage Bill As Volunteers Building Rink

By HARRY THEOBALD

"The community spirit of the men of Otonabee today is just as ardent and active as it ever was," is the comment of one of the elder women of the township as she has noted the progress of building the township's memorial rink.

Between 30 and 40 men are turning out daily and voluntarily to help in the construction, and as an economy to their neighborhood enterprise and its memorial purpose. So far, there has been no wage bill, except an account for the experts who were engaged in bolting together the timbers for the arches of the building.

Otonabee Memorial Rink is an undertaking that probably might not have progressed as it has done without its appeal to the memories of the people of the township, and a dedication to their deep sentiment.

Circumstances long ago stimulated local and neighborly spirit. Sympathies were strong and they were concentrated upon much narrower circles than now. Elders, and one of them is a well-known woman of the township, pay tribute to the young people of today. Their interests range far and wide, and are mobile in all those directions, unlike their grandparents who were dependent on buggy distances. But, when the community call for co-operation goes out, the men of the township respond as willingly and industriously as ever.

A committee was entrusted with the preliminary planning. All that ground work was done. Today it is a building job, indicating the stage which the progress has reached.

Asked To Report

The building committee takes to the telephone each night, calling up some 30 to 40 men to report on the job the next day. It is understood that they are now putting on the enclosing shell of galvanized iron, aluminum or whatever the material is. It is not so much the "what" that counts, as the "why." Members of the committee say there is no slacking, very little any way, and most of the men who show up with hammers and other tools have acquired a competence in general work—you might call it handiness—that is of real value on the job.

The heartening discovery from this undertaking is that the local spirit of the township is sound and cheerful, and also that it is not forgetful and unmindful of sacrifices that are to be commemorated in the Memorial Rink.

The arches of the rink are of Douglas fir, grown in the State of Oregon. The dimensions of the main structure are 180 ft. by 80 ft. with one curling ice on each side, making the over-all size: 180 ft. by 110 ft.

Goodfellow Marks 25th Wedding Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 23 — (ENS)—The home of the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow and Mrs. Goodfellow, Brighton township, was the scene of a happy event on Tuesday when relatives and neighbours gathered to celebrate with them their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Goodfellow was married to Dora Philp at the home of the bride's parents, Cramahe township, on Saturday, Sept. 20, 1924, by the Rev. Mr. Foley.

The Goodfellows live on a farm two miles east of Highway 30. They have four daughters and one son. Shirley and Joy are married while Ada and Phyllis are teen-age high school girls. Young Phil's present interests are chiefly with rabbits.

Mr. Goodfellow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Goodfellow, are honored residents of Colborne.

Mr. Goodfellow has taken an active part in public affairs. He served on the Brighton township council and also on the United Counties Council at Cobourg.

In August, 1943, he won Northumberland county for the Conservative party. He became Minister of Welfare in January, 1946.

Since 1943, "Bill", as his friends call him, has served his riding well and has put through much beneficial legislation for the good of the aged and unfortunate people throughout the province.

The high position he holds has made him neither ostentatious nor pretentious. He remains the same as his neighbours knew him in the early days on the farm.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

CANCEL ALC MEETING

A number of the locals making up the Allied Labor Council had their own individual meetings Thursday night and the result was few delegates turned up for the Allied Labor Council. A quorum could not be mustered and the meeting was cancelled.

BEGIN CLASSES

Classes in the Boys' Department of the YMCA will start Saturday with the boys from eight years to 13 attending. These boys are grouped in the pioneer, juvenile and junior classes. Gym, swimming and registering will be the chief activities for the first day, Donald Duncan, Boys' Work Secretary, said today.

RIPE RASPBERRIES

A big, plump, juicy, red raspberry was brought into the Examiner news room today by Mrs. Arnold Hewitt, 535 Roger St. She brought the twig on which it was grown to prove it was the real thing. This berry was but one of many growing at this late date on her few bushes behind her home, Mrs. Hewitt said. There are a number of blooms as well. During the normal raspberry season, the bushes had a good crop, but apparently were not satisfied. The berry was good, too.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow Dies In Ottawa

The funeral was held Thursday in Ottawa for Mrs. William John Morrow, who lived in Peterborough up until four years ago.

Mrs. Morrow died at the home of her son, Dr. Cyril B. Morrow, Ottawa, in her 86th year, after a short illness. She had been living with Dr. Morrow for the past four years.

Born in Peterborough, she was the daughter of the late John Delaney and Ellen Donnell. Sixty-two years ago she married William John Morrow, who predeceased her in 1944.

Mrs. Morrow was a talented musician who received her followship from the National College of Music in London.

She organized the Peterborough College of Music when she returned to Canada and was the only representative of the National College of Music in Canada.

A member of St. Joseph's Church in Ottawa, she also belonged to the Third Order of St. Francis and the Order of the Perpetual Rosary.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. Vincent John Morrow, New York, and Dr. Cyril B. Morrow, Ottawa, and four grandchildren.

Calf Offered On Draw Wins Prize At Fair

The Holstein calf Norm McConkey gave to the committee of the Otonabee Memorial Rink dug up at Marmora the other day two dollars on its own account for the building fund.

Several of the young men of the township took the Lifloc calf to the fair down east Tuesday. They looked down the prize list and saw a spot where they thought they had a chance.

In the spirit of "we might as well try," they spent one dollar to get into the prize ring, and the calf won the top award in its class—three dollars. So, the net proceeds were two dollars from that incidental venture.

The calf is making the circuit of the fairs, and tickets are being sold for the draw that will dispose of it in another month or so. Stranger things have happened than the founding of a herd on a young heifer of that Lifloc quality.

Ticket buyers need not have any doubts about the rating of the calf when it can win as easily as the Marmora incident indicates.

28 Teachers Killed

TOKYO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Twenty-eight Japanese school teachers were believed killed Thursday in the collapse of a suspension bridge near Toyama, 125 miles west of Tokyo, press reports said.

WARWORTH, Sept. 23—(ENS)—Mrs. Sarah Cornelius recently celebrated her 99th birthday.

Final Tribute Paid Mrs. W. G. E. Ruth

Rev. Dr. James Semple of George St. United Church conducted the funeral service of the late Mrs. W. G. Edgar Ruth on Wednesday from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons.

Mrs. Ruth passed away in Toronto, following a lingering illness.

Pallbearers were James McMartin, Jackson Zimmerman, Arthur Wilson, Albert Greydon, William Grieve and Ernest Ruth.

Surviving are her husband, W. G. Edgar Ruth; three daughters, Mrs. J. Eico (Greta), Mrs. Arthur Wilson (Alta), Miss Doreen Ruth; one sister, Mrs. Harry Mallett of Toronto, and one brother, James McMartin of Peterborough.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Hospital Board Supports Surgical Bylaw

Acting on the advice of fact-finding committee, the Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital Thursday night voted six to three to enforce bylaw 59 as of Oct. 1 which makes it necessary for a certified surgeon to be present at every major operation. It does not however ban other doctors from continuing in the operating room as long as a surgeon is present for the major operations.

Dr. S. Y[illegible], a member of the Board who termed the bylaw "fair", said he wanted to bring before the Board the opinions of many of the staff doctors. He said the staff had held a meeting which most attended and two-thirds of the staff members voted to recommend to the Board that the bylaw be rescinded or be modified or at least deferred until it could be made acceptable to the staff members.

A Poor Yardstick

The staff was saying, Dr. Walsh reported, that a certificate was a poor yardstick by which to measure a doctor's qualifications to operate. He said some of the doctors had been practising a number of years and it would be unfair now to limit their use of the operating room. He said probably in 10 years only certified surgeons would be operating.

Dr. Walsh said he thought no one would be particularly hurt by the bylaw, but it would be ill advised for the Board to take any actions which might persuade any of the staff doctors to leave.

The bylaw doesn't make very much difference to any of the present staff," said Board chairman John R. Marshall. The big change would be, he said, that if a doctor were not a specialist he must take a qualified specialist to assist him instead of picking up some one no more qualified than himself to operate.

In the nine months since the bylaw went into the book of hospital regulations, no one had made any constructive criticism, he said.

It was suggested perhaps Dr. A. R. Atkinson, chief of the Service of General Practice, had made a constructive suggestion when he suggested an intermediate group of operations which experienced doctors could perform as before. Hernia operations and appendectomies would be two in this intermediate group.

Patient Chief Concern

The person of most concern to the staff and the Board should be the patient, T. T. Rodgers pointed out.

"I can see no fair reason why the bylaw cannot be accepted," he said.

"The patient is protected not because men have or have not a certificate," said Dr. Walsh, "but by the moral and ethical character of the individual doctor." He said Ontario hospitals were in a transition period and there were many men on the staff who had considerable experience as surgeons who would have taken out a certificate if they could have foreseen it would ever be necessary before they could use the operating room.

"Don't they realize that under the bylaw they can continue as before because that experience would make them acceptable to the Medical and Surgical Advisory Committee", Mr. Marshall asked.

"That's true," said Dr. Walsh, "and I think that is the bylaw's strength."

Any Demand For Bylaw

"Has there been any great clamor for this bylaw? Has anything happened which I haven't heard about which makes it necessary to regulate staff doctors more closely?" Melville Johnston asked. "I don't see any need for this bylaw myself. I think we're safe enough the way we are," he continued.

Mr. Marshall answered they were trying to eliminate as much as possible the hazard of anything happening, before it happens.

"We are morally and legally responsible," he exclaimed. He pointed out there was nothing to prevent modifications and amendments to the bylaw in the future when they were felt necessary.

The truth was, he said, everyone endorsed the principle of the bylaw, but he wanted it to apply to everyone but himself.

When the motion was put to the vote, J. Mahoney, Warden Wm. Darling and Mr. Johnston voted against it.

In a move to get interns for the new Civic Hospital, the Board voted to instruct Superintendent John Hornal to apply for provisional rating by the Canadian Medical Association by accepting the Association's terms concerning the number of interns necessary to comply with its standards which laid down a ruling of one intern for every 50 hospital beds.

This would mean four or five interns, Dr. G. S. Cameron pointed out that interns were very scarce and even if Peterborough Civic Hospital received an "A" rating, the chances were it would not get more than one or two interns.

He said the Civic Hospital could not meet some of the requirements for a rating, such as a medical library and a reading room.

Trial Wednesday

The trials for Roy Ellis, RR 10, Peterborough, and John Billingsley, 555 Douglas Avenue, on charges of attempting to steal a car were to-day set for Wednesday next, after both elected summary trial in Magistrate's Court. Bail was set at $500.

Truck Plunges Through Bridge Lands In Creek

Two people are in Civic Hospital with injuries received when a truck plunged through the north bridge at Burleigh Falls Thursday night and fell into the creek below.

A Whitby man, Paul Piurko, 41, driver of the truck, has a broken left leg and other injuries.

Mrs. Josephine Martin of Apsley, one of three passengers, has an injured jaw, caused by one of the steel railings of the bridge being driven through the windshield into her face. Her husband "Rocky" Martin was uninjured.

The third passenger, William Clinton of Apsley, was also uninjured but was arrested by Provincial Police and charged with third offence drunkenness.

Exact cause of the accident has not been determined. Piurko was driving north over the bridge when he lost control of the vehicle. It smashed through the steel guard railing along the side and fell about eight feet into the creek.

The water is only a couple of feet deep at that point.

Provincial Constables J. Hanson and Feeley investigated.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23—(AP)—Right-wing forces at the United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.) convention today talked about seceding from the left-wing controlled U.E.W. if that union is expelled or drops out of the C.I.O. The anti-administration faction, headed by James P. Carey, C.I.O. Secretary-treasurer and former U.E. president, Thursday night took steps to remain in the C.I.O. in event the Union's franchise is revoked at the C.I.O. convention here Oct. 31.

Carey said the position of right-wing forces in the union has become untenable as a result of its defeats on controversial issues at the union's convention, which ends today.

The convention Wednesday re-elected Albert J. Fitzgerald, left-wing president since 1941, and two other left-wing officers.

The action by the right-wing faction was expected to stir up a new storm on the convention floor today.

A statement issued by Carey after Thursday night's caucus said the committee will ask the C.I.O. "to determine the best way to provide a C.I.O. international union in the electrical industry free from the domination of the Communist party."

Communist In Control

A Congressional labor committee last year reported that Communists had seized control of the U.E.'s national headquarters, the executive board, the paid staff, the union newspapers and a number of its districts and locals.

The Carey group's statement claimed the right-wing of the union represents more than 150,000 of an estimated 370,000 members in the U.E.

Morton Defeated

Although receiving support from delegates representing 150,000 of the 370,000 UE members, J. Morton, president of local 524, Peterborough, was an unsuccessful candidate for the position of trustee of general executive board.

Speaking against a constitutional amendment, Mr. Morton pointed out on the convention floor that whereas locals in the U.S.A. only paid five or ten cents to their district office, Canadian locals were assessed twenty-five cents. "We in Peterborough have tried to maintain a defence fund, he said, and we know that if this amendment passes it will leave us with only forty-five cents out of the dollar fifty dues to run our local, and we cannot do it."

A motion to refer the amendment back to the constitutional committee was passed by a large majority after Mr. Morton asked the chair, "If this amendment is passed and made part of the constitution, what happens to a local if it cannot keep up the payments?"

Because of proposed amendments to the UE constitution scheduled to appear before the convention right-wing UE delegates have mapped their strategy for staying in the CIO. One amendment would in effect allow the international offices of UE to expell locals or their leaders without trial. A further amendment would permit the general executive board to withhold per capita tax from the CIO. In the opinion of right-wing leaders this proposed amendment is in effect a move towards secession by the UE from the CIO and of the setting up of a "Communist" congress of labor.

Right-wing leaders who polled forty-one per cent. of the convention votes and claim they should have had a majority because of the refusal of the administration to seat right-wing delegates are taking the following steps: (1), to perserve a solid core of non-Communist workers in the electrical industry; (2), to send a committee of ten to the CIO convention, which will be held in November, to place the case of the anti-Communist UE members before that body.

The right-wing leaders, fearing a secession move out of the CIO by the Communist dominated UE administration, want to place before the convention the wish of the majority of UE members to stay in the CIO.

Novello Back With New Musical Hit

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP).—Ivor Novello, Britain's most successful actor - composer - producer, is back in the West End with another hit musical comedy.

First-nighters lapped up his latest, "King's Rhapsody," and gave him an ovation which the 56-year-old star called "the greatest reception of my career."

The show combines the usual Novello sugar - and - champagne ingredients — sumptuous staging, plenty of pretty girls, tunes to be whistled in the shower, and a plot to be forgotten as soon as possible.

The success formula has built a fortune for Novello. With his new show here and three touring the provinces, theatre men figure he makes around £30,000 a year from box-office takings, sheet music, record royalties and astute investment in other entertainment fields.

Great Matinee Idol

In 28 years of grease paint, Welsh-born Novello, dark-haired and chiseled-featured, has been called everything from "The Poor Man's Noel Coward" to "The Peter Pan with the Midas Touch." He remains one of London's biggest matinee idols.

He made his first stage appearance in 1921 and won his first West End success in 1924, when he collaborated with Actress Constance Collier in "The Rat" and portrayed the sort of Apache lover that sent feminine playgoers of the 1920's into the streets swooning.

Successes have rolled off the tinselled production line ever since. For 10 years Novello specialized in slick, intimate musical comedy. Then he turned to spectacular productions like "Glamorous Night." "Careless Rapture," "Crest of The Wave" and "The Dancing Years" all swelled the Novello bank account.

After the Second World War, as handsome as ever — and still a bachelor — he continued to pack them in. Some critics think "King's Rhapsody" may be the biggest smash of all.

SHADOW OF GALLOWS LIFTED—For the first time since the night of March 26, Albert (Punch) Quesnel of Espanola is a free man. Convicted on June 29 and sentenced to hang Sept. 29 for the murder of 71-year-old Mrs. Harry Cleland of Espanola, Quesnel was given his freedom after a court of appeal Tuesday quashed the sentence and aquitted the accused man. Here Quesnel, right, leaves the Sudbury District Jail accompanied by Owen Connors, the jail governor.

TOOTH HALLOWS TEMPLE Kandy, a town in Ceylon, boasts a temple which is supposed to contain a tooth of Buddha.

Selwyn United Holds Anniversary Services

SELWYN, Sept. 23 (ENS). — Rev. Bernard Heyswood of Fraserville occupied the pulpit as guest speaker at both anniversary services at the United Church on Sunday.

In the morning the Selwyn choir, with Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald as organist, was in attendance and rendered two anthems. The Fairview choir, with Kenneth Patton as organist, rendered special music at the evening service.

The church was decorated with autumn flowers.

G. H. Hutchinson of Peterborough has completed installing a new furnace in the United Church. Another job of painting and puttying the windows was also done a short time ago.

Clothing No Cheaper

MONTREAL, Sept. 23 (CP) — Clothing won't be any cheaper this year for Canada's male population, Norman Genser, general counsel for the National Council of Clothing Manufacturers, said Thursday. He was commenting on probable effects on the clothing industry of devaluation of the pound sterling.

Goes On Trial

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) — Accused of shooting at his sister-in-law last Aug. 16 with intent to kill her, Benjamin Lofsky, unemployed fur worker, went on trial Thursday. He also is charged with wounding the sister-in-law, Ethal Lofsky.

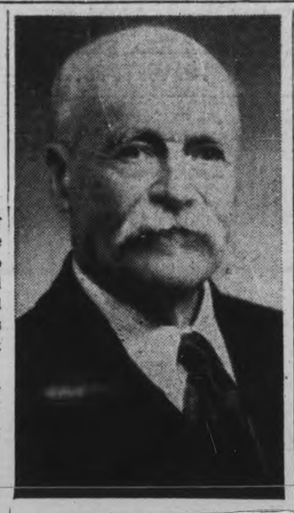
Porter Seeking Fire College Ideas In U.S.



TORONTO, Sept. 23—Ideas for the new fire college which the Ontario government plans to establish in the Ottawa area will be sought by Attorney-General Dana Porter and senior officials of his department when they visit Washington next week-end.

The Ontario group has been invited by Edgar Hoover, FBI chief to attend a demonstration of the bureau's methods of operation on Friday. The following day the group will be conducted through a fire school which the FBI also sponsors.

The new Ontario training school will be located near Carleton College, so that the laboratory facilities of the latter can be utilized.

On Tuesday Mr. Porter will address the Fire Chiefs' convention at New Orleans, giving the delegations an outline of the financial aid which the province gives to municipal fire departments and the legislation which governs the working conditions of firemen in Ontario. He will be accompanied by Fire Marshal W. J. Scott.

With him in Washington will be Deputy Attorney-General Cliff Magone; W. B. Common, director of public prosecutions, and Commissioner W. H. Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police.

JOSEPH STEELE

Jailed Nine Years In Manslaughter Case

SARNIA, Sept. 23 (CP)—Ralph Howlett, 27-year-old Petrolia war veteran, Thursday was sentenced to nine years for manslaughter for the bludgeon killing of Harry Brown, March 11. The charge was reduced from one of murder.

Brown, a 63-year-old oil driller was found dead in the furnace room of the Petrolia town hall. An autopsy revealed death due to cerebral hemorrhage from a blow to the skull.

Joseph Steele To Celebrate 90th Birthday

Joseph Steele, of the Villiers, Otonabee township, will celebrate his 90th birthday on Tuesday. The last surviving member of a family of 11, he is the son of the late John Steele, of Glasgow, Scotland, and the former Mary Elmhurst, Lincolnshire, England.

His parents pioneered in Asphodel Township and he has spent his entire life in the Keene district.

On October 25, 1942, Mr. Steele celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary. He has three sons and six daughters, 29 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren. There will be a family celebration Tuesday.

Say Housewife May Be Key In Devaluation

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Mrs. Housewife will have most to do with how British and Canadian devaluation measures work out.

At the moment, Britain is in a position—and presumably intends—to make a drive on North American markets.

She has devalued her pound and so it will be worth less in terms of Canadian dollars, and that will make British goods cheaper here.

Canada has devalued her dollar, not merely enough to wipe out the effect of British devaluation, but enough to make United States goods more expensive.

One might expect British goods to come arunning with a wild hurrah and "here we are."

Actually, drops in the prices of British motor cars are the only ones that stand out at the moment; and, in their competitive position with Canadian-made cars, they are less than sensational—even though they range from about $200 on lower-price models to around $1,000 on more expensive jobs.

Work On Store Buyers

The more widespread effects of the devaluation are more subtle. They will be seen as store buyers see a chance to get this or that line of goods a little cheaper, and be able to offer better bargains at the counter. It doesn't take too many cents there to make a difference.

They will be seen, too, or not be seen, depending on whether British producers are able to present things which appeal to the Canadian buyer.

On the outward evidence to date, one may be inclined to doubt that the British seller knows what this market will buy.

But, with devaluation, he does not have to do the job alone. His prices on basic goods should be good enough to send Canadian store buyers, in keen competition with one another, looking for items which will attract Mrs Housewife.

Banff National Park Gets Most Visitors

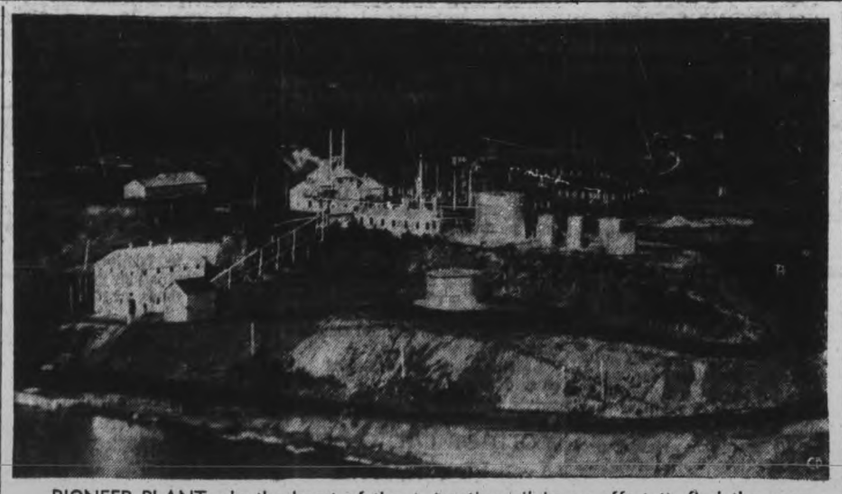
OTTAWA, Sept. 23 — (CP) — More than 485,000 persons visited Canada's 14 national parks and eight historical national parks during August.

From April to the end of August, the Resources Department reported Thursday, 1,502,650 persons have gone to the parks. That is 418,000 more than last year.

Most popular was Banff National Park in Alberta, visited by more than 337,000 persons this year since April 1. Riding Mountain National Park in Manitoba has had 253,673 visitors and Ontario's Point Pelee has had 190,190.

Fort Beauseajour in New Brunswick was the most popular of the national historic parks with 32,550 visitors.

Jail Armed Robber



TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) — Harold Davis, 38-year-old tailor, Thursday was sent to penitentiary for six years following his conviction on charges of armed robbery with violence, breaking and entering and carrying an offensive weapon. Vernon Bewley, jointly charged, was acquitted.

Guilty fo Assault

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP) — Earl Sidney Amacher, 49, charged with attempted murder of his wife, Thursday was found guilty of assault causing bodily harm but was acquitted of the attempted murder charge by an assize court jury. Amacher admitted striking his wife with an ax. He was remanded for sentence.

Cox Gets Endorsation

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 23 (CP) —Charles W. Cox, member of the legislature for Fort William, has received the endorsation of the Fort William Liberal Association for the leadership of the Liberal party of Ontario. Other Liberal ridings in Northwestern Ontario will be asked to lend their support to Mr. Cox' campaign.

PIONEER PLANT—In the heart of the fabulous oil sands area of Northern Alberta, this $700,000 plant at Bitumount, operated by the Alberta government, is extracting oil in an effort to find the economic value of the sands. Their content is estimated at 250,000,000,000 barrels of oil.

Alberta Seeks To Unlock Oil-Bearing Sand Wealth

BITUMOUNT, Alta., Sept. 23—(CP)—Here in the heart of Alberta's untamed north country, scientists are locked in a struggle with nature, seeking the secret of the fabulous "tar sands," an 80-mile stretch of oil-saturated soil that straddles the Athabaska river. The secret is a method of extracting the oil economically.

The sands, an out-cropping of an oil-bearing zone, are believed to contain as much as 300,000,000,000 barrels of oil. World reserves have been estimated at 70,000,000,000 barrels. Present known reserves are placed at 1,000,000,000 barrels.

Explorers first spotted the black oozing formation along the Athabaska's banks 15 years ago. A geological survey was made in 1875, and 19 years later an unsuccessful attempt was made to drill for oil. Numerous other attempts have been made to recover oil from the region, and the latest to enter the field is the Alberta government, which has invested $700,000 in an extraction plant here.

Winding up operations for the year as a shifting sand bar cut off the plant's water supply, superintendent Elmer Adkins of Edmonton said this year's operations have been the most extensive to date and the runs have been "very successful."

Much data was collected, he said but it will be months before the facts are fully interpreted.

Economical Objective

Industries Minister J. L. Robinson said the experiments are to prove there is an oil reserve from which oil can be extracted economically.

The sands extend along the river bank and back into the wilderness for as much as 30 miles on tieher side of the river. They are in a remote area, 275 air miles northeast of Edmonton. The terrain is rugged and wooded. Only transportation is by airplane, and, in summer, by river boat.

Persons walking in the area report it possible to pick up a handful of sand and squeeze oil from it. The sands are 165 feet thick at Bitumount.

At the plant, a steam shovel mines the oil sand from a huge pit and trucks haul the "tar sand" to the mount of the extractor. The sand is steamed, hot water is added to bring it to 12 per cent moisture by weight. Rapidly-circulating hot water sweeps the sand through a separation plant which shakes the oil loose from the sand.

Do Own Refining

The oil is skimmed off the top in settling vats and dehydrated. Then the oil goes to the plant's own refinery where it is broken down into naphtha, disillate, diesel oil, light fuel oil and heavy bunker fuel.

About 420 tons of sand are being mined daily and the recovery of heavy crude oil is about 12 per cent, or 250 barrels a day.

Among the 50 men employed at the plant are six members of the Alberta Research Council, headed by Dr. D. S. Pasternak, and Dr. K. A. Clark.

"It's phenomenal to think the sands extend over such an area," says Dr. Clark. "The sand just looks at you and says: 'What are you going to do about me?'"

He has been working on that challenge since 1923. If he and his assistants find the answer, they will have tapped possibly the largest oil pool in the world.

Need Co-Operation

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Picking his way between the stumps, the early settler scattered the precious seeds of grain which he had brought to Canada from his homeland. In 1665 wheat was so scarce that it was used as money.

Because clearing the land was difficult with crude implements, grain farming in early Canada developed slowly. The United Empire Loyalists who settled in Upper Canada in 1784 were the first to grow wheat in any quantity. The deep forests gave way to growing farmlands. By 1802, wheat exports reached a million bushels.

From 1813, settlement in the West grew slowly. By 1876 export of western wheat began. In the next fifty years, industrious pioneers transformed the prairies into a rippling sea of golden grain. From these farms have come world wheat championships—Marquis, Reward and Durum—for our daily bread!

In almost every corner of the globe, you will find wheat from Canada—truly named the granary of the world! In creating new and better strains, in growing and shipping grain, there's opportunity for Canadians. Yes, there's room to grow—in Canada Unlimited.

Just how much room is told in "Canada Unlimited", an illustrated 144-page book published by the O'Keefe Foundation. Pre-Nuptial Honors

A shower honoring Miss Jean Fairbairn was held at the Cathcart home in Springville Tuesday evening with Miss Mildred Brown, Mrs. Leonard McNeil and Mrs Thomas McCamus as joint hostesses. Presentation of a 33-piece monogrammed crystal service for eight was made during the evening. The house was beautifully decorated for this occasion and the large number of friends attending were entertained at bingo and contests. A delightful lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Lorne White, Mrs. Donald Cathcart and Miss Mayme Cathcart and the tea was poured by Mrs. W. G. Atchison.

Another gift to Miss Fairbairn was a beautiful wall mirror, sent to her home by a group of friends.

Mr. Boyd.

uted by Misses Sheila and Jean

Two vocal duets were contrib-Smith, the former playing the piano accompaniment. Miss Smith and Mrs. A. A. McIntyre played for the singing of hymns.

Mrs. W. G. Tully presided and Mrs. Wm. McBride took the devotional period. Report on the contribution basket was given by Mrs. J. A. Smith in absence of the conveners. A vote of thanks to the speaker and guest artists was voiced by Mrs. Alice King.

Refreshments were served from an attractively set tea table, the lace cloth centred with a bouquet of giant zinnias in a silver basket and pink tapers on either side. Mrs. A. King who has a birthday in September poured tea. Assisting to serve were Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. W. McBride and Miss A. Little.

Argue-Fairbairn

The wedding of Miss Jean May Fairbairn to Mr. Samuel Earl Argue was quietly solemnized on Thursday at Mark St. United Church by the Rev. B. Morwood The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fairbairn, 224 Park St. N., Peterborough, and the groom is son of Mrs. Argue and the late Mr. William Argue of Manvers.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of King's blue crepe with bead trim and her hat and accessories were grey. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Keith Fairbairn as her attendant was gowned in cinnamon gold satin and wore navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. Lloyd Argue was the groomsman.

Following a reception at the bride's home the couple left on a motor trip to points north. Mrs Argue was wearing a grey tailored suit and matching accessories. On return they will reside on the groom's farm in Manvers.

THE CHINESE INFLUENCE is shown in this slender black crepe dress with high mandarin collar and straight skirt. Distinctive beaded embroidery adds an elegant touch.

Deputy Minister Bakes Prize-winning Pie

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—(CP).—A top mining expert, one-time diplomat, and king of the mince pie bakers.

That is the description of Canada's Deputy Minister of Mining, Hugh L. Keenleyside.

One of Canada's top-ranking diplomats until he took his present post, Mr. Keenleyside is the champion of the mince pie division of the Richmond, Ont., Fair.

A terse report from Fair officials Thursday night revealed the 52-year-old mining expert's culinary skill. It read:

Minced pies—first prize—H. L. Keenleyside, Ottawa.

Alert newspapermen pounced on the item and the Depty Minister's carefully guarded secret was out. He had been dabbling in cooking for 25 years.

"Yes, I cooked the pie," the genial, waivy-haired deputy Minister told reporters. "But I didn't know until you called that I won the prize. And what happened to my apple pie that I entered?"

"I have only been cooking about 25 years. I don't enter my pies often, but before the war I did enter pies in the Richmond and Metcalfe fairs. They didn't win prizes then, though."

Except for his prize-winning pies, the 185-pound kitchen king and Canadian ambassador to Mexico in 1944 limits his culinary efforts around his home to "cooking meals once in a while."

Like his feminine counterparts in the kitchen, he is mighty cagey about his prize-winning recipe—"just a little of this and a little of that." For apple pies he doesn't care what the variety he uses "so long as they're fresh and tart."

The apple pie is still in the running for a ribbon, too. Judging won't be finished for a day or two.

Ontario Treasurer To Visit WCTU

The Women's Christian Temperance Union met Thursday afternoon in the YWCA Green Room, president, Mrs. G. Adams, in the chair. A memorial service was held for the late Mrs. E. J. Wagar and the late Miss M. Hanbidge. Mrs. Wagar has been provincial press secretary for many years as well as serving in this capacity for the local Union. Miss Hanbidge was a devoted member of long standing. Mrs. H. Turner and Mrs. J. M. Arnold contributed a vocal duet

Topic of study was the work of the field secretaries in Ontario.

Plans were made to have Mrs R. M. Seymour of Enniskillen, Provincial treasurer, as speaker at an evening meeting to be held Thursday, October 27, in the YWCA.

25 Babies Die In One Night Nothing to Wrap Them In

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova presented a picture of need in Europe—particularly of children—when she spoke here Thursday evening in the Legion Hall. Conditions she described are real for she was an eye-witness of them not more than five weeks ago, when inspecting work of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada an authorized agency ministering to human need on the other side of the Atlantic, without regard for creed or nationality.

The speaker was making her second appearance in this city under sponsorship of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion. After her visit last year this organization and the Local Council of Women each contributed $45 for the care of one child in a rest home for three months. Pictures and communications from the children have since been received and it is known that they are now much improved in health.

Impressing the need for infant's and children's wear, Dr. Hitschmanova told of 25 babies dying in one night because there was nothing to wrap them in, bigger children, not only undernourished and in rags, but lying asleep on busy streets because they are homeless and belong to no one.

There are also the mutilated children of whom she told heart-rendering tales. Many thousands of them make up the 250 million children needing help at the moment, and the number is increased every month by still exploding bombs.

Need Men's Trousers

Shoes are the next most needed item and she appealed for all types of sound footwear to be sent. The shortage of men's trousers was noted in the successive appearance of five different male refugees applying for travel permits in over-crowded Belgium, each wearing the same pair of pants, recognizable by a patch, which had been given out by the Unitarian Service officer the day before.

For the Greeks who are now returning to their country and starting homes again, she asked for aid in providing them with pots and pans. Italy was mentioned for its lack of schools.

One improvement worthy of mention, which the speaker noticed since her visit last year, was in France. It is no longer necessary for patients to bring their own nightgowns to the hospital. However, the gowns or pyjamas provided have to be worn throughout their stay for there are still no changes available.

Before concluding her address and showing actual pictures of Europe's suffering people which she took herself a few weeks ago, Dr. Hitschmanova showed craft and needlework, done by children in the rest homes and schools who asked her to bring their things to Canadians as tokens of their gratitude.

Contributions can be mailed to the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada Fund at 177 Collier St., Toronto. Also any kind of warm garments, shoes, bedding, household goods, infant's wear which will be shipped in large quantities to their distributions centres in each country. Cash donations will be used for sending food as well as care of the children.

Mrs. A. Mason, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, introduced the speaker. She was thanked by Mrs. A. Parrington.

Three carloads of ladies came from Millbrook to attend the meeting. City church organizations were also represented.

Evening Guild Serves Supper

St. George's Evening Guild staged a very successful supper on Wednesday evening in the Sunday School hall. Attendants were kept exceedingly busy for several hours, serving the meal which included hot vegetables.

Mrs. W. White, president, was general convener, and her assistants included Mrs. W. Bannon, Mrs. M. Nixon, Mrs. M. Caccavella, Mrs. C. H. Crouter, Mrs. Bert Hall, Mrs. Roy Wannamaker, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. J. Carroll, Mrs. W. Parkes, Mrs. A. Siddall, Mrs. E. Atkinson and Mrs. H. Siddall taking tickets at the door.

Very attractive decorations for the occasion were the work of Mrs. Robert Pilling. She had used streamers in autumn colors and scooped out vegetable shells for flower and fruit containers.

Saturday Nuptials

September Saturdays continue to be popular wedding days.

In George St. United Church tomorrow at two o'clock the wedding will take place of Miss Ethel E. Latchford, daughter of Mrs. Latchford and the late Mr. Herbert Latchford, to Mr. Frederick Harvey Kiff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kiff, all of Peterborough.

Miss Mary Evelyn Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Turner, will become the bride of Mr. Leonard Walter Cooper, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Coper, at St. George's Anglican Church at two o'clock.

At the same hour in the Salvation Army Temple, Major C. Everitt will officiate at the wedding of Nina Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Craig, London St., to Ian Brown Crawford, only son of Mr. J. J. Crawford of Montreal.

Trinity United Church will be setting for the marriage of Clara Marguerite McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McGee of Bobcaygeon, to Mr. Arthur Harvey Mons Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks, Omemee, which is to take place at three o'clock.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fleming in Percy Township, their second eldest daughter Mary Leona will be married to Mr. Harold Nelson Fitchett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Fitchett of Morganston.

Another out-of-town wedding of interest is at Oshawa United Church where Mr. Keith Eric Sproule of Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sproule of Peterborough will marry Miss Joan Margaret Cuthbertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Cuthbertson, Oshawa.

Former Diplomat And Housewife In Empire Talks

By GEORGE [illegible]

BIGWIN INN, Ont., Sept. 23—(CP)—A South African housewife who is as much at home in a chancellory as she is in a kitchen sat down with top-ranking political and economic leaders here recently and talked of the problems facing the Commonwealth.

She is Mrs. Erwin Schuller of Johannesburg, better known to Canadians as Mary Craig McGeachy of Sarnia, Ont. who made a name for herself in the 1930's as an expert on international affairs and held high British government posts in the war years.

She was one of five women delegates to the fourth unofficial Commonwealth Relations Conference, which was attended by nearly 100 outstanding leaders of political, social and economic thought from the Commonwealth.

A friendly, smiling woman of gracious personality, her accomplishments extend into the diplomatic field. From 1939 to 1944, she was a member of the British embassy in Washington and for three of those years—1942-44—she was first secretary of the embassy, first woman to receive such diplomatic ranking.

But she told reporters here during the conference sessions, her accomplishments now are confined, first and foremost, to being a housewife and the wife of Erwin Schuller, British banker to whom she was married shortly after the end of the war. They now live in Johannesburg where Mr. Schuller is posted.

She touched only lightly on her work in the international field, but a Who's Who listing of delegates, compiled by conference officials gave this impressive list of posts she has held:

International Jobs

Member League of Nations' secretaria Geneva, 1930-40; member, British ministry of economic warfare, 1940; posted British embassy, Washinton, 1941; first secretary of embassy, 1942-44; director of welfare of U.N.R.R.A., 1944-46; representative of U.N.R.R.A Council, 1946; member, Royal Institute of International Affairs since 1931

"Now," she smiled, "I'm a wife though in my spare time I do social work with my Canadian friends in Johannesburg. And, though at the moment I'm not a diplomat with an acttve post, I am interested in world affairs and in doing all we can to solve the world's problems."

She likes South Africa, her home of the last 18 months, and found it a land of both beauty and poverty. The high plateau surrounding Johannesburg approached the rolling beauty of the Canadian prairies. On the other hand, there was more "poverty and misery" than perhaps any other land.

But, despite her new home, she still had a soft spot in her heart for Canada and her birthplace, Sarnia. Her blue eyes warmed when she recalled how the city of Sarnia gave her an inscribed silver bowl when she went there in 1943 to launch a Victory Loan drive.

Turning to fashions, she said South African styles did not compare with those of Canada and the United States. Many of her acquaintances in Johannesburg came from abroad and were able to get home often enough to bring their wardrobes up to date. Costs of clothing, food and housing in the Union are high.

Women in South Africa she said, did not take as much interest in politics as did the women of Canada and the United States. But, perhaps because of the poverty of the native populations, they play a greater part in social aid welfare work.

Canadian women in Johannesbur number less than 100. They celebrate together on July 1—Canada's Dominion Day — and recently formed a Canadian Women's Club which, however, has no connection with the women's organizations of the same name in this country. It provides clothing for native orphans and undertakes other social work.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Marriage Must Be Bargain Equal Privileges For Both

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man of 33 and have been married 10 years. Only knew my wife three months before we married. She has the sweetest and most jovial disposition I ever saw, never frets or worries about anything. But she is perfectly satisfied to stay at home and never go anywhere and to have no companionship except her mother's and sisters.

She will not even attempt to make new friends or return calls. It would be greatly to my advantage for her to make social contacts, but she refuses to do so, and when I want to entertain my friends I always have to take them to a restaurant. She is never willing for me to bring them to our home. If I want to go to see my friends or even to a show I have to go alone. Do you think that it is good for a young couple to live just to themselves, with no outside interests or friends?

One other thing I have never been able to carry on an intelligent conversation with my wife.

X

ANSWER: Well, Mr. X, if you are married to a woman with whom you cannot carry on an intelligent conversation, you must admit that the fault is yours. Even if you knew your wife for only three months before you married her, that certainly should have given you ample time to get a line on her intellectual range and find out approximately, at least, how much brains and culture she had.

Like Many Others

Evidently you did not think it worth while to try to find out what was inside the head whose pretty outside you were admiring. In that you are like thousands of other men who are so enamoured of a girl's looks or so swept off their feet by her physical appeal that they never stop to consider whether she will make an entertaining life companion or not.

Of course, your wife's mental limitations explain why she does not want to meet strangers or go out into society. She feels her inferiority and it humiliates her. Also she is doubtless self-indulgent and lazy and doesn't want to make the effort required in trying to entertain people.

Better far for a couple to step out too much than not to step out at all. They keep alive, with their interests always fresh and alert. They have been to places and done things and they have amusing incidents to discuss and things to laugh over and are not the Gloomy Guses whose world is bounded by their homes inhabited only by their own families and whose most thrilling news is that Aunt Sara's rheumatism is worse.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a bride of 23 and I want to be the right kind of wife I want to be unselfish and big and kind in dealing with my husband, but I do not want to make the mistake of overdoing unselfishness. Do you think that if a woman always puts her husband and children before herself, they will consider her last also? My husband is big and he admires bigness and fineness in other people, but if I put myself last, will he after a while stop considering me, or will he think more of me?

SEEKING

ANSWER: Of course, any virtue can be overdone until it becomes a vice. Nothing easier. If a woman makes a doormat of herself for her family they kick her around and trample over her, so we all do doormats. That is human and natural.

A wife can do without pretty clothes and little attentions and stay at home and slave for her family until her husband and children think that she enjoys cooking and washing and ironing and prefers never to step out. But, on the other hand, there is nothing that kills love quicker than selfishness and greediness and grabbiness, and while a man may give the wife who demands things all she asks for, he soon ceases to have any tenderness for her.

The best way is to strike a happy medium. Ask what is fair for yourself, but be willing to give more than you get.

DEAR MISS DIX: What is the unpardonable sin? Many writers give their conception of it as deceit, infidelity, falsehood, murder, etc., and have based stories on them. A relative of mine insists that indolence, either mental or physical, is the unpardonable sin. She claims that we never think half as much as we should and that we should develop every talent that we possess. What do you think is the unpardonable sin?

EMMA

ANSWER: That is a problem that has been debated for centuries by the wisest men without their ever arriving at a conclusion. I do not think that there is any such thing as an unpardonable sin, because we are so much the hapless creatures of heredity and environment and circumstances that no one can say where our responsibility begins or ends.

I agree with you relative that laziness is about the most aggravating quality a person can have and the hardest to put up with, but it always seems to me that unkindness is the hardest sin to understand, the hardness that has no pity for suffering and that wantonly hurts other people just for the pleasure of watching them suffer.

Lady Senator From Rockcliffe Delegate to UN

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Sept. 23 (CP) — The Lady Senator from Rockcliffe today comes to grips with social and humanitarian problems on a world scale.

As a mother of eight and grandmother of five, Senator Cairine Reay Wilson has faced those problems on a family level. Summoned to the Senate as a Liberal member in 1930, she has since helped mould national policies in those fields.

Today she represents Canada at the first meeting of the Social and Humanitarian Committee of the United Nations fourth assembly.

Senator Wilson told a reporter Thursday she has other problems besides the U.N. on her mind.

One of them is when she will be able to wear her favorite evening dress to one of the U.N. social functions. Right now that dress has to remain in her hotel closet because the Senator is wearing a brace to bolster her back, hurt in a recent fall.

But she said she looks forward to removing the brace within a month and being able to appear in her finery.

First Woman Delegate

She's the first woman to represent Canada as a full delegate at a U.N. assembly.

She is not the only one of her sex among the top delegates. The others include Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of the United States who will sit near Senator Wilson in the social committee; Mrs. Barbara Castle British member of parliament and parliamentary private secretary to the President of the Board of Trade; and Mrs. Pandit Nehru, India's ambassador to the United States.

"My appointment to the delegation perhaps reflects the growing importance of women in world affairs," Mrs. Wilson said in an interview. She added that Canadian women appeared to be taking an increased interest in U.N. affairs.

Mothers, Teachers Guests of H & S

Queen Alexandra Home and School executive entertained at tea Wednesday afternoon in the kindergarten room. Their guests were the mothers of children who have started kindergarten and new pupils throughout the school, and the teachers.

The event was planned for the acquaintanceship benefits and to encourage the mothers to join the association. President Mrs. J. Hayward was highly gratified at the response to the invitations and hopes for the same at future meetings.

Mrs. Hayward received at the door assisted by Mrs. P. S. Dallin, vice-president. Mrs. B. Baker and Mrs. W. Dorrington registered the guests.

Mrs. F. Shore, general convener, had decorated the room with lovely fall flowers. Hostesses were Mrs. A. Black, Mrs. B. Boucher, Mrs. F. Montgomery and Mrs. N. Stewart. Those serving refreshments were Mrs. G. H. Hutchinson, Mrs. Healey, Mrs. O. Axford, Mrs. B. Bonney, Mrs. Law, Mrs. J. T. Arnott and Mrs. Moore.

Small children who came with their mothers were looked after by Grade 8 students, Sandra Shore, Sandra Duke and Barbara Craig.

What Is Wrong With Way Women Are Now Dressing?

By HAL BOYLE.

NEW YORK, (AP)—A mere male came up today with an answer to what's wrong with the way women dress?

The answer is—women.

"They are too dictated to," said Charles Le Maire. "They accept too much dictation as to what they should wear."

Le Maire is in a position to do a little dictating himself. As wardrobe director for Twentieth Century-Fox Films, he runs a staff of 200 clothes experts. They have the pleasant chore of fitting lace and fur pretties to girls like Betty Grable, Jeanne Crain, Dorothy McGuire, June Haver, and Maureen O'Hara.

But the clothing of film stars is designed to their own personal architecture. This isn't true of the average woman.

Le Maire, a designer himself, said the biggest mistake most women make is to follow blindly the dictates of fashion oracles — or try to pour themselves into a certain type of dress merely because it looked good on a department store mannequin.

"A girl shouldn't pay any attention to what she hears of Paris styles," he emphasized.

"She should think first of her own shape, and dress to it. If her figure doesn't go with what she wants to wear, then she should change her shape."

Corset Overworked

Le Maire has only a weary sympathy for gals who think they can achieve a pencil silhouette with a tight corset.

"The excess flesh has to go somewhere," he sighed. "It has to go either up or down, forward or backward." This, he explained, is why there are so many girls around who look like they have either a front or a rear bumper.

Le Maire designed wardrobes for Broadway musicals and operated his own exclusive dress shop in Manhattan before going west.

He sees fashions today as in a confused state, but believes the trend is toward "an era of quiet elegance."

"Of course," he said, "a girl can be quietly dressed in a red gown."

He personally favors clothing that accents femininity, styles that accent sex through subdued suggestion.

"Flo Ziegfeld used to say he didn't want naked girls on the stage—unless they had something on to make them look naked," smiled the designer.

Le Maire's own favorite dictates:

"No dress is as important to a well-dressed girl as what she has underneath it. The big mistake the average girl makes is she doesn't dress herself. She tries to follow a vogue.

Clothes don't make the woman anyway—they only make her talked about."

Apple Dessert Serves Six

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 — (CP) — Now that apples are in season again you don't have to be a grade A cook to rate ace high with the family when you treat them to an apple dessert.

Apple Up-side-Down Cake—Ingredients: one-quarter cup butter; three-quarters cup brown sugar; three apples.

One-quarter cup butter; one-third cup white sugar; one egg; one-quarter cup molasses; one cup flour; one teaspoon ginger; one-half teaspoon cinnamon; one-third cup boiling water.

Melt one-quarter cup butter in baking-dish. Add the brown sugar and cook together. Pare and core apples. Cut each apple in half to make two rings. Arrange rings in butter and sugar mixture. Cream one-quarter cup butter. Add white sugar and cream well together. Add well beaten egg and molasses. Beat thoroughly. Sift dry ingredients and add to mixture. Lastly add boiling water, miving quickly. Pour over apples in baking-dish and bake in moderate oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) for 40 minutes. Serves six.

A booklet on Canadian food has been prepared by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and includes a recipe from each of the 10 provinces. Annapolis Apple Pudding is Nova Scotia's dish.

Ingredients: six medium-sized tart apples; three tablespoons granulated sugar; 1½ cups sifted bread flour; three teaspoons baking powder; one-half teaspoon salt; one-quarter cup soft shortening; three-quarters cup granulated sugar; one egg (well beaten); three-quarters cup water or milk.

Grease a 10 by six by two-inch baking dish. Slice peeled apples and arrange in bottom of baking-dish. Sprinkle with the three tablespoons sugar. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening until fluffy. Gradually add sugar, mixing until creamy. Add beaten egg. Beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with water or milk, folding in lightly after each addition. Pour over apples. Sprinkle with combined sugar and cinnamon. (one tablespoon sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon). Bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 45 to 50 minutes. Serve warm, cut in squares with brown sugar sauce or with plain or whipped cream. Serves eight.

From Quebec comes La Tarte des Nonettes.

Ingredients: 1½ cups pastry flour; one-half cup shortening; one-quarter teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon soda; four tablespoons sour milk; eight slices salt pork (thinly sliced); four to six medium sized apples (peeled and sliced; two-thirds cup molasses; one-quarter teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg.

Prepare pie crust with the first five ingredients, and line a pie-plate with part of the dough. Cover the pie shell with half the quantity of salt pork. Fill with apples. Sprinkle with the spices and moisten with molasses. Cover with the rest of the salt pork slices and a top crust made of the remaining pastry. Bake in an oven 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 1½ hours. Serves six.

6—In Memoriams

AKERS—In loving memory of a dear mother, Ada Akers, who passed away Sept. 23, 1946.
You are always in my mind,
No matter what I do,
All the time within my heart
There are thoughts of you.
Never for a moment
Are you very far away,
Absent, yet near you seem,
And dearer every day.
—Sadly missed by Will, Lillian and family.

AKERS—In loving memory of a dear sister, Ada Akers, who passed away Sept. 23, 1946.
"In the garden of memories we meet every day."
—Ever remembered by sister Anne.

CAVALIER—In loving memory of our darling daughter, Janie, who was killed three years ago today.
Time speeds on, three years have passed,
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in Heaven we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by mother and father.

CAVALIER—In loving memory of our darling, Jane Cavalier, who was killed three years ago today, September 23, 1946.
A beautiful memory dearer than gold,
Of a darling whose worth can never be told,
Alone unseen she stands by our sides
And whispers, don't grieve, death cannot divide,
Deep in our hearts her memory is kept
Of one we loved and cannot forget.
And though the years may be many or few,
We will always be thinking dear Janie of you.
—Lovingly remembered by Gramma and Grandpa and Aunt Barbara and Harold.

Canada Buys Five Times More Abroad

Now Heavily In Red On U.S. Trade, Exports Reduced 10%

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 (CP) — With business booming at home, Canada is buying more abroad this year—nearly five times as much as in the four years just before the war.

She's also running heavily in the red on trade with the United States. Canada still is ahead on over-all international trade. But in the first seven months this year Canada bought $362,500,000 more in the U. S. than she sold there.

July added $54,200,000 to the deficit, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday in its monthly foreign-trade summary.

Devaluation of the Canadian dollar earlier this week may cut the adverse balance with the U. S It also was reduced by exports of $72,800,000 in gold—not included in the Bureau's figures—up to the end of July.

Total exports for the first seven months have been $1,682,000,000. Total imports were $1,640,300,000. Average imports during the first seven months of the years 1935-39 were $376,200,000.

Exports Fall Too

Imports from the U. S. fell moret han 10 per cent to $160,300,000 during July. But exports, too, fell nearly 10 per cent to $104,400,000.

Imports from the United Kingdom rose during July and sales there increased even more, leaving of $41,700,000 on UK trade for the of $41,70,000 on UK trade for the month and a total of $215,800,000 the seven-month period. Last year, at the same time Canada's credit balance was $248,000,000.

July imports from the UK were $29,400,000 For seven months this year they've been $192,600,000, compared with $168,500,000 for the same time last year. July exports to the UK were $70,600,000 compared with $60,700,000 last year. To the end of July they've totalled $408,500,000, compared with $416,500,000 last year.

How Times Change

KINGSTON, Sept. 24 — (CP)—Gone are the days at Queen's University when new students were subjected to sadistic tortures of initiation. This year first-year students are getting the biggest reception of their lives, with dances, dinners, bonfires and frolics to help dispell any early-term homesickness.

U.S. Still Holds Big Lead In A-Weapons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—The United States still holds a vast lead over Russia in the field of atomic weapons and in all probability will never lose it, top American officials said today.

"They'll never catch up with us," said one high security official in the wake of President Truman's disclosure Friday that there has been an atomic explosion in Russia.

While it was calmly worded, the President's statement itself exploded throughout the western world with terrific impact.

It brought urgent—and hopeful—new demands from lawmakers, scientists, diplomats and others for effective international atom controls.

It caused a general withering of United States Congressional opposition to sharing American atomic sources with Britain and Canada.

And it raised questions enough to keep the world guessing for months.

How did the news reach the United States? One official who knew said "hundreds of persons" and numerous agencies were involved. Another said it was a "miracle of intelligence."

But whether it involved spies, ground equipment, or airborne radiation-detecting instruments—or all three—no one would say for sure.

First Successful One

Was it definitely an atomic bomb, or just an accidental explosion? An atomic bomb, absolutely, experts said—and, apparently, the Soviets' first successful one.

But when and where the explosion occurred, how efficient the Russian bomb may be, and what effect it might have on future relations between the east and west—those questions and dozens of others went unanswered except for hints and guesses.

The President said the explosion occurred "in recent weeks."

Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, of Russia, addressed the United Nations Assembly in New York following Truman's announcement and never once mentioned the bomb. He called for peace among the Big Five powers—a proposal western diplomats piewed sceptically, coming from Russia.

No one, however, seemed to believe that the Soviet success in ferreting out the A-bomb secret posed any immediate threat to world peace.

Boost Price Of Gasoline In Dominion

Say 1½-cent Increase Due To Devaluation Kerosene, Fuel Oil Hit

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (CP)—Imperial Oil Limited today announced Dominion-wide increases in the price of gasoline, kerosene and light fuel oil effective immediately.

Price adjustments, described as due to devaluation of the Canadian dollar, include a general 1½ cent increase a gallon for gasoline and kerosene and one cent a gallon for light fuel oil.

The company announcement said that these adjustments do not take into account the effect of railway freight rate increases announced this week which is being studied.

Previous wholesale price in Toronto for premium grade gasoline and kerosene was 21½ cents a gallon. Standard gasoline,, which sold at 21½ cents a gallon, now will wholesale at 23 cents. Light fuel oil jumps one cent to 17 cents wholesale. Prices vary in other provinces.

Ontario Prices

In Ontario, the retail price of gasoline ranges from 38 to 41 cents a gallon. Kerosene retails at 40 cents.

Crude oil price increase of 20 to 25 cents a barrel "have been made to permit Alberta fields to come back into balance with world prices following devaluation of the Canadian dollar," the announcement said.

Crude price advances are 20 cents a barrel for Redwater and Turner Valley and 25 cents a barrel for Leduc.

Previous prices were $3.40 a barrel at Turner Valley, $2.68 at Redwater and $2.95 at Leduc.

By noon today in Peterborough only Imperial Oil service stations and Supertest station had jumped their prices 1½ cents to bring retail prices up to 42½ and 40½ cents a gallon. All other oil companies had received no word of any boost, but a representative of one said he expected it at any time.

No. 2 Communist Two Others Sentenced To Die

BUDAPEST, Sept. 24 (AP)—A People's Court today sentenced Laszlo Rajk, former No. 2 Communist, and two of his seven co-defendants to die for plotting to supplant Hungary's government by a regime obedient to Yugoslav Premier Tito.

Two other defendants were sentenced to life imprisonment and another to nine years.

But the court passed no sentence on the other two defendants —Lt. Gen. Gyorgy Palffy, former chief of the Hungarian Army, and Bela Kordondy, colonel of police. The court said it was not competent to deal with them and they were held for court-martial.

Sentenced with Rajk to die were Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, former member of parliament and a Communist party official, and Andras Szali, another party official.

Life sentences were imposed on Lazar Brankov, counsellor of the Yugoslav embassy, and Ral Justus, a member of parliament and president of the Hungarian radio.

Milan Ognyenovics, a confessed Yugoslav professional spy, was sentenced to nine years' imprisonment.

The indictment against Rajk, former foreign minister and interior minister, accused him of working with an American spy ring and plotting with Tito to bring about the downfall of the Budapest government. During the trial the defendants had eagerly admitted most of the accusations against them and even elaborated on the government's charges.

The guilty verdicts were read by Judge Peter Janko before a court-room crowded with 300 tense spectators.

Rajk seemed almost eager to put his head in the noose when he pleaded guilty a week ago Thursday. He was the first of the defendants to do so, but the confessions of the others were no less abject.

Rajk declared Tito planned a military invasion of Hungary, the incitement of border strike with Bulgaria, the liquidation of Greek Communist guerilla forces and the incorporation of Albania into Yugoslavia.

RCMP Track Down Jeweller After 23 Die In Crash; Will Face Murder Charge

Declare Dynamite Sent In Parcel On Airliner By Prisoner's Girl Friend, $10,000 Insurance Policy On Wife's Life

QUEBEC, Sept. 24—(CP)—A young Quebec jeweller, J. A. Guay, is to appear in court today and be charged for his part in sending his wife and 22 others to death in an airliner crash Sept. 9. Quebec Provincial Police indicated the charge will be murder. Key witness is Mrs. Arthur Pitre, 40-year-old Quebec woman, detained by police overnight along with Guay. The two were held as material witnesses in connection with the crash which police revealed was spawned from a love triangle and involved also an insurance policy of $10,000.

Mrs. Pitre, brown-haired and attractive, admitted she was the "mystery" woman—sought for two weeks or more—known to have delivered to the airport a package believed to have contained dynamite and consigned on the aircraft.

But, police said, she told them she did not know the contents of the package. She was reported to have carried it gingerly en route to the airport; to have asked her taxi-driver to drive carefully and not to speed. Police said she believed the package contained "a statue."

Question Waitress

As police announced detention of the pair they made known they were questioning also a pretty, 26-year-old waitress who has been a close friend of the 30-year-old Guay.

Against her there was no charge.

Earlier an RCMP announcement said "we have definite proof that explosives were placed aboard the plane to get rid of a woman and we believe we can prove who did it."

Mounted police said they had signed statements to back their claim, indicating they were statements from persons who had heard Mrs. Pitre speak of her part in the disaster before she took an overdose of sleeping tablets and was taken to hospital in serious condition last Tuesday.

Guarding Woman

Police, disclosing they were on the trail of the woman's lover, said Friday they were guarding her against the possibility anyone might try to kill her for her part in the crash.

They added she took the sleeping tablets at the suggestion of a man "whose wife was killed in the crash" and who told her the police were out to trap her. He suggested she do away with herself. Mrs. Pitre's detention in her fourth-floor apartment at No. 49 Msgr. Gauvreau St. in downtown Quebec followed by a few hours her release from hospital, still under police surveillance.

RCMP said their investigation did not reveal "what kind of contraption" was used to blow the Canadian Pacific Airways plane up. But the Canadian Press learned from a source close to the inquiry that explosive experts had determined dynamite was used.

One police source said he believed the explosive had been set to burst only when the package was opened and that something went wrong with its mechanism.

Police said the woman for whom the explosion was intended had an insurance policy for $10,000 with her husband named as beneficiary.

Drew Opposes Abolishing Council Appeals

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 (CP) — Two lawyers and two laymen — the leaders of the four Commons political parties—tackled the intricacies of Canada's Constitution Friday and lined up three-to-one in favor of immediate abolition of appeals to the Privy Council.

The opposition came from George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader and former Toronto lawyer. He proposed that the Commons delay passage of the bill which will make Canada's Supreme Court the final court of appeal in this country. He moved a six-month hoist.

To back up his arguments, Mr. Drew said the recent convention of the Canadian Bar Association had recommended that the government delay enactment of any legislation designed to abolish appeals to the Privy Council to give interested parties a chance to consider problems involved.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, honorary life president of the Canadian Bar Association, promptly said the government cannot accept Mr. Drew's proposal.

He received support from M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, who said

CIO Officials Expecting Split

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Top CIO officials are reported today to be expecting moves by pro-Communist union leaders to try to split their affiliates from the CIO and form a new labor federation.

The New York Times says that high CIO officers have expressed belief that the "new Communist party line" calls for such tactics.

In a dispatch from Washington, the Times says that right-wing forces of CIO President Philip Murray are prepared for the possible break from CIO ranks by pro-Communist affiliates.

"If it occurs," the story says, "they (the Murray leadership) will charter right-wing groups to form the nucleus of new organizations supplanting the dissidents."

Ready To Share Atom Secret With Britain and Canada

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Russian atomic explosion appears to have wiped out United States congressional opposition to sharing with Canada and Britain the full know-how of the A-bomb. Alarmed Congressmen called for a tighter linking of defence tasks among North Atlantic treaty countries, with concentration of atomic weapon making in the United States.

In addition, there were: Renewed demands for United Nations efforts to control atomic bomb development; Fresh proposals for President Truman to meet with Premier Stalin to try for a solution that would end the cold war; Conflicting views on whether Russia's ability to produce an atomic blast outmodes the strategy of rearing western Europe's ground forces.

Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, took the lead in urging co-operation with Britain and Canada in atomic developments.

That program now is under discussion here by representatives of the three governments. Involved is a division of production from the world's chief source of uranium — needed in making bombs—as well as a proposed wider exchange of information between the three countries.

Lucas said the question of sharing secrets with the British and Canadians "now is merely academic," adding:

"We are going to co-operate with them."

Chairman Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.) of the Joint Atomic Group, touched off new proposals for a Truman-Stalin meeting. He said Truman ought to go to Moscow, if the two can't meet elsewhere.

Truman has brushed aside suggestions that he confer with Stalin outside the United States. But has said repeatedly he would meet with the Soviet Prime Minister if the latter wants to come here.

T.L.C. Demands Reds Expelled

CALGARY, Sept. 24—Spurred by noisy table thumping and roaring cheers of delegates, the 64th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Friday called for the expulsion of Communists and fellow travellers from the ranks of affiliated unions.

Consinuing its vigorous 10-day pounding against Communists and party liners, the convention acted to bar known Communists from holding office in the TLC, its provincial federations and central labor councils, or from sitting on any committee of congress conventions.

But the congress wrote into its resolution a safeguard against a witch hunt and abuse of the TCL position by those who might seek to exploit it by taking punitive action against opponents under the guise of anti-Communism.

The resolution specified that any action in keeping with the resolution must be taken in conformity with the congress constitution and the constitution of the affiliated unions concerned.

No mass expulsion of Communists or sympathizers from union ranks is considered likely by some of those who have led the anti-Communist drive. Rather, they hope that the anti-red provisions will encourage the rank and file of Communist-led unions to shed their present leadership.

Basically, the resolutions strengthen the anti-Communists in organizations affiliated with the Congress. They could also tend to deter Communists and fellow travellers from pushing their political line at union meetings for fear of exposing themselves.

Too Many Luxuries Closing Abattoirs

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 (CP) — Joseph Harris (PC, Toronto Danforth) said Friday night in the Commons that the Agriculture Department is forcing small abattoirs out of business through regulations forcing them to install such things as private showers for the use of meat inspectors.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said he had heard few complaints and added that his department often was blamed for regulations enforced by the provinces.

George Cruickshank (L, Fraser Valley) interjected: "Mr. Minister, while I think it is desirable that the people of Ontario should take a bath, I don't think it should be made compulsory."

King Has His Own Train But Costs a Lot of Money

LONDON, Sept. 24 (CP)—People who envy the King his royal train—a special conveyance that operates independently of ordinary passenger trains—have little idea of the expense involved.

To begin with, the King pays first class fare for every person travelling on it, including himself, the Queen and members of the Royal household.

He also pays a special train fee of £1 ($3.10) a mile for the running of the train. This is to cover the expense of extra precautions taken when the Royal family travels abroad.

For instance, every bridge under which the Royal train passes has to be patrolled for half an hour before it goes through. Every mile of the line is watched by linesmen and pointsmen. Rail police are on duty at each station the train passes, whether it stops or not.

Officials of the British railways travel on the train checking the timing constantly. They are in telephone communication with the engineer and can tell him to increase or decrease speed as they wish.

There is a dining room for the Royal family, and another for the officials, as well as sleeping quarters for all. There is a small office in which the King can attend to state matters en route.

When the King goes to Sandringham, instead of leaving from Liverpool street station, the normal departure point for Norfolk, he goes from King's Cross.

"Travelling from Liverpool street would involve passing through the square mile of the city. To do this the King would have to go through the formalities of greeting the Lord Mayor of London and receiving the city's pearl-handled sword."

Police Begin Search For Missing Man

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 24 — (CP)—Police in the St. Catharines, Windsor and Parry Sound districts are searching for a 46-year-old St. Catharines businessman, Albert Haddell, who left home for his summer cottage in the Parry Sound-Point Au Baril area on Aug. 3 and failed to arrive.

Concern for his safety is felt by his wife and family. They fear he is suffering from amnesia or is a victim of foul play. Mrs. Haddell told police her husband has been in ill health for the past year. She fears he may have been attacked in the bush while sleeping in his car en route to the family's summer home.

Haddell's car was found parked in Windsor on Aug. 9.

Robs Estranged Wife Of Firm's Payroll

OSHAWA, Sept. 24 (CP)—Carl (Bud) Henry, 19, Friday night was charged with assault and robbery a few hours after his wife, Mrs. Ruth Henry, 23, was robbed of a plumbing company's $287 payroll by two youthful thugs who accosted her after she left a bank.

Also charged with assault and robbery was Roger Kirkpatrick, 16. Catharine Moore, 23, who police said was found with Henry and Kirkpatrick in a taxicab about six miles north of nearby Port Perry, was charged with receiving stolen goods.

Police Chief Owen Friend said Mrs. Henry, separated from her husband, was described by her employer as a trusted employee. She worked as a cashier for the plumbing firm and her duties included taking the payroll from the bank to the office of the firm, the H. R. Stark Plumbing and Heating Company.

According to police, Mrs. Henry left the bank about 10:30 a.m. with the cash and went for a walk with two men to John St., near Oshawa Creek. She told officers they trussed her, took the money and fled.

Fears Inflation To Wreck Scheme

LLANDUDNO, Wales, Sept. 24 (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee today told Britain that inflation threatens to wipe out the benefits of cheapening the pound.

"There is no occasion for general price increases," he said. "It is the duty of every good citizen to co-operate with the government in preventing inflation."

In a speech prepared for a Labor Party rally here, the prime minister said his government is more than ever determined to hold down prices, wages and profits.

To let them get out of line, he asserted, would jeopardize the "economic survival of the country."

"Such rises would do nothing to increase the sum total of the wealth on which incomes have a claim. It would only alter its distribution.

The prime minister said:

"It is vital that all those engaged in industry should realize that nothing can be allowed to stand in the way of getting the highest efficiency. Old-fashioned methods and old customs must be swept away where they hinder. Workers and management are not just working for their own livings but for the economic survival of the country."

Fog Causes Mishaps

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24 (CP)—Fog that blanketed the British Columbia coast Friday caused marine mishaps and delayed water, air and land traffic. Damage estimated as high as $200,000 was caused when the 9,000 ton Dutch freighter Manoeran plowed into the United Grain Growers' dock here, tearing off a 150-foot section. No one was injured. Fog also was held responsible for a railway collision in New Westminster in which two trainmen were injured.

Continue Inquiry Into Fire At Mine

SUDBURY, Sept. 24 (CP)—Investigation continued today into the cause of a small fire which broke out on the 1,400-foot level of Falconbridge Nickel Mines Friday night. Little damage was done, a company official reported.

The smoke was first noticed on the 1,400-foot level and a general alarm was sounded. All of the 200 men on the afternoon shift were brought to surface and the special firefighting crew sent down. The fire was extinguished quickly and the smoke cleared in time for the "graveyard" shift to go on duty at midnight.

Hit $29,579 Jackpot In Slot Machine Revenue

OTTAWA, Sept. 24—The Government made slot machines pay off last year to the tune of $29,579.

This was far short of the previous years jackpot of $249,242.

The revenue Department's annual report, tabled in the Commons yesterday showed that Excise taxes on slot machines coming into the country were down from $240,800 to $2,477. Domestic taxes on the one-armed bandits went up from $8,417 to $27,102.

The tax-collectors did well on playing cards. Excise taxes on pasteboards jumped from $600,125 to $637,260.

Wines were good for $2,059,000 compared to 1948's $2,341,000.

Excise taxes on cigarettes brought in $63,000,000, compared to $55,841,000, the previous year.

Cigars brought the Government $2,688,000 in excise taxes.

Excise taxes on automobiles were up to $32,088,000 compared to $26,971,000 the previous year.

Soft drinks, $27,767,352. Tires and tubes brought in $4,854,179.

Candy and chewing gum were worth $19,887,000, up almost $1,000,000.

Amusement taxes were down to $2,567,397 compared to $17,887,217.

The sales tax was the biggest moneymaker, $390,174,166, compared to $383,012,443.

Stamps brought in $13,605,235. Electrical and gas appliances brought the Government $3,893,970 in excise taxes, compared to $2,823,896.

Sleeping Beauty Lies Unclaimed At Morgue

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (CP)—The body of a lovely young woman—identified only as B-2-F lies in the Noronic morgue waiting for someone to say: "She is mine."

But hundreds of persons in the week since her fire-blackened body was taken from the gutted cruise-ship Noronic have looked upon her through the copper-lined air-tight casket's glass top and said: "I do not know her."

Her case perhaps was the strangest. Unlike most of her sleeping shipmates, B-2-F is recognizable as a human being.

B-2-F—row B, No. 2, female—was a young woman of possibly 27 to 34 years of age. She was lovely once with thin, delicate features. Pin curls — blonde? brunette?—were low upon the head. Gleaming white teeth gripping the lips accentuate the scorched features. Death had not come easily but had not come as horribly as to some.

Say Canada Won't Alter Atom Policy

St. Laurent Hopeful International Control To Result From News

OTTAWA, Sept. 24—(CP)—Russia's possible discovery of how to make an atom bomb is not expected to change Canada's basic concept of defence planning.

Government sources say knowledge that an atomic explosion has occurred in Russia will not provoke any great new rush in the gradual expansion of Canada's peacetime forces.

Canada, these sources say, is capable of making an atomic bomb but is not going to reverse her atomic policy of devoting efforts to peacetime development of atomic energy at the Chalk River, Ont., pilot plant, 125 miles northwest of Ottawa.

A reiteration of the news of the Russian discovery, first reaching the world through President Truman's announcement in Washington, was made in the Commons Friday by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

He repeated Mr. Truman's announcement that "within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the U.S.S.R." and added:

"May I express the hope that with new knowledge may come a new sense of shared responsibility for and an equal interest in agreeing to an effective, enforceable international control of atomic energy so that this new force can be used solely for peaceful ends."

Hold Cabinet Session

Mr. St. Laurent went into the Commons from a special, brief meeting with cabinet colleagues. Among them was Trade Minister Howe, the cabinet's atomic expert.

Mr. Howe is believed to have known of the Russian explosion when he went to Washington early this week for exploratory Anglo-Canadian-American talks reported dealing with renewal of an exchange of atomic information.

Two of Canada's atomic and defense specialists are still in Washington. They are Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defense Research Board, and Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, chairman of the Atomic Energy Control Board.

To Aid Newfoundland

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 — (CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Friday night in the Commons he has asked Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland to advise him of agricultural requirements in the new province. Upon this information, Mr. Gardiner said, will be based the expenditures by the government to provide Newfoundland with agricultural benefits comparative with other provinces of Canada.

Anthracite Coal Increased $1.50

Ever since the Canadian dollar was devalued Monday night householders who have not bought their winter's coal supply, have waited, expecting to hear the worst.

Friday the new coal prices were announced. The damage: anthracite up $1.50 to $24.25 and bituminous coals up $1.25.

Coal dealers, a little anxious about how the news would be received by buyers, were quick to point out they have been warning the public all summer to get coal supplies in early, but say only a small percentage took advantage of the advice.

In this, Peterborough was typical of most of the rest of Ontario and apparently much of the United States. As a result, coal dealers say, miners worked only three days a week instead of the full week.

Now of course, the miners are on strike and stocks of coal, in and out of the city are low. It is going to be difficult for dealers to fill all the empty bins until the strike comes to an end.

Any orders that dealers have had on file some time and have not been filled is because the coal has not been mined fast enough. The dealers say they are delivering orders in the order in which they were received.

Any coal received in the last two weeks or is now in transit, will have to sell at the increased price because coal dealers, given the normal two weeks to pay, are just now paying for coal shipped two weeks ago in devalued Canadian dollars.

The reasons for the increase, besides the devaluation of Canadian money, meaning increased cost of the coal itself, are that freight charges from the mines to the Canadian border must also be paid in high priced American money plus the latest eight-cent a ton increase in Canadian freight rates.

Italians Rejecting Communism—Count

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 — (CP) — Thousands of Italians are turning away from the Communist party because they feel it makes them the tool of a foreign power, Count Carlo Sforza said Friday.

The Italian foreign minister told a press conference that the Communist threat of gaining control of Italy now has disappeared.

On the first official visit to Canada, the noted philosopher and statesman paid a visit to Viscount Alexander, Governor General, and then placed a wreath of white and red chrysanthemums before the National War Memorial.

Take It Calmly

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the United States Chiefs-of-Staff, advised:

"The calmer the American people take this matter the better. We have anticipated it for four years and it calls for no change in our basic defense plan."

The Association of American Scientists pointed out that Russia needs at least two years to develop a sizeable A-bomb stockpile, while the United States has been hard at it since 1945 and has no intention of letting up.

"This new development probably will have no effect on Russia's capacity to wage war," the scientists said.

That view was widely held in Congress too—although there was some alarm.

Representative John Rankin (Deb. Miss.) greeted the news with the prompt suggestion that plans be drafted immediately for moving the United States capital to Kentucky.

But the comment of Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.), chairman of the Senator-House Atomic Energy Committee, was more typical.

"Our entire program has been based on the assumption that this very thing would come to pass, and we knew it would," he said.

Three Collisions Occur In Early Evening Rain

A 13-year-old cyclist, Hugh Pollard, 141 Dunlop St., was knocked off his bicycle in a collision with a car driven by E. McIlmoyle, 753 Hurley St., about 5 p.m. Friday.

McIlmoyle had just pulled out of the city bus barns on Hunter St. and was turning left onto Burnham St. Young Pollard, riding his bicycle hit the rear right corner of the car. It was raining hard and the road was slippery. Young Pollard was apparently unhurt.

Two cars collided on Rogers St. at 7:30 p.m. Friday when one of the drivers, Carlyle Ferguson, 441 Rogers St., was about to turn into the driveway of his home. He said he pulled to the centre of the road to make the turn. A car driven by Joseph P. Levick, 4 Knox St., turned out to pass him and the two cars collided. Neither car was damaged seriously.

A city bus, driven by S. Anderson 1013 Water St., piled into the back of a car driven by Samuel Miceli who had stopped suddenly to avoid a car which pulled out in front of him at the corner of George and Brock Sts. at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Miceli was driving south on George. He said another car drove out of Brock St. going east without stopping for the George St. intersection. The car swerved north on George to avoid a collision and the Miceli car was hit by the bus when Miceli put on his brakes.

Devaluation Holds Spotlight During Week

By The Canadian Press.

Devaluation held the spotlight on security markets this week.

Canadian markets reacted violently while there was almost no apparent reaction in New York.

Gold stocks were in heavy demand Monday, soaring to the highest price level since November, 1947, following the cut in the British pound.

However, they about-faced on Tuesday, dropping heavily following a 10 per cent reduction in the Canadian dollar. Investors were disappointed in the 10 per cent cut, many expecting at least 15 per cent. They also wondered how Ottawa would handle the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act.

As it turned out, gold mines received a reasonable deal in cost-aid. The government decided to continue the Act as it stands for the remainder of the year and then reduce help during 1950. The market failed to respond. Apparently, as many brokers observed, it had discounted devaluation earlier in the year and was disappointed by Ottawa's future handling plans of gold-cost aid.

Much of Monday's powerful advance was wiped out and the gold list closed the week only slightly higher from last Friday.

The steepness of devaluation in sterling—30 per cent—caught industrials off balance in Canada. Prices climbed Monday, but the heavy selling later in the week threw the list for a loss from the previous Friday.

Papers Strong Point

Papers—a group that stands to gain considerably by devaluation—were a strong point on industrial boards.

Base metal stocks were on the edge of the devaluation spotlight early in the week and careful, considered buying later in the week lifted key companies, which sell their output to the United States, well ahead.

Western oil stocks reflected increased Eastern markets offered by devaluation, climbing slowly.

New York was hit by heavy selling early in the week, but rallied later. The Associated Press 60-stock average closed unchanged from the previous Friday.

Here are the changes on the Toronto Stock Exchange index from the previous week: Industrials down 1.49, golds up .41, base metals up 3.77, Western oils up 1.83.

Volume for the five days totalled 11,739,000 shares, the highest since the first week last November. Monday saw turnover pass the 4,500,000 mark—heaviest since the boom in Eldona Gold Mines in August, 1947.

Drew Opposes

the matter had been discussed off and on in Parliament for 75 years and it was high time Canada took the step along the road to full-fledged nationhood.

Solon Low Social Credit leader, placed the support of his 10-man group on the side of the government. He said he could see no reason why the step should not be taken within the next few months.

Earlier, at Commons opening, members listened in hushed expectancy as Prime Minister St. Laurent said the government concurred in the decision by the United Kingdom and the United States to make public the disclosure that Russia had exploded an atomic weapon.

Keep Prices Up

Finance Minister Abbott expressed the hope that Canadian exporters will not cut their prices unnecessarily as a result of dollar devaluation.

During the night sitting the House devoted its full time to the $49,408,253 of agriculture department estimates for 1949-50.

A large part of the discussion was on the compensation farmers receive for livestock that must be destroyed or slaughtered following positive reaction to tuberculosis tests.

In reply to questions from Dr. W. G. Blair (PC—Lanark), H. O. White (PC—Middlesex East) and Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel), Agriculture Minister Gardiner said a bill will be introduced at the present session to increase the scope of compensation for these farmers. The compensation would be retroactive to April 1.

Mr. Gardiner said, however, that the government will not consider instituting an insurance scheme to protect the herds of farmers against T.B. losses.

Unwieldly Debate

In the long constitutional debate, Mr. Drew said he was moving the amendment to the Supreme Court bill so a committee might first be set up in Commons to go over all the ramifications of the measure to abolish appeals to the Privy Council.

Along with this, he urged, the government should consult with the provinces before taking any action.

He was not interested in the civil aspects of abolishing Privy Council appeals. The crux of the matter was that the bill did not make clear whether the Supreme Court would be bound by past decisions in its job of interpreting Canadian law and legislation.

Mr. St. Laurent said such committees had been established in past and "they got us nowhere." The question of abolition had been considered over a long period.

He was unable to see how minority or provincial rights could be affected by the proposed change. The legislation would substitute the Supreme Court of Canada for the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

Mr. Coldwell said he thought the time had arrived when "We should take unto ourselves the attributes of nationhood, and one of those attributes is that we should have our own judiciary interpret our own laws and our own constitution. This court should be the court of last resort."

Claims British Face Could Have Been Saved By Action

By ROLAND BIRD
Financial Editor of the London Observer.

LONDON, Sept. 24 (Special to the Peterborough Examiner) — The face of Sir Stafford Cripps, that great denier, seemed no redder than usual when he saw the Press eary this week. Devaluation (or in his own phrase, which requires three words but has no objectionable overtones) "exchange rate change" had to be. It was not a step taken under pressure by foreign governments, but under pressure by foreign speculators who began to distrust sterling and found it comparatively simple to slip through the exchange controls and turn their sterling into dollars. The lower rate for the pound is another of a long line of steps to stem the drain on the reserves—now widely supposed to be as low as $2,000 million.

This outcome has not been in doubt for three months or more. One would have thought that in that time it might have been possible to contrive the devaluation of the pound as part of a general re-alignment of all soft currencies in relation to the dollar. That would have saved British face; it could have been presented—and with truth—as an important step in economic collaboration between Britain and Europe. Instead, the decisions have come singly; there is stress only on benefits which Britain will derive from changes which were already inevitable; and there is inevitably a certain resentment on the Continent that Britain has preserved a false pride of independence, even in this act of retreat.

Must Persuade Public

Sir Stafford's repeated "No" to earlier suggestions of devaluation is now recoiling upon him. If devaluation was wrong then, he has now to persuade the British public that devaluation will not make much difference to the cost of living. Much has been made of the argument that only 16 per cent of the content of the British cost of living index represents dollar expenditure—though this fact suggests in the longer run that the cost of living may increase by about 7 per cent. The rise in the price of bread is minimised as being less than a point of the index. Sir Stafford went out of his way to stress in his broadcast that there was no reason whatsoever for any immediate increase in any prices, except bread, in an obvious attempt to stave off wage claims. But already, it is being asked: if bread, why not tobacco?

It is now quite clear that the decision to devalue is not to be supported by any collateral action. There has been no increase in the bank rate. There is to be no autumn budget. Government expenditure on defence and the social services is to remain inviolate. The only economies which are promised—and neither can bring immediate benefit—are to reduce the present rate of capital development (in this industrial investment might come off second best, while housing and schools were untouched) and to cut the cost of government administration.

Sir Stafford's attempt to sell devaluation to the British public as an inevitable and promising way out of our economic difficulties failed to rub in the still precarious situation of the British economy. He presented the alternative as mass unemployment and widespread bankruptcy, and in this he was less than fair.

Pressure Needed

The reason why we have not improved our productivity quickly enough—as the Chancellor admits—is because, apart from exhortation by the government, there has been no effective pressure on workers and managements to reduce costs so that our exports can compete successfully in the dollar markets. Devaluation will encourage dollar exporting, but even so there will still be effective competition from European exporters and from American and Canadian manufacturers for dollar sales. Devaluation does not remove the opportunity for "soft-option" trade with the sterling area; it merely reduces its attraction to some degree.

We have probably not heard the last of the rate of 2.80 dollars to the £. A thirty per cent devaluation was much more than the great majority of observers had expected, and there is little doubt that it has been fixed deliberately on the low side. This is explained by the need to avoid taking another bite at the same bitter cherry, though in an elusive phrase this afternoon the Chancellor declared that quite a large number of people thought the rate of 2.80 dollars was "normal".

The fact that the International Monetary Fund has given its blessing to the new rate does not mean that it will be universally acceptable in the United States. Evidently the government hope that the American public will say that it is a fair rate, but they may well have some anxieties on this score, particularly in view of its potential reaction on the further liberalising of American tariff policy.

Short Run Gain

The immediate response of speculators who have been raiding the pound has been to cover their open positions quickly. For the next few weeks, it can be expected that sterling will exhibit a considerable degree of technical strength. But it is necessary to distinguish between this short run gain and the longer term attitude towards sterling at the new rate. If it produces a rapid gain in dollar trade, so that the sterling area reserves can once again be slowly built up, that confidence may develop into a fairly permanent feature in the situation. But much depends upon the course of internal costs in Britain and on the response of dollar prices to the new situation. In 1931, devaluation of the pound depressed world prices of food and raw materials, so that within a few months our import costs were lower than before. That is unlikely to happen today.

Meanwhile, there are several unresolved wage claims by the railwaymen and the engineers, and a generally restive acceptance in principle, though not often in practice, of the wages "standstill." The danger of cost inflation in Britain and the rest of the sterling area existed even before devaluation; there is little doubt that those pressures will now be enhanced. To the extent that they succeed, the advantages claimed for devaluation will prove to be evanescent. And in that case, Sir Stafford's claim that "this is a step that we cannot and shall not repeat" might at some future time look as silly as his earlier denials of devaluation look today.

Loss of faith in a currency can be contagious, as French experience showed before the war. The unresolved question which devaluation of the pound poses is whether the outside world is convinced that enough is being done at home by way of retrenchment in public and private outlays. Retrenchment before the event would have made it doubly sure. The question now is whether firm control will be applied to internal financial policy. Without this control the success of devaluation must remain in doubt.

Men Laid Off In Campbellford, Markets Tighten

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 24 (ENS)—Current dislocations in the foreign marekt are having their effect locally on the labor situation. There have been a number of lay-offs in some factories during recent weeks.

The Campbellford Cloth Company, the largest employer of labor locally, has practically closed down. This has affected many employees who have been with the company for years.

A new building is being erected by the company for the manufacture of carpets. The cement has been poured and the steel girders are in position. It is believed operations will begin this Fall and that it will absorb some of the unemployed.

The Gair Company of Canada pulp mill is operating as usual on three shifts, with practically all of the working force on the payroll, amounting to a total of some 50 men.

There is a skeleton crew only at the Breithaupt Leather factory. Many of the employees who were laid off have found employment elsewhere. Orders for leather are small just now because of the uncertain state of price levels.

There have been no large scale lay-offs in the smaller industries. Their products are marketed locally and sales are holding up well.

Shop keepers report a slight recession in sales. This could be caused by three contributing factors. Firstly, this is the off-season between the departure of tourists and the beginning of the Christmas trade.. The rise in unemployment has curtailed the average worker's purchasing power. Consumers hesitate to make large purchases because of unstable price trends.

Local industrialists and business men feel that conditions will improve substantially, when the present monetary upheaval flattens out.

Warkworth Youth Learn To Wrestle

WARKWORTH, Sept. 24 (ENS)—A newly formed wrestling club held its first class in wrestling instruction Tuesday under the leadership of Joe Nuisker, who was an athletic instructor for four years in the army.

Wrestling develops the muscles and the breathing so it will be a benefit to those interested in playing hockey, Mr. Nuisker says.

The wrestling lessons are held every Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the High School.

Apple Weighs Pound

WARKWORTH, Sept. 24 (ENS) (ENS)—Among the apples growing on Clarence Massey's farm at Morganston, at present occupied by his son Don, is a prize specimen measuring 13 inches in circumference and weighing a pound. The second largest is a close runner-up with a circumference of 12½ inches and weighing little less than a opund.

Three of these Baxter apples which Mr. Massey took from one tree almost filled a basket. And he had plenty more apples almost as large.

Mrs. Joseph Lane Dies In Santa Cruz

Mrs. Violet Mary Hodgson Lane, 65, of Santa Cruz, California, known to many in the Peterborough district, died recently at her residence after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Lane was born in Ontario and received her schooling in Manitoba. Before marrying she taught in country schools near Winnipeg and attended Ontario Ladies' College in Whitby.

After her marriage to the late Joseph Lane she moved with him and her three children to Santa Cruz in 1922, coming from Manitoba.

She was active in church and community affairs in Santa Cruz. During the war she did volunteer Red Cross work for four years.

She leaves a son, Richard Lane; two daughters, Iola Lane and Mrs. Evelyn Lane Curtis, all of Santa Cruz; four brothers, Percy and Ernest of New Westminster, B.C.; Shirley of Dog minster, B.C.; Shirley of Dog Westminster; also three grandchildren.

Mrs. Lane also leaves a number of relatives, as well as close friends, in Peterborough, Norwood and Westwood.

Burial was in the IOOF mausoleum, Santa Cruz.

Final Tribute Paid Mrs. Mary Mulcahey

Requiem Mass was celebrated Friday at 9 a.m. by the Rev. J. J. Killen, at Immaculate Conception Church, for Mrs. Mary Mulcahey, 384 Mark St., who died Tuesday. The Rev. Raymond Garvey was present in the sanctuary and the Rev. J. A. Greenan recited the graveside prayers.

Pallbearers for the funeral, which was held from the Anglesey Funeral Home to Immaculate Conception Church, were: Fergus Webb, Alfred Bailey, Jack Moher, Donald Howell, Frank O'Toole and Roy O'Brien.

Row In Havelock One Fined Other Acquitted

A charge of drunk driving against Keith Hart, who lives a few miles north of Havelock, was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Friday morning.

"This appears to be a borderline case in which the accused will receive the benefit of the doubt," the magistrate said, dismissing the charge.

The drunk driving charge and two charges of causing a disturbance by swearing all resulted from a minor accident in which the Hart car sideswiped a car owned by E. W. Seeney which was parked in front of the Seeney home in Havelock.

Robert Hart was found guilty of causing a disturbance and was fined $5 and $20.55 costs. The same charge against Keith Hart was dismissed.

Tennyson Seeney, Newtonville, son of the owner of the car who was hit, testified he was at his parents' home over the Labor Day holiday weekend. The night of Sept. 3, a Saturday, he was at the front of his parents' home when he heard a squeal of braking tires and following a bump.

Conflicting Stories

Although the stories about what happened from then on conflicted sharply, there was apparently an argument. Keith Hart said the car was parked too far out on the highway on the wrong side of the road with its lights on and a car coming the other way had forced him into the Seeney car.

Tennyson and Wilbert Seeney both testified the Hart brothers had been drinking, had been belligerent, had called their mother, Mrs. Seeney, foul names and had taken swings at both Seeney boys before they drove away.

Constable Bay Bell of Havelock testified when he arrived at the scene of the accident some little time later, the Harts had left. He found them later on a side street. He said Keith smelled strongly of intoxicants.

Seek Police

Both Keith and Robert Hart said they had not been drinking at all that night. Keith Hart testified neither he nor his brother had done any shouting, swearing or fighting. They had asked Mrs. Seeney to phone the police and when she said she had not phoned them, they left to find the police. He said they went to the police station, the constable's house and finally back to the scene of the accident where they found the constable just pulling away.

In dismissing the charge of causing a disturbance against Keith Hart, Magistrate Philp said apparently Keith had taken a less active part in the disturbance and had twice tried to get his younger brother into the car.

Approve Double Pay

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 24 (CP).—Double pay for firemen on the statutory holidays was approved Friday night by city councillors meeting to consider a collective bargaining agreement with London Fire Fighters' Association Local 1422.

IT'S A RECORD!—A world's record for a mallard duck was established in Sudbury district when Bill Carr bagged this drake on the Veuve River. Weighing six pounds, five ounces, the bird nearly doubled the previous known record weight, three pounds, nine ounces.

WMS To Thank FormerPresident

MILLBROOK, Sept. 24—(ENS)—WMS of St. Andrew's Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of the Misses Clarry.

Mrs. W. E. Ball, first vice-president, opened the meeting and conducted the worship service which had as its theme "Advance." Mrs. Laurence Winslow sang and the Rev. T. G. Husser led in prayer.

It was decided that a letter should be sent to Mrs. G. C. R. McQuade in appreciation of her services as president of the society during the four years of her husband's pastorate here.

It was planned to hold the autumn thankoffering meeting in November.

Mrs. Ridge was appointed delegate to the fall rally, to be held in Bethany on October 4.

It was agreed that Mrs. Matchett should be president for the remainder of the year. Mrs. Matchett gave the Christian Stewardship report.

The new minister and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. T. G. Husser, were welcomed by Mrs. Ball.

Mrs. Ridge, convener for Community Friendship, asked for a good report from her committee for the next meeting.

It was suggested by Mrs. Matchett that they have a sale table at every meeting to solve the problem of raising money for the Supply Secretary's department.

The Auxiliary made $5 from the quilt which was finished last week.

Miss Hetherington introduced the new study book.

A report of School for Leaders held in Whitby this Summer was given by Mrs. D. Lunn.

The October meeting is to be held at Mrs. Ridge's home, with Miss Mary Widdis, leader of F Group, in charge.

Women's Institute Resumes Card Parties

APSLEY, Sept. 24 (ENS). — The first card party in the Women's Institute winter series was held at Mrs. Hugh McColl's home Thursday. Prizes were awarded as follows: Men's first, Wellington Lean; consolation, Herb James; Women's first, Mrs. W. Lean; consolation, C. Alphey. Lunch was served.

Campbellford Woman Host To Church Guild

WARKWORTH, Sept. 24 — Mrs. Donald Hoar of Campbellford was hostess to St. John's Anglican Guild of Warkworth for the September meeting.

The president, Mrs. A. Meneilley opened the meeting with prayer. A quilt was finished and it was decided that a refreshment booth at the Warkworth fair would be sponsored by the Guild.

Each member is expected to help in some way with decorating the church for the Harvest Home service on Sunday at 2.30 p.m. This will be the farewell sermon of the rector the Rev. T. Lennox who has accepted a new field in Toronto. The meeting closed with prayer and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Handicrafts Introduced At Seymour Fair

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 24 (ENS). — Seymour Agricultural Society has plans completed for Seymour Fair Tuesday and Wednesday. Wednesday will be the big day for the general public. There will be Stranger's Midway with ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other rides.

Garden Brothers Shows of Toronto will provide entertainment in front of the grandstand. At night they will present a group of well-known professionals.

A fine display of handiwork by school children will be featured this year.

A new addition this year of special significance is the handicraft section displaying ceramics, leather work, oil paintings, stamps and wood carving.

In the Women's Building there will be a display of Dutch handiwork featured by the Dutch families who recently came from Holland.

Campbellford Fair is noted for its fine herds of dairy cattle and orchard and garden exhibits. There will be heats in the 2.28 and 2.24 classes, and the free-for-all.

Registers Tremor

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 24 (AP)—A spokesman for the observatory at Lund, Sweden, said today its seismograph had registered an earth tremor September 14 which might have been caused by an atomic explosion in Siberia. Lund is in Southern Sweden, 24 miles across the Sound from Copenhagen, Denmark.

Believes Probation Better Than Jail Term

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (CP) — In many cases it is better to put a convicted lawbreaker on probation than to send him to jail, Prof. Stuart K. Jaffray of the University of Toronto said Friday.

He told the Ontario Social Welfare Conference that he favors probation for social and economic reasons.

"In institutions, a man is told what to do from the time he goes in and there is little, if any, responsibility. On the other hand, a man on probation has to hold down his job, maintain his family and hold the respect of his friends —a constructive kind of discipline."

On the economic side, probation costs the state less money than maintaining a man in an institution.

Defence Rests

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP). — The government and defence rested Friday in the conspiracy trial against 11 top members of the Communist Party in the United States. The trial is in its 36th week Federal Judge Harold R. Medina excused the jury with instructions that its members should return for the windup on October 4.

Russia's Bomb

In 1945 western atomic physicists and statesmen said that there would be no more than a five-year breathing spell before Russia had the bomb. Now Russia has it; London and Washington both confirm that recent explosions in Russian territory, which have registered on instruments in the western world, prove that Russia has the bomb. The only mild surprise is that Russia has done the job in four, not five years. The late American Cold War must have scared them into it.

Surgery At The Civic

The Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital has decided that the by-law which it passed nine months ago shall be put into force. As a result, all but minor operations must be performed by certified surgeons or ones approved by the Board's Medical and Surgical Advisory Committee; or by other doctors only when one of these staff surgeons is assisting. The by-law has been a controversial subject with the medical fraternity of the city, and has aroused province-wide professional interest, since the Peterborough Civic Hospital is among the first to adopt such a regulation. Two-thirds of the staff doctors of the hospital recently voted to recommend to the Board that the by-law be rescinded.

* * *

It may be well before discussing this matter, to explain that a "certified" surgeon is a doctor who holds a certificate of the Canadian Medical Association which states that he is a qualified surgeon. Until three years ago these pieces of paper could be got by any doctor who practised surgery with good repute; now they are issued only on examination. Several well-known doctors in Peterborough who have long surgical experience never bothered to get the certificate when they could have had it for the asking. By "staff doctors" is meant almost every doctor in Peterborough and district who wanted to be named to the staff; the Civic Hospital is not exclusive in this regard.

* * *

The Board's decision to restrict the use of the operating room is, in principle, a progressive step. It has the approval of the Ontario Medical Association. It is in accord with the practice of large hospitals in large centres. It should raise the standard of medical practice in the city. In effect in a smaller community such as Peterborough and Kingston, the regulation may work some hardship on doctor or patient. It could restrict the practice of a doctor who, though not certified as a surgeon, is well qualified through experience to perform certain types of operations. It may affect young doctors adversely. As for the patient, will his doctors' fees be increased because a specialist or pseudo-specialist is always necessary, either as operator or assistant?

* * *

Theoretically, it would seem that if the hospital is by regulation recognizing surgeons as "specialists," in fairness to physicians it should require the staff surgeons to be surgical specialists only, to take only referred cases, and not in addition to carry on medical practice as physicians. In others words, if doctors are given special privileges as staff surgeons, they should not be given the privilege of staff physicians, and should stay out of the medical wards. In Peterborough practice, the distinction between physician and surgeon is not sharp. As John R. Marshall, Chairman of the Board of Governors has said, the by-law does not make very much difference to any of the present staff of the hospital. Most of the doctors who have made frequent use of the operating room heretofore have been named staff surgeons, whether or not they have surgeons' certificates. Others may operate, provided a staff surgeon assists. And all staff doctors have been given partial operating room privileges for minor operations.

* * *

Most laymen will approve the operating room regulations. The chances of there being unnecessary operations, or of mishap, are lessened. When the doctor operating or assisting is fully qualified in general surgery, unexpected conditions revealed by the scalpel will be met with more assurance. Better protection is given both patient and doctor.

* * *

The Board of Governors is responsible not to the doctors but to the patients and people of this city and district, whose hospital it is. The operating room and all its expensive equipment and surgical instruments right down to the rubber gloves, are provided the doctors without any cost to them. It is the right of the Board to say how all this shall be used, and by whom. It is a very important right, especially in view of the multi-million dollar new civic hospital now rising. We note in conclusion the latitude given the Advisory Committee (who are doctors). They can allow any doctor who has no surgeon's certificate full operating-room privileges, as they please. It is expected that they will use this power with discretion, and eventually not at all.

U.N.'s Fourth Assembly

The fourth Assembly of United Nations had a businesslike and calm beginning on Tuesday at Flushing Meadow, New York. Some of the big foreign ministers were there: Bevin of Britain, Vishinsky of Russia, Acheson of America, Schuman of France and Kardelj of Yugoslavia. The Canadian delegation was headed by the Honourable Paul Martin; Mr. L. B. Pearson arrived the next day to take over. It is not to be expected that the calm will be maintained, although the New York Times considers the good beginning an indication that U.N. is maturing. We hope that it is not maturing into premature senility; there are signs that it may be. Old knotty problems are still with it: Indonesia, Korea, Israel, the veto, atomic energy, the frustration of the Security Council.

Again The Woods Grow Crimson

Autumn, "laden with fruit, and stained with the blood of the grape", has come again to touch the air and the heart. It is the Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness

Close-bosom friend of the maturing sun.

But ours is not a Keatsian English autumn, quiet though it be, and with the moon and mist and rain of which Carman speaks. It is not of her fruitfulness which Canadian hearts sing, but of the golden light and the splendour of colour.

The gardens glow with fiery dahlias, bronze and vivid zinnias, the blood-red salvia, the quieter asters and chrysanthemums. The afternoon sun filters through rows of reddening maple making melody of leafy streets. The meadows and hazy hills, woods and billowy sky are taking again a poignant grandeur which is the glory of these Canadian regions, and which no outside tongue or brush can express. It is for our own Carman, Marjorie Pickthall, Wilfred Campbell and Archibald Lampman to say what our hearts feel. It is our most poetic season, and has moved many Canadian pens to their finest lyrics. We see what met Lampman's eyes:

I see the wood-wrapt city, swept with light,
The blue long-shadowed distance, and, between,
The dotted farm-lands with their parcelled green,
The dark pine forest and the watchful height.

I see the broad rough meadow stretched away
Into the crystal sunshine, wastes of sod,
Acres of withered vervain, purple-gray,
Branches of aster, groves of golden-rod.

Let us heed Wilfred Campbell:

Here, haply, musing by thy silent fields,
Thy ripened woods, thy brown, shorn harvest floors,
And hazy hillsides, he who seeks may find
The sort of soul he is, and at thy doors
Of inward contemplation lend his mind
To those high reveries nature's heart reveals.

Thus without grief the golden days go by. Let us take their joy and solace, for soon

Through the wind-touched reddening woods shall rise
October with the rain of ruined leaves.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.
Dear Mr. Cataplasm:

As I promised, I am writing to tell you how the people of Britain are faring in the present hard times. But really, I do not think that anything I have to say is of much importance, for I do all my eating in restaurants, where the food seems to be about as good and as plentiful as it was before the war. Not, mind you, that British cooking is any better; the assaults upon green vegetables in British kitchens are as violent as ever, and the wreckage appears upon the table in the familiar disagreeable form. Cabbage is lamentably common, and that misbegotten child of Nature, that dwarf cabbage and abortive lettuce, the Brussels Sprout, is to be met with everywhere. But there seems to be plenty of food.

Indeed, I had quite forgotten how much the people of the British Isles are accustomed to eat. After a hearty breakfast they have coffee at eleven, luncheon at one, tea at four, dinner and a snack before bed. Five meals a day is not uncommon. They munch and nibble at all hours. Whether this is because their rations are unsatisfying or merely because they have always done so, I really cannot say.

As for drink, it is about as expensive as in Canada, and the beer is weak and somehow disgusting. Nevertheless, considerable quantities of it are consumed.

I met a man a few days ago who is a Civil Servant by profession, but who has undertaken to raise a pig in order to get some bacon. The pig is his in a limited sense: he feeds and houses it, but a government official, a sort of Socialist Swinenerd, broods over the pig's welfare and dictates its actions. The pig may not beget other pigs, for instance, nor may my friend employ a man to tend to the pig. But the nuisance of the pig is made up for by the fact that, when killed, it will yield my friend the equivalent of one man's meat ration for 66 years. That is a solemn thought, Dr. Cataplasm.

Yours sincerely,
Samuel Marchbanks.

To Miss Minerva Hawser
Dear Miss Hawser:

How shall I convince you that it does not lie in my power to send or bring even one square inch of material in the Hawser tartan to you? Everyone that I have met in Scotland denies knowledge of it, or looks obliquely at me if I mention it. Please let us abandon this fruitless topic.

Now as to your other questions: No, I heard none of the music at the Edinburgh Festival. I had to choose between music and plays, and I chose plays. I have, however, seen many musicians and a gentleman in the bedroom next to mine who is with the Cologne Symphony Orchestra, plays the flute very beautifully and loudly very early every morning.

Yes, I saw Goethe's "Faust" acted by the German company from Dusseldorf. I suspect that it was good, but my high school German was not up to the strain. The night that I was there a demonstration broke out against Gustav Grundgens, the actor who played Mephistopheles. A loud voice in the gallery shouted "In the name o' the people of Edinburgh, I protest against the appearance of this mon in oor toon". Then a shower of leaflets descended, bearing the accusation that Grundgens was a Nazi and a friend of Goebbels. The actors left the stage as though on roller skates, and it was some time before order was restored and the play went on. I know nothing of the rights and wrongs of the matter.

You may be interested to know that American slang has added some of its richness of the Scottish Vernacular. A guide at Holyrood Palace told me yesterday that a fine set of chairs I saw there had been "gifted" to the Royal Family by a women's club in the U.S.A. "You mean they gave the chairs?" said I. "Nay, nay", said he, "they gifted them".—No more at present, Miss Hawser from

Yours sincerely,
Samuel Marchbanks.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

At last the flood of letters subsides, and I have a moment to write to you. Thanks for the cigarettes you sent me. They are very dear here, but a surprising number of people smoke to a degree which I would call excessive. I came down from Edinburgh to London in a carriage with a lady who was not a day under 65, and in the course of that journey she smoked fully 50 cigarettes. I have never breathed so much second-hand smoke in my life. Nor was she unusual. People who smoke like chimneys seem to be fairly common here.

The Edinburgh-London journey took from 10:40 a.m. until 8:15 p.m. I grew bored with sitting still and felt like the Hermit in the legend. You know it? It seems that there dwelt in the desert a certain Hermit whose goodness and austerity were so great that news of him reached the ears of the Patriarch of Jerusalem. So the Patriarch sent for the Hermit, who bestrode his mule and rode without stopping for 40 days and 40 nights. At last he was in the presence of the Patriarch, who considerately bade him to take a seat. "Nay", said the Hermit, "of sitting, as of all earthly pleasures, there cometh satiety".

There was nothing to do on the journey but look out of the window, and eat meals when opportunity afforded. I may report to you that meals in English trains are perhaps a little worse than they used to be. That brown soup is somewhat browner, the coffee is somewhat weaker, and the cheese hints more strongly than ever at an origin in a soap factory. The English are not really a puritanical people, but their train meals suggest a dreadful mortification of the flesh—an urge to take the joy out of travel.

As I wander about my fancy is greatly caught by the unusual names which I see on signs and advertisements. Just as I left Edinburgh I saw a beauty over a clothing store—Clinkscales. Now if I wrote a book in which anyone was called Clinkscales the critics would accuse me of being fanciful. Yet it appears that people of that name really exist. Wonderful! Travel is so broadening.

Yours broadly,
Sam.

HOPEFUL NOTE

Letters To The Editor

UNEARNED INCOME FROM DEVALUATION

Sir: Devaluation redistributes national income. That which is collected from the consumers is paid as an export subsidy (or bounty). On gold it is a bounty, and because the U.S. is the predominant market for other leading exports, as newsprint, minerals, lumber and cattle, the U.S. market prices will also prevail with the same result.

Tremendous profits are being made on the stock market as a result. The U.S. Government will get a slice of these profits from its citizens who will pay income tax on theirs whether realized on the New York or a Canadian exchange, because speculative profits are taxable income—and have been for over 25 years.

Doesn't it behoove our government to take notice of this unearned income?

Yours truly,
J. W. GILBERT.

LOTTERIES TO LESSEN TAXES

Sir: Although not an ardent follower of our friend Premier Duplessis of Quebec Province I must confess that he has a good point and I admire his aggressiveness in attempting to introduce legislation for a provincial lottery which is hoped will improve education and public health benefits in that province.

When we consider the gambling and lotteries that are in vogue in a province of Ontario population (Ex. horse race betting, punch boards, pin ball machines etc.) not to mention the gambling instincts that apparently are in all humans to some degree, although there are some of us that do not advertise or even mention the fact. I personally would like to see our fair city organize such a lottery (even if a lawyer's services are required to operate it within the present laws) in order to help defray expenses for such things as New Civic Hospital, Nurses' Residence, proposed City Hall, and Sewage Disposal Plant.

I feel sure that if properly operated we would have far less criticism for past city fathers who we are blaming for being shortsighted (but at the time held them up on a pedestal for their then low mill rates) in addition to generally reducing local taxes for at least the next few years.

Hurrah For Helen Rose!

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

We deeply appreciate being reassured. That is why we cheer for Helen Rose, Hollywood designer, who declares that women will resist the latest ukase from Paris, as delivered by Paris designer Christian Dior. Dior says the woman of 1950 will be "casual, daring and boyish, with no hips, no bust and a close-cropped hurricane haircut".

Paris cannot do that, Helen declares, because it is nonsense. Paris cannot change the contours of a woman's body, and "any man in the world will agree that the 'casual, boyish woman' is completely without sex appeal".

We're frightfully happy about Helen's concluding defiance that the women of America will not accept such a flat statement and flatten themselves accordingly. We recall how they resisted the earlier flattening decree from Paris, how they defied the edict of ankle-length trippers which followed, how they rejected the knee-length garments subsequently dictated by fashion, and—crowning memory—how they sent the New Look to the hot place in a handbasket.

Well, anyway, all but a few of them did—a few million.

Then And Now

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

Referring to a retired bricklayer, J. H. Hale, in his weekly column in the Orillia Packet and Times, recently wrote:

"Things have changed since Leonard Wainman was active in his trade. He is now over 80. In his day he, or any other good bricklayer, would lay 1,200 bricks a day. He would think there was something wrong if he laid any less. Today in Toronto a bricklayer, I am told, lays 250 bricks. Five times 250 is 1,250. In other words, a bricklayer today takes five days to do a day's work. For the five days in Toronto he gets $75, which is quite a good sum. It is not any wonder that building costs a lot these days. Other trades are more or less similar."

It appears many of us no longer realize what constitutes a good day's work.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee. O let the nations be glad and sing for joy: for thou shalt judge the people righteously, and govern the nations upon earth. Selah. (Ps. 67: 3, 4.)

I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient of days, and they brought him near before him. And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. (Dan. 7: 13, 14.)

Then Pilate entered into the judgement hall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the King of the Jews?

Jesus answered him, Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me? Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation and the chief priests have delivered thee unto me: what hast thou done?

Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.

Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice. (John 18: 33-37.)

For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. (I Cor. 2: 11, 12.)

Canadian And U.S. Tour Of Sadler's Wells Ballet

Arrangements are being made for a visit to Canada and the United States of Britain's Sadler's Wells Ballet Company. The Company will be in Canada from November 25th to December 11th and will give performances in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. The opening night in New York is fixed for October 9th, at the Metropolitan Opera House, and the tour will last 9 weeks. Two British conductors, Constant Lambert, the well-known composer, and Robert Irving will precede the Ballet Company to New York. They will rehearse the Metropolitan Opera orchestra in unfamiliar music. This includes two difficult scores by the British composer Arthur Bliss, a long ballet on the Cinderella theme to music by Prokofiev, and Tschaikowsky's music for the Sleeping Beauty.

Value Of Seaweed As Food

Seaweed is being used more and more as both a food, and for animal fodder. Its value to mankind was stressed recently by a leading United Kingdom botanic expert, Professor Newton, speaking to an audience of scientists at the British Association conference. The direction which future work and research in developing this rich, natural source of vitamins should take, was discussed. Professor Newton said that recent experiments have shown the common brown seaweeds to be particularly rich in vitamins. A large field of work awaited biochemists in extracting these, and presenting them in palatable, easily digested form, for human consumption.

Rome Plans For Holy Year; Many Material Aspects

By CECIL SPRIGGE

At Christmastide Rome will begin to celebrate the Holy Year, which in the high Middle Ages occurred once in a century, later twice in a century, and now comes round every twenty-five years. After the extraordinary upheavals of the last ten years the church hopes to make the 1950 celebrations particularly memorable. The Italian State is not indifferent either, for apart from the fact that the present government is prevailingly composed of fervent Roman Catholics (as is also the local administration of Rome), the occasion is looked to as a powerful magnet for tourists.

According to some estimates, the Holy Year will bring to Rome more than a million additional foreign tourists—of whom, it is suggested, 25 per cent will be from the dollar countries. There is already intense activity on the part of the Vatican and of the Rome civic authorities to get the city into good shape for the occasion. To the rear of Saint Peter's basilica, in the hitherto untidy and slummy area skirting the Via Aurelia Moderna, old buildings are being demolished feverishly. A brand new motor road is being driven through the zone. Here, and also on the Tiber side of St. Peter's, special hotels for pilgrims are going up with that speed which absence of controls and a huge reserve army of unemployed permits to the Italian entrepreneur.

Elsewhere in the city ancient churches are being overhauled and put into the best possible condition. The huge expanse of stone steps which forms the approach to Saint Mary Major on the Esquiline hill is being repointed and relaid. The medieval facade of the Church of SS. John and Paul has been freed from architectural deformations and can for the first time be seen (still behind scaffolding) in its original condition, thanks to the munificence of its titular rector, Cardinal Spellman of New York. A small and ancient church, hitherto embedded in buildings on the eastern fringe of St. Peters Piazza is being brought to the light of day after narrowly escaping demolition in the high-speed "systematisation" of this area of Rome.

Proclaim New Dogma?

The strictly ecclesiastical side of Holy Year will not begin to make itself felt for some time. It is known that there will be several canonisations and a splendid series of rites in the principal churches, not only according to the Latin liturgy but also according to the many other liturgies (Armenian, Byzantine, Coptic and others), the use of which is permitted to certain communities within the Roman obedience. It is widely believed that the Pope will further perform one of the most solemn acts pertaining to his ministry, namely the proclamation of a new dogma—that of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin—which will henceforth become part of the necessary body of belief. Although the Feast of the Assumption is one of the major days in the Roman calendar, the doctrine that the Virgin's life on earth ended not with corruption in the tomb but with a physical translation to heaven has not hitherto been obligatory.

In recent years a great deal of theological literature has been put out in favour of adding this belief to the body of dogmas. Petitions to the same effect have been received at the Vatican from all over the world, and the Jesuit order has shown particular zeal. It will therefore be a surprise if this event does not materialize. The timing of the act, would, it is supposed, reflect some of the deepest preoccupations of the Pope at this moment. An interesting theory heard in Catholic circles is the following: the Assumption has always played a great part in the religious imagination of the Christian East, it is said, and its solemn exaltation to the status of a dogma by Rome would be a signal to the millions of Orthodox Christians, whose Christianity is menaced by persecution and internal dissolution in the Communist countries, that despite the East-West religious schism Rome sets high value upon the forms of devotion which are dear to them.

Another religious act likely to render the 1950 Holy Year memorable may be the revelation of archaeological discoveries which are believed to confirm the tradition that Saint Peter lies buried beneath the great basilica which bears his name No official statement has been made from the Vatican, but it is believed that one will come, and may, indeed, precede by some weeks the official opening of the Holy Year. It is well known that an extensive cemetery was some years ago discovered beneath St. Peter's, though few laymen have been able to inspect it. With what precision it has been possible to locate the relics of St. Peter is known to very few indeed, but it is rumored that some inscriptions of very early date testifying to the identity of the Apostle were found together with a casket of great devotional significance.

Drought A Bugbear

The material circumstances for the Holy Year are not so wholly favorable as might have been hoped. The bugbear of those planning the external setting of the celebrations is the unending drought with all its direct and indirect consequences. The greatest charm of Rome, in hot weather, has always been its plentiful and pure water, foaming and bubbling through scores of magnificent fountains. The two most spectacular fountains of all, those in the Piazza of Saint Peter's, have been kept playing fairly continuously this summer. But many others, such as the famous Trevi fountain, those in the vast Piatza Navona, the fountain of the Esedra outside the railway station, are either permanently mute or play only on high festivals. At other times these and scores of others tend to become the repository of orange peel and refuse But this naturally weighs less with the average citizen than the shortage of domestic water which afflicts whole zones of Rome. In many of the poorer quarters, and even in some of the most elegant, no water is reaching the upper storeys.

A tremendous effort is being made to increase Rome's supply before Christmas. A new water flow from Peschiera in the Abruzzi was due to expand the city's total intake by 20 per cent before the summer was over. The Via Aurelia Antica, flanked by ancient aqueducts, has for some months been closed to traffic while cement piping of gigantic dimensions was laid beneath its venerable stones. The Peschiera water, it is now said, will be flowing in two months.

A scarcely less obnoxious consequence of the drought is the shortage of hydro-electric current in consequence of which Rome now suffers two days without current per week (staggered around the various quarters) and is threatened with three. This means not only privation of light from breakfast time to supper-time, which matters little in the luminous Roman summer, but non-functioning of lifts, refrigerators, and cooking apparatus in many homes and a great many hotels, restaurants and cafes. Thus the Roman authorities find themselves on the horns of a dilemma: How to keep for Rome that air of brilliance which a great tourist centre cannot lightly sacrifice, without causing blatant injustice in the distribution of scarce resources.

It is naturally denied with some warmth at the Vatican that the Holy Year is a mere bait for tourists, and no doubt a great proportion of the pilgrims, especially in summer time, will be relatively indifferent to physical comfort. But Mayor Rebecchini's job, in the circumstances, is certainly one of the most exacting in Italian public life.

SELF-KNOWLEDGE

At thirty, man suspects himself a fool;
Knows it at forty, and reforms his plan;
At fifty chides his infamous delay,
Pushes his prudent purpose to resolve;
In all the magnanimity of thought
Resolves, and re-resolves, then dies the same.

Edward Young (1683-1765) Night Thoughts.

With temperatures skidding down as low as 37 degrees once during the past three weeks nature is getting out her paint pots and is already touching up the countryside. Thoughts have turned to methods of financing winter clothing and fuel bills; hunters' thoughts have turned to the approaching shooting season.

Because of the abundance and rapid increase of grouse the Department of Lands and Forests have announced longer open seasons than they have allowed in recent years. Grouse bag limits of five per day are being maintained, the season bag limit eliminated and a possession limit of ten birds per season has been set.

In the counties of PETERBOROUGH, Victoria, Haliburton, [illegible] COUNTY, north of Highway 7, there are two seasons. They are Oct. 8 to Oct. 29 and again from Nov. 14 to Nov. 23. Birds that may be taken are ruffled grouse (partridge), spruce grouse, sharp-tailed grouse and ptarmigan. There is no open season for pinnated grouse or prairie hen.

• • • •

Long and Short of the Grouse Season

The longest open season in the province is in that section which lies north and west of the French and Mattawa Rivers, including Manitoulin Island, from Oct. 8 to Nov. 25.

Third longest open season from Oct. 8 to Oct. 29 includes HASTINGS COUNTY south of Highway 7, Huron, Bruce, Grey, Dufferin, Northumberland, Prince Edward, Leeds, Grenville, Dundas, Stormont, Glengarry, Carleton, Russell, Prescott, and non-regulated townships in Wellington, Simcoe, Ontario and Durham.

A two-day season between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. is being allowed in regulated township areas of DURHAM, ONTARIO and those townships to the west as far as Lake Huron. In the extreme south-western portion of the province, including Welland and seven other townships, grouse shooting is prohibited.

• • • •

Squirrels, Rabbit, Hungarian Partridge

Now for black, grey and fox SQUIRRELS. Except for Bruce County, they may be taken for two days, Nov. 11 and 12, the bag limit five per day in the aggregate of all kinds.

A closed season on RABBIT has been established in Essex County until Nov. 4. In the seven counties at the eastern tip of the province, four HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGE may be taken per day on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1st, two days only. PHEASANTS may be taken on Peelee Island Oct. 27 and 28, ten cock birds and two hens for the two days. They may be also taken on the mainland of Southern Ontario, the nearest to home being regulated townships of Ontario and Durham on Nov. 4 and 5 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., daily bag limit of three cock pheasants.

Of Fish, and Men, and One Lady

Trout fishermen have had their fling for the season and on the night of Sept. 15 cased their rods, dried their lines and put their creels back on the cellar shelf. Muskie men are still at it in a big way and doing very well. Here are some of the more recent accounts: president of the Vermont Marble Company, A. T. Howe of Proctor, Vt., took no less than two 'lunge, a 12 and 21-pounder at Pigeon Lake while a guest at The Cedars....Mrs. Russell Wildman, 100 Morrow St., boated an 18-pounder on Lake Katchewanooka on Wednesday evening....G. Brockley, 55 Edgewater Blvd., a 24-pounder in Little Lake....R. M. Rice of Cleveland, guest of Keneden Lodge, Pigeon River, landed a 26-pounder and another the day before that scaled 13....Chemong Lake records three, Mr. and Mrs. B. Moren, Elliott Lodge, two 'lunge weighing 25½ and 10½ pounds, and Bert Buott, 294 Townsend St., a 17-pounder in the some locality.... Skip Hutchison of Chemong tried the Burleigh Channel and took a 27½-pound muskie in front of Gordon Fraser's cottage....Top of recent catches was a 30½-pounder, by resort owner Harold Russell. This big fellow was hooked with a silver flash in Crowe Lake. BASS seem to be tapering off but Alfred Lafave, 300 Braidwood Ave., caught a 5½-pound SM at Trent River with a cedar pole and six feet of cheap line....Bill Roche of Chemong caught a green in Fife's Bay weighing 5¼ pounds. Lack of scouts reports seems to have put Rice Lake out of the running lately; that we cannot believe.

FOR 29 YEARS A DIVER with the Trent Waterways, Sam Lowe, who lives on Mark Street, comes up from under Sturgeon Lake at Pleasant Point. LOWER RIGHT, Superintendent of the Trent System T. J. Ryan holds the leads as the diver emerges. UPPER RIGHT, there the diver is, ready to be helped out of his rubber suit and bronze hood and shoulder-plate. Note the belt at the waist with its pockets filled with lead weights. LEFT, Diver Lowe, helmet off, is revealed to be no Man from Mars. Two pairs of hands (it takes two men to dress and undress him) are about to lift off the shoulder plate. Mr. Lowe does not wear gloves while he works under water. His black rubber cuffs are kept tight to the wrist, to keep water out, by elastic rubber tubing. His iron diver's boots weigh fifteen pounds.

Diver Has Been Walking Under Trent Waters 29 Years

By ROBERT HATTON.

If you can work in the dark in a heavy cumbersome monkey suit under 30 or 40 feet of water, don't mind running the risk of being trapped by sucking black mud or having your suit ripped by a sharp rock or protruding spike and water rush in and drown you, then you are almost sure to like being a diver for the Trent Canal System like Sammy Lowe of Peterborough.

Mr. Lowe is a cheerful, lean wiry man with a tanned face whose 200-pound diving equipment weighs a good deal more than he does.

When just 21 he came back a veteran of World War I and went to work for the Trent Canal System as a diver and has been an underwater worker ever since.

In the 29 years since, he has been in every part of the canal's 240.56 miles from Trenton to the entrance to Georgian Bay near Port Severn. He has regularly inspected lock valves and gates and replaced or repaired them. He has examined wooden cribbing near locks and replaced sections of it and done 100 and one jobs which are liable to crop up at any time.

When there is nothing to be done for the moment under water he helps with the maintenance work above the surface. For instance Wednesday he was helping sprayers paint the Peterborough lift locks a bright silver.

About three weeks ago he was at Pleasant Point on Lake Scugog near Lindsay. The job was simple but important.

Wooden sheeting over the cribbing of the wharf there had pulled away over the years, but the spikes which had held it had remained and stuck out four or five inches, a menace to the many swimmers who used the wharf.

He went down below and drove the spikes in and eliminated the danger of some swimmer ripping himself open on one of them.

While working in the locks, he frequently goes 25 to 30 feet under the surface, but he often is asked to go deeper than that. One of his sidelines is finding outboard motors which have jumped off the back of a boat and sunk to a lake bottom 40 or 50 feet down.

When the Chemong floating bridge was in use, he never knew when he would be called on to go down after a car or truck which had slithered off the bridge through the guard rails and was sinking beyond reach in the mud.

The last thing he located and helped to haul out was a transport trailer and truck.

"You couldn't leave a car laying on the bottom of Chemong long, or it would be swallowed up by the mud," he commented "But I guess I won't have any more to do out there now that the causeway is built." There is still the floating bridge at Gannon's Narrows which might at any time send a car skidding into the water.

Mr. Lowe has been lucky, he says, with no serious accidents in the hundreds of hours he has spent underwater. He has had his heavy canvas suit punctured by a spike from time to time, but the air pressure inside the suit has been great enough to keep the water out.

One of the strangest experiences he had was that he was nearly knocked off his feet one day by what he thinks was a monster maskinonge.

He had gone into a long tunnel at one of the locks to inspect a valve. As he neared the end, he suddenly received a smash on the left thigh. It was too dark for him to see, but he figures if the fish had hit his metal helmet, he could have given the neighborhood a fine fish dinner.

He often sees bass which fishermen would give a lot to hook. Bass are not frightened away when he descends and in fact follow him around like chickens hoping to be fed. The reason is that often the bass are being fed.

If he is overturning rocks or pulling away old rotting boards, crawfish by the dozens scoot out from under them and provide choice morsels for hungry bass.

Pickerel and muskies aren't interested and stay away.

Although Mr. Lowe has been with the Trent Canal System all these years, he has been lent out on one occasion. When a fresh water air base was being built for the RCAF at Goose Bay, Labrador, Mr. Lowe helped to build it.

Mr. Lowe worked alone during the war. A young veteran of the navy, Freddy James, who was a deep sea diver during the war, has been added to the permanent staff to help keep the canal system in first class shape all the time.

Londoner Asks New Monument

A Londoner wants a monument. He is from London, England, not London, Ontario, and it is not a Queen Victoria bronze he would raise.

The Londoner is a Church of England clergyman who deplores the lack of a memorial tribute to Dick Whittington, the man who had the cat and reached fortune and fame and the Lord Mayoralty.

Plans to excavate in search of Dick Whittington's tomb, believed to be lying under the north wall of St. Michael Paternoster Royal Church in the city of London, are being made by a band of people headed by 81-year-old Canon J. A. Douglas.

The church was originally built on the site in 1321. During Dick Whittington's term of office as first lord mayor of London he lived next door and was buried under the north wall.

In time he came to be regarded as a saint and people made pilgrimages from all over England to touch the tomb in the hope of being cured of diseases. The authorities, however, frowned on this custom and an organ was built over the tomb.

Canon Douglas, one-time professor at London University, is anxious to bring the tomb to light.

"It is remarkable that there is not one monument in London to a man who might be called the father of the city of London," he said. "If our plan is successful I should like to see some sort of monument erected—a beautiful garden or a great picture—to make the church one of London's historical sights."

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Li'l Arthur King, British Empire lightweight champion from Toronto, Friday night won a unanimous 10-round decision from Alfredo Prada, a newcomer from Argentina in one of three feature bouts at New York's Madison Square Garden. King scaled 135½ and Prada 136½.

Hoots from the gallery greeted the decision. Some fans thought Prada's closing surge earned him the nod.

The 22-year-old King landed a stunning left hook flush on the button of the South American early in the second round. Down he went but he bounced up at the count of seven by referee Teddie Martin.

King was guilty of hitting and holding in the third and fourth rounds, snaking his long right around Prada's head to work on his body with a left hook.

The knockdown and the wide early lead did the trick for King, a tricky warrior out of Blinky Palermo's Philadelphia stable which also includes the world lightweight king, Ike Williams.

Pittsburgh Hornets carried too much sting for Springfield Indians Friday night, defeating Springfield 8-2 at Barrie, in their first pre-season exhibition game.

Eddie Daoust, former Glace Bay miner goalie, is playing pro hockey for the first time as a hurried replacement in the Hornet nets. He was offered the job when Baz Bastien's eye injury and Harvie Howie's retirement, brought about by a skin ailment, left the Pittsburgh without a goalie.

Whether or not Daoust stays between the Hornet pipes depends largely on the showing he makes in the pre-season exhibition tour.

The baseball players' pension fund got $101,807 out of the all-star game this year, Walter Mulbry, administrator, announced on Friday at Cincinnati.

The game was played at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, July 12, and was won by the American League team.

Mulbry said $66,807 went into the fund from ticket sales and $35,000 from radio broadcasting rights. The gross ticket sale was $79,225.

At St. Louis, Fran Stranahan, 1946 champion, was forced to the limit Friday in beating John Jacobs of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 1-up while two other favorites fell in quarter-finals of the Western Amateur Golf tournament.

Dick Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., a former United States amateur titlist, lost to former Illinois State champion James Frisina, Taylorville, Ill., 2 and 1.

Hord Hardin, of St. Louis upset Jim McHale, Philadelphia, a finalist last year 2 and 1.

Detroit Red Wings showed too much polish around the net for Cleveland Barons at Brandon on Friday night as they defeated the American Hockey League Club 8-4 in an exhibition match before 3,000 fans.

Chief scout Les Cook of the Barons meantime announced the team has signed a defenceman Joe Crozie and Steve Kraftcheck.

Last season, Crozie was a member of Brandon Wheat Kings, dominion junior finalists. Kraftcheck played with San Francisco Shamrocks of the Pacific Coast Circuit.

At Washington the National Aeronautic Association's contest board Friday deferred decision on whether to discontinue free-for-all air speed contests or move them to isolated places.

The question of modifying or isolating high-speed air races was raised after a plane flown in the Labor Day Thompson Trophy classic at Cleveland crashed into a Berea, Ohio, home killing pilot Bill Odom and a mother and her infant son who were in the house.

At Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., the Detroit Red Wings training camp, which started out with 100 players early this month, Friday was cut to 54.

Three juniors were sent to Fort William, where they will play for the junior B Hurricane Rangers. They are Dave Gatherum, a goalie, Alex Irving and Del Vecchi.

ONE DIDN'T SCORE.—Marty Marion, of the St. Louis Cardinals, is tagged out at home by Brooklyn Dodger catcher Roy Campanella in the first inning of the game in St. Louis. Marion, who was on second, tried to score on Stan Musial's double, but was thrown out by right fielder Carl Furillo. The Cardinals drew first blood in the crucial series, squeezing home a fluke run in the ninth to win, 1-0. The umpire is Bill Stewart.

Label Richard Man To Watch With Canadiens

By W. R. WHEATLEY.

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Sept. 24 — (CP). — A quiet tip-off to five managers of National Hockey League clubs. Your usual exhortation to "Watch Richard" had better be doubly emphasized this season. From the form he has shown in training camp, the Rocket has kept up with the times and now is jet-propelled.

No less an authority than Coach Dick Irvin will tell you that Maurice Richard is stick-handling better and controlling the puck better than he has for a couple of seasons.

What is more, Elmer Lach, the Rocket's old line mate, is right back in form. You can judge Richard's form by the training season record. In practice games he has scored 13 goals in a week. Last year he did not score a goal until the day before the club broke camp. Lach also has counted 13 and so has Adjutor Cote, the hustling centre up from Sherbrooke Senior Saints.

The intra-squad rivalry, something that is no joke in this camp, produced an 11-7 victory yesterday for the White team over the Reds.

Although there was a let-down in the latter part of the session when goals began coming thick and fast, there was every indication the boys are fast reaching peak condition. Lach and Billy Reay, two of the best centremen in the league, flared into a jousting, shoving, swing threatening match that big Butch Bouchard ended by placing himself between the two.

Coach Irvin cut the squad on Friday, releasing players who have helped out at camp but were expected to be dropped.

Homer Lundy Prexy City Carpetball Loop

Homer Lundy was re-elected president of the City Carpetball League at the annual meeting in the Legion Hall. George Fulbrooke is vice-president, and George Gimblett, Jr., the secretary-treasurer. The resignation of Secretary George Groombridge was accepted with regret. He was active in that office for 20 years but pressure of business forbade his return.

The following 1948-49 winners were declared: Hope Trophy for the league schedule—LOL No. 3: G. Foster, S. Cummings, W. Wilson, N. Lowes and H. Lundy. Bleasdell Shield—Treasurer No. 1: J. Wilson, T. Nice, D. Bartley, A. Sims and G. Gimblett. Third place—BESL No. 5: W. Gracie, P. McLean, A. Robinson and A. Ralston. Elsie Bennett Trophy for high average outside of prize winners—SOE No. 2: G. Palmer, A. Price, R. Hocking, F. Leather and T. Parsons. President's Cup—Treasurers No. 1: J. Wilson, T. Nice, D. Bartley, A. Sims and G. Gimblett. Runners-up—Glens No. 7. G. Fulbrooke, V. Read, O. Malley, H. Clapham and J. Douglas. Gracie Memorial Doubles—T. J. Parsons and A. Bromley: J. Douglas and P. Cahagan.

The league will run a raffle for a mantel radio, draw on Dec. 21, and the President's Cup and M. Gracie Memorial Doubles will be started right after Christmas. Entries so far: LOL, Quaker Oats, St. George's, BESL No. 1 and No. 2, Glens, Big Bens and J. Cullen's team. Unheard from were: SOE, Woollens, Fire Hall, All Saints, Card and Paper, Knox Men's, Navy, Hasty P's and Post Office. Others are welcome, also, with entries in to the secretary at 5432 by Oct. 3. Another meeting will be held Friday, Oct. 7, at 8 p.m., the place to be announced in the press shortly.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Another week to go in September, and then the puck season is practically upon us. Almost before summer sports are completely washed out, and smack in the middle of the grid campaign. Yeah, the summer and winter sports seasons are growing longer year by year, what with floodlights, artificial ice, and that old box-office appeal. Little or no layoff now in the autumn or spring. Ball teams in autumn playoffs frequently are shorthanded with players away trying out with the bigger puck squads. This year-around athletic merry-go-round is a bit rugged on fans' wallets, and rather grim also on sports scribes.

Soccer fans can see an outstanding playoff at three this aft in King Edward Park. The Kingston Uniteds, boasting a pair of ace wings, meet CGE in the return of goals-to-count semi-finals for the Ontario cup. Local footballers are down three but hope to get those back on home terrain. If tied at the end, they'll play an extra 20-minute period and, if still drawn, will resume until a goal is scored. Just three subs allowed, reporting to Referee Tom Garland, who was appointed by the association secretary. Electrics have drilled hard all week for this big one.

Senior Ballsters Play

Weather permitting today, Toronto Uniques and the Petes clash at three in Riverside in the second of their best-of-three OBA senior "B" playdowns. Petes took the first behind Bill Edger's one-hit hurling chore in Toronto, and either Edger or Lefty Dadson will throw this afternoon for the Murphyites. If a third tilt is required, the clubs will probably toss for the grounds. It is thought this is a semi-final series, bu the Petes are uncertain (if they take it) whether to continue into finals or not, owing to hefty expenses. Club officials say they won't operate another year unless under floodlights here. Today's game should draw a hefty gallery.

Bands will play, ribbons will stream in the breeze, fair cheer-leaders will cavort before noisy students, and lo, the PCVS grid season will open tonight at Morrow Park. Yes, ma'am, and you, sir, it's school football time again. Toronto Riverdale Collegiate juniors and seniors play the local PCIers (junior and senior COSSA champs) at 6.30 and 8.30 tonight there under the arcs in exhibitions to start the rugby semester. Colorful play and a blazing and blasting background as young spirits soar high at this time of year, and old grads come out to revive memories and see wide-open football frays. A swell setup.

An Odd Sort Of A Squad

The Panthers do the oddest things. They pick typically "panther weather" to come up with their best game of the season. Before barely 300 fans, counting the next of kin, they whitewashed Oshawa Red Raiders 9-0 here last eve on a wet gridiron. Why couldn't they have played like this before nearly 4,000 fans in the opener? That will always be a mystery to us. Also, why didn't they postpone last night's game when it was raining hard all day until next week, since they now have lights? Anyway, they struck savagely to gain a 7-0 lead early in the first quarter and the whole squad went well the rest of the route to stave off the Oshawa raids and earn the duke in a good showing.

Men's five-pin City Bowling League opened with a bang —many bangs, in fact—at Duffus' this week as the long trundling season got under way. Fashion-Crafts started strongly to roll high team total of 3619, with McGillis close behind with 3605 on the books. Bond's had the best single team effort with a 1321 smash. Joe Denault led individuals in threesomes with a right respectable 896, including a brace of 338-322 singles, but Fred Willison topped 'em all for single tries with his 354 roll. Five other chaps smeared the maples for better than 300, so it looks like a hefty season for the male keglers and a busy time for the pin boys.

Buffalo Raps Montreal 9-3 In First Tilt

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP) —Buffalo Bisons, with Gene Markland and Cy Block setting the pace, are hot on the trail of their first International League championship in 13 years.

The pennant-winning Bisons rapped four Montreal pitchers for 15 hits Friday night to take the first of the best-of-seven final playoffs 9-3.

Clem Housmann will be the Bisons' hope on the mound tonight in the second game of the series. Don Bankhead is the likely starter for the Royals.

Markland paced the Bisons' attack Friday night with a brace of homers and a double in four trips. Both home runs came off Montreal starter John Van Cuyk. The first with the bases empty in the first inning. The second came with two aboard in the fourth.

Block came through with a home run and three singles in five trips.

Saul Rogovin went the route for Buffalo to continue his Indian sign on the Royals. It was the sixth time he had beaten them this year.

Panthers Defeat Oshawa By 9-0 Count In ORFU Tilt

The Panthers blanked Oshawa Red Raiders 9-0 at Morrow Park last night to stay in the ORFU running. The game started half an hour late on a wet gridiron before some 300 fans but the locals turned in their best efforts so far this season. They led 7-0 in the first quarter, striking fast to gain that early margin, and they staved off repeated Raiders' thrusts and wound up with a 2-0 edge in the final frame.

Mixing their plays well, and showing strength along the line on charging and blocking, the Panthers turned in their best effort so far. They took few chances on the attack after an early lead, but were solid on defence, though three times the Raiders were almost over their goal-line. It was a good game all the way, despite several puddles of water on the gridiron and a slippery ball, with few fumbles noted.

Panthers cashed in right off the bat on their chances with seven points in the first five minutes. Conlin's 25-yard run around end early in the game set Mafthews up for a point on a kick. Shortly after that, Jim Conlin intercepted a forward pass by the Raiders to run at least 30 yards for a touchdown before the fans were really settled in their seats. Garvey kicked the convert. Plunkett and Garvey later made good gains as play moved up and down in the slippery going, an Oshawa 20-yard penalty hurting their chances toward the finish of the heat.

There wasn't a point counted the next two quarters as play moved up and down. It was pretty even in the second with Scriver matching Ellis on hoofs, and Garvey and Brodie both having good runbacks. Matthews got around end once for eight but later a Panther blocked kick gave them trouble. A Brodie to Luke forward clicked and they rode right up to the Petes' five-yard chalk before a penalty hit them and then a pass was knocked down, their last pass at the whistle being a bit short.

Nothing much happened in the third but kicking exchanges, nearly all in the Panthers' end as Oshawa pressed hard but couldn't break their rivals' forward wall. Matthews had a good runback and later an end run, while Brodie flipped one pass to Ellis as the quarter ended. Early in the fourth, Conlin threw a pass to McGillis, who ran 35 yards to put Panthers in position for Matthews' kick for a point. A Conlin-Matthews pass clicked later, and Beatty recovered a fumble. Forward passes missed as Oshawa drove again, with Sabanski getting yards once on a plunge. Matthews intercepted a forward toward the end of the game and he kicked the final point.

The teams:

Oshawa—Flying wing, Sabanski; halves, Ellis, Brodie, Filpowsicz; quarter, Hodgson; snap, Anderson; insides, Grice, Freeman; middles, Bouckley, Lawson, outsides, Armstrong, Luke; alternates, Jones, Zakaro, Fairhart Krawec; Green, Lyzun, Smegal, James, Siblock, Murphy, Wilson, Almond, Dionne, Howie.

Panthers—Flying wing, Hodson; halves, Plunkett, Conlin, Scriver; quarter, Garvey; snap, Hill; insides, Trimm, Masters; middles, Beatty, Farr; outsides, Davidson, McGillis; alternates, Miller. Board, Rush, Fraser, Moore, Stewart, Burns, VanAllen, Thompson, Matthews, Russelle, Lynch, Bartley, Spencely.

Referee, C. Hiltz; umpire, R. McComb; head linesman, K. McLaren.

ALL-STAR END — Playing his third season with the Big Four Montreal Alouettes, Ralph Toohey, brilliant 22-year-old end, is looking ahead to another great football season. The Montreal-born player was last year's All-Canadian end.

3 Famous Ballet Companies To Perform In New York

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(CP)—Trio of renowned ballet companies is about all that is keeping the New York stage on the entertainment map these days.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, headed by the dazzling Alexandra Danilova, is at the Metropolitan Opera House for a two-week stand. Britain's celebrated Sadler's Wells Ballet Company follows on Oct. 9 for a four-week stay. And France is sending a company of 40 members of Les Ballets de Paris which will bow in Oct. 6 for an indefinite run at the National Theatre.

The Ballet Russe, as versatile as ever, drew an enthusiastic audience for its opening performance, including a premiere for the company of "The Mute Wife."

The company has one Canadian among its dancers. Bob Lindgren of Victoria, Patricia Wilde of Ottawa, who was with the Ballet Russe during its New York engagement last autumn, left it during the summer and now is in Europe.

Bleak Outlook

But while Balletomanes are getting a feast, followers of the drama are finding the pickings slim. The only new show to arrive this month was Ken Murray's "Blackouts," a patchy vaudeville melange. Returning to the boards were "As the Girls Go," with Bobby Clark as exuberant as ever; "Anne of the Thousand Days," and Mae West in "Diamond Lil." In all there are only 17 plays and musicals running at present.

"That Lady"

Katherine Cornell and her company began rehearsals this week for "That Lady," a play by Kate O'Brien in which the distinguished actress will portray Ana de Mendoza, a one-eyed princess who caused some ructions at the court of Philip II. The play starts a five-week try-out tour in Buffalo Oct. 19 and will be presented in Toronto, Cleveland and Detroit before opening here late in November.

Yanks Divide Twin Bill Cards Ahead Half Game

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York Yankees, showing signs of weariness, today enter the lair of their only roadblock to the American League pennant—Boston Red Sox.

Joe McCarthys' Red Sox, riding the crest of a seven-game winning streak, trail the Yankees, who have lost two out of their last three starts to second-division clubs, by two games.

Following their two-game clash in Boston, the two contenders will met again in New York Monday to play off a previously-postponed game.

Should the Yankees take both games it would virtually assure them the flag as they would enjoy a four-game lead with only six games to play.

Meanwhile St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers resume their pennant bids in the National League.

The Cardinals, leading the Dodgers by half a game, entertain the last-place Chicago Cubs in a night game while the Dodgers play host to the third-place Philadelphia Phils under the lights at Ebbets Field.

St. Louis, Brooklyn and the entire National League was idle on Friday.

Divide Twin Bill

The Yanks divided a double-header with the last-place Washington Senators, losing the 10-inning opener 9-8, but bouncing back to take the nightcap 7-1 The second game was called after seven innings because of darkness.

The Senators made five runs in the seventh to snap a 1-1 tie and take a 6-1 lead in the first game. The Yanks came right back for seven runs in the eighth to grab a 8-6 advantage.

Lefty Joe Page came on to protect the lead but he failed Page, making his 57th appearance of the season, went down to his seventh defeat while Hudson picked up his seventh victory compared to 17 setbacks.

The Yankees went to town early in the nightcap, scoring twice in the first round on three Washington errors. Fred Sanford, a $100,000 disappointment, throttled Washington on four hits in bagging his seventh victory.

Two night games were played in the American League. Virgil Trucks turned in his 19th victory as he pitched Detroit Tigers to a five-hit 5-0 victory over Cleveland. Chicago White Sox downed St. Louis Browns 4-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Randy Gumpert.

Seeking To Make Prophecies Intelligible And Helpful

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

During coming weeks many Sunday Schools will be studying lessons in the Prophets, particularly in Isaiah and Jeremiah. Many readers of this column are not in Sunday Schools, and the comment offered here will not be directed to particular lessons, but rather with the purpose of making the prophecies intelligible and helpful, through presenting their setting and background, their significance for their own time, and their permanent value and teaching for us. Such background preparation is essential for intelligent study. This comment many therefore be helpful for teachers and scholars, as well as for general readers of the Bible.

No one can read much in the ancient prophecies of Israel without realizing that they present many difficulties in understanding and interpretation. This is not surprising, for [illegible] scholars have spent lifetimes in the most meticulous examination of every word and reference, and the widely varied and conflicting conclusions to which they have come only emphasize the difficulties of the average reader.

It would be impossible to deal here to any extent with these conclusions and disputations, but in the midst of obscurities and controversial matters, many clear and outstanding things appear. It is these, after all, that are most important, and because of these that the prophecies have lived; and it is with these that we shall chiefly deal.

A prevalent view of the prophets has been that they were foretellers, or predicters, of things to come. More widely today is the tendency to think of them as foretellers, as preachers to their own age and time. It is my own view that they were foretellers, as well as forthtellers, but I disagree with those who see in the Hebrew prophecies a plan of all the ages, a foretelling of what has been in history and of what is yet to be.

It is questionable whether the prophets had any such miraculous foreknowledge, or revelation into the far distant future What they possessed, rather, was an understanding of cause and effect in the moral and spiritual realm, and in the affairs of men and nations, akin to the scientist's appraisal of causes and forces in the physical world.

When they saw Israel neglecting God's call, turning to ways of idolatry permitting and practicing social evils and injustices, they knew that disaster and judgment were sure to follow. And they were bold and courageous in raising their voices in warning and in exhortation, though their message was not popular, and too often brought upon them persecution, imprisonment and death.

No people at any time, including peoples of today, have ever been willing to face unupleasant facts. It is easier to gloss them over with easy and pretentious optimism. It is here that the great prophets have still for today their messages of warning and judgment. I hope to bring something of this to bear upon the issues and problems of our own time, and our modern democracies.

The prophets of Israel dealt with the situations, issues, and problems that in some form or other beset all nations and peoples of every time.

Christian Religion, A Belief In Christ The Son Of God

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus said: I am come down from Heaven to do the will of Him that sent me.—St. John 6: 28.

The new Teacher, Jesus of Nazareth, was deeply moved because the religious teachers did not accept Him. His claims were too upsetting. They murmured at Him and became His bitterest enemies. Can you blame them when you read this clear claim: "I am come down from heaven to do the will of Him that sent Me." All through the centuries men have opposed Him on the ground that He claimed too much. A wonderful Teacher but not the Son of God. Yet it is a statement the Church taught and suffered fearfully for this teaching. "The noble army of martyrs" sprang from them. Some of you are familiar with this confession:—"Who, for us men and our salvation, came down from heaven and was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary and was made MAN."

It is a tremendous claim, which multitudes reject that it is too much to accept and that this teaching makes for division among decent people creating intolerance. Yet it is an essential claim. To deny it is to strike at the very root of Christianity.

Perhaps you have heard that this teaching is contrary to the truths of the first three evangelicals: Matthew, Mark and Luke. Ponder upon these words from St. Matthews 11: 25 to 27:—"At that time Jesus answered and said:— "I thank Thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent and hast revealed them unto babes. Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Thy sight. All things are delivered unto Me of My Fther; and no man knoweth the Son but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father but the Son and He to whomsoever He shall reveal Him." You will find these words repeated word for word in St. Luke 10: 21. These verses speak of the unusual relationship between the Father and the Son, which is the key of St. John's teaching.

The High priest laid Our Lord upon oath:— "I adjure Thee by the living God that Thou tell us whether Thou be the Christ, the Son of God." Jesus said unto him: Thou hast said. He makes His official claim before the High priest of His nation. He can do no less.

When the legal charges before Pilate failed, the Priests brought forward the charge on which they condemned Him. "We have a law and by that law He ought to die because He made Himself the Son of God." The Christian religion is not primarily a set of rules but a belief in a Person, that Jesus Christ is the son of God who came down from heaven.

THOU ART THE CHRIST THE SON OF THE LIVING GOD. THANKS BE, O LORD.

Laymen Plan To Conduct 3 Services

Laymen members of St. George's Anglican Church will take over and conduct the services Sept. 25 and Oct. 2 while their minister, Rev. E. C. Moore looks on.

For the services of Sept. 25, Joseph Gaskell will conduct the prayers in the morning and Arthur Green in the evening. The morning lesson will be read by Thomas Westwood, and the evening by Roy Shouldice. Walter Bannon will give the address in the morning and Clarence Harloff give the evening address.

For the evening service of Oct. 2, Rev. E. C. Moore will say the prayers, with Wally White reading the lesson and Captain Philip Sargeant making the address.

Wants Authority Set Up To Check Trent Pollution

Establishment of an authority to prevent pollution of the waters of the Trent system as the population of the area increases, was suggested today by Vincent Eastwood.

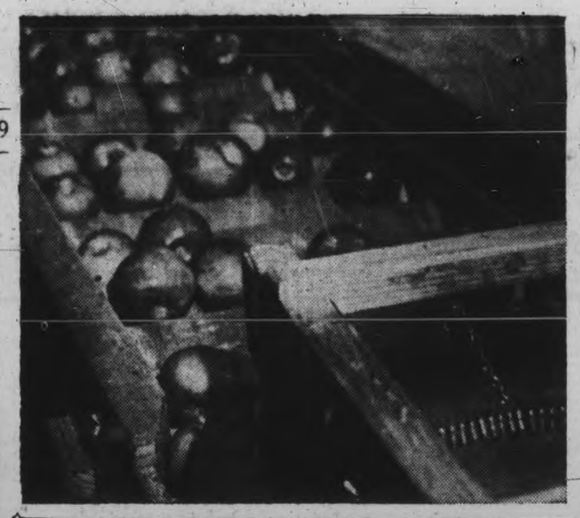
"The importance of such a project grows steadily, and the longer it is delayed, the greater will be the cost," Mr. Eastwood said.

"In view of the increasing population of the Trent watershed area, there appears to be a demand for speedy action looking towards a permanent authoritative organization whose responsibility would be to establish a system of survey and continuity of inspection," Mr. Eastwood commented to the Examiner.

"Such an organization would likely call for a substantial and continued program of publicity. It should be possible to set up an authority or commission with contributing support of all municipalities throughout the area, at a minimum of expense."

Peterborough To Lead

Mr. Eastwood suggested that Peterborough, as the largest municipality along the Trent route, should take the lead in considering the increasing necessity of maintaining the waters as free as possible from contamination from urban centres and other sources.



Other towns that should be concerned about the protection of the water were: Lindsay, the home town of Premier Frost, Lakefield, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Campbellford, and others of the north and western sections of the Trent system.

Mr. Eastwood said nothing was to be gained by postponement of concerted action. Valuable time could be lost by delay in recognizing that the comparative purity of the lakes and rivers comprising the Trent chain was an asset that should be safeguarded as much as possible.

Urban populations were gradually increasing throughout the country, and Central Ontario was sharing in that growth.

The first step, Mr. Eastwood said, was to recognize that there was a new water problem which would obviously be aggravated unless effective measures were taken to prevent it.

APPLE HARVESTING on the farm of G. Norman Moncrief on Highway 28 three miles southwest of Peterborough is now in full operation. Apple Grower Instals His Own Cold Storage Plant

By HARRY THEOBALD.

Norman Moncrief's bow-bending crop of apples is piling up in barrels and hampers in a new cold storage plant on his farm in North Monaghan, on the slope of "water trough" hill, west of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

Mr. Moncrief is the only orchardist in Peterborough County, and probably north of Rice Lake. Once upon a time many of the farms in this district allotted at least one field to orchard use, and their fruit was included in exports to the British market. That was in the simple years before pests and diseases began to appear out of the air, attacking trees and fruit until horticulture developed new methods of combat and protection, chiefly in sprays, without which there is today no survival for a profitable fruit industry.

Friends of G. N. Moncrief will dismiss entirely his remark that he is the sole survivor of other local generations of orchardists because he was the only one "crazy enough to stay in the business." That's so much sauce, apple or rhubarb.

If that tree-straining crop, and Mr. Moncrief says it is not the heaviest he has picked, is a sign of some mental aberration, there must be a lot of folks hereabouts willing to trade him their wisdom.

Plenty of Varieties

The early varieties of Moncrief apples are gone since mid-summer: Wealthies, Yellow Transparents, Duchess, Peerless and Red Astrakhans. The fall fruit in the sloping fields are: McIntosh Reds, Delicious, Baxters, Talman Sweets, Greenings, Northern Spies and Starks.

The owner's estimate of the crop is roughly between 600 and 700 barrels. To the uninitiated scanning the rows of trees with limbs reaching down to earth for support, it looks like many barrels more than the 65 capacity of the cold storage room that is ready for its first fragrant filling.

The mechanics of getting apples to market free from blemish includes a grading and polishing machine that has seen other seasons of use. Its purpose is to cull the fruit for uniformity. The polishing part puts a high shine on the rich coloring of the McIntoshes and Baxters.

New Storage Plant

The new cold storage room is automatically kept chilled to required temperature, close to the freezing point. Its refrigerating plant is operated by electricity. The grader-polisher turns out the finished product. More important in the early stage of blossom time and subsequently as the fruit emerges sets and sizes is the spraying outfit. Some of the trees get ten sprays, the last on August 5 this season, indicating that after the bees and the winds of Maytime have done their job of pollenization the orchardist cannot retire to hammock in the shade with a jug of hard cider in reach.

Mr. Moncrief excavated a pond on his garden slope, hard by the orchard. It is fed from springs above, a handy way of getting water for his sprayer. A little glamorizing with plastic and tiling would readily convert that pond into a swimming pool. Its dimensions invite the Hollywood luxury.

Loaded as are the trees, Mr. Moncrief says the crop represents about 1-25 of the flowering. He applied this year a thinning preparation that snuffs out most of the buds in the white and pink clusters, concentrating sap into approximately one fruit instead of distributing it in nature's extravagant way among the whole twenty-five in the group.

That central bud may be a little sturdier than the others, or may be pollenized more quickly. Whatever the exact explanation, the prospective fecundity of the trees is greatly reduced.

Works Both Ways

When the season is advancing into fall, the same thinning substance becomes a final spray to keep the fruit from falling off. Mr. Moncrief says it helps materially in preventing loss from winds. Manifestly this thinning mixture works both ways. It follows three preceding sprays that are aimed at scab infestation and apple maggot.

Moncrief apples have a long established demand in Peterborough. Usually they get an earlier frosting than the trees along the Lake Ontario front. Even the difference of 35 miles to the north is believed to improve their flavor and for many years they have rated in texture and sweet juices with any other apples sold here. That is a moderate comparison.

The orchards out on the western hillside are a show place in their spring bloom. The same trees that were so gay and fragrant of flower in May are now misshapen with their burden of fruit. Some of the branches have been propped up, so heavy is the ripe crop.

Incidentally, the Moncrief farm is enriched with long horizons far off in the sector of the sunrise. Combined with that potential swimming pool—but this apple-picking story is beginning to take on a realty turn. And it is altogether likely that Mr. Moncrief is thoroughly satisfied with his solitary orchard estate, with its bordering farms of such common stuff as corn, timothy and alfalfa.

City Purchases Industrial Site

City council has bought for $6,000 an industrial site on the west side of Erskine Ave, opposite Grove School.

The recommendation of the manufacturers committee, presented by Ald. Dick Raine, chairman, was: "That the city take up the option secured by the city clerk from Russell and Laura G. Elvidge to purchase as an industrial site, all of lots 20 and 30, plan 34Q, approximately 20 acres, located partly in the city and partly in North Monaghan, except a part of the said property at the northeast end, measuring 100 ft. frontage on Erskine Ave. and 150 feet flankage on Cameron St."

PENSIONS APPLICATIONS

Applications were completed by the welfare committee of the council in August for 14 old age pensions and two mothers' allowances.

Hope To Replace Fountain By Something More Modern

Now that the Queen Victoria statue in Dublin has lost its attraction for Peterburians, attention is once more focused on repairing the fountain in Victoria Park. And if present plans go through, a new fountain—this time with water—will be operating by late Spring.

An informal meeting Friday afternoon under the chairmanship of Alderman Herbert Young came to this conclusion after a 30-minute conference.

Planned is a sightly fountain with the same cast-iron column being re-used, but topped with an ornamental figure, preferably human but not necessarily female. The vast rock pile now forming the base will be dragged away and a cement pool for children to wade in will be substituted.

If possible lights will be installed to add to the aesthetic appeal after dusk.

Cost Is $500

Property owners who customarily groan at unforseen civic expenditure need only emit a sigh of relief this time, the committee reports; for the total cost is set at $500.

Not only that but it is hoped that after the County Council takes a peek at the blue print it will contribute a few dollars toward the beautification of the park.

(At the last meeting of the County Council the city was granted permission to repair or replace the fountain in Victoria Park, but there was no offer of financial aid. The property remains that of the county so long as it is used as a park).

A new pipe will be sunk down the centre of the column and it will be linked up with the water line on Water St. Both the Utilities and the Parks Department are not sure of just how the fountain worked many years ago, but they expect to unravel the mystery when the present structure is torn down.

(As a matter of interest they wanted to know if any reader of the Examiner had an old postcard or photo of the present fountain in working order. Despite the active interest shown by several Water St. residents in the rejuvenation of this landmark, members of the committee seemed unaware of its history.)

Armar Butcher of the Parks Dept. said he would demolish the old fountain this Fall, preserving if possible the old column for future re-assembling.

The short meeting concluded with a general discussion of bizarre fountains found in European centres somewhat less inhibited than Peterborough.

ONLY TIES BURNING

An alarm was phoned into the Fire Department Friday afternoon that a box car was burning on the CNR tracks near Auburn and Dunlop Sts. When firemen investigated they found it was only section men burning some railroad ties.

Canada Packers Honors Seven Employees

Five employees of Canada Packers Limited were received into the Quarter Century Club of the plant at a dinner Friday evening in the Kawartha room of the Empress Hotel.

They were: William Clarke, Fred Doig, Graham Eastwood, Tom Foster and George Siddall. They were presented with membership pins and cheques for $30.

The occasion also recognized the longer service of Amos Rishea and Frank LaFave, whom have attained 50 years in the employ of the company. Each received an engraved gold watch, chain and knife, in recognition of their many years with the company.

Al Wade, president of the Quarter - Century Club, was chairman of the dinner and its following program. The employees were accompanied by their wives each of whom, before dinner, received a corsage bouquet, pinned in place by Miss Loretta Booth and Mrs. G. S. Matthews.

Entertainment after dinner for the 110 guests included vocal solos by Miss Helen Hajnik, tricks of illusion by Robert Hardie and community singing led by Tom Pritchard.

Car Hits Hydro Pole

About $700 damage was caused to the car of Leonard Schroeder of 645 Logan Ave., Toronto, early Friday night, when it skidded on No. 7 Highway and crashed into a hydro pole. The driver escaped without injury.

The accident occurred about three miles east of Havelock when the car skidded on the wet pavement. It plunged into the ditch and then struck the pole.

Provincial Constable E. G. Patterson investigated.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

ELECT PRESIDENT

President of the Girls' Athletic Association for 1949-50 at PCVS will be Mary Braund. Other officers elected this week to the executive by the girls of the school were: Betty Jaquith, vice-president; Mary Franks, secretary; Joyce Moore, treasurer.

FIRED BY ASHES

When some red hot ashes were taken from a stove at the residence of Clarence King, Chamberlain St., and thrown into a wooden shed, Friday morning, the shed began to burn. Firemen used a hand pump to extinguish the blaze. Small damage was reported.

PIPES OVERHEATED

Cooler weather on Friday meant that many residences in the city were burning fuel. Firemen went to the Children's Shelter on Princess St. in the morning when a case of overheated pipes was reported. The staff at the Shelter took the matter into their own hands, however, by using an extinguisher to remove the threat of fire. There was slight damage to one wall. A flooded oil heater at the residence of Mrs. M. Edwards, Dublin St., at night caused firemen to make another run. An extinguisher was not used.

Two Small Girls Hurt During Rain Storm

Two children were knocked down, but only slightly hurt when hit by a car driven by J. E. Sullivan, 468 Gilmour St., at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer Sts. about seven p.m. Friday.

Sullivan reported to police it was raining at the time and as he turned off Aylmer onto Charlotte, the two girls, carrying an umbrella ran across from the north to the south-east corner in front of his car. He knocked them both down, but apparently the children were not hurt badly.

Judith Nolan, nine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nolan, 338 Stewart St., received a bump on the head and is being taken to the hospital for X-rays today. Marie Dorris, seven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Dorris, 189 King St., had a cut on the side of the head and a skinned knee.

Trains Return On Sunday Winter Schedule

When part of the country goes back on Standard Time Sunday, but Peterborough remains on Daylight Time the trains will make a few changes, but the bus services to and from the city will keep to the schedule on which they have been running.

Most of the changes will occur in CPR train times to and from Peterborough. Only change in the CNR times will be in the train which has been leaving Peterborough for Belleville each night at 7:45 Standard Time. Monday it will begin to leave here at 8:50 p.m. Standard Time.

The CPR fall and winter schedule which goes into effect Sunday is on Standard Time which means for Peterborough residents the trains will move on times one hour later than shown here).

Westbound: the early morning train leaves Peterborough 4:55 a.m. daily arriving in Toronto 7:10 a.m.

The morning local leaves at 7:10 a.m. daily except Sunday, arriving at Toronto 9:15 a.m.

Mixed train for Bobcaygeon leaves at 10:10 a.m. daily except Sunday arriving in Lindsay at 12:02 noon and at Bobcaygeon at 1.15 p.m.

Afternoon express leaves Peterborough at 5:10 p.m. arriving at Toronto 7:30 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Sunday afternoon train leaves Peterborough at 5:30 p.m. arriving at Toronto at 7:55 p.m. Sunday only.

Eastbound: Noon express leaves Toronto at 9:30 a.m. daily except Sunday; leaves Peterborough 11:40 a.m. arriving at Ottawa at 5:35 p.m. and at Montreal at 7:30 p.m.

Evening local leaves Toronto at 6:30 p.m. arriving in Peterborough at 8:40 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Midnight express leaves Toronto at 11:30 p.m. arriving in Peterborough at 1:35 a.m.; arrives in Ottawa at 7:20 a.m. and in Montreal at 10:15 a.m. daily.

Sunday morning train leaves Toronto at 9 a.m. arriving in Peterborough at 11:20 a.m. and in Havelock at 12:05 noon, Sunday only.

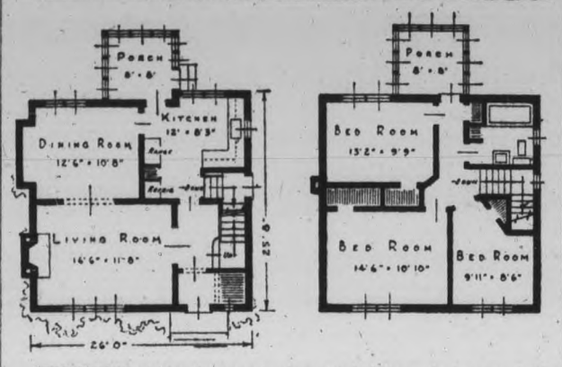
Quality, Numbers Exceed Previous Records At Fair

APSLEY, Sept. 24 (ENS). — Despite inclement weather, Coe Hill had a splendid fair and attendance was good. Exhibits in every class far exceeded previous years both in number and quality.



M. C. Tucker had three entries: a Durham calf, pure bred, 1-year-old heifer, and milch cow, grade. Each won a first prize and the pure bred heifer also won a special.

Mrs. W. Lean attended as judge of Home Department and instead of the usual half day the job lasted an entire day.

Mr. Hugh Davidson of Oakwood judged vegetable, stock and poultry. Mr. Herb. Tucker started the horse races and judged the drawing contest.

Among those attending were Provincial Constable Bert Howden; Messrs. Herb Tucker, M. C. Tucker, Hubert James, Herb James, N. Stevens, Norman Lean, S. Ferguson, O. Peters, Misses Margaret James, Viola Prouty, Mr. and Mrs. N. Doxee, Mr. and Mrs. O. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lean, Mr. and Mrs. D. Whitmore, Mr. and Mrs. W. Parks, Mrs. Bertha Wilson, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Herman Harris.

HOUSE NO. 143—A square plan containing six rooms and two closed-in porches. Both the living room and dining room are attractive. Direct access from kitchen to front door is commendable, as is the convenience of the bathroom at the head of the stairs The triangular bedroom closet however, should be avoided, whenever possible. The house is owner-designed, and contains about 20,300 cubic feet without porches. The clapboards of the exterior walls give way to white painted brick on the lower portion of the facade. Shutters and roof are painted medium blue. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Old Casting Inflexible Novarro Says

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24 (AP). You would expect Raymon Novarro to be sentimental about returning to work at the studio where he scored his triumphs as a romantic star.

But he isn't at all. "It is just a though I have never been away," said Novarro after a 15-year absence from MGM. "I suppose I should be excited or worried, but I am not."

He left the studio in 1934 after making "The Night Is Young." He ended 14 years with MGM, during which he reigned as a screen romantic idol second only to Valentino.

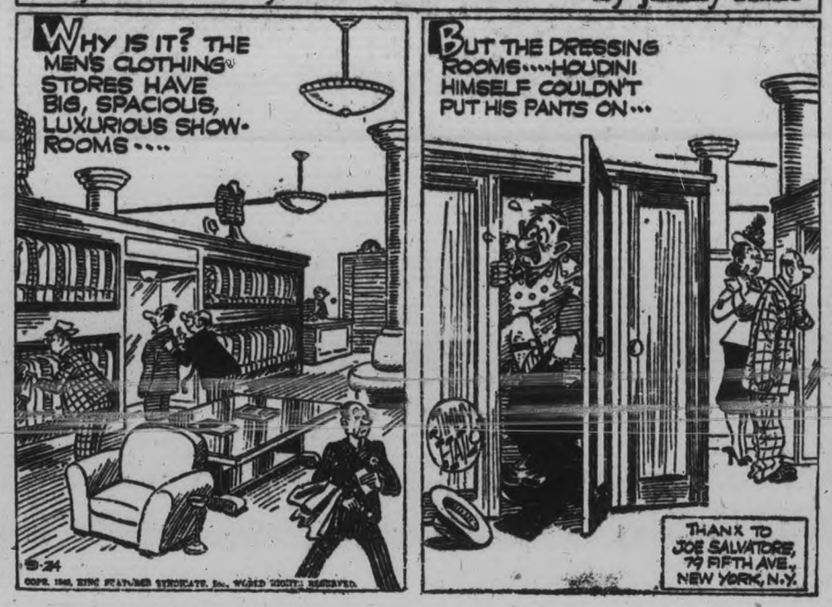
"Every time I walked through the studio gate, I told myself it might be the last time," he reflected "I never worried about being washed up. One day I said to myself, 'You'd better get out before they kick you out.' So I quit."

Inflexible Casting

He attributed the wind-up of his early career to the inflexibility of Hollywood casting in those days.

"If you were a romantic star, all you could do was make love and look pretty. If you were a heavy, you had to be mean all the time; you could not even pat a dog or water a flower. There was no change of pace."

He illustrated with a film he did with Wallace Beery as the comic relief. Navarro pulled Beery's hat down over his eyes for a gag ending. The scene had to be re-shot. Novarro was reprimanded: "We pay Mr. Beery to be funny; you to make love."



"A big executive once told me if I ever slapped a woman on the screen, I would be dead in pictures," the one-time star remarked. "Look at leading men today. They slap women around like crazy."

Novarro looks older than his 44 years in his white goatee and makeup for "The Outriders." But his enthusiasm for his new career as a character actor is youthful. He finds the roles much more interesting than being the dashing, stout-hearted star.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Future Looks Little Brighter For Canadian Textile Industry

With the exception of Lindsay the immediate future looks a little brighter for the textile industry, Albert E. Johnston, director of the Trent Valley Area TWUA, CIO-CCL, told The Examiner today.

The soundest part of the industry is carpet making, he said. And that is reflected locally in the fact there have been no layoffs at Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. To a certain extent this trend follows throughout the province.

Campbellford, which usually had about 230 workers employed at the Campbellford Cloth Co., recently cut the payroll down to about 60 because of lack of orders. Business seems to have picked up since because the plant is expected to be at full strength again in two or three weeks. Machines have already been installed in the new building there and when in operation the addition will likely provide jobs for 60 workers.

Taken Over by English Firm

The Consolidated Piece Dyers of Cobourg, normally employing about 60 workers, has been taken over by an English firm, Bradford Dyers, one of the biggest piece-dyeing plants in the world. It is not yet known whether or not the overseas firm has decided on expansion of the Cobourg business.

Two other branches of the company are located in Toronto and Montreal.

In Trenton, the Trenton Cotton Co. is gradually taking back some of their employees after layoffs.

The big question mark for the domestic textile industry, Mr. Johnston said, is the effect devaluation will have. British textiles—products of Britain's first completely recovered industry—will be able to enter the country and sell at a greatly reduced price.

Canada's textile industry may be hard put to compete with the British at these prices, he commented.

A recent visitor to England, well acquainted with the industry, said special emphasis was being placed on the production of worsteds for the export market.

25 Girls At Shower For Miss Z. Gummer

WARKWORTH, Sept. 24 (ENS) —A room decorated with autumn flowers and pink bows was the setting at the home of Mrs. Roy Shea on Thursday evening when her daughter, Mrs. I. Bonds, of Hastings, entertained 25 girls at a shower in honour of Miss Zella Gummer, whose marriage takes place Saturday.

Edna Buchanan sang; there was a contest organized by Mrs. Bonds; a piano duet by Misses Alice Nelson and Lois Fowler; a musical contest by Ruth Hancock, and community singing with Ruth Hancock as pianist.

After an address read by Helen Bonds, Miss Gummer was presented with a large basket containing many gifts.

Lunch was served by Helen Bonds, Alice Nelson and Gwen Wartman.

Lowell Thomas Hurt

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP).—Lowell Thomas, 57, author, news broadcaster and traveller, was severely injured when thrown from a horse in a steep mountain pass in the Himalayas, his office said Friday. Thomas recently left Tibet with a message from the Dalai Lama to President Truman.

PCVS Graduates Continue Active Studies

Fifty-six or 78 percent of last year's students at PCVS have entered Normal Schools or universities, or art taking nursing or other courses. The remainder have taken positions with the city's industrial firms as apprentices and juniors, Howard Moebus, head of the Vocational Guidanace Department, disclosed today.

Twenty-eight students, 10 above the average of the past eight or nine years, have entered university, 12 at the University of Toronto, nine at Queen's University, two at McGill, three at Western and two at Guelph Agriculture College. The Normal School has 12 registered from the Collegiate and one student has registered at the Port Arthur Pre-engineering School.

Student nurses, graduates of PCVS, in their first year at the Civic Hospital total five. Ten students from Grade XII are also taking the three-year course at the hospital. A Toronto hospital claimed one student nurse and two went to Kingston.

One student has entered the Royal Military College and one is at Royal Roads. Three boys have joined the RCAF, all three passing their first tests there. One student has entered the chartered accountants course and one the special commercial at PCVS.

Local industry has taken 12 and one boy has returned to his father's farm. Five students have yet to find positions and are classed as "at home". Two students are repeated some Grade XIII subjects and two others have yet to be contacted.

Last year 18 PCVS pupils entered universities and 13 Normal School. Only half the number of girls went into training for nurses, three entered chartered accountancy while 20 went into local industry.

Twelve pupils who repeated some of their subjects have now graduated.

Proper Methods Make Easy Refinishing Wooden Floors

Refinishing Wood Floors

Where floors have become badly discolored and worn by neglect or improper maintenance, the most practicable procedure (and often the only one) to restore them to their original beauty is to have the old finish removed and the foor reconditioned by power sanding. However, if the floor has been reasonably well looked after but has become dingy with age, then refinishing by hand may be quite practicable. The method of removal of the old finish depends upon the original kind of finish used.

Refinishing Oil Finish Floors

An old oil finish, since it is embedded thoroughly in the wood, may cause some difficulties. An attempt might be made to clean the floor with a steel-wool buffing machine. If this is not feasible or proves ineffective, a chemical treatment will be necessary.

Through the action of mild alkalies, the oil in the wood may be changed to soap. The alkali used may be a water solution of trisodium phosphate, washing soda or a commercial cleanser. Extreme care must be taken if lye is used, for if it is used in too strong a solution it will swell and soften the wood. If the oil contained minera oil, there may be no practicable way of removing it, since alkalies do not saponify mineral oil.

In applying the alkali, flush a small area of the floor at a time and allow to stand for a few minutes, then scrub with a stiff brush or No. 1 steel wool. Next flush with clean water and scrub to remove the soap that has been formed, and finally remove all the water possible by mopping and let the floor dry thoroughly.

If the foor turns grey in color as a result of the action of the alkali and water, it may be necessary to bleach it with a saturated solution of oxalic acid in water (oxalic acid is poisonous and must be handled with great care). Rinse off the oxalic acid thoroughly with clean water, mop and let the floor dry completely.

Any raised grain or roughening of the surface of the boards as a result of the drastic treatments should be smoothed with sandpaper or steel wool before new finish is applied.

Power Sanding Best For Varnish

Old, discolored varnish finish is usually removed most easily by power sanding but if desired it can be done with liquid varnish remover. Alkaline solutions in water and removers sold in powder form to be dissolved in water should not be used. The directions for using the liquid remover should be followed carefully.

Since some old, discolored varnish remains embedded in the wood, complete restoration of the natural wood color should not be expected. Traffic channels where the old varnish has long been worn through and dirt ground into the wood should be cleaned by sanding.

Old shellac and wax finishes that have merely become soiled by dirt clinging in the coating of wax may be cleaned by going over the foor with steel wool saturated with clean turpentine. Any white spots in the shellac caused by contact with water may be taken out by rubbing lightly with a soft cloth moistened with denatured alcohol diluted half and half with water, but the alschol must be used with care to avaid cutting the shellac coating.

On floors where the dirt is ground into the shellac itself or white spots penetrate all the way through the coating, more drastic treatment is necessary. First, wash the floor with neutral or mildly alkaline soap solution followed by clear water, using as little water as possible in each operation. Then scour the floor with No. 3 steel wool and denatured alcohol diluted half and half with water.

If the floor boards are level and are not warped or cupped, the scouring can be done to advantage with a floor-polishing machine fitted with a wire brush to which a pad of No. 3 steel wool is attached. After scouring, the floor should be rinsed with a minimum amount of clean water and allowed to dry thoroughly before refinishing with shellac.

Wood floors with fine finishes should never be scrubbed with water or unnecessarily brought into contact with water except in refinishing as already described.

DENTAL HEALTH WEEK

SEPT. 26 to OCT. 1

Children require and deserve the best . . . let us make sure that they receive it . . . As the old saying goes, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

DENTAL HEALTH WEEK
Why - Why - Why - Why?

What next! We have heard of "Apple Week", "Clean Up Week", "Home Town Week", "Mother's Day", Father's Day", etc., etc. These special events do not just happen. Some individual or group of individuals have planned them for some purpose. We do not pretend to understand all the "whys" and "wherefors" behind the planning of some special event, but we do know the objective behind the planning of Dental Health Week.

Fact No. 1—It is NOT commercial.

Fact No. 2—The need is NOT based on theory but on FACT.

Fact No. 3—Health is definitely an aid to Happiness.

Fact No. 4—Dental Health plays an important part in General Health.

Fact No. 5—The individuals responsible for this program are Honest, Intelligent and Industrious.

Fact No. 6—They are "good citizens".

For these and other equally good reasons the Members of the Ontario Dental Association wish for Dental Health Week all the success it so richly deserves. And we bespeak your co-operation in making for a healthier, happier people. "Our children require and are deserving of the best. Let us make sure they get it."

GEORGE STREET

Carol McKenzie reported the opening C.G.I.T. meeting took the form of a play party. Mrs. L. Copp conducted games and camp songs were sung while the girls enjoyed marshmallows.

TRINITY

An indoor campfire proved very realistic when Trinity C.G.I.T. held the first meeting of the season on Monday. Camp songs were introduced to those girls who hadn't been to camp ...it looks as though we will be hearing "Violets" from time to time this winter!

Highlights of Pretoria Camp and Camp Kawartha were given. Dorothy Robbins gave a glowing description of a baseball game held between the Leaders and the winning team at Camp Kawartha, and Margaret Burnside told of a typical day at camp. Joan Henry showed the bracelet and pin she had made during craft period. Joan Grogh described details of a wedding as it is solemnized in Trinidad. JoAnne Watson outlined one day's activities at Camp Pretoria.

Anne Gordon presented the group with $5.00, which been donated by those residing at Anson House with the suggestion that she give it to one of the organizations of the church. Its use will be decided at the next meeting of the group.

A brief worship service was taken by Senior group president Joan White, who also read the poem "C.G.I.T.", which tells of the real meaning of C.G.I.T. and which was written by a C.G.I.T. girl.

Anne Gordon, Joan Hastie and Marie Woodgate supervised the serving of refreshments.

MURRAY STREET

Irene Kelly, past president, presided during the business period. The coming rally to be held at St. Paul's Sunday School on October 1 was discussed. The girls of this group have been asked to take charge of the worship on this occasion and plans were made.

Several girls told of their experiences at Camp Kawartha. Unfortunately the weather man intervened and Patricia Ross was unable to show the correct way to build a camp fire. Audrey Silvester was keen about the swimming and was one of those campers who won the highest award in that part of the program. Joan Nash enjoyed the opportunity of meeting girls from other groups and frankly asserted that her cabin mates were the nicest girls in camp!....any comments?

MR. AND MRS. HARRY J. BROWN whose marriage took place Thursday in Mark St. United Church. The bride is Helen Mildred, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson, Rogers St. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown of Windsor.—(Choate Studio Photo)

Brown-Anderson Wedding

Baskets of gladioli, banked with ferns, formed the setting Thursday afternoon in Mark St. United Church for the wedding of Helen Mildred, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson, Rogers St., to Mr. Harry Joseph Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown of Windsor.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. E. W. Rowland and the Rev. B. Morwood. Mrs. Cecil Searles played traditional wedding music and Mrs. E. DeNure sang "Because" at the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a simply styled gown and full train of white slipper satin which featured a net yoke set with pearls. She wore a fingertip veil of French net caught to a coronet of seed pearls and carried a cascade of Talisman roses. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Donna Kendall of Toronto who was frocked in pink satin, and wore mittens and a small cap of pink lace. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and gladioli.

Mr. Fred Brown of Windsor was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were Ken Anderson and James Brown of Barrie, brothers of the bride and groom.

At the reception in the church parlors which followed, the bride's mother received with the wedding party, attired in a blue crepe dress and grey accessories. The groom's mother assisting to receive, wore fuchsia crepe and matching accessories. Each had a corsage of pink gladioli.

On their wedding trip the couple will visit Toronto, Barrie and Windsor. For travelling the bride wore a green gabardine suit, grey accessories and a grey shortie coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live at 319 Mark St.

Donnely-Campbell Rites Today At High Noón

The marriage took place at high noon today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Borden Campbell, Dartford, of the former's sister, Miss Bertha Gladys Campbell, and Mr. Louis Bernard Donnelly, both of Toronto. The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Campbell and the late Wilbert Campbell, and the groom is son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Donnelly, Toronto.

The Rev. H. G. Lester, of Warkworth, performed the ceremony.

A dress of turquoise blue net over taffeta in street-length and a matching headdress was the bride's choice and she wore a corsage of red rosebuds. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Ray Charlton, of Toronto, who wore pink crepe trimmed with lace and a matching headdress. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds. Miss Rosella Campbell, the bride's niece, was junior bridesmaid and wore yellow sheer over taffeta with matching headdress and corsage of pink rosebuds.

The groomsman was Mr. Ray Charlton.

A reception followed and a dainty buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Earl Nelson and Mrs. Donald Darling.

Later the couple left on a trip to Detroit and other points. For travelling the bride chose a wine serge suit and black accessories. On return they will live in Toronto.

Soroptimists to Observe Founder's Week In City

Soroptimists of Peterborough with more than 20 thousand active members of clubs throughout the world, will be observing Founder's Week during the next seven days. At the monthly dinner meeting in the Empress Hotel Friday evening chartered president of the local club, Miss Myrtle Sargent, reviewed the origin and growth of the organization in the past 28 years.

The name was coined from two Latin words, "soror" meaning "sister" and "ptima" meaning "the best and highest good" by a group of 80 civic-minded business women executives who banded together in Oakland, California, for the purpose of serving their community. Underlying meaning of the combination of these words is "the best for women" which has become the basis of the Soroptimist motto.

A native of the Cavan district, Miss Anna Sprott, now of Vancouver, is responsible for bringing Soroptimism into Canada and for there being 35 clubs in British Columbia. Only 14 are chartered in the whole of Ontario and Quebec as yet but it is hoped to be increased to 50 by 1950. This is the only women's organization of the service type to have an active group in South America, the Soroptomist Club of Rio de Janeiro. The work and ideals of the club attract the attention and interest of executive and have caused the movement to spread.

A Founder's Week Fund has been established to which each member is asked to give a penny for each year of her club's life. All the funds were held for post-war rehabilitation of Soroptimists and Soroptimist Clubs and has been spent by and for the European Federation ever since the war ended—first for supplies, food, clothing, medicine, and since November 1946 on a long-range cooperative plan. Some of the contributions have been taken to establish a Fellowship Fund which has been awarded this year to a woman doctor of Athens [illegible] she will study in the United States.

Miss A. L. Thomson was in charge of the program for this meeting and following Miss Sargent's address she called upon each member to give a three-minute account of her summer activities.

President Mrs. Mae Thompson presided throughout the meeting.

Greater Intricacy of Cut Gives Effect of Breadth

If women had hoped that fashions in 1949-50 would move the emphasis away from the waist and hips, they will be disappointed. Every autumn collection seen recently (and these include all the big London wholesale houses and the previews of the leading couture houses) proves that this line will be more strongly accented than ever, although more subtly than two years ago.

But to balance the silhouette, width at the shoulders is also insisted upon. If you take a fashion book of, say, three seasons ago, you will see that the balance has shifted in an amazing way. Instead of the sloping shoulder the line there is sharp and pointed; sometimes this is done by the introduction of a collar on a dress against an oval neckline slashed out almost to the collar-bone; sometimes it is done by cutting out a wide decolletage and then filling it up with a pique vest, itself provided with a pointed collar.

The designers, in fact, are competing with one another to find ingenious ways in which they can introduce this new effect of breadth without definitely insisting on a square shoulder or receiving the rounded line which, in spite of everything, must be suggested.

Even on a coat the same idea is present; the sleeve is rounded at the shoulder, but the collarline is more likely to be cut into defiant points with, perhaps, matching lines of fur beneath them. These will continue round the neck to form a collar.

In the same way the waist and bust-lines are important. Fitting like a glove, the bodice will even be fastened at one side so that the smooth-moulded line shall not be disturbed on a formal dress. For the same reason the apron effect may be cut in one with the bodice. then to be doubled upon itself in a cascading flounce over the skirt. Greater intricacy of cut is seen in these clothes than we have had for nearly 20 years, and it will be interesting to see the development of this phase.

For the same reason the new coats are worth studying. In many of the fitted models you will find a novelty of cut and trimming which is always understated, but which carries out the theme which the designer has in mind. One line is a foil to another, as is shown in the shoulder and the collarline on some coats. Waists are small but sleeves may be wide, and the dolman line is carried out with modifications which eliminate all exaggeration.

Women Doctors Honor Pioneer

By MARIENNE IZSAK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept.—(CP) —"Sir, I thank you. By the help of the Most High, it shall be the effort of my life to shed honor upon this diploma."

The crowded gallery leaned forward to hear the words of the young medical student as she stepped forward with tears of joy in her eyes to receive her diploma from the university president.

The year was 1849, and the even a precedent-breaking one, since Elizabeth Blackwell was the first "lady doctor" to graduate in the United States.

It had been a long, hard fight for her. Born in Bristol, England, in 1821, Elizabeth Blackwell emigrated with her parents to the United States in 1831. She was determined to become a doctor and, after years of private study, sought admittance at a medical school.

But, one after another, they refused her application. Finally she tried Geneva College, now Hobart College, in New York State. There the matter was referred to the student body.

The young men put the matter to a vote. Unanimously, they decided to allow her to enter their classes.

But the obtaining of her medical certificate was only the first battle for recognition in the medical world for Elizabeth Blackwell.

Lost Sight Of Eye

Only after working in a maternity hospital in Paris, where she lost the sight of one eye, and in London, where she served as an intern at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, did she return to this country and open a small dispensary in New York city.

By climbing long flights of stairs in dark tenements at night to treat patients and waiting on long lines of women and children during the day, she slowly built up her practice.

In 1853, Dr. Blackwell proposed incorporation of a New York infirmary for indigent women and children. She besieged business men, writers, publishers and others for help. Through their help, in 1854, she and her sister, Emily, who became America's first woman surgeon, and Dr. Marie Zackrewska, a Polish noblewoman whom Elizabeth had met in Europe, were able to open their first infirmary in three small rooms.

The next year, the women moved the infirmary to a three-storey building with 12 beds and personally raised $5,000 needed for rent and equipment.

Today over 9,000 women doctors throughout the country are observing the 100th anniversary of Elizabeth Blackwell's graduation by trying to raise $5,000,000 for a new infirmary building.

The history of the infirmary shows a pioneering spirit that led to many "firsts" in medical annals.

It was there that the first negro woman physician in the United States was trained. It established the first hospital nurses' training program, the first medical social service, and the first visiting nurses' service. In 1896, it persuaded Michael Pupin, who developed the first X-ray machine, to use it in finding a foreign body in a patient's hand.

INVENTED TALKING MACHINE

The first phonograph was invented in 1877 by Thomas Edison.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Lying Is Easy Way Out, Fear Root Of Dishonesty

A correspondent wants to know why husbands and wives habitually lie to each other.

The answer is obvious. Fear. Because they are afraid to tell the truth. Because bitter experience has taught them that the only way to avoid scenes and domestic rows is to lie.

Not many men and women are Ananiases and Sapphiras by nature. If they followed their instincts they would be Truthful Johns and Veracious Janes. It degrades them in their own eyes and makes them feel mean and dishonest to have to lead a sort of double life and tell tall stories about where they have been and what they have done.

Dorothy Dix

But when a man finds out that his wife will raise the roof if he tells her that he stayed downtown to play poker with the boys while she would be perfectly amiable and complacent if he says that he had to meet a buyer from Oshkosh, and when a woman discovers that her husband will raise cain if she tells him she paid $20 for a hat while he will commend her for being a good housekeeper if she says she spent $20 for groceries, why, you don't have to be told what they will do. They will buy peace at the price of truth.

Forced Into It

It is husbands and wives who make liars of each other. They literally drive their poor unfortunate mates into taking refuge behind a barricade of deceits and prevarications when they would far rather be out in the open. Indeed, perhaps the thing that most married people crave above everything else and that they would rate above every other blessing would be the privilege of being perfectly frank and honest with each other.

It is a pity that truth is so heavily penalized in home life that only a few fortunate ones are able to use it. For nothing does more to stabilize matrimony and make it a success than for a husband and wife not to be compelled to have secrets from each other and tread all the dark and devious ways of the double-crosser. Also, it is a great saving in wear and tear on the nerves not to have always to be covering up one's tracks and trying to remember the story one told last time and invent a new one. For to be a liar takes talent and application and a skill which the average amateur does not possess.

There is something about having to lie about a situation that seems to develop it in some uncanny way. For instance, if Mr. A. could tell his wife that he took his pretty secretary to lunch because she was easy to look at, and because she was bright and gay and amusing that would in all probability be all there was of it. Not even a mild flirtation. But when he has to take the girl out on the sly, and when he has to lie to his wife and furnish a false alibi for his whereabouts, then it becomes a dark and romantic adventure, and things happen.

Women Too

Same way with women. When a woman can tell her husband that she lost her money at bridge or that she fell for a just too darling dress, it is one thing. There is love and trust and understanding between them. But when a woman has to lie to her husband and pretend that her pocketbook was picked on the street, or when she had to pad the grocery bill to get the money out of him that she feels that she has earned, then that is another thing. There is a rankling sense of injustice and outrage in her heart and she hates him for the underhanded things he has made her do.

And by the same token parents make liars of their children by punishing them for telling the truth. If little Sammy gets a whipping for telling he raided the cookie jar, of course, he is going to lay the blame on the cat the next time. If Mamie has the Riot Act read to her for going out with the Jones boy, naturally she is going to avoid unpleasantness by saying that she and Alice Smith went alone to the movies.

But if Sammie and Mamie were rewarded for telling the truth, they would not grow up feeling that lies were their life preservers and that veracity was something to be avoided as a dead weight that would sink them Also their parents would have a better chance of knowing what they were doing and of guiding them into safe paths.

Blue Top Colour For Spring Shoes

MONTREAL, Sept. 24—(CP)—The official word from the shoe folk is that the No. 1 style color in women's shoes for next spring is "admiral blue".

Authority for this is the national style committee of the Canadian Shoe Retailers Association which met in Montreal, Monday.

Back of admiral blue, in order of importance come such colors as rosewood (in the brown family), kilabrown, misty grey, cherry red, green pepper and cafe brown.

It is predicted that black will retain a 50 per cent popularity, with color taking the other 50 per cent.

Spring, 1950, will see a more slenderized last in high style, and also a slenderizing of the cuban heel. In Wedge types there will be a tendency toward higher heels. Wall toe lasts will be strong, with not so much emphasis on square toes.

At the moment no radical change in styles is anticipated. The dressy open-toe, open-back, ankle strap sandal with platform sole, the sling pump and the casual and wedge types will be spring features. Baby dolls will still be in the picture.

Levinson's

We have the frosting but we're concentrating on cake

13.95 Wool Jersey Blouses . . . 19.95 Velveteen Skirts . . . 75.00 Gabardine Suits.

These are frosting and although you know we are high fashion and style conscious, we honestly believe the price of fashion is getting seriously out of hand.

There's a cake level in good clothes where many a smart and thrifty woman has been finding very little choice. For instance a Judy Bond Nylon Blouse at 4.95 . . . A Harvey Jersey Blouse at 8.95 . . . or an imported Plaid Skirt at 9.95.

These are the sort of neglected price brackets that "Levinson's" and Smart Set Shop are concentrating on this Fall. We shopped the market and we know what you will be wearing this coming season. So, if you want more than bread and butter fashions without paying a premium, by all means, shop us and see for yourself. You won't be sorry.

Farm Women Plan Increase Output of Foods in Britain

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Sept. 23 — (CP). — A hundred Canadian farmers' wives met in a small Ontario village 52 years ago to swap jam and preserving recipes, little dreaming they were starting a world-wide association.

But that little meeting at Stoney Creek, Ont., was the foundation of a vast organization now known as the Associated Country women of the World with a membership of 5,500,000.

The association is the co-ordinating body for a network of the country women's associations all over the world. Britain's National Federation of Women's Institutes is the largest of these associations, with a membership of 400,000, and today their main theme is more production.

Stoney Creek's idea of pooling knowledge of jam making, fruit preserving, home handicrafts, home welfare and farm production has been retained and enlarged upon. The clubs are still non-political and non-sectarian.

Part of the wide British scheme is a marketing committee to advise cottage gardeners in selling their products— cottage gardens being too small for inclusion in the government marketing scheme.

There is also a produce guild which in 1947-1948 brought forth 4,000,000 extra pounds of potatoes, 31,000 new fruit plantings, 100 new pig clubs, and 313 new rabbit clubs.

Active in Education

Pride of the British institutes is Denman College, established in a Berkshire country house. Fountainhead of WI educational activities, it offers courses on everything from tree grafting to classical literature

No part of the organization goes above the authority of the ordinary village member, and in the monthly meeting each institute settles—by vote—what it will do in the coming farming season.

In the Cotswolds they may decide to produce enormous quantities of plums; Wales may wish to have the champion choir; Devon may aim at a record honey yield All over Britain the institutes are deciding how to get the utmost production out of their home ground.

The institutes also have a social side—dances, whist drives, drama clubs, fairs and shows.

But the main activity is discussion on subjects such as housing and education.

Contact between different institutes is common. Many British institutes correspond with their name-town institute in Canada, while the Canadian towns send back food and other parcels that are gratefully received.

For even country women in Britain can appreciate additional food, since the government holds a tight rein on home-consumption of vital farm-produced food products.

6—In Memoriams

BRADY—In sad but loving memory of Flight Sergeant Charles John Brady, who lost his life on air operations September 24, 1944.
Oh for the touch of the vanished hand
And the sound of the voice that is still.
It's lonesome without you Jack,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to me
Since you were called away.
Gone from me that smiling face
Those carefree happy ways,
The heart that won so many friends
In bygone happy days.
—Sadly missed by mother, brother and sister.

EARNSHAW—In loving memory of Esther Earnshaw, who passed away Sept. 24, 1947.
The dearest sister and sweetest friend
One of the best whom God could lend.
She was loving, gentle, thoughtful and true,
Always willing a kind act to do.
It is not tears at the moment shed
That tell how beloved is the soul that has fled
But tears through many a long night wept,
And loving remembrance fondly kept.
—Ever remembered by mother and family.

Identify 82 Of Dead In Noronic Disaster

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (CP) — Four more bodies were identified Friday, bringing to 82 the number of identified in the burning of the steamship Noronic.

Identified Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Furey of Detroit. Both were aged 54. Earlier in the day Scott Mcintosh identified the bodies of his mother, Mrs. Bess M. Mcintosh, 62, of Cleveland, O., and his sister, Miss Hallie Mcintosh, 22, of the same address.

The Canadian Press card index now shows 124 persons lost their lives in last Saturday's fire. There are 42 unidentified dead.

Noronic Captain Files Suit For $250,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 24 (AP)—Captain William Taylor, master of the fire-swept Noronic, Friday filed a suit for $250,000 worth of damages against C. Ralph Willson of Cleveland.

The civil suit, charging slander and defamation of character, quotes statements made by Willson at a hearing conducted by Coroner Samuel R. Berger here Thursday.

Legal papers filed for Taylor in federal court maintain that Willson said:

"I saw the captain supported by two policemen. I would say that I didn't smell his breath—this may not have been asked—but I would say that he was so confounded drunk that he should not have been on the ship."

Mrs. E. Jenkins Dies

CHARLOTTETOWN, Sept. 24 (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Jenkins, 87, widow of the late Dr. Stephen R. Jenkins, a former president of the Canadian Medical Association, died at her home here last night.

She was the mother of Lt.-Col. J. S. Jenkins, DSO, former assistant director of medical services, National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa.

Union, Plant Recess Talks

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP) —Peace talks in the Bell Aircraft strike, now in its 102nd day were recessed indefinitely Friday.

The company and the striking United Auto Workers (CIO), gave no indication of when negotiations might be resumed to settle the strike which has been marked by violence in recent weeks.

State and Federal mediators said however, that they were hopeful the two parties could be brought back together, but admitted that their suggested settlement proposal now was worthless as a basis for peace.

The proposal had been accepted by both the company and the union, but each had placed its own interpretation on some of the clauses. The mediators conducted an all-day session Friday in an attempt to reconcile the differences. Company representatives finally walked out.

The union promptly declared that Bell obviously was interested in nothing from the union but "absolute surrender." The company replied that the union refused to co-operate.

Major issues in the strike are a 10-cent an hour pay increase.

Ungava Project Costs 150 Million

QUEBEC, Sept. 24 (CP) —Premier Duplessis said Friday the Ungava iron ore mining project would cost $150,000,000 before Hollinger North Shore Exploration Company could draw any interest from the investment.

The Premier made the statement at a press conference during which he declined to make any further announcement concerning a proposed provincial lottery for education and public health purposes.

The mining company planned to build a bridge across the Moisie river which would cost $1,000,000. This bridge would be built in connection with the 360-mile railway from Burnt Creek, deep in the Ungava, to Sept Iles, on the St. Lawrence northshore.

Premier Duplessis said $7,000,000 had been spent by the company up till now and he added that the railway would serve not only the mining project but the whole region.

Head-on Crash Kills One Man

HAMILTON, Sept. 24 (CP) — One man was killed and another injured in an almost head-on collision between a Toronto-bound car and a Paris, Ont., truck at Peter's Corners, near Hamilton Friday.

Dead is John Hallo, Toronto, thrown through the windshield out of the car in which he was a passenger. Another occupant Wm. Pitch, Toronto, suffered a severe bump on te head and was taken to hospital here. Uninjured was the third occupant of the automobile, John Tweedie, Toronto.

Driver of the truck was reported by Provincial Police to have been Bob English, Paris, who was uninjured. The three men in the car were reported to have been returning to Toronto from Kitchener.

JOHN L. DOES IT AGAIN. — Every so often, John L. Lewis, omnipotent boss of 480,000 members of the United Mine Workers, "sets up" a shot like this for photographers. These lines of empty coal cars in the rail yards at Cincinnati, O., grew longer as the mine workers continued their "no welfare, no work" strike. Thousands of railroad workers face layoffs because of the coal strike.

US. Plans To Import More Natural Rubber

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP) —The government Friday opened the way for greater imports of natural rubber in 1950 as a means of providing more dollars to other countries, especially Britain.

It announced a reduction for next year in the amount of United States-produced synthetic rubber that American firms will be required to use in making tires, inner tubes, and so forth.

The action, made public in a statement issued here by Commerce Secretary Sawyer will free American firms to buy approximately 50,000 more tons of natural rubber—a strictly imported product—next year than this year.

Incentive for them to do so would be added by current prices: about 18.5 cents a pound for synthetic rubber, against about 17.6 for top-quality natural rubber.

Britain will be the chief beneficiary of the new arrangement since Malaya is the world's chief producer of natural rubber. Other countries which produce rubber or have producing colonies in the Far East also will gain more dollars from this step.

Mrs. David R. Jones Buried In St. Peter's

Funeral services were held Friday morning for Mrs. David R. Jones, 893 High St., who died suddenly of a heart atack Wednesday.

Mrs. Jones was survived by her husband, two daughters, four sons and 36 grandchildren. Six of her grandchildren were pallbearers.

The funeral was held from the Duffus Funeral Home to St. Alphonsus Church where Rev. Robert MacDonald, CSSR, said the requiem mass. Rev. John Corkery, CSSR, conducted the graveside services in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: John Wood and Vernon, Robert, David, Jr., Wilbert Jr. and Leo Jr. Jones.

Doctors Rule Szendrey Sane

WELLAND, Sept. 24 (CP) — George Szendrey was sentenced Friday to be hanged Dec. 7 for the wiener-roast murder of 18-year-old Harold Sneztsky, Buffalo high school student.

A jury that deliberated for two hours and 40 minutes brought in a verdict of guilty early Friday afternoon. Witnesses testified that Szendrey, 28-year-old laborer of nearby Humberstone village was the man who appeared at the wiener roast party May 14 armed with a pistol and said: "I want the girls."

Psychiatrists testified Szendrey was sane.

Szendrey said he had been drinking heavily the night of the shooting and "blacked out."

Sneztsky was killed and a companion Richard Joseph, also of Buffalo, was taken to hospital with bullet wounds in arms and chest. Their girl friends, Geraldine Fiorito, 18 and Lydia Luisi, 16, were treated at their Buffalo homes for shock.

LONDON, Sept. 24 (Reuters) —Most British newspapers today accepted as inevitable Friday's disclosure that Russia had recently produced an atom explosion. Nearly all called for new and greater efforts towards international control of atomic energy.

Blind Typists Use Dictaphone

At head office of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, four blind dictaphone operators are busy every day typing the correspondence of the various departments. Those who receive these letters see this sentence at the end of the page: "Transscribed from dictaphone by blind typists." Sometimes they jump to the conclusion that blind typists must use special machines. But that, like many other notions about the blind, is quite erroneous.

Typing is one activity in which lack of sight does not involve special equipment nor does it constitute much of a handicap to a girl who is properly trained. Any good typist is a touch typist. True, the girl who can see can check her own work and correct mistakes. The supervisor has to do this job for the typist who is blind. But if she's a good typist she makes few mistakes.

The sighted touch typist, though she doesn't realize it, is using the same method of typing as her blind counterpart. There are countless other actions which those who can see perform without using their eyes. Most pianists don't watch the keyboard, but find the proper keys by the sense of touch. Everyone at some time or other moves about his own house in the dark and is able to find the object he is looking for. Every time a man puts his hand in his pocket to get his penknife or his handkerchief or his pencil he is making use of his sense of touch.

Depends On Their Sense

When a man loses his sight, he must depend on his sense of touch, as well as those of hearing and smell, to guide all his actions. There is nothing miraculous in this, but it does need patient training and long practice. Such training is given by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The object of such training is to help those who cannot see to be as independent as possible. This is one of the ways in which the money is used that is raised in the Institute's Annual Campaign for funds. All can share in this work by contributing to the present annual campaign in Peterborough County. The campaign is under the sponsorship of the Peterborough Advisory Board to the CNIB, Mr. W. C. Hughes, chairman. The campaign is being conducted in Peterborough County. Contributions should be forwarded to the treasurer, Mr. T. T. Rodger, Mgr. of the Dominion Bank, Peterborough. The Institute is a member agency of the Peterborough Community Fund and is not soliciting donations in the city of Peterborough. All contributions of a $1 or more are acknowledged by an official receipt and are exempt from income tax.

Sentenced To Hang

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24—(CP) —William J. Worobec, 36-year-old tailor, was convicted Friday of the June 6 murder of Michel Geluch, 66, and was sentenced to be hanged Dec. 7. The jury added a recommendation for mercy. Worobec, father of four, is the second man sentenced to the gallows for the strangulation murder of Mr. Geluch. Walter Prestyko, 34, last week received the death sentence.

ON THE DOUBLE.—Members of Canada's Reserve Army swing into action in a training exercise. They are using a wartime Bren gun carrier. Almost all reserve units are under strength.

Cheer Leading Sections Named

PCVS has two cheer leading sections to help build the morale of its football and basketgall teams. For the past week the gym at the collegiate has vibrated with the yells of 50 girls battling for positions on the cheer leading squads.

Wednesday night two groups, the seniors and the juniors, were chosen. The girls in the senior squad are Marilyn McInroy, Beverley Brooks, Lois Hutchinson, Pat Nixon and Margaret Clark. Followers and backers of the junior squads will be Lorraine Derry, Beverley Goodman, Phyllis and Shirley Peryer, Doreen Patton, and Flinda Simmons. They were introduced to the students Friday by Marilyn Hollingsworth at the Senior assembly.

A week ago the girls, 50 of them, signed that they wished to be cheerleaders this year. Monday night the girls were taught one school yell. The number of entrants was whittled down to 25 that night.

James McNabb, Miss Doreen Pemberton, and Miss Mildred Bailey assisted by the remaining four cheerleaders of last year, Mary Braund, Marilynn Hollingsworth, Barbara Brown and Catherine Graham, eliminated 14 girls Wednesday night to pick the squads.

Two years ago a similar scene took place in the gym. The girls that year decided that perhaps they could add a little color to the game if they acted as cheer leaders. Eight girls led the students of the Collegiate through the school yells.

Five girls carried on last year, Marilynn Hollingsworth, Mary Braund, Catherine Graham, Catherine Clifton and Barbara Brown. Miss Clifton, a Grade XIII student, graduated in June.

Miss Braund said that the four old cheer leaders believed they should give the rest of the girls a chance to help in this school activity. They will continue to attend the games as cheerleaders, she said, until the new girls know the yells and actions.

Recruiting Drive Planned To Boost Reserve Forces

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Sept. 24—(CP)—Canada is heading into a new recruiting season for the forces and, officials say, the emphasis of the publicity campaign will be placed on the Reserve Army. The reserve forces generally are one of the big headaches of the Defence Department. They have added 5,000 men to their strengths in the last year but, at 45,000, still are only a little more than half the strength of 80,000 Defence Minister Claxton has indicated the government would like them to have.

The recruiting drive will aim at enlisting another 7,000 men in the next year.

The Reserve Army's units are generally below strength and informed sources say their condition ranges from "fair to awful." The Air Force is reorganizing its reserves. The 10 auxiliary squadrons, supposed to be frontline reinforcements, are manned by war veterans, are below strength and lack adequate ground crew.

The Navy's reserves also are below target totals but are about as numerous—4,300—as the regular Navy is capable of administering and training. They are still recruiting.

Integral Part of Force

It was the reserves which provided the framework around which Canada built the forces that fought two world wars. They are an integral part of the force Canada wants to have ready for expansion in an emergency.

Reserve army units train two nights a week and spend a week or 10 days at summer camp.

The reserve army now is 38,000 strong compared to 58,000 in 1939. Units have been assigned training roles and, on paper, are formed into six divisions plus a number of independent brigades.

The problem of getting and keeping part-time airmen trained makes some people in the RCAF doubt that Canada will be able to rely heavily on air reserves for immediate action in emergency. As a step, selected members of the auxiliary squadrons are being given a year's full-time flying training and then will continue on a part-time basis.

The RCAF has 10 auxiliary squadrons from Montreal to Vancouver, flying Vampires, Mitchells and Harvards.

The Navy has 20 training divisions in cities from coast to coast, and, officials say, some 50 per cent go to sea with the regular Navy in the summer.

Standardize Plumbing

TORONTO, Sept. 24 — (CP).— Standardization of plumbing equipment and practices across Ontario is provided for by a code approved in principle by the Ontario Cabinet, it was learned on Friday. As soon as regulations are drawn up to cover it, the code will become law. The code will set out the weight of material and the kind of pipe to be used on various jobs and the method to be followed in making air vents.

F. M. Somerville Is Laid To Rest

The funeral service for Frederick M. Somerville, 70, 16 Inverlea St., who died suddenly Wednesday, was held Friday afternoon in Murray St. Baptist Church, Rev. Ivan C. Morgan officiating.

A large number of friends were at the service. Every department of the CGE was represented.

Mr. Somerville, who was born in Norton, N.B., was survived by his wife and three sisters.

Mr. Somerville worked in the accounting department 44 of his 45 years with the CGE. He worked right up until the day he died. At the time of his death he was supervisor of the cost section of the Motor and Generator division.

He was an active member of Murray St. Baptist Church where he served both as treasurer and deacon for many years.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery. Pallbearers were: Walter Garbutt, G. R. Langley, Thomas Glover, W. G. Shiner, E. R. Shirley and I. F. McRae.

Mother Sued, Pays

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24—(CP) — Phyllis Laverne Tindale, 15, left partially paralyzed and unable to speak after an axe attack by her mother, has been awarded $6,700 from her mother by the Supreme Court here. It is believed the first case where a claim has been made against a parent.

Canada Packers Experiment With Hybrid Corn For Canning — Ernest McWilliam Discusses New Method of Applying Commercial Fertilizer — Achievement Day For Juniors.

Beginning an experiment with hybrid corn last Spring, Canada Packers first took samples of the selected 12 one-acre lots for analysis of their soils. Then, with fairly exact information before them, they proceeded to order mixtures of commercial fertilizer to obtain balanced mineral content of the land they were about to seed.

Eight varieties of hybrids were planted on the 12 acres, and the first stage of the experiment was completed. Its purpose is to determine whether this area can be depended upon to supply crops of corn for canning.

"The eight varieties were chosen with special regard to their maturing," Mr. Joseph McGuire of the canning department said. "They were early, medium and late. Results brought out two of them that are especially interesting. One was Whipple's early yellow, and another is called Lee; both earlies; and there is a medium, "Tendermost," that looks as if it might be all right, too.

"The season was not normal, and you could hardly base a definite opinion on our experience. So, the net result is that we will likely continue the experiment next year, concentrating probably on three varieties."

Mr. McGuire said the soil tests showed that no two of them were alike. Some of the farm owners co-operating with Canada Packers were: Sidney Reid and Alphonse Fitzgerald, Otonabee; J. Norman Lillico, North Monaghan; Clayton Sanderson; Graham Eastwood, and Alfred Sturzenegger of Smith.

The long dry season was especially favorable to corn, Mr. McGuire said. The crop generally ripened two weeks earlier than usual, and September has passed the 21st without frost.

Opinion at Canada Packers encourages the probability that corn can be grown in this area with early maturing hybrids.

"A lot of the green cobs were sold here and there by the owners, and reports indicate exceptionally good quality, even ahead of Golden Bantam," Mr. McGuire said. "Our plan was to supervise the first stages of the experiment up to any cultivation that might be advisable. Growth was excellent. Stalks were tall, cobs were large, and we found little evidence of the corn borer, ear worm and smut."

Canada Packers suspended this year their operations in peas, tomatoes and pumpkins. He believed that the company would resume packing these crops next year. There had been no intimations of leaving tomatoes to the canneries along the lake front.

CPC is interested in corn as a further pack they might develop here when they have established, as far as possible, assurance of varieties suitable to this area. For that reason they were willing to assume the experiment, with the help of the group of farmers who accepted the idea.

Records and data of the experiment from seeding to harvest have been kept, and the acre crops are left with the owners of the land.

FERTILIZER EXPERIMENT

Peterborough County is unique in so far as the typeof fertilizer used for ordinary grain crops. According to fertilizer manufacturers a larger percentage of granular fertilizer is used than in any other county in Ontario.

The usual practice is to mix the granular fertilizer with the grain, and seed the entire mixture through the secd drill. The common mixtures used for this purpose are ammonium phosphate and potash, purchased separately and mixed; or granular 4-24-12 or granular 3-18-9. Of necessity more of these latter prepared, ready-mixed fertilizers must be used.

Due to the granular structure of these fertilizers, they are not so readily dissolved in the soil moisture as the regular grades of powdered fertilizers. This is a serious fault during a dry season such as we have experienced this last year.

A second serious fault in the use of granular fertilizers sown with grain, is the faulty distribution caused by seeding through the grain drills. The concentration in the immediate proximity of the seed would be several thousand pounds per acre, whereas one inch away it would be nil.

A third criticism of this practice is the difficulty of getting an even mix of grain and fertilizer so that the proper proportion of each are sown. This entails a great deal of care as the densities of each item are so different, separation occurs readily.

The wear and tear on a regular grain drill used for seeding fertilizer is difficult to determine, but any farmer that has tried using this mixture in damp weather realizes the difficulty and extreme wear and tear on this expensive piece of equipment.

It has long been the opinion of the fertilizer manufacturers that better and more rapid results would be obtained if all farmers would use regular grind fertilizers instead of the granular type. This argument is becoming more common every year, and has advanced to the point where some fertilizer companies are trying to avoid the production of all granular goods.

In order to obtain some basis of fact for these arguments, a fertilizer experiment is presently being conducted on the farm of Ira Robson in North Monaghan.

In this demonstration a part of the field being sown to wheat received an application of 200 lbs. of 2-12-6 regular grind fertilizer applied with a fertilizer spreader; a second part of the field was seeded with granular 4-24-12 mixed with the wheat and the mixture sown through the seeding ary seed grain drill, a third area received 250 lbs. of 2-14-8 regular grind fertilizer sown with a combination drill and the final area received 350 lbs. per acre of 2-14-8 applied with the fertilizer spreader.

The costs of these applications vary greatly, and it will be of interest to follow the results obtained to determine, first whether the regular fertilizer gives better response than granular types, and secondly, whether the added expense of the heavy application of 2-14-8 fertilizer is justified. (By Ernest McWilliam of Dewart Milling Co.)

REGIONAL YORKSHIRE SHOW

Six exhibitors brought out 63 pigs in 90 entries at the Zone-5 regional Yorkshire show at Oshawa fair.

O. G. Shea of Markham had the first prize boar over two years in Nahcarts Barron 14B, which also was awarded the senior and grand championship titles. Shea had the first prize board under one year in Pine Grove Barron 97C, also the junior champion.

Leitchcroft Farms at Gormley took first in boars over one year and under two with Lowhighland MacBeth 154B, while Garnet Whitfied, Fraserville, took first for boars under six months.

Sow classes were keen and top awards well divided.

Leitchcroft took first for sows two years and over. Garnet Whitfield showed the winner over 18 months and under two years on Whitfield Queen 20B, and also was awarded first prize for sows over 12 months and under 18 on Manchester Patsy 10C. Leitchcroft had first in sows over six months and under 12, and Glen Glaspell of Oshawa had first in the class of sows under six months.

Leitchcroft entries carried off the grand, senior and junior championships.

Senior herd placings were: 1, Leitchcroft Farms; 2, George Stephen, Baltimore; 3, G. Whitfield; 4, O. G. Shea.

Junior herd: Leitchcroft, Shea, Whitfield, Glaspell, Stephen, McNeill. Get of sire: Whitfield, Glaspell; Leitchcroft; Stephen; McNeill.

Number of entries by breeders were: Whitfield 16; Stephen 16; McNeill 4; Leitchcroft 14; Glaspell 7 head.

The judge was R. A. Templar of Burford, with James R. Turnbull of Peterborough, secretary.

BUS TO PLOWMEN'S MATCH

Peterborough plowmen are arranging for a bus to the International Match in Brant County on Thursday, October 13. Vern Campbell, president of the local Plowmen's Association, says the return fare is $5.50, with accommodation for 37 passengers. Details of the trip have not yet been completed, but it is expected the bus will leave about 7 a.m. Tickets may be obtained from Alex Huston, Henry Batten, or at the office of Frank Paterson, agricultural representative.

Mr. Campbell says Peterborough will be represented in the match, and probably in the intercounty competition. A coaching class will be held September 28 at the farm of Morris Telford, in Smith.

HURON HOLSTEINS

Purebred Holstein herds were few in Huron not so long ago, but the county Black and White Day mustered 138 head shown by 27 exhibitors, one of the biggest Holstein shows in the province this season. Prof. A. D. Runions of OAC, judge, said the quality of the stock was the best so far displayed in Huron.

In Lennox-Addington 14 breeders brought out 106 animals as compared with only 36 head last year. Interest is obviously being broadly maintained. Figures for other B. and W. Days were: Durham, 17 exhibitors, 120 cattle; Dundas, 15 breeders, 99 cattle; Hastings, 8 breeders, 79 cattle; Peterborough, 12 breeders showing 103 head. Lincoln county reported five breeders with 52 head. Ontario county, 23 breeders, 133 head.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Achievement Day for the boys' and girls' calf club will be Saturday, Oct. 1 at the Exhibition grounds, beginning at 10 a. m. This event winds up the season's work among the juniors which has been a responsibility of Robert Bell, assistant agricultural representative.

The club members are advised that, to make the day a real success, they should bring their calves to the main building at the park. Mr. Bell is also arranging a meeting for them Wednesday, Sept. 28 at 8 p.m. in the Department of Agriculture office. The program will include several films and a discussion on preparation and fitting calves for the show.

TO COACH PLOWMEN

Local plowmen who are thinking of competing in the international match in Brant County next month are reminded of the coaching class, Wednesday, Sept. 28 on the farm of Morris Telford on the Chemong Road, at 1 p.m.

Wm. L. Clark of Gormley has promised to spend the afternoon here. Vern Campbell, president of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association, said yesterday he hoped to have a big class to introduce to Mr. Clark, a past president of the provincial association who was in charge of one of the groups of Canadians who competed in Great Britain several years ago.

Mr. Campbell and Lyle McMillan of Norwood are two Peterborough county men who are going to Brant.

PROF. GEORGE WELTER, who has been named consul-general of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg with jurisdiction for all Canada.

PEARSON BLASTS RUSS ATOM CONTROL

Nurse Says Captain Fought Fire

Charges of Neglect Against Crew Made At Fire Inquiry

DETROIT, Sept. 26 (AP)— A red-haired nurse who escaped down a rope from the burning SS Noronic testified today she saw the captain vainly spraying water on the fire.

The testimony was given by Mildrette Briggs of Detroit. She appeared voluntarily at the opening session of hearings conducted here by Dr. Samuel Gerber, Cuyahoga County (Ohio) coroner.

Miss Briggs said she saw two other crew members urging passengers to go down ropes as fire raged through the ship at a Toronto dock.

"They were very reluctant to climb down the ropes," she said.

At one time, she said, a rope with three persons on it broke and they fell into the water.

"The fire was so terrific that if the alarm sounded you couldn't have heard it," she said. "Everything was in utter confusion."

Miss Briggs testified that Capt William Taylor stood facing the flames at a stairway on C deck with a hose. She said his efforts seemed futile.

Some 35 persons came to testify at today's session in the Wayne county morgue.

Heard No Alarm

All those called to the stand in the first two hours stated that no crew member gave the alarm to their knowledge.

Allis Condon of Detroit testified he saw Captain Taylor using a fire hose nozzle to break windows in the C deck drawing room.

"He was certainly sober if I was ever sober and I'm a teetotaler," Condon said.

3 Armies Driving On Canton

CANTON, Sept. 26—(AP)—The Chinese Communists today began their long-awaited, large-scale invasion of Kwangtung. Three Red armies surged into the province which holds this refugee capital. Official dispatches said the force—75,000 troops if the armies were at full strength—used Lungnan, 140 miles northeast of Canton in Kiangsi province as the invasion springboard.

A large part of the Reds have reached the vicinity of Hsinfeng, 90 miles northeast of Canton, these reports said.

The announcement came amid bad news for the Nationalists from Amoy. The loss of a key city guarding the big southeastern port was admitted officially.

The Reds struck after weeks of probing Nationalist defences.

The Nationalists said the Communist armies are under Ken. Chen Keng, acting commander of the second Communist field army which has an estimated total strength of 250,000 men.

The Reds also were moving on the Canton railway. A force of 1,200 regulars and 700 irregulars were heading for Kukong, rail town 125 miles north of Canton.

Capture of Kukong would break rail communication between Canton and Hengyang, main South China defence base 265 miles north of Canton. Hengkang is headquarters for Gen. Pai Chun-hsi, Nationalist Central China commander.

From the hard-pressed island seaport of Amoy dispatches reported the loss of several points in mainland areas near the best port still remaining in Nationalist hands. These included Tsimei, 12 miles north of Amoy.

Dispatches asserted the Nationalists had beaten off several attempts by junk-borne Red troops to land at Amoy.

8,500 At Memorial Service For Victims of Noronic

TORONTO, Sept. 26—(CP)—Relatives of those who died in the burning steamship Noronic met here Sunday with Canadians who shared their grief in a religious memorial service. The service, representative of many faiths, was held in the Coliseum in the Canadian National Exhibition Park, with 8,500 attending. Across the park in the Flower building that has become an improvised morgue many of the Noronic dead still lay, waiting to be identified.

Identifications of 92 bodies has been established morgue officials said Sunday night. Ten were identified during the week-end. Thirty-one persons still are missing.

An inquiry into the cause of the disaster starts today in Detroit. It will be similar to one held last week in Cleveland.

The Roman Catholic clergy who celebrated a solemn Requiem Mass last Sunday for the souls of the Noronic dead took no part in the conduct of Sunday's service.

Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, told those who sat in the tanbark horse show ring and surrounding tiers of seats that "the ugly, charred hull down at the wharf would scarcely be noticed in the ruins of Warsaw, Berlin or London. That flaming ship would look like a fluttering candle in the flames of Hiroshima."

"Why are we making such a fuss about it here?" he asked.

"Because then the world was mad, dehumanized, seized with a frenzy of fear and hate, and now we have attained some degree of normalcy and sanity. . . and surely standing there looking at those charred remnants of what were living, loving, laughing men, women and children. . . many people must have vowed before God never again to do that to anyone deliberately and wilfully."

"Fortunately there is no evidence that the cause of it was rooted in any wantonness or fol-

Charge Porter Wounds Girl

TORONTO, Sept. 26 (CP) — Frederick Morton, 25-year-old railway porter, Sunday was arrested and charged with wounding after Voni Czekaj, 30-year-old displaced person, was attacked with a butcher knife in her downtown Jarvis Street home.

Doctors, who used 50 stitches to close the wounds in the girl's face, said she would be scarred for life. She was cut across the forehead and had another gash down her right cheek.

An argument preceded the slashing.

1 Dies, 7 Ill At Nickel Plant

PORT COLBORNE, Sept 26 — (CP)—One man is dead and seven others are in hospital under observation suffering bronchial distress from an unknown cause at the International Nickel Company refinery here.

Frank Gullieau 59, died in Welland County Hospital Sunday night. Cause of death was given as bronchial pneumonia. The seven others in hospital are all employees of the leaching, calcining and sintering department.

Dr. Lorne Whittake, St. Catharines pathologist, performed an autopsy on Gullieau Sunday night. Coroner Dr. E. A. MacKenzie has called an inquest for Oct. 3 into Gullieau's death.

R. C. McGuire, superintendent of the refinery said the company had no idea of the source that caused the illness.

Dr. Cunningham and Dr. Sutherland of the Department of Health and Mr. Bowbon of the Department of Mines have been at the plant making tests. The company also was continuing making an investigation.

Gullieau's illness was reported a week ago. The others became ill during the week.

Lottery Ticket Raid Nets 30,000 Receipts

TORONTO, Sept. 26 (CP)—Indications the city is being flooded with illegal lottery tickets came over the week-end with the arrest of a man who police said had 30,000 sweepstake ticket receipts in his possession.

Elliot Shapiro, 24, was charged with illegal possession of lottery tickets. He was described by police as "quite a distributor".

The tickets were for the forthcoming Cambridgeshire sweeps.

Toronto police are investigating the possibility that the receipts are bogus and a gang of counterfeiters is at work.

Police said the large number of receipts held by Sharpiro indicates "a few hundred thousand dollars worth must be floating around."

Russia Claims To Have Atom Weapon Two Years

MOSCOW, Sept. 26 (AP) — Western diplomats here weighed today Moscow's latest bid for atom-bomb controls as they studied Russia's claim she has had atomic weapons for at least two years.

The Russian statement—issued Sunday by Tass, official Soviet new agency—was the first official reaction to President Truman's announcement that evidence had been discovered of a recent atomic blast in Russia.

It did not conform nor deny such an explosion, but recalled the statement of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotoff Nov. 6, 1947 that the secret of the atom bomb "has long ceased to exist." It said Russia has had atomic weapons since that time.

Observers' attention was focussed mainly on the last two paragraphs of the Tass statement. These paragraphs read:

"It should be pointed out that the Soviet government, despite the existence in its country of an atomic weapon, adopts and intends adopting in the future of its atomic position in favor of the absolute prohibition of the use of the atomic weapon.

"Concerning control of the atomic weapon, it has to be said that control will be essential in order to check up on fulfillment of a decision on the prohibition of production of the atomic weapon."

(Russia long has urged outlawing the atom bomb and advocated controls to make the ban stick. However, she has turned down the United States' plan for detailed controls and inspection.)

The Soviet statement had the effect of seeking to plant the idea here and abroad that Russia is much farther advanced than Truman's announcement about a "recent" explosion would indicate.

Allows Pictures If Paid Enough

QUEBEC, Sept. 26 — (CP). — Madame Arthur Pitre, the Crown key witness against the Quebec jeweller charged with murder in the sabotage of the Sault Au Chochon plane crash, today allowed news photographers to take pictures of her—at so many dollars a click!

The buxom 41-year-old woman who took an overdose of sleeping pills when she learned police had discovered the bomb plot that sent the DC-3, and 23 people, crashing to destruction, has been closed up in her shabby third floor apartment on Msgr. Gauvreau Street with Provincial Police guards.

Crowds of curious Quebecers—many who never had ventured in the dark decrepit streets of Quartier du Palais—flocked in droves Friday night to the street where the "mysterious" woman lived.

But when a news photographer tried to get into the apartment to take a picture of her, a raucous voice from inside yelled: "Get that bum outa here!"

Sunday photographers met the same refusal—until they waved big bills at M'sieu Pitre.

Mrs. Pitre, for that kind of money, was ready to make herself "pretty" for the papers.

Reservations Making Plan Useless

National Sovereignty Must Be By-passed Russians Informed

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (CP) — L. B. Pearson of Canada today blasted Russian proposals for international control of atomic weapons as "hypocritical and meaningless" if Russia continues to demand national sovereignty in atomic problems.

The Dominion's external affairs minister delivered one of his longest and most direct criticisms of Russian policy in the general debate of the United Nations fourth assembly.

He said a peace proposal made last week by Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia "is obviously meant for propaganda and not for peace." Smaller countries know, he said, that "there is no real peace, but fear and insecurity in the world today."

Pearson noted that Vishinsky argued that international control of atomic weapons "must not involve invasion of national sovereignty."

Control Futile

"Such an insistence makes effective control futile and meaningless. It will be small comfort if and when some atomic bomb drops on us to know that while we have lost everything else, we have saved our sovereignty to the very end."

He added:

If a state puts formal sovereignty ahead of peace and security then its support for international control of atomic and other weapons of mass production is hypocritical and meaningless.'

Only One Grabbing

Apparently referring to Soviet expansion, Pearson said one country in the world had in the last 10 years annexed 179,000 square miles of territory and included in its borders more than 21,000,000 persons.

"How can there be a feeling of peace and security where an alien power insists on imposing its domination over other nations and peoples?" Pearson asked.

He said the free democracies "reject this new imperialism which uses the subversive forces of the international Communism to destroy the national independence of even Communist states which will not accept its interference and its dictates."

Atom Explosion Makes No Difference, Pearson

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (CP). — L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, said Sunday night news of an atomic explosion in Russia should not alter Dominion policies.

"Nor should it alarm us any more than we should be already alarmed by the very existence of the bomb itself," Pearson said.

He spoke in a country-wide CBC hookup as head of the 26-man Canadian delegation to the United Nations Fourth Assembly.

The Canadian minister said that news of the atomic explosion in Russia "merely underlines and reinforces the conclusion that atomic energy must be brought under international control in such a way that we can be absolutely sure that no bombs are being made and will not be made by anyone. . . . "

Drowns In Creek

OSHAWA, Sept. 26—(CP) — Two-year-old Blayne Craig was drowned today after falling into Oshawa creek while playing with his brother, Brian, four, and a playmate, Albert Adair. The body was recovered by Mrs. R. Adair. Firemen, using an inhalator for more than an hour, failed in their efforts to revive the boy.

Say Jeweller Not Talking, Continue Inquiry

QUEBEC, Sept. 26—(CP) — A cloak of secrecy veiled continuing police investigation here today into the motive of the bomb explosion aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane, killing 23 persons.

RCMP and Provincial investigators were reported fingering through bits of evidence scattered over as wide an area as Sept Iles, 700 miles down river, and the shoddy Quartier du Palais here to piece together their complicated case against J. Albert Guay.

The 32-year-old Quebec jeweller is charged with murdering his pretty wife by sending the plane on which she was a passenger with 22 other persons to shattering sudden death Sept. 9 at Sault Au Cochon, 40 miles from here.

In the midst of rumors swirling about the case—unparalleled in Canada's crime history—was one report that police were looking for a light-fingered handyman, known in Quartier du Palais but not yet linked publicly with the case, who is said to be the maker of the little mechanism that set off the dynamite-laden home-made bomb.

During the week-end police questioned Marie-Ange Robitaille, a pretty waitress in a lower town night spot. She is known to have been a close friend of Guay at one time. After questioning, police released the 26-year-old girl and said there was no charge against her.

Meantime they maintained close protective guard over Mrs. Arthur Pitrie, buxom woman friend of the accused Guay, who has admitted that she placed aboard the aircraft the package which later exploded and sent the plane plummeting earthward.

But throughout her questioning, Mrs. Pitre maintained she never knew what the package contained; that she thought it was a statue consigned to Baie Comeau. There is no charge against Mrs. Pitre who will be the chief crown witness against Guay.

Some police sources said it was their belief the package was not intended by Guay to explode until it was opened by his 28-year-old wife. Others were of the opinion the aim had been to have the explosion occur while the aircraft was over the St. Lawrence, in which case the chances of ever determining how the crash occurred would have been slender.

To round out the background of the case police investigated further into the illicit love affairs of Guay known to have been a friend of long standing of Mrs. Pitre.

One investigator said Mrs. Pitre was in debt to Guay because he had on occasions endorsed loans for her; that at the same time Guay was in love with Miss Robitaille who had spurned his advances in recent times.

Guay in recent months was fined $25 for carrying a gun with which the waitress complained she had been threatened.

Soviet Dots East Europe With Launching Bases For New, Deadlier Rockets

Report Russians Used German War Prisoners To Rebuild Hitler Rocket Plant; Huge Underground Factory Also Rebuilt

BERLIN, Sept. 26—(AP)—Russia has dotted eastern Europe with launching bases for deadlier rockets than Hitler ever used in the second world war, German and United States sources said today. Reliable German sources said at least one Nazi-built munitions plant in Soviet-occupied Germany is producing rockets for Russia. The exact location of the Soviet launching bases is not known. But Allied military intelligence officers said they believed Russia had constructed a chain of them—aimed at western Europe—stretching from the Baltic to the Black Sea in Soviet satellite territory.

A United States intelligence officer said "it is a matter of speculation" whether rockets launched in Czechoslovakia, Poland or the Balkans could reach the farthest points of western Europe.

Military informants said there was no evidence the Soviet zone of Germany was being prepared as a rocket launching base.

The Soviet zone, however, includes Peenemuende, one of the biggest of Hitler's rocket plants on the Baltic coast. Peenemuende was once smashed by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers but reports circulated recently Russia has rebuilt it with German war prisoners as laborers.

Another pro-Allied German informant said a huge underground munitions factory built by the Nazis at Rechlin, in northeast Germany, also is turning out new and deadlier rockets than those Hitler used to shoot at England.

He said the Rechlin plant has been cordoned off with a heavy Soviet guard, and that thick minefields have been laid.

A United States Army source said: "It is perfectly logical that Russia should have a network of launching bases for rockets. We know that Russia sincerely fears an attack from the West, and we know that rockets are a basic defence weapon of modern warfare."

German scientists are believed mainly responsible for the Soviet rockets, improving the vicious V-2 weapons they first fashioned for Hitler.

Although the V-2 was the last rocket model used extensively on England, rumors were thick at the end of the war that Nazi engineers had worked their way through successive experimental models to a V-12, capable of reaching the east coast of North America.

Allied military spokesmen said Russia did not use long-range rockets during the war, although there was evidence Soviet engineers were working on the project.

Scugog Girl Loses Eye In Car Crash

OSHAWA, Sept. 26—(CP) — Ruby Brown, 22, of Scugog Island, lost an eye Sunday when the automobile in which she was riding was involved in a head-on collision with another car 10 miles north of here. Police say driver of automobile was Arthur Villa, 21, of Oshawa.

Grant Mahaffy, driver of the other car, told police he dozed at the wheel. He is suffering from shock, possible concussion and bruises.

Attlee Gov't Demands Confidence Vote

LONDON, Sept. 26 — (CP).— The government will call for a vote of confidence over its devaluation decision in Parliament's emergency session which opens tomorrow.

This was disclosed today after the Cabinet had met to gauge the feeling in the Labor Party and the country following the devaluation announcement.

The Cabinet drew up a motion which demands not only approval of devaluation but also of the measures agreed among Britain, the United States, and Canada at the recent Washington tripartite monetary talks.

The motion surprised political quarters by its omnibus character. Asking for endorsement of devaluation and action taken at Washington, it describes the Washington tripartite decisions as "designed to assist in restoring equilibrium in the sterling dollar balance of trade, for the purpose of enabling the economy of the sterling area to maintain stability independent of external aid."

Because of its large majority, the defeat of the government on the confidence motion is considered unlikely. If it were defeated, the government would resign and a general election would follow immediately.

The government, which is watching keenly for signs of left-wing insurgence, has put forward Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, most influential figure of the party left-wing, as one of its speakers in defence of devaluation.

Will Take Days To Solve Fire

TORONTO, Sept. 26 (CP) — Cause of the fire which destroyed the steamer Noronic is not likely to be established definitely for many days yet, Prof. Jocelyn L. Rogers, provincial consultant on chemical analysis, said today.

Hundreds of bushels of debris remain to be sorted, sifted and chemically analysed, he said.

As the investigation continues by Prof. Rogers and officials of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department, diving operations to prepare the ship for salvage and to search for further bodies, which may be in the slip or beneath the ship, are still going on.

Prof. Rogers said "we are concentrating our search in the area of the women's powder room and linen closet which witnesses designate as the probable source of the fire, but we have to proceed very slowly."

Maid With Hefty Right, Routs Burglar

Startled Housebreaker In C.P.C. President's Home Meets His Match

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—A fast fist-swinging, 210-pound maid routed a startled housebreaker early Sunday in the Bayview Ave home of J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers Lt. Still trying to recover from his bout with the maid, the man was found by two police officers wandering along Strathgowan Blvd., in Toronto.

Charged with breaking into the North York home and assaulting the maid is Donald Brown, 20, of Madison Ave. Police say Brown had escaped from the reformatory at Brampton. He will be questioned concerning several other recent break-ins in the neighborhood.

The man wandered from room to room until he reached the third-floor bedroom of Mrs. Ruth White, 55 employed as a maid.

Police said the burglar wakened Mrs. White and demanded to know where Mr. McLean was. Receiving no answer the man swung a flashlight and nit the woman in the face. He pulled the bedclothes off her and hit her again with the flashlight.

Mrs. White leaped from the bed at the man. She closed in and landed at least two solid blows to the face with her fists. They swung back and forth across the room, scattering furniture. After exchanging several more blows the man broke away.

He fled to the main floor and, outside. By this time the whole household had been awakened. Plainclothes constable Albert Bun said the man "kept asking the maid where Mr. McLean's bedroom was."

Mr. McLean was not sleeping in his regular bedroom. Police said the burglar got several dollars from the maid's purse but missed a considerable amount of money in the trousers of Mr. McLean which were hanging on a door in the regular bedroom.

Charged With Arson Promises To Be Good

OSHAWA, Sept. 26 (CP) — Charged with arson, Wallace McQuarrie, today pleaded for a suspended sentence on his promise "to join the church and build another home for his wife and children within a year."

"If I don't you can give me life," he told the magistrate. Judgment was reserved. Bail was set at $1,000.

McQuarrie, who pleaded innocent also appeared on a charge of assaulting his wife. He was remanded to Friday.

The arson count arose from the burning of the McQuarries' bungalow in Whitby township Sept. 17.

Girl And Baby Perish In House Fire

17 Other Fatalities Over Weekend In Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

Elsie Krestel, 16, brought her baby brother home to bed Saturday night, lay down beside him and died with him when fire swept a second-storey room in their Simcoe home in the most tragic mishap of Ontario's 16 week-end fatalities.

The fire was in the room next to the children, but the girl and her seventh-monthold brother, Michael, suffocated and could not be revived despite use of an inhalator brought by firemen in an 18-minute trip from Port Dover, 20 miles away.

Altogether there were 19 violent deaths reported in Eastern Canada. Besides the 10 in Ontario, there were three in Quebec —all in Montreal traffic accidents. There were no fatalities reported in the maritimes.

Traffic collisions were responsible for 10 deaths in Ontario. Besides these and the death of the two children in Simcoe, one man died in a fall downstairs; one man was thrown from a wagon; a little girl choked to death on a bottle and another child died of a fall from a wash basin where she was having a bath.

In Ontario's most serious traffic accident, Mrs. L. Jacklin and her three-month-old son, Glen, of Brussels, were killed near Seaforth when their automobile struck an open culvert.

Frederick Niven, 63, of Toronto, was killed when struck by an automobile.

Falls Under Car

Donna Langner, six, of Toronto, died under the wheels of a car when she ran from behind a parked automobile.

George Grisko, 21, Lethbridge, Alta., was killed and his three companions injured when their automobile went out of control 20 miles west of Toronto.

When the car in which she was riding roled over after hitting a telephone pole and a tree, Helen M. Seitz, 21, was instantly killed.

William Sobala, 19, of Lakeview, Ont., was thrown 115 feet and killed by a driver who failed to stop. The driver later gave himself up to police.

William Nesbitt, of Ottawa's suburban Carleton Heights was killed when he was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile.

James Clark, 59, of Norwich was killed and three others injured in a head-on automobile collision near Norwich.

John Whiting, 24-year-old R.C.A.F. veteran of Sarnia, died in hospital after the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car.

Two children were victims of unusual accidents.

Helen McGovern, 13 months, died at Camp Borden when she slipped from her uncle's soapy hands after her bath.

Linda Hagan, seven-month old ward of the Toronto Children's Aid Society, choked to death, apparently on her bottle of milk, at the home of her foster parents.

In a rural farm accident, William W. Mills, 67, died in hospital after he was thrown from a jolting wagon.

James Tierney, 53, of Toronto, was killed in a fall down basement stairs.

Spend Million To Fix Up Military College

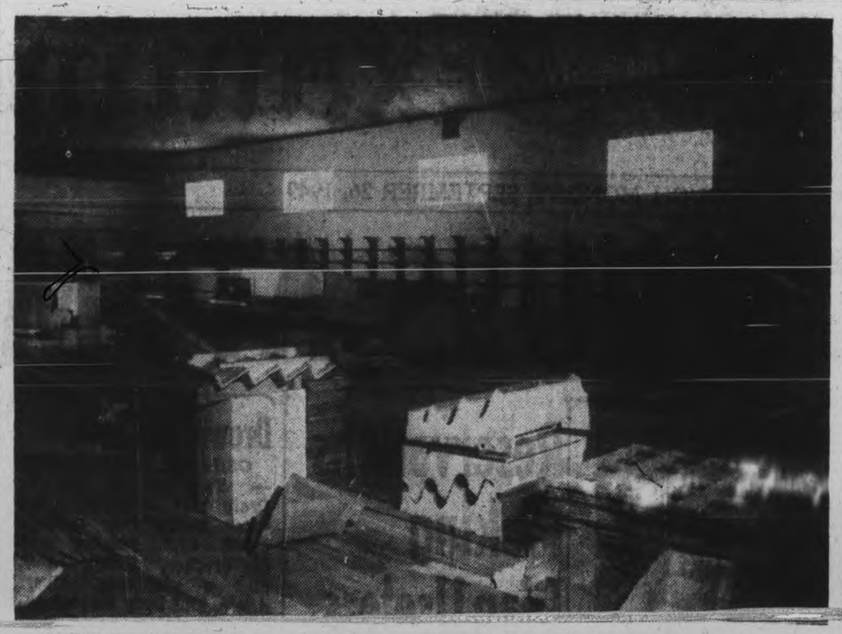
KINGSTON, Sept. 26 —(CP)— Historic Royal Military College is getting a new face for its new job of training officers for Canada's armed forces.

New buildings and renovations, expected to cost close to $1,000,000, will whip R.M.C. into shape for an expected enrolment of 400 cadets.

The work includes a new dormitory and refitting of the "stone frigate" — the college's oldest building. The yellow stone building was built by the Admiralty more than 100 years ago when naval shipbuilding was going on in Kingston harbor.

From its opening in 1876, R.M.C. turned out officers for the army. Many of the old cadets returned during the week-end when Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General, inspected the post-war cadet corps. Many were puzzled by what they saw.

Cadets still march rigidly at attention and salute every officer in sight. First-year men still must cross the parade square "on the double." But they're just cadets now—not "gentleman cadets" as in the pre-war days—and many other evidences of strictly-formal discipline are gone.



Non Longer Army Show

Terminology and practices from the navy and air force have crept into what was once a strictly-army show. Cadets are aroused by a bosun's pipe, borrower from the navy. They march in squadrons and flights, air force formations.

The same situation applies at Royal Roads at Esquimalt, B.C., formerly a naval college. Now, for the first two years, it gives the same training as R.M.C. and cadets come here from Royal Roads for the two final years.

Defence Minister Claxton told a press conference during the week-end ceremonies, the government plans to put R.M.C. in the "best shape it has ever been."

Cadets spend each summer in the service they'll eventualy enter. On second lieutenant's pay of $153 a month and board, it is expected they'll save enough to pay their R.M.C. fees. During the fall and winter, they spend 85 per cent of their time on academic work.

VIEW OF INTERIOR new food super market being erected at George and Sherbrooke Sts. Mr. W. H. Mortlock is General Contractor.

Dominion Stores' Master Market On George St. Nears Completion

A busy crew of workmen is rushing to completion the new Dominion Master Market at the corner of George and Sherbrooke Streets, Peterborough.

Mr. W. H. Mortlock, whose family has lived in Peterborough for two generations, is the contractor.

Having been in this business for over twenty years and specializing in work of this kind, Mr. Mortlock brings a wide experience in building which will help to make this new store the finest food market in the district.

Some of Mr. Mortlock's more recent contracts include the rebuilding of Kresge's store, Park St. Alliance Church and the addition to Confederation Public School, opened last year.

Soon to be installed in the new Dominion Store are the newest types of shelves and fixtures. The lighting, too, will be of the latest fluorescent type, making the store exceptionally bright.

Ventilation has been carefully considered. Large electric fans will be installed so that clean, fresh air will be circulated throughout the store at all times.

An innovation in store equipment are the electric conveyors which will be used to bring foods from the stockrooms in the basement direct to the selling floor. The conveyors can also be reversed to take empty boxes and cartons back to the stockrooms, thus saving the staff many trips up and down stairs.

Storage of perishables will be accommodated in huge refrigerated storerooms. Refrigerated display cases of the most modern type protect meat and fish right to the moment of purchase.

The new Dominion Master Market should be ready to open about the middle of October, with a gala celebration being planned for the occasion.

Railways Authorized To Raise Freight Rate

OTTAWA, Sept. 26 (CP) — Board of Transportation Commissioners Saturday issued their formal order permitting the railways to increase their freight rates by 8 per cent.

This left the effective date of the increase in the hands of the railways which now must issue new tariff schedules. The new rates become effective 10 days after the railways file their new tariffs with the board.

At Montreal, railway officials said the effective date of the increase is yet to be set.

The railways, which have complained of rising expenditures, were expected to lose no time in preparing the tariffs so they may take advantage as soon as possible of the increased rates.

A meeting was expected to be held this week by officials of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways to discuss the matter of tariffs.

Nurse Says

Several witnesses praised First Mate Jerry Woods and Boatswain Bob Morrison for their conduct.

However, Florence Fournier of Detroit said there was neglect on the part of the ship's officers and crew in not notifying passengers promptly about the fire.

Miss Fournier said she retired about 11:30 p.m. and was awakened about 1:30 a.m. by "a wild yell and someone screaming 'O my god.'

"I was afraid to go on deck at first because of that awful scream," she said. "Then I got dressed and went on deck. Our cabin was on D deck.

She stated that there were numerous people running down the corridor and from the reflection that seemed to come from outside her stateroom she thought the dock was on fire.

"Another friend of mine, Miss Effer, came in and said the dock was burning and told us "you have not time to get dressed," Miss Fournier testified.

Blamed It On Drunks

Earlier Miss Fournier testified that her cabin companion, Isabel Werner, had thought the first indication of fire was "the drunks coming back."

Men who appeared to be crew members were hosing down the stairway leading from D deck and they told us to take our time, Miss Fournier said.

Dr. Gerber: Did you notice the captain or any members of the officers.

Miss Fournier: No, I did not.

Dr. Gerber: Did you hear an alarm.

Miss Fournier: Only a boat whistle.

Dr. Gerber: Did any members of the crew knock on your door to give the alarm.

Miss Fournier: No, that is why I am here today to say no one warned us. There was neglect in not notifying the passengers.

Miss Alberta Agla, of Detroit, said she was in one of the ship's parlors when she first became aware of the fire.

Some eight or 10 others, were also in the parlor when a man from a parlor across the hall entered and announced the fire.

"We thought he was just kidding. We went out in the corridor. There was smoke at the main stairway. My sister and I decided the best thing to do was to get off the boat.

"Someone said there was nothing to worry about, that there was some good fire fighting equipment on the boat."

Gangplank Blocked

The witness said she went from the "C" deck parlor, down a stairway to her cabin, where she picked up her coat.

"I headed for the gangplank. Somebody yelled, 'You can't go that way,' and everybody started running toward the front end of the boat."

She said she tried to get out a window, and a man broke a glass, but then told her, "You can't go out this way, kids." She said she somehow made her way across the ship, and onto a nearby ship.

Miss Alga said she first realized the seriousness of the fire when someone yelled, "Help, this poor soul is burned."

No Brawls

"There were no drinking brawls," Miss Alga said. "I did see drinking. This business of drunks hampering people getting off the boat—I never saw it."

Mrs. Edith Bremner of Detroit, said she retired at 10 o'clock with her husband and awoke at 2.12 a.m.

"I told my husband to get up, that there was something decidedly wrong."

"I opened the stateroom door, and all I could see was flames. My husband turned the wrong way and that is how he was burned. We went downstairs. I put my husband's hair out. It was burning."

She said she got off the boat in two minutes and saw no officers, no crewmen and no watchmen. She heard the fire alarm 15 minutes after she left the ship, and the Toronto fire department arrived 15 to 20 minutes after she left the vessel.

'Sleeping Beauty' Identified By Sister

TORONTO, Sept. 26—(CP) — B-2-F was identified Sunday. She was Mary Hresan, 36, of Lakewood, O.

Since last Saturday, when she and other victims of the Noronic disaster were taken to a temporary morgue in Exhibition Park, the body had lain in a glass-topped, hermetically-sealed casket labelled simply, "B-2-F" This was for Row B, No. 2, female.

Lack of quick identification of "the sleeping beauty" had puzzled morgue officials. The body was burned less than that of many others taken from the burned-out hulk of the Great Lakes cruiseship.

Sunday Mrs. Susan Palmer, of Royalton, O., saw the body and identified it at once as that of her sister, Mary Hresan.

ly and we will believe that until it is refuted," he said. "But if it should be discovered that any human folly or sin of individuals or society produced it, we will set ourselves to deal with that thing with the same moral courage and Christian unselfishness that has marked the event itself."

Captain William Taylor, commander of the passenger steamship that burned at its wharf here Sept. 17, entered the building shortly before the service began but did not sit on the platform with the clergy and civic officials.

Rabbi Abraham Feinberg of Holy Blossom Temple, Toronto led the congregation in reciting the 23rd Psalm: "The Lord is my shepherd. . ."

A kilted piper of the 48th Highlanders of Canada, Piper Sgt. Archibald Dewar, marched slowly past the front of the platform as his pipes wailed a lament.

Cases Adjourned

Two charges against John Howran, 26, Bridgenorth, were adjourned for trial in Police Court Thursday. Howran has been charged with careless driving and driving without adequate brakes Saturday in Peterborough. He appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court.

Alex Pepe, 408 Aylmer Street, pleaded guilty to a charge of committing an indecent act, and was given a one-year suspended sentence on a $250 bond.

Ring Only Clue In Identifying Noronic Victim

LINDSAY, Sept. 26—The ordeal of identifying the charred bodies of her brother and sister-in-law less than 24 hours after she had been hostess to them in her own home, was the sequel to the Noronic disaster for Mrs. Noble of Bedford Road, Toronto. One of the most unpleasant tasks for her was to tell her daughter, Mrs. Charles Parish, Riout St., Lindsay, of the horrible death of her aunt and uncle.

Mrs. Parish says her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. David Wilder of Cleveland, Ohio, had taken the Noronic cruise as a vacation trip. They had spent the evening at Mrs. Noble's home in Toronto.

After spending the evening together, the three went to the street car stop together, where Mrs. Noble said goodbye to her brother and sister-in-law.

Mrs. Parish says Mrs. Wilder was identified only by a ring she had been wearing.

Investigate Businesses

Police investigations Sunday flew to Sept Iles, where Guay had once opened a business. They also stopped at Baie Comeau, about 200 miles from here, where Mrs. Guay was to have picked up a parcel of jewellery in return for the parcel she was bringing with her which contained the lethal bomb.

Police said they had questioned at Sept Iles persons who knew Guay and his business there. At Baie Comeau, the pulp and paper centre where Guay also had a business, they made further checks on Guay's acquaintances.

Meanwhile Guay was in Provincial Police cells on remand until Tuesday.

Not Talking

Police were mute on the question of Guay's questioning in his cell but it was reliably said he was "not talking."

In some quarters doubt was expressed the preliminary hearing could proceed as announced for Oct. 4. However, Guay will make court appearance Tuesday—when the remand expires—and on Oct. 4.

Friday night police guarded drug-dazed Mrs. Arthur Pitre in her third floor apartment on Msgr. Gauvreau Street where crowds pushed and elbowed each other to get a glimpse of the "mystery woman" who had taken the bomb to the plane.

Tells About Parcel

Police said the buxom 41-year-old woman's act of swallowing an overdose of sleeping pills which left her unconscious for 72 hours broke the case wide open and produced an admission that she was the courier who took the explosive package aboard the plane.

Mrs. Pitre declared she was an unwitting participant in the destruction of the plane and that she thought the parcel she addressed to Baie Comeau only contained a statue.

Police noted that while the explosion brought death to many persons—including three high executives of the Kennecott Copper Company—it appears to be the work of petty characters merely seeking a solution to their own petty intrigues.

Who Made Bomb?

Police said they worked around the theories that $10,000 worth of insurance on Mrs. Guay's life and sordid Quartier Du Palais love entanglements were responsible for the manufacture of the parcel which weighed 27 pounds.

Police added the parcel bore a genuine address at St. Simeon 90 miles down the St. Lawrence River from Quebec, as its sender.

The address to which it was destined at Baie Comeau, however, was fictitious.

Police said they have checked with the supposed sender of the parcel at St. Simeon and discovered no package left that address.

Police inquiries brought out the fact that Mrs. Pitre had bought dynamite two months ago. She told police she thought it was to be used for blowing up tree stumps on a farm.

Australian Election

CANBERRA, Sept. 26 (Reuters) —Prime Minister Joseph Chifley announced today that federal elections will be held in Australia next Dec. 10.

The last Australian federal election was on Sept. 28, 1946, when the Australian Labor party was returned to office. The Labor party has held office since 1941.

Farm Worker Arrested In Twin Slaying

POPLAR POINT, Man., Sept. 26 — (CP). — Camille Allarie, 21-year-old farm worker, was arrested Saturday night and was charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. William Delbridge, felled by two rifle shots in the living-room of their farm home two miles west of her earlier in the day.

He will be arraigned in Winnipeg today.

Allarie, employed on the Delbridge farm for about 12 years, was found by neighbors, shortly after the shooting, lying across a bed in the house, dazed and weeping.

The neighbors had been summoned by a telephone call from the eldest of the Delbridge children—all under 13—who were in the house at the time of the slayings.

The two bodies lay on the floor in the living-room. Mr. Delbridge, 45, had been shot in the stomach and police said they believe Mrs. Delbridge, 39, was shot as she bent over her husband's body. A bullet from a hunting rifle had entered her back and emerged at the breast.

The Delbridges and Allarie were believed to have attended a dance at Poplar Point, 40 miles north-west of Winnipeg, Friday night.

Allarie, it was reported, had been drinking and an argument developed when the Delbridges protested his behavior on his arrival at the farm.

The shooting took place about 3 a.m. Saturday.

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Greater Supply of Fruits To Be Allowed From US

OTTAWA, Sept. 26 — (CP).— Housewives likely will get a greater supply this winter of American fresh fruits and vegetables as a result of readjustments in United States import controls being planned by the government.

Fresh vegetables from the US have been allowed into Canada periodically to meet Canadian demand when Canadian farm bins are cleaned out. American fresh fruit now is completely banned.

This import relaxation, likely to be made by the government within the next few months, results partly from the recent trination dollar talks in Washington.

Canada gave assurance at those talks that if the United States would allow the United Kingdom to use Marshall aid dollars to purchase Canadian wheat, Canada would review its program controlling imports from the US with the possibility of helping American fruit producers with a growing surplus on their hands.

The move, of course, will mean a greater outward flow of Canadian dollar reserves, but the government appears to have other plans to cut the flow.

Steel Reductions

Steel, once a post-war scarcity, now is in plentiful supply in Canada Canadian steel producers appear to be able to supply all requirements.

A few other American products used in construction, such as copper door knobs, brass and zinc equipment, also may feel the brunt of Canadian controls.

On a general basis, the government means of turning back all American commodities which the Canadian manufacturing field can supply.

Grandsons Pallbearers At Deck Funeral

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Albert Edward Deck, 80, of 933 Water St., was held today at the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. E. J. Whan of Park Street Baptist Church officiated. Pallbearers all grandsons, were Grover, Colin, Keith and Kenneth Deck, Gerald and Jack Carpenter. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Deck died Thursday at her home following a long illness. She was born in Marmora, Maud Mary, daughter of the late John Fletcher and Esther Mosher, and had lived in Peterborough for the past 44 years. Previously she resided in Weyburn, Sask. Mrs. Deck was a member of Park Street Baptist Church.

Nephew Says Mass At Grafton Funeral

The funeral of Miss Theresa Cleary, who died in Peterborough was held from J. Blacklock's Funeral Home to St. Mary's Church, Grafton, Friday morning. Requiem mass was said by her nephew, Father Leo Cleary, with Father Black in the sanctuary.

Miss Cleary was born in Percy Township, the daughter of the late Patrick Cleary and Ellen Doodey. She is survived by her brother Patrick of Grafton, and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Grafton, and the graveside prayers were said by Father Cleary and Father Black.

Township Reeve To Be Defendant In Libel Action

COBOURG, Sept. 26 (NS) — Sittings of the Supreme Court opened today before Mr. Justice J. K. MacKay with a fairly heavy list.

Arnold Lever of Smithfield is plaintiff in a $10,000 damage action against James F. George, reeve of Brighton township. Both are members of the Union Section School Board of Murray and Brighton townships. Plaintiff alleges that on March 3, 1949 at a meeting of the school board, the defendant made certain slanderous statements about him.

A dispute over a promissory note, an action is being brought by James Richards of Orono against Wilford Duffy and Mary Duffy of Weston. The claim is for $4,700.00 which is still owing on the note.

On the criminal docket is a rape charge against 22 year old Robert Broome of Anderson, South Carolina. He is alleged to have raped a 15 year old Haldimand township girl on August 21 in a trailer when a circus played here. The accused operated a concession in the circus.

Seven divorce cases are on the docket. Traversed from the Whitby Assizes is the automobile damage action brought by Lorne Bradley of Whitby against Bruin Products and James Turrell. Plaintiff alleges that on Jan. 6, 1947, his car was struck by defendant's truck and that he sustained serious injuries. The claim is for $3,600 medical bills and loss of wages plus $10,000 damages. The case went on for three days at Whitby and then was traversed to court here because of evidence that accidentally went before the jury which should not have.

Claiming that he was assaulted by the defendant, David White of Smithfield has a damage action against Kenneth Ferguson of the same village, alleging that he was assaulted on June 17 of last year and the amount claimed is $2,452. Defendant states that the plaintiff was trespassing on his land and taking pictures and that all he did was grab the camera.

New Spurs To New Housing

The housing problems, the chief ones being the shortage and the high cost of house-building, have given ample indication that they are more than merely post-war. They are long-term peacetime problems, and as such, a long-term policy must be made to deal with them. The Minister of Reconstruction the Honourable R. H. Winters, came forward Wednesday with the Government's policy. It is quite flexible and still rather tentative.

The premises on which it is based are (a) that the 80,000 housing units built last year, and the 100,000 expected by the end of this year do little more, even at this record rate, than keep up with current needs, and make no important inroads into the backlog; (b) that Canadians want to own their own homes, not to rent them; (c) that the primary and most economical source of new housing has been and will continue to be private endeavour. Even if (b) and (c) are true, the new Government measures are designed also to provide for those Canadians who must rent, rather than buy; and to provide for Government building of housing projects where "private endeavour" even though subsidized, does not, will not, or cannot cope with the situation.

The chief provisions are (1) a type of second-mortgage, so as to reduce house-buyers' down payments. This will be a government loan to the purchaser up to one-sixth of the loan which it has made to the builder. The down payment on a $7,000 house which the purchaser will have to find would be less than $1,000. The Ontario Government has already instituted a type of "second mortgage" similar to the one which the Federal Government proposes.

(2) Mr. Winters has sought and found the co-operation of Provincial governments. The Federal and the Provincial Governments, the first paying 75 per cent., the Provincial paying 25 per cent. will jointly undertake district housing projects. The Provinces would see to the buying of the land and the acquisition of services (in co-operation with the municipalities) and the Federal Government would attend to the planning, design and construction of the projects. There would be joint management of the projects. The original investment would be amortized over long periods, if the houses are for rent and not for sale. The municipalities would be given payments in lieu of taxes. "Care would be exercised," Mr. Winters said, "to see that the operations supplement rather than replace the activity of private endeavour".

* * *

The plan as outlined last Wednesday in Parliament is necessarily sketchy. The Bill incorporating it has yet to come before the House, and the Provincial governments have yet to give their legislative approval. The proof of the practicality and effectiveness will be in the number of houses build and whether or not people will be able to afford them. There are two major holes in the plan. What is to happen to the new houses and their owners who undertake now to buy a house on a shoestring and to pay for it in instalments over twenty years at the present rate, if the present levels of employment and individual incomes drop? The second gap is that there is no provision for slum clearance, and almost nothing for the family who already lives half in the gutter.

Machine Cleaning In Philadelphia

An interesting chapter in the history of United States political machines and the "boss" system was written in Philadelphia recently. In that Pennsylvania metropolis, the Republicans have had control of municipal politics and civic management for decades, under various bosses. Although generally admitted to be corrupt, the machine had managed to keep Philadelphians contented, even complacent, but its operators changed gear in the wrong place about two years ago, when municipal employees demanded a wage increase which would boost civic payrolls by approximately $5,000,000.

Instead of dealing with the request themselves, the bosses appointed a committee of fifteen well-known citizens to examine the request and make recommendations. This committee proceeded to horrify the bosses by recommending that the city's affairs should be more efficiently managed, in order to save money which could be used to meet the demand for higher wages. Moreover, the committee began an investigation to find out how economies could be effected.

The machine immediately began to backfire, noisily enough to shatter complacency. One official hanged himself, another attempted suicide by slashing his wrists. About twenty others will appear in courts on various charges. And while this was occurring a former ward leader assumed control by a series of shrewd moves. Once in the driver's seat, he began a campaign to clean up Philadelphia's politics. His name is William E. Meade; he is of Irish descent, as so many successful municipal politicians in the United States have been—and are. A machine man himself, he managed to gain the support of ward leaders in his campaign for "new faces"—and then surprised them by not asking them to select the "new faces".

Instead, he asked a group of Philadelphia's most prominent citizens to select candidates for key offices in the civic administration. The group did so, and the machine now finds itself backing candidates of unquestioned integrity—an investment banker and economist, a professor of medicine, a wealthy meat packer, and a prominent lawyer. At the top level, the Philadelphia political machine is now stainless and shining. In fact, there would seem to be only one flaw in the set-up—it's still a machine, and it could get grimy again.

Two U.E. Conventions

In our correspondence column today is a letter from Mr. M. Chambers, a member of the United Electrical Workers Union (Local 524-the C.G.E. workers' branch). Mr. Chambers has been President of Local 524, but in the last elections which marked a victory of right wing over left wing factions in the local union, he was defeated by Mr. John Morton. This fact is mentioned to clarify for general readers some points in Mr. Chambers' letter.

The leadership of Local 524 is now out of the hands of left-wingers, even though District Five President (the District is a large one, including Hamilton, Toronto and Peterborough) is Mr. C. S. Jackson.

The United Electrical Workers Union (C.C.L.-C.I.O.) held its annual international convention in Cleveland last week. To this, as usual, the Canadian unions were expected to send voting delegates. District Five officials recommended that its various Locals should not send delegates. One reason for this was obviously a fear that American border officials might not allow Canadian left-wing delegates, or Communist sympathizers, to cross. It will be remembered that Mr. Jackson himself was turned back by American immigration officials some months ago when he went across to the U.S.A.

District Five officials, under Mr. Jackson's presidency, decided to stage a convention in Hamilton for Canadian U.E. locals. This convention was timed to coincide with the Cleveland convention. However, despite the recommendations of the District Five Council, Local 524 decided to send delegates to Cleveland, and it did. It was the only Canadian Local which did so. Four went, the top officials of the Local, including Mr. Morton. They went as official delegates of some 3,000 Peterborough workers.

Delegates, not the top officials of the Local, also went to Hamilton, to the side convention. Since it was a smaller convention, they would have proportionately more bloc votes (165, Mr. Chambers states). The delegates to the large Cleveland convention would have fewer bloc votes (30, Mr. Chambers states), though they did represent the entire 3,000-odd members of the Local, that is, they were the official and only authoritative voice of Local 524 on matters which were before the Cleveland convention.

This last point needs clarifying since it has been inferred by District Five officials (through its September 16th news-sheet) that delegates to the Hamilton convention were "empowered to register their positions on matters before the International Convention [Cleveland] while attending the District Convention" [Hamilton]. In fact, the Union's constitution does not allow for delegates to vote by proxy. Votes cast in Hamilton were not counted at Cleveland.

The Kremlin On the Defensive

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

(Special report from Vienna to the London Observer and the Peterborough Examiner)

THE impression already gained from reports reaching London of a radical change in Kremlin policy is strengthened by events in Austria. Here there is very little doubt that Moscow has virtually written off the Austrian Communist Party as a bad job. All the available information goes to show that while Dr. Fischer may still count on the moral support of the Kremlin, he can expect very little else.

It could be argued that Austria is a special case. In the first place, before the last elections, in which they put up such a miserable show, the Austrian Communists represented themselves to Moscow as being far stronger than they were. In the second place the Party [illegible] Yugoslav issue. The hard core of Austrian Communism among the Carinthian Slovenes [illegible] disintegrated: they stood for the Yugoslav claims to ports of Carinthia, and thus for Tito. Now that Moscow has outlawed Tito and abandoned support of Yugoslavia's territorial claims, they see themselves betrayed. It is this complication more than anything else which encourages official circles in Vienna to believe that the Communists will do even worse in the coming elections than they did last time.

THIS in itself would not be enough to account for the Kremlin's negative attitude towards the Austrian Communists if the Cominform were pursuing a truly aggressive and expansive policy. In that case the active buttressing of Dr. Fischer's party would still pay dividends. Thus the simple fact of this neglect must be seen as one more piece in the strange and apparently confused pattern of Kremlin foreign policy as a whole—a pattern which at present includes so many contradictions that it is impossible to explain it all except in terms of a transition from one phase to another.

OUTWARDLY the Cominform was never more aggressive. Abuse and threats are hurled at Tito while troops are paraded on his frontiers and every effort is made to ruin his economy. Budapest is treated to a repetition of the grand Moscow purge trials of the 'thirties and one of the Kremlin's most unscrupulous and devoted servants is made to pillory himself as a small-time American agent. Articles appear in "Pravda" reminding the satellites that they owe their whole existence to the strength of Soviet arms. Marshal Voroshilov, elder of the Politburo and Stalin's oldest and closest friend, tours the Balkans to explain, amongst other things, that the only criterion of Communist loyalty is readiness to defend the Soviet Union.

Yet at the very moment when the whole attention of the Kremlin is apparently concentrated on a great drive to tighten its hold on Eastern Europe, Mr. Vyshinsky finds time to attend the meetings of the United Nations; the question of the Austrian Treaty (the completion of which would force Russia to take her troops away from Hungary and Bulgaria) looks like being re-opened; and the Soviet leader of the Cominform, the immensely powerful Georgi Malenkov, has not a word to say.

AT the same time, from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Hungary come reports of falling production, supporting the belief that the satellites were likely to prove more of a liability than an asset to the Kremlin. From Bulgaria and Hungary come further reports of confusion inside the local Communist hierarchies and an uncomfortable suspicion on their part that the Kremlin is preparing to leave them in the lurch,—as it once left the German Communists—and do a deal with the Western Allies, as it once did with Hitler.

The picture is not complete without a glance at events inside Russia itself. For Soviet foreign policy is not an abstract exercise conducted in a vacuum: it is related very closely to Soviet domestic policy; and both domestic and foreign policy are inevitably conditioned by the economic and moral state of the Soviet Union.

HERE again the picture is confused. But the events of the last six months are significant—the unmistakable relegation of Mr. Molotov to a less active position; the vicious purge of the whole entourage of the late Andrei Alexandrovitch Zhdanov (including the removal of the Chief Planner, N. A. Voznessensky); the unobtrusive promotion to the ranks of the Deputy Prime Ministers of three industrial magnates, more distinguished for their practical ability than for their Party connections; the crescendo of propaganda designed to convince the Russians of their absolute isolation in a hostile world and their absolute superiority to the rest of the world if only they will believe in themselves; and the convulsive drive to force the unwilling peasants into producing more and better food for the towns.

All these items, and others too numerous to mention, suggest that Russia is passing through a domestic crisis, and that some, if not all, of the members of the Government feel that the Soviet Union is in no position to pursue an imperial policy in Europe in the teeth of Western opposition. Time alone can tell whether the present sound and fury in the Balkans is cover for a prepared withdrawal or a vicious effort to cow Eastern Europe into total submission while there is still time. The one thing that is plain is that the Kremlin is on the defensive.

TWO HOUSES SHALL STAND

Letters To The Editor

"LYING, DISTORTED STATEMENTS"

Sir: I write this letter to you with the hope of, but no assurance of having it printed. As I am a subscriber to your paper, I thought perhaps you might show me the same courtesy as was shown an American reporter and his column (even headlines). I refer, Mr. Editor, to the article written by one Bernard K. Johnpoll, September 22nd.

I seem to recall the days, when I, as President of Local 524 offered you press releases that you, Mr. Editor, were very careful then, to be sure of their truth and validity, before you printed them. Has your policy changed? Or will you, when it serves your purpose print any kind of lying, distorted statements in an endeavour to help big business confuse, divide, and try to bust up the Union of the G.E. Workers of this town?

Why don't you tell them the true facts, Mr. Editor? If you don't know them, let me enlighten you.

This column says in part "The 3,200 Canadian votes represented at the Convention all went against the left wing." Thirty votes not 3,200 would have been correct. That is the number of votes the delegation from Local 524 carried.

What this report doesn't tell your readers is the fact that delegates carrying 165 votes were at our District Convention at Hamilton. These 165 votes would have been cast for the present officers and majority U.E. Policy, but border crossing permits would have been refused delegates for that very reason.

Why do you think Messrs. Morton, O'Donnell and Chiles were granted permission to cross, other than to join a minority group to vote against U.E. Policy? Let's be honest, Mr. Editor.

Let's look at the statements of Morton and O'Donnell made at the Convention and so eagerly reported in your paper.

O'Donnell says: "It is not sufficient to rely on past achievements but rather to look ahead. I do not consider that the present leadership takes the constructive and positive position that present conditions requires."

Morton says: "International Officers of the U.E. stand before their convention charged with sabotaging a Canadian wage fight by the fact that their paid organizers revealed before the press that strike sentiments were expressed at secret conference session."

These statements were made speaking in support of a minority resolution dealing with the proposals advanced by the Steel Fact Finding Board of U.S.A. These proposals, if accepted, by our Union would drop all the demands for increase in wages, shorter hours and betterment of working conditions already agreed upon by the Joint Conference Boards of the U.E. in General Electric and Westinghouse in the States.

Also there were other recommendations in the Steel Fact Finding Report which would virtually wipe out collective bargaining. These proposals Morton and O'Donnell were ready to vote for.

Did they forget that they are on our Joint Negotiating Committee of GE Locals here in Canada and that we are in the same fight as our brothers across the line for shorter hours, wage increases, seniority rights, etc. Or have they, by supporting this other position, already given up the fight.

These are some of the facts, Mr. Editor, which you should tell your readers.

Thanking you for this space, which in all fairness, should be mine, I remain.

Yours truly,
MERV. CHAMBERS,
Local 524, UE-CIO.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Our Johnpoll Cleveland news-story of September 22 began with this sentence: "Peterborough's four delegates to the United Electrical Workers Union (CCL-CIO) international convention cast the votes for the local's 3,200 members to oust the U.E.'s pro-Communist leadership here Wednesday". Four paragraphs below this introductory sentence is the shortened description to which Mr. Chamber's objects in his letter. Following upon the first full and accurate statement, the second ("the 3,200 Canadian votes represented at the Convention") is, we consider, neither deceitful nor distorted.)

SEEKS TRACES OF THE O'BEIRNE'S

Sir: I am engaged in some bona fide research for the British Columbia Historical Quarterly with special reference to the O'Beirne Family. Can any of your readers amplify the following facts, which I believe to be true?

William Mark O'Beirne, b. 26th April, 1854, the son of Patrick H. O'Beirne and Henrietta ..... Birthplace: Cavan, Ont.

Johnatha (?) Cooper O'Beirne, believed to have been a brother of the above. d. Stratford about ten years ago. Date?

Patrick H. O'Beirne, where and when did he die?

Ivan O'Beirne, d. 16th July, 1874, Peterborough. Believed to have been the son of Rev. Andrew O'Beirne of Enniskillen, Co. Fermanagh. He is also believed to have had a son, A. C. O'Beirne about whom I have been able to find nothing.

I shall be pleased to hear from any of your readers at 40 Montclair Ave., Toronto 12, Ontario.

Yours faithfully,

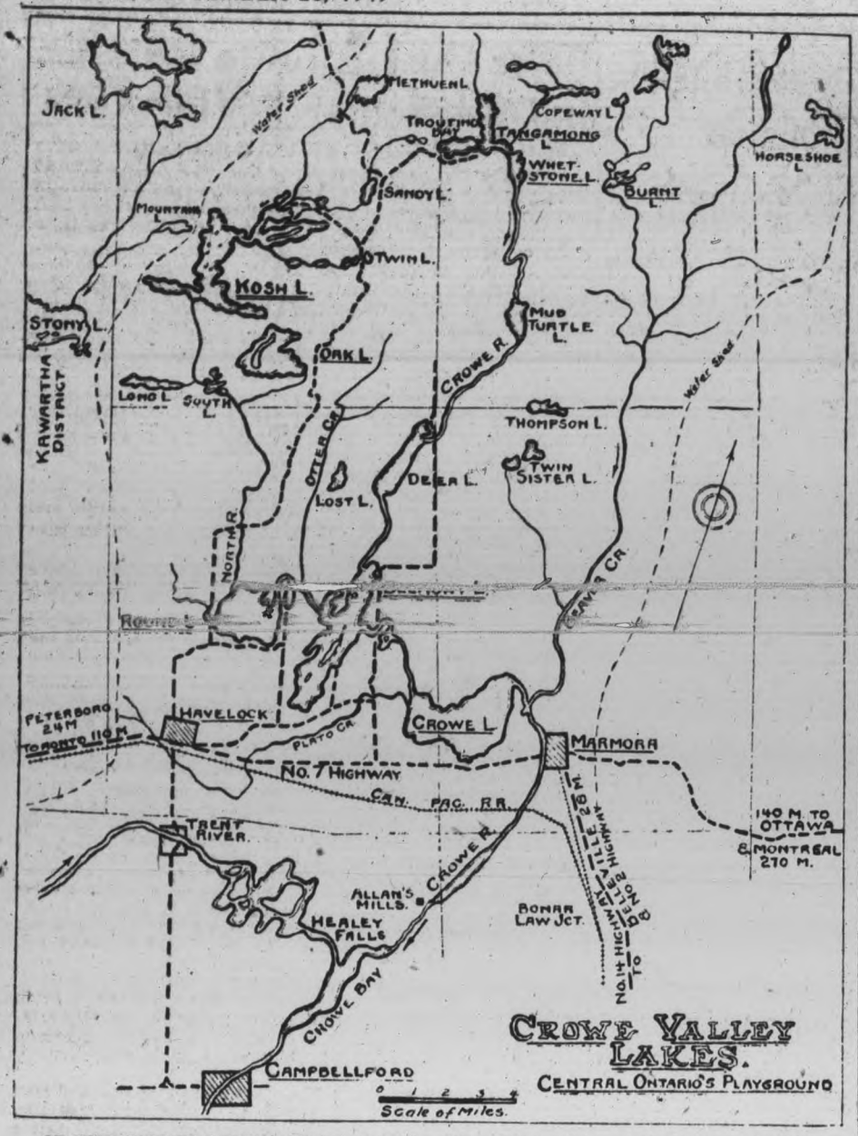
Australia Plans Giant Power Project

(UNESCO)



New cities are expected to spring up in sparsely-populated southeastern Australia upon completion of a hydroelectric project described by its planners as comparable to the Tennessee Valley Authority in the United States.

The scope of the project was disclosed recently in Melbourne by officials of the newly-formed Snowy Mountains Hydroelectric Authority. It will involve the construction of seven major dams, 16 power stations, 86 miles of tunnels and 550 miles of canals changing the courses of four rivers.

A BRITISH OPINION

World Copyright By arrangement with Evening Standard.

CROWE VALLEY LAKES will become as familiar a term as the Kawarthas or Muskoka district if resort operators and other business men on the lakes around the Crowe River are successful in their joint campaign to popularise this beautiful, but little known lake district. At a recent meeting of those interested in a flourishing tourist trade, an extensive publicity campaign was planned. To many Peterborough people even, this attractive district only 24 miles east of the city, holds many unexplored advantages for summertime recreation.

To Develop Tourist Centre At Crowe Valley Lakes

HAVELOCK, Sept. 26 (ENS)—"Crowe Valley Lakes," Central Ontario's Playground, was the name chosen at a recent meeting of resort owners, business men and other interested persons for the beautiful resort area comprising Crowe, Belmont, Round, Oak, Kosh, Tongamong, Trout, Deer, Mud and Turtle Lakes and the Crowe River watershed.

The meeting took place at the Belmont Lake home of J. D. Cumming.

Havelock and Marmora are the natural gateways to this vacation area which formerly suffered from lack of a distinctive name. It is aptly called Central Ontario's Playground.

Officers elected were: resident, Joseph Bard, Trout Lake; secretary, J. D. Cumming, Belmont Lake; treasurer, A. F. Fraser, Marmora.

A program of publicity is in progress and next season information booths, road signs, lists of resorts, guides, bait supplies, service stations and merchants will be available to visitors.

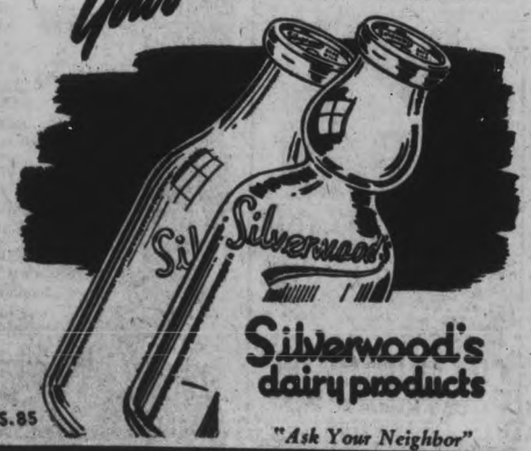
It is believed that if everyone helps, Crowe Valley Lakes should become as well known as the Kawarthas, Muskoka and other vacation spots, none of which has more to offer than the beautiful tributary of the Trent—Crowe River Valley.

Daylight Time Brings Confusion

By The Canadian Press.

The week-end switchover by some sections of Ontario from Eastern Daylight Time to Eastern Standard Time left a patchwork of confusion far greater than that experienced in other years.

The difficulty this year is that 15 communities—including Toronto Hamilton and Ottawa—are continuing fast time until Nov. 26 as a power conservation measure. Persons travelling between the daylight saving areas and the sections now back on Standard Time find they must find out in advance which system they will encounter.



In areas still on daylight time, many radio programs are being scheduled an hour later than usual due to the time change.

A Canadian Press survey showed these cities remaining on daylight time until Nov. 26: Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Cornwall, Brockville, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Peterborough Galt, Brantford, St. Catharines, Welland, Kitchener and Woodstock.

Those which have returned to Standard Time are: Windsor, London, Owen Sound, St. Thomas, Chatham, Sarnia, Niagara Falls, North Bay, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Kirkland Lake, Timmins, Guelph and Stratford.

Outside Ontario, Halifax is continuing Daylight Time until Nov. 26, while Montreal and Quebec revert to Standard Time Oct. 30.

"Most tooth loss comes from gum troubles," say dentists.

FIGHT TOOTH DECAY AND GUM TROUBLES } BOTH!

New dental research proves you can help prevent tooth decay as you guard your gums — this doubly-effective Ipana way!

DENTISTS SAY THE IPANA WAY PROMOTES HEALTHIER GUMS!

In thousands of recent reports from all over the country, dentists say the Ipana way promotes healthier gums. That's just as important as fighting decay, for dentists warn that you can't have healthy teeth without healthy gums! Try this dentist-approved Ipana care—for healthier teeth and healthier gums both.

DENTAL RESEARCH SHOWS HOW IPANA FIGHTS DECAY!

Scientific research based on daily dental examinations now proves that every time, any time you brush your teeth with Ipana, it helps fight tooth decay by effectively reducing and keeping down the acid-forming bacteria. No other paste or powder is more effective for this purpose. And Ipana helps remove bacteria-trapping deposits that invite decay.

HERE'S THE DENTIST-APPROVED IPANA WAY — EASY AS 1, 2:
The Ipana way is doubly-effective. 1. Between regular visits to your dentist, brush all tooth surfaces with Ipana after every meal. (Ipana's special cleansing formula helps prevent tooth decay—leaves teeth cleaner.) 2. Then massage gums the way your dentist advises. (Ipana's unique formula stimulates circulation—promotes healthier gums.)

Dentists warn that if you want to save your teeth, you must protect your teeth and gums both.

For not only does tooth decay cause untold misery and expense. Gum troubles cause even more tooth losses than decay, according to leading dental authorities. And gum troubles can strike anyone—even healthy youngsters and teen-agers—with little warning!

Now you and your family can help prevent tooth decay and gum troubles BOTH—with doubly-effective Ipana dental care.

For new dental research now proves that Ipana's own special formula effectively reduces and keeps down acid-forming bacteria—considered a major cause of tooth decay. Ipana fully meets these standards for an anti-decay dentifrice.

And more—Ipana is the only leading tooth paste specially designed to stimulate gum circulation—promote healthier gums.

IPANA for Both!
HEALTHIER TEETH, HEALTHIER GUMS

And refreshing Ipana leaves your breath cleaner, your mouth fresher, too!

PCVS Seniors Beat Riverdale As Juniors Lose Their Fray

Riverdale Collegiate seniors of Toronto suffered their worst opening game defeat in four years Saturday night in Exhibition Park as the PCVS senior grid squad rolled over them to a 35 to 5 victory. The PCVS juniors were not so fortunate being edged out 10-8 after building up an early first quarter lead. This is the first time in four years that the Collegiates have split the opening doubleheader.. Twice Riverdale has swept both opening games, while Peterborough took them in '47.

Evans and Armstrong took advantage of the large holes opened by the strong PCVS line in the Riverdale front. The PCVS line only faltered once, that coming in the fourth quarter when the Riverdale squad got their touch. Ellis for Riverdale was effective with his plunges for the first quarter, but the PCVS line closed in the rest of the game, not giving an inch.

Riverdale had more success with their passing plays, but even then the efforts were poor. They only completed three with five interceptions being made by PCVS. Northcott had trouble getting his throws away for PCVS as the Riverdale boys broke through nearly every passing play, forcing him to run on several occasions, once for 22 yards.

Drove Ahead

A Northcott-to-Warren Brown pass in the first quarter, one of three completed by PCVS, started the PCI'ers on a march. From the Riverdale 43-yard line, Armstrong and Evans plunged and ran end runs to the Riverdale eight. Two centre plunges by Evans took the ball to the one-yard line where Riverdale got possession. On their second down Bill King of Riverdale was tackled by Burns for a safety touch. Coon's runbacks on Ellis' kicks were a feature of the first quarter. Riverdale fumbled on their one-yard line at the start of the second, with PCVS recovering. Evans went across standing up to make the score 7-0 for PCVS. The convert by Northcott was not good. Late in the quarter Northcott booted to the Riverdale 20 where the Clark brothers were stopped. Again Riverdale fumbled —this time back on their 12-yard line. Evans plunged to the three. Northcott finally went over for a touch. He kicked the convert. The score ended at the half 13-0 for PCVS.

After Riverdale received the kick from PCVS to start the second half, Evans intercepted a B. Clark pass at the Riverdale 35, going over for a touch. The convert by Northcott was blocked. The score was 18-0. After a poor kick by Riverdale, Killingbeck of PCVS receiving, the PCI'ers went to the Riverdale one-yard line with Northcott having two runs good for 25 yards. Evans and Armstrong went the rest with their plunges. On their first down on the Riverdale one PCVS fumbled and recovered. Evans went around the end for a touch on the second. The convert by Northcott was good, making the score 24-0 for PCVS. Ellis fumbled on the Riverdale 30 on a kick by Northcott. The PCVS linemen booted the ball up the field, with Bill English falling on it for a touch. The convert by Northcott was not good to have it at the end of the third quarter 29-0.

Riverdale worked their way to the PCVS 25. B. Clark passed to G. Clark for 15 yards. B. Clark then carried to the PCVS two. He went over standing up. The convert missed, making the score 29-5. Gandy of PCVS intercepted B. Clark's pass to go from the PCVS 50 to the Riverdale 47. An Evans-to-Armstrong pass was good for a touchdown after Armstrong ran for 28 yards. Northcott's convert was good.

Junior Game

Fumbles and poor kicking enabled the PCVS juniors to run up eight points on the Riverdale team in the first quarter. Young's booting was effective throughout the quarter, holding the Riverdale boys well into their zone. PCVS started well in the second, but Mighton's kicking sent them back into their zone. Riverdale then counted a touch in the second and another in the third as they continued to pin the PCI'ers in their zone. Riverdale continued to dominate the play until the dying moments of the game. Langhorne for PCVS ran from the PCVS 28 to the Riverdale 35 after a Mighton kick. A Stewart-to-Young pass was good for 18 yards, but was called back. On the last play Young passed to Langhorne for 15 yards.

Timgren, Ueda, Mighton, Fisher and Crighton were the pick of the Riverdale squad. Young, Langhorne and Fowler were the pick of the PCVS backfield, while Al McIlraith was the star in the front line.

Start Strong

PCVS recovered when Ueda fumbled on the PCVS 45 in the first quarter. Plunges by Cunningham and Stewart put the ball on the Riverdale 25. Young's kick was received by Reyd in the end zone and was brought down for a single point. Minutes later Mighton kicked from the Riverdale 10 and Stewart was dropped at the Riverdale 28. After three kicks, two offsides, one by Riverdale and the other by Peterborough, Reyd was again brought down in touch teritory for a single point. PCVS pushed Riverdale to the Riverdale 20. Here Fisher of Riverdale plunged through the centre for nine yards. On the next play the snap was bad and Al McIlraith booted the ball to the one-yard line where he picked it up and went across for a touch. The convert by Young was good to make the score PCVS 8, Riverdale 0.

In the second, Mighton intercepted Stewart's pass and went to the PCVS 23 where he was tackled by Fowler. A Yakimoff-to-Mighton pass put the ball on the PCVS 12. From here Ueda plunged over the PCVS line for a touch. Al McIlraith blocked the convert. The score ended at the half, PCVS 8, Riverdale 5.

Williams of Riverdale took a blocked PCVS kick to the PCVS 45 at the beginning of the second half. Timgren and Fisher plunged to the PCVS 34. Phillips plunged for 10 yards, then five yards. Fisher went across on an end run. The convert was missed and the score ended the third quarter at Riverdale 10, PCVS 8. The work of Timgren, Mighton and Ueda held the PCI'ers well in their territory most of the fourth.

Hold Police Games

BOWMANVILLE, Sept. 26 — (CP)—The junior police games, organized as a concrete method of combating juvenile delinquency, were held here Saturday with 250 boys from 20 district schools taking part. Officers of the RCMP, Provincial Police and Municipal Police organizations took part in the track and field events as an aid to promoting greater understanding between policemen and the youths of the community.

Kingston Gains Semi-Final Over Electrics

Local soccer fans were treated to one of the best soccer games seen here in years when Kingston defeated the Canadian General Electric eleven 3-2 in the semi-final of the Ontario cup, on King Edward Park, Saturday afternoon, before a good attendance Kingston wins the round 7-3 and will play the winner of the Owen Sound vs. Riverdale club.

After the game the local club entertained the visitors to a banquet in the St. George's Church basement where the view was expressed that an inter-city league may be formed next year.

CGE lost the toss and had to face the wind and sun. Immediately the Petes settled down to [illegible] all angles with the custodian being unbeatable. After 15 minutes of play Mackin, left full back, intercepted to pass out to Wassell and sent Neibela away up the feld where he drove hard from 20 yards and it bounced off the goalie's outstretched arms to land below the rigging. Mackin again trapped the ball on the goal-line to punt clear to Granday who shot while on the run in between the two full backs to make Kingston two up. This set-back found the CGE putting up one of the best exhibitions of soccer as they battered away at the Kingston goal to find Folgar goalie diving, jumping up in the air and throwing himself at the ball to make unbelievable saves. Ten minutes from the half-time period a foul kick from 20 yards out resulted in Cotton lifting the ball into the rigging. They went right back again with Cotton hitting the upright as the goalie lay on the ground. Strong shot the ball over to Featherstone who hit the crossbar but he was rewarded on the next visit and bulged the rigging from a Strong pass on the right to make it 2-2.

Second Half

On resuming, Kingston was outplayed in every department as CGE rattled the cross-bar repeatedly with terrific drives and the goalie diverting or punting clear at the crucial moment. Attard replaced Goodhew at the left wing and his presence made things interesting around the Kingston goalie as he beat him nicely but the ball rolled past the upright. Keeping up the pressure Wassell, Kingston, handled the ball inside the penalty area and Featherstone was trusted with the kick while Folgar saved. At this point, Kingston went on the defensive to hold their lead on the round as CGE did everything but score, while Forrest and Macking, full backs, nullified every effort Strong, Featherstone and Steel initiated. Two minutes to go, a foul kick from the wing resulted in a long shot into goal where Gargaro headed past the CGE goalie to win the round 7-3.

Kingston— B. Folgar, goal; R. Forrest and B. Mackin, full backs; J. Poulton, J. Wassell and B. Russell, half backs; N. Cantaratti, C. Niedbela, G. Granday, M. Gargaro, and B. Berry, forwards. Subs: D. Dark, B. Douglas, J. Stafford.

CGE—J. Chamberlain, goal; S. Murduff and R. Tollinton, full backs; S. McGann, J. Craig and F. Booth half backs; R. Strong, H. Steel, A. Featherstone, E. Cotton and J. Goodhew, forwards Subs: F. Attard, C. Murduff.

Referee—T. G. Garland. Linesmen, B. Dark and A. Downer.

OLA Bantam Tilt

BRAMPTON, Sept. 26.—Led by Larry Gibson with a six-goal display, Brampton Excelsior bantams defeated Peterborough 12-8 in the first game of their best-of-three OLA playoffs in Brampton's Rose Bowl Saturday night.

Steadily increasing their lead from the first quarter, the Excelsiors held a 7-5 half-time advantage, pounding in three goals without a reply in the third quarter.

Peterborough—C. Simmons, B. Delahaye, B. McDougall, N. Courneya, J. Hobart, K. Cullen, A. Ryan, G. Strickland, G. Kearns, T. Hunt, L. Bloom, D. Sutherland, M. Parry, J. Sutherland, H. Mullins.

Brampton — J. Thompson, J. Macdonald, T. Robinson, M. McKitrick, B. Patton, D. Sheffield, L. Gibson, S. Rea, B. Claridge, C. Letton, B. Smith, D. Davis, B. Morris, J. Coates.

Referee—Al Garbutt, Brampton; Bob Batley, Peterborough.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Senior "B" Petes eliminated Toronto Uniques in OBA playdowns here Saturday in two straight. Took the Toronto team 6-5 in the last of the 10th on Joe Lowrey's single, Fred Garvey's sacrifice and a hot bingle to right by Howie Dalton. A good game, if lengthy, but a pretty slim crowd on hand. Manager Eddie Murphy is doubtful if the club will continue into provincial finals—if it is the final series next—as you can't operate on peanuts in long hauls, and there's no dough in the kitty. Shortstop McMurray got the heav-ho in the ninth for calling Umpire Pat Calladine names on a close play at first.

* * * * * *

Lefty Dadson went okay till the fourth but ran into some trouble then and Bill Edger threw two-hit ball the rest of the route. Moe Galand was fair on the Uniques' mound but he walked 10, the local flingers also walking a bunch. Joe Lowrey, Al Menzies and Freddy Garvey led the local hitters, with Valenti getting a double and single for the visitors. Neat catches by Dan Brown and Lowrey, while Dalton came up with a lovely stop and peg in big league style. He and Knox pinched a couple of bases. A slow scrap, but some fine ball seen in spots and as close as you'd want to see a playoff. It started late, also.

* * * * * *

Minor Ball Finished

Bantam ballsters had the park first and went eight frames with Toronto Carbons ousting the East City boys 8-3 for two in a row of their OBA quarter finals. Carbons finished strong at the plate while Fred Smith threw five-hit ball. He and Frizzelle each sent back eight on strikes, and each side kicked the apple three times in a so-so struggle. None of Ray Pammett's crew got more than one safety, but Didier and Hatt had three apiece and Fitkin bashed out two doubles. Thus endeth the minor baseball season in Peter's borough for this year, a pretty fair campaign throughout.

* * * * * *

Both Collegiate grid squads looked impressive in opening exhibitions at Morrow Park on Saturday night. Bev Goulding's senior crew really rolled in their 35-5 triumph o'er Toronto Riverdales with Evans scoring three tries, Northcott good for eight points, English and Armstrong five each and Burns two. B. Clark had a touchdown for Toronto. Alex Londry's local juniors got off to a fine start but their Riverdale opponents came on later to edge them 10-8 in a good game on tries by Ueda and Fisher. McIlraith went over once for the PCI-ers and Young kicked three points for the Garnet and Gray. A fair gallery and lots of the old school noise and color so typical of PCVS rugby tilts.

Kawartha Club Windup

Prexy Frank Buckland handed out the trophies Saturday at the official closing of the Kawartha Golf Club for the season. With J. E. Girven presenting the city champ's cup to Fraser Dunfield. The President's Cup went to Dootch Vitarelli, a versatile athlete, while Doug Burrows took the Kawartha Cup, Roy Courneya and Jack Condon the Glover Trophy (two-ball), and H. Siddall the senior trophy. Stan Whiddon, of course, was club champion. Play is still on for the Riley Trophy, but otherwise the club has been officially closed for this season. Lots of members will continue to play, though, right until the snow flies. A big social "do" Saturday to wind it up.

Annual meeting of the senior lacrosse club will be Oct. 4. The club had a dinner, given by Gord Armstrong, Saturday eve at South Beach and most of the players — even some who had returned to their homes—were on hand. An enjoyable event. Ald. Herb Young represented the council and Charles Cummer was there as a good friend of the club. Wils Gemmell and Jim Fraser represented the Chamber of Commerce, and they hope to tie in lacrosse as a major summer sport here in their tourist advertising. Prexy Bob Peirson and Manager Doug Miller spoke for the Petes, with Walt Murphy talking on the local minor lacrosse setup.

Hastings Boys Capture Trophy

HASTINGS, Sept. 26. (ENS) — Hastings captured the trophy at Blantyre park Saturday, defeating Port Robinson 13-6 in the deciding game of a best-of-three series to gain the OASA Junior "C" Championship.

Port Robinson took a one-run lead in the first inning, but Hastings came back in the fifth to push across four runs and were never headed after that. West twirling for Hastings gave up five hits, struck out 10 and gave 10 free passes.

He started shaky, handing out a run, on two walks and a passed ball, then settled away and kept them off the score sheet until the seventh, when he again had trouble finding the plate, and Port Robinson pushed one more run across.

In the eighth, Densham started it off with a homer, then with two men out, Port Robinson combined a hit, two walks and one error for three more, and that finished their scoring.

Kowalski started for Port Robinson and had the game well under control until the fifth when he was nicked for four runs, on four hits and an error.

In the eighth, Hastings broke out in a regular rash of hits. This brought in Temak as relief and he faced four batters, gave up two hits and two free passes and Kowaleski was recalled from right field. When the third man was out, Hastings had scored eight runs to put the game on ice. In the top of the ninth, Hastings scored the final run. Richardson led the Hastings attack with four for six, two of them for extra bases.

Royals Trample Buffalo In 7-2 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Montreal Royals are favored today to represent the International League in baseball's Little World series.

The Royals, regarded as a "money" team, overpowered Buffalo Bisons 7-2 Sunday before a packed house of 21,206 fans in Delormier Stadium and assumed a 2-1 edge in the final best-of-seven series. The winner meets the champs of the American Association.

The Royals won this classic last year. This season they had trouble finishing third, shading Jersey City in a special playoff, and their playoff chances were considered slim.

But in the opening round they [illegible] past Rochester in short order, and today they're on top of the league-champion Bisons.

After spotting the Herd a quick 2-0 lead, Montreal scored single runs in the third and fifth innings for a tie.

A three-run home burst in the seventh cemented the issue, Sammy Jethroe's two-run home run being the payoff blow. It was Sam's fourth home run in the playoffs.

Clyde King, who hurled the first seven innings, was the winner. Johnny Van Cuyk worked the last two innings faultlessly. Bob Hooper, starter, suffered the loss.

The teams play again tonight at Montreal.

Tom C. Grattan Wins Free-for-All Race

LINDSAY, Sept. 26. — C. B. Lawrence's Tom C. Grattan took the featured free-for-all as the harness horse racing closed out at the Lindsay Central Exhibition Saturday with four events.

Veteran driver Cliff Chapman of Toronto guided "Tom C" to two straight victories, edging out Hugh Stewart's Peterborough horse, Miss Katherine Tipton, both times.

Miss Lee Todd swept the 2.24 class over Wanda Harvester and Elmira Boy, while W. Rowe's Selia Lee was too good for Redstone in both heats of the 2.21 class. Lucy Lester and Victory Hy shared the two victories in the 2.18 event.

Postpone Fight

Jake Lamotta's middleweight title defence against Marcel Cerdan of France was postponed indefinitely at New York Saturday with a belated announcement that the 160-pound champion injured his right shoulder while training Thursday.

The two were to have met next Wednesday night at the Polo Grounds. Lamotta won the crown from the Frenchman in Detroit last spring when Cerdan suffered a shoulder injury in an early round.

Petes Oust Toronto Uniques In OBA Senior 'B' Playoffs

Howie Dalton's single in the 10th scored Joe Lowrey with the winning run here Saturday as the Petes edged Toronto Uniques 6-5 to take their OBA senior "B" semi-final series in two straight. Lowrey had singled to open the last of the 10th and he was sacrificed by Fred Garvey. The Petes got their other five runs in the fourth after spotting Uniques a 5-0 margin with a run in the third and four in the fourth.

Lefty Dadson ran into mound trouble in the fourth and Bill Edger finished it up with a two-hit chore. Moe Galand went the route in fair style for Toronto, except for wildness. His mates kicked in with several costly miscues as the Petes earned but two of their runs. Lowrey had three hits in four tries for the Petes and Al Menzies two for three. Paul Valenti hit a double and single in five attempts for the visitors. Basil Murray was chased in the ninth for arguing over a decision at first.

A Long One

The game was a lengthy one, starting late, owing to an OBA bantam tilt earlier in the afternoon. But a small crowd saw some good playing, with a stop and peg by Dalton a fielding feature as were catches by Danny Brown, Lowrey and Knox. At the end of the seventh, Alex Kay, as minor ball commissioner of the city presented the Jack Legris Trophy to Joe Stewart, voted the most valuable to the Petes this season. It is uncertain yet if the Petes will continue into provincial finals as the season is getting late and the club finances are non-existent.

Toronto Beats East City In OBA Series

Toronto Carbons defeated Peterborough bantams 8-3 Saturday, at Riverside to wind up their best of three OBA baseball series in two straight.

They Peterboro boys fought a hard battle all the way against their bigger opponents with Jerry Frizzelle again twirling good ball despite shaky support. He fanned eight as did Fred Smith who also went the route for Carbons. The locals conceded victory after eight innings to make way for the senior playoff. Starring for Toronto were Jack Didier, Harold Hatt and Art Fitkin, each with three safe hits. For Peterborough Ken Pammett caught well while Jack Batley's great catch in the third and throw home to double Smith, featured afield. The boys all tried hard. Toronto now meets Kingston.

Order Czech Athletes Take Marxist Training

PRAGUE, Sept. 26 — (AP) — Czechoslovakia has laid down the law to its athletes: back to the little red schoolhouse for Marxist training if you want to compete abroad.

Mlada Fronta, organ of the Communist-led youth organization, reports that the government has set up a "little school' where athletes will attend a three-to-four-week special course in physical, political and ideological education—mostly the last two.

Only after they complete the course will the athletes be permitted to compete outside the Iron Curtain where some like tennis stars Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik have deserted to the west.

The school will begin operating next month, Mlada Fronta says. The first to attend will be former members of the Czech world champion ice hockey team—the one that defeated Canada in the world championships last year—and some aspiring rookies.

"CHRYCO Cyclebond BRAKE LININGS GIVE ME 3 TIMES THE WEAR", SAYS MONTREAL CAB DRIVER YVON BELLEMARE

"I am more than satisfied with the exceptional service I have had with Chryco Cyclebond Brake Linings", writes Yvon Bellemare, 5330 St. Denis St., Montreal. "They were installed 31,000 miles ago on my taxi . . . in use 24 hours a day in heavy traffic. Life of ordinary riveted linings used previously was from 12,000 to 14,000 miles." Reports from coast-to-coast in Canada tell the same story . . . Chryco Cyclebond Brake Linings give up to three times the wear under tougher-than-ordinary use!

Chryco Cyclebond Brake Linings are rivetless, wear longer, give more effective braking, practically eliminate drum scoring.

See your Chrysler-Plymouth-Fargo or Dodge-DeSoto dealer today about CHRYCO Cyclebond Brakes for your car or truck.

He Finally Gives Up Leaves Flagpole Perch

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26—(AP)—Charley Lupica, world champion flagpole sitter, descended gingerly from his perch Sunday, rolled over to his wife and children, and kissed them in turn.

Then, with 33,977 fans watching at the baseball stadium, Charley kissed home plate. Thus ended his vain vigil of 117 days, two hours and 25 minutes for Cleveland Indians to reach first place in the American League.

The tribe was ready for him. For his loyalty he received:

A new Pontiac sedan, bicycles for daughters Margaret, six, and Nicoletta, 10; a tricycle for his son, Carl, eight; and a stroller for Charley, Jr., one month.

A radio; a stove; an old-fashioned bath tub (Charley hasn't had a bath for a long time); a four-poster bed (Charley was tired); a dog for son Carl; and, an added touch, a 50-foot flagpole.

Lupica confidently went up on his pole May 31 on a bar-room bet. He swore he'd stay there until the Indians reached first place. They never did.

They won Sunday but they're still in fourth place.

Remember When—

Franchises of the Ottawa Senators and Philadelphia Quakers of the National Hockey League were suspended following a meeting of the league executive 18 years ago today. Players from the two teams were distributed to all other squads in the loop except the Stanley Cup-winning Montreal Canadiens.

Red Sox Tied With Yanks After Chalking Up 4-1 Win

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

When Tom Yawkey, millionaire owner of Boston Red Sox, said "those darn palookas of mine are going to be the American League champs," everyone thought it was a good crack.

Well, those palookas are tied today with New York Yankees for first place in the American League, a position they expect to better by nightfall.

Lefty Mel Parnell pitched the rampaging Red Sox into a flat-footed tie Sunday as he downed the Yanks 4-1 with a neat four-hitter before a howling mob of 35,517 fans at Boston.

Parnell's beauty followed Ellis Kinder's brilliant 3-0 six-hit job over the sagging Yanks Saturday.

The Red Sox take on the Yanks in the Stadium today and a triumph for either today would just about settle the issue. Following today's battle both teams will have five games left to play, including two at New York next Saturday and Sunday. In between meetings the Red Sox play three games with last-place Washington and the Yanks three with the pesky fifthplace Philadelphia Athletics.

Leading Dodgers

St. Louis Cardinals meanwhile zoomed into a commanding 1½ game lead over Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League race. The Cards beat Chicago Cubs 6-1 Sunday while Philadelphia Phils slit the Dodgers 5-3.

St. Louis and Brooklyn, marking time today, have five and four games left to play respectively. The Cards have three dates with the last-place Cubs and two with sixth-place Pittsburgh. The Dodgers have two meetings with the Phils and two with Boston.

Should the cards win only three of their remaining five games it would assure them no worse than a tie, providing Brooklyn takes all four of its games. Four Cardinal victories and that old chant of "wait until next year," will be revived in Brooklyn.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen tamed the Cubs on six hits and collected four of the Cards' 12 safeties. The crafty left-hander batted in three runs and was only ruffled in the fourth when rookie Bill Serena homered.

Ruins Brooks

Andy Seminick ruined the Dodgers. The big Phil catcher belted a two-run homer to climax a four-run eighth inning rally that enabled the Phils to offset a 3-1 deficit.

In other National League games New York Giants downed Boston Braves 3-2 and 5-2 and Pittsburgh Pirates clipped Cincinnati Reds 7-3 and 5-3.

Ralph Kinder of the Pirates socked his 53rd home run in the first game. Kiner, with five games to play, is three homers shy of matching the National League home-run record of 56 set in 1930 by Hack Wilson.

Bob Lemon turned in his 21st victory for Cleveland as he pitched the Indians to a 7-1 victory over Detroit Tigers. In other American League games, Philadelphia Athletics beat Washington 8-5 and then bowed 4-0 to Dick Weik of the Senators in the seven-inning finale. Chicago White Sox defeated St. Louis Browns 7-5 and then lost 6-2 to the Browns.

Branca Yanked Over Blister

BROOKLYN Sept. 26—(AP)—A controversial "blister" on Ralph Branca's pitching hand may have cost the Brooklyn Dodgers the National League pennant.

Branca was removed in the eighth inning of Sunday's game with Philadelphia Phillies and replaced by Jack Banta, who proceeded to yield four runs and the ball game, 5-3.

The loss dropped the Dodgers 1½ games behind the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals with only four games to play.

Until he was yanked, Branca had permitted five hits and one run. He had struck out nine, including two in the last inning he worked, and walked one.

Manager Burt Shotton said he removed Branca because the pitcher had developed a blister. Branca, upset by his withdrawal, said it wasn't a blister.

There were differing views about the blister and some reporters reported that Branca was pulled on a "hunch" by the manager. Shotton stoutly denied this.

Dick Young, of the New York Daily News, quoted Branca as saying that Shotton told him he was being removed because "you seem to be getting tired."

Roscoe McGowen, of the New York Times, said Branca's hand showed no broken blister but "only some old skin, the residue of an old blister."

Big Four To Meet

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP) — A meeting of the Big Four foriegn ministers was reported Sunday as a prospect for this week. Diplomatic sources said the chiefs may take up the Austrian Independence Treaty on which their deputies have been unable to agree during almost three years of on-and-off negotiations.

Hush-Hush Defence Work Carried On At Suffield

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Sept. 26 (CP)—The big hush-hush name in Canadian defence comes from a small community 16 miles from Medicine Hat, Alta. It is Suffield.

On 1,000 square miles of prairie Canada is making experiments that are believed to have put her out front among the allied natoins in the haunting fields of chemical or gas and bacteriological or germ warfare.

This is probably the most spectacular if most underpublicized example of the growth of Canadian defence preparedness beyond the limits of the three forces.

Maj.-Gen. Brock Chisholm, a Canadian and director-general of the world health organization, said recently there is a biological product, seven ounces of which is enough to kill everyone in the world. Suffield probably knows all about it.

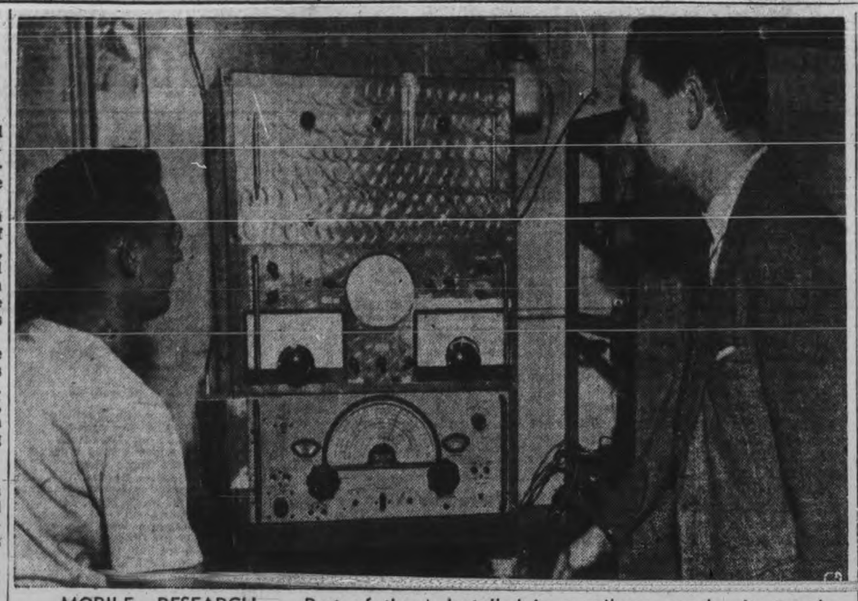
Canadian scientists say there are a number of German agents capable of fantastic human havoc. The great obstacle is distribution, the problem of spreading them around. That problem is being tackled but is far from licked.

Experimental Station

Suffield, officially known as a chemical warfare experimental station, is seldom mentioned publicly except in official statements on efforts to control farm pests with chemical agents that could be turned against mankind. Eight years old, it is the biggest establishment of its kind in the Commonwealth.

Much of the story of its major contributions to victory in the recent war has never been told. Its efforts, tightly linked with those of Britain and the United States, were directed towards retaliation and defence if the enemy launched gas or germ war. They have the same purpose now.

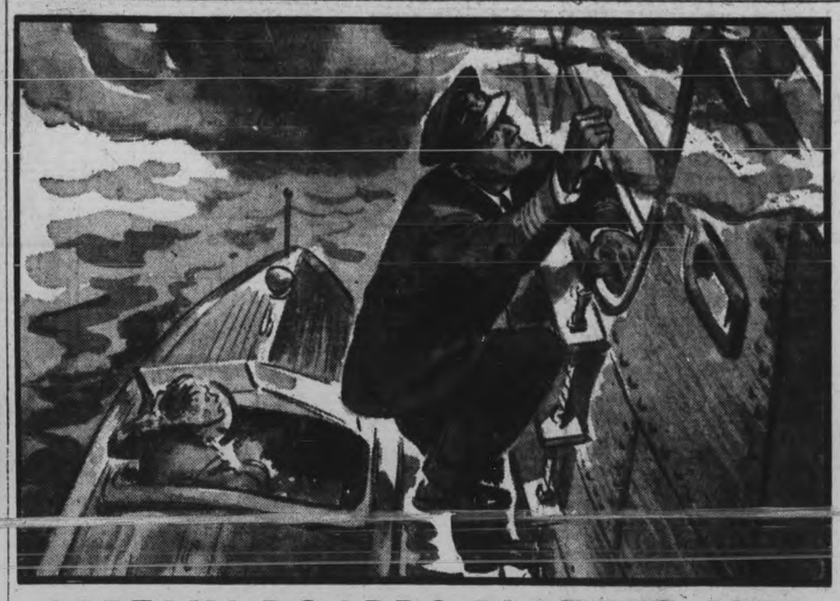
Suffield is one of the reasons defence now claims 17 per cent of the federal budget and, in all its ramifications, exerts as large a drain on the treasury as all federal government spending in an average pre-war year.



The most closely-guarded offices in defence headquarters in Ottawa are those of the Defence Research Board, the scientific headquarters that runs Suffield and has been made a fourth arm of the forces.

Northern Work

The board directs Arctic research that has allowed Defence Minister Claxton to say most northern clothing for the services was developed by Canada. It has established a laboratory at the Churchill, Man., winter experimental base.



Within limits directed by international co-operation and exchange information, the board is researching in such fields as northern radio propagation, radar, weapon developments and propellants. It does what Canada can do best and counts on the U.S. and U.K. for the rest on a swap basis.

Installed in a railway coach, it travels about the country. Here technician C. R. Baker, left of Warkworth, operates ionospheric equipment. The laboratory's boss, J. H. Meek looks on.

CAPTAIN BOARDS BLAZING SHIP TO DROP ANCHOR

Capt. Gordon Weston, of Rexton, N.B., risks life to prevent possible tragedy

When the oil tanker Elkhound burst into flames at the Newcastle dock, terrific explosions ripped through her decks. A tug towed the vessel out to midstream, well away from the oil tanks on the wharf, but there was still the danger of her drifting back to shore.

Realizing this, Captain Weston went out in a launch and, refusing to allow anyone to accompany him, boarded the burning ship alone. Although the Captain was already suffering from burns, he proceeded to lower the anchor — knowing that another blast was possible at any moment. But his mission was successful and, hours later, the hulk sank.

We are proud to present gallant Captain Gordon Weston with The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

English Star, Stewart Granger, Invades Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26 (AP).—Chalk up another invasion of Hollywood by an English film star. He is Stewart Granger, who might be called the Errol Flynn of England.

Granger is the handsome actor whose bare-chested roles have have made him a favorite with English audiences. But not, he claims, with Americans. And thereon depends whether or not he becomes a permanent member of the bulging British colony here.

"American audiences scarcely know me," he remarked, perhaps being more modest than accurate. "I'm practically unknown to them. It depends on how they accept me in American films whether I'll stay here or not."

Granger is set for two American-made films. The first is "King Solomon's Mines," which will be filmed in Africa.

He flew here from England for a couple of weeks of being shot with a still camera and a hypodermic needle. He testified his arm is perforated with immunizing shots for the expedition.

Quick Impressions

1—"The place is so big and spread out. I expected to find a little village with everything compact. I thought I would be able to walk in a shop and see Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy and then walk out and see Gary Cooper walking down the street."

2—"The people are so friendly. It is not England, where we are rather stand-offish. We are suspicious of those who are friendly right off."

Romance Exaggerated

Asked about his reported romance with Jean Simmons, the brilliant Ophelia of Olivier's "Hamlet," Granger said it has been exaggerated by trans-Atlantic gossips.

"We are the greatest of friends," he commented, "but she has never wanted to marry me, nor have I wanted to marry her.

"I shall, however, take the greatest interest in the man she marries; because if he is not good to her, I shall kick his bottom for him."

Institute To Cater At Holstein Banquet

WARKWORTH, Sept. 26 (ENS)—Percy Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs George Arkils for the September meeting, with 19 members and visitors present. The president, Mrs Oscar Laver, was in charge The dressmaking short course will take place on November 21-25. This branch will cater at the Holstein banquet some time in November, and will also serve lunch for the re-opening of the Town Hall

Mrs Gordon McCubbin gave an account of the plans for the band which is being formed soon. The program convener, Mrs G. Palmateer was in charge of the following program: Sing-song by the members; motto "Wilful waste makes woeful want" by Mrs. W. Shaw; reading by Mrs. Craighead; subject, "What's in a Name?" prepared by Mrs. G. Palmateer and read by Mrs. Honey; demonstration, "There is more than juice in an orange," by Mrs. Puffer; contest conducted by Mrs. Arkils. First prize was won by Mrs. Heinz and second by Mrs William Campbell.

August Dates Preferable For Exhibition

"I think we are far safer with our Exhibition dates in August," said G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager today. "Lindsay was unfortunate last week, although they pulled out with a good day Saturday. I was there two days, and I felt sorry for them Friday. It rained heavier than down here."

Mr. Gillespie said he never could understand how it was Lindsay could get away with a grandstand program that was plainly inferior to Peterborough entertainment.

"It has been that way for years. I don't [illegible] at Lindsay as far as it goes, but I know we could never get away with it. We'd soon hear from the crowd down here."

Real Go[illegible]ow

"They have a real good show," Mr. Gillespie said, "and I could also add that they have a large area of country to draw from."

As to rumors, claims and estimates of attendance totals swelling to 100,000, reported from other years, Mr. Gillespie remarked that somebody up in Lindsay was manifestly careless with digits, or their adding machines needed a check-up.

Allowing 35c for all those who attended, paying at the gates, their receipts indicated a total attendance of approximately 54,000 in 1948.

"Even at that it would be a splendid showing. I am only quoting what our directors generally felt, and they thought they were being fair to Bert McLean and his associates."

Mr. Gillespie said the days of disharmony between Lindsay and Peterborough were gone, and relations now were most friendly.

"We regard Mr. McLean as a sort of honorary director," Mr. Gillespie said. "We are all glad to see him any time he visits us."

Dies In Electric Chair

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP).—George A. Neill, 24-year-old marine veteran convicted of the strangulation death of his young niece, died early today in the electric chair at Rockview State Prison. Neill claimed at his trial that the strangling of 11-year-old Isabella Mellon a year ago was an "impulsive act."

Hooks Two Muskies

Dr. J. C. Green, 526 Gilmour St., caught a 29½-pound muskie Sunday afternoon while trolling in Stony lake near Neal's Point. Upon his return to his cottage Dr. Green took one cast from the dock and landed a second muskie over 30 inches in length and returned it to the water. With him in the boat was Dr. C. G. Huff of Toronto.

Fellow Workers 'Baptised' Him; Did Not Assault

Bapti[illegible] ruled not serious enough to warrant a conviction of assault by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in a laughter-filled police court on this morning.

An 18-year-old construction worker, Kenneth Bedford, laid the charge against his boss James Murray, superintendent of the work of laying foundations for houses on Donegal St. near Jackson's Park.

He testified after an argument in the morning about having to use a short handled shovel for the day's work, he was seized by Murray and some other workers on the job after five o'clock, and dunked feet first into a barrel filled with water.

Earlier in the day he had been fired over the long handled shovel trouble and rehired.

"I asked him (Murray) what I have to do—get down on my knees and beg to get a shovel?" Bedford said. After he had been dunked, he asked Murray what they had put him in the barrel for.

The answer was: "We give someone a baptism the 16th of every month." The court room rocked with laughter.

Under cross questioning by W. J. Arthur Fair K.C., Bedford admitted he had treated the incident partly as a joke until he was told by his angry mother to lay a charge against Murray.

"You were laughing and took it as a joke, didn't you?" Mr. Fair asked.

"Well, yes, what else could I do?" Bedford answered.

"If they had had the decency to drive him home afterward," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said, "he would probably have treated it as a joke, but they didn't."

Magistrate Philp said technically it was an assault, but because of the nature of the case he dismissed it.

"Get him a long handled shovel" the Magistrate told Murray.

Suggests Visits

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 26 (CP)—Ernest O'Dea, Lord Mayor of Sydney, Sunday night proposed that a senior federal cabinet minister should make regular visits to Canada and the United States for talks with business men on improving trade between Australia and North America. He said he would forward this suggestion to Prime Minister Chifley. Alderman O'Dea had just returned from Vancouver after a visit as a guest of Canadian Pacific Air Lines.

Bishop Blesses St. Anne's Separate School

St. Anne's Separate School was officially dedicated and blessed by His Excellency Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, Sunday afternoon while some 300 people gathered to witness the event and inspect the new school.

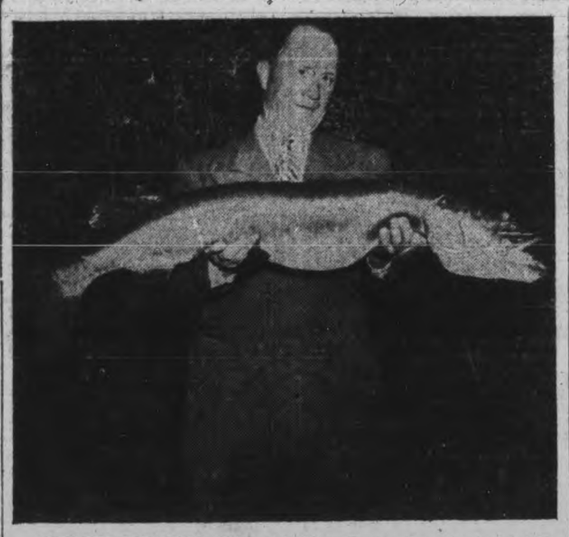
Representatives of the city council and Board of Education also attended.

Bishop Berry, who is superintendent of Separate Schools, said that he hoped the school would bring forth that estimable product, a well-schooled child whose character and behaviour were [illegible] the 6,000 odd school hours of his school life at St. Anne's.

His Excellency said it was the purpose of the Separate Schools to educate the children as fully as possible. He said he believed it was not possible to civilize people without making religion a part of their education. He said religion could not be taught as a separate subject because it was a part of learning. History, for instance, could not be taught without including the part religion had played in it.

"We all expect the child coming from school to have some superstructure of character," the Bishop explained, as well as habits of work and study.

His Excellency believed with psychologists that the foundation of a child's character was built in the home, that his character was sketched out in the home and that the schools helped fill in the skeleton. This building of character meant a balance between repression and expression for the child so that he would be prepared to accept other people's rights by repressing some of his own wants as well as being able to express his own talents.



Many Receive Thanks

His Excellency said there were many people to be thanked for their contributions to the school. There was the work of the Separate School Board, the provincial government, which had provided "far more than we expected," the Peterborough Separate School Board and many others.

Ald. H. Dodds, representing Mayor Max J. Swanston, said he wished St. Anne's success in its future. Smith township's Reeve Robert Harrison said he was delighted with the speed with which the school had been built and looked for St. Anne's to bring out "citizens of the highest type."

Frank Jobbitt, chairman of the Board of Education, said the Separate School Board had every reason to be proud of the new school and he hoped the two boards would continue to work harmoniously as they had in the past.

Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, and Monsignor J. F. O'Sullivan also spoke of their pleasure at seeing "one of the finest schools in the city" completed.

STEVEN CHINCHI, Ellwood City, Pennsylvania is highly pleased with his 315th muskie caught in the Kawartha district during the past 15 years. He has been a regular visitor during that period and caught every fish except one with a casting rod. The 315th weighs 25 pounds, is 48 inches in length and has a girth of 17½ inches. At the time of the catch Mr. Chinchi was staying at Kenedan Lodge owned by A. J. Mackey, Pigeon River.

City To Retire $1,583,000 In Debentures In Two Years

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough debentures maturing this year amount to $177,000, with an additional $755,000 next year and $651,000 in 1951. That total of $1,583,000 probably includes some Utilities Commission borrowing. A few ratepayers who take the trouble to look into the annual financial statement of the municipality probably used to look toward the '50's with expectations of retiring large blocks of debentures at the end of the half century. And with less annual payment of principal and interest required by the City Trust Commission, there was the prospect of some clipping of the tax rate.

In that same thinking was the patient waiting for the maturing of the Hunter St. bridge debentures, as if the city's back was bent with the borrowing for that structure. It is likely that the Bridge issue will be paid off next year, included in that bulky total of $755,000.

If ever the council that built the bridge doubted the quality of the job they ordered, they have only to hear the good opinion of the generation of today who from remarks one hears from time to time regard the bridge as a great asset and inheritance of utility and beauty.

The two criticisms of today are that the interest rate was extremely high at 6 or fractionally more per cent, that provision should have been made for refunding and that 30 years was too long a term for financing the project. But, bond rates were high when the bridge debentures were sold; as compared with the 1¾% on most of the city's borrowing in 1946-47 and since then municipal authorities have seen the value of shorter term financing.

Now, that further substantial retirement of debentures is in sight, the circumstances in which that happy eventuality was to occur are not so favorable, after all, to the tax rate. Cost of administering the city have mounted in all directions, and deferred works have had to be undertaken. The new Civic Hospital is already reflected in taxing for debenture charges. Certain other expenditures have kept it company and there will be more to be added before this imposed splurge of municipal spending runs its course.

30 Boys Camp Near Young's Pt.

Thirty boys from the Optimist Club's Boys' Town spent the week-end camping at Jack Dawson's cottages south of Young's Point on Katchewanooka lake. The boys went to the camp Friday night and stayed until late Sunday afternoon under the supervision of Walter Bent, Boys' Town director, and Mr. and Mrs. Dawson. Mrs. Dawson prepared the meals.

This camp was the third in the six weeks Walter Bent has been in charge of the activities of the Town. Mr. Bent said Monday that he expects it will be the last this year.

Saturday night the boys played host to other cottagers in the vicinity, entertaining with songs.

Attendance at Boys' Town has jumped in the past two weeks from 121 to more than 200. There are still 20 boys waiting to be admitted.

WON AT OSHAWA

C. W. Lowes of North Monaghan took five first prize and five seconds in Shorthorns at Oshawa fair. His firsts were for: junior herd, get of sire; junior bull calf, senior heifer calf; and heifer one year and under two. He was in competition with W. F. Rickard, Beath Farms, Ken Deacon of Unionville; John Howden.

Main Street Topics

ONE CHIMNEY FIRE

There were no major fires over the week-end. The Fire Department received one call on Sunday. That was a chimney fire at the residence of J. Brennan, Munroe Ave.

LEG NOT BROKEN

Bart Grainger, an inside for the PCVS senior football team, was rushed Saturday night to the Civic Hospital at halftime in their game with Riverdale Collegiate of Toronto. In a Riverdale plunge late in the first half he received a blow on the leg just above the knee. At first it was believed the leg was broken but further examination revealed a bad bruise. He was in the hospital until this morning.

ATTENDING COURSE

Capt. P. W. R. Sargeant, senior officer of the A. and T. staff at the armoury, is in Picton attending a six-month course in light anti-aircraft artillery. Sgt.-Major William Pushie will assume the duties of senior officer in the absence of Capt. Sargeant.

COTTAGE ENTERED

The summer cottage of W. C. McBride of 16 Manning Ave., located on Lake Chemong, was broken into over the weekend, Provincial Police report. It is not yet known whether or not anything has been stolen. Police say it is the first break-in in that district since last winer.

MADE A GREY BEARDER

Manager Jack Lewis of the local S. S. Kresge Store will be made a member of the company's Grey Beard Club Thursday in Detroit. On that day he will have completed 25 years of service with the company. A diamond set pin and gold wrist watch will be presented to him by the president of the company.

FROST CASUALITIES

Frost early Sunday nipped the tomato stalks and the grape vines. White roofs at sunrise were an inevitable sign of autumn's change toward the cold months of the years. Some of the flowers were stricken, especially nasturtiums. Corn may have been hit in the country, but most of the crop has been harvested.

NOT ALL CITY CASES

"Of the 169 births recorded here in August, 110 were to city residents and three were to unmarried parents. Of the 45 deaths, 29 were city residents. Since the issue of the new marriage license forms on Aug. 1st, 1949, we now have no record of the number of marriages performed in the city." That is from the report of City Clerk Outram.

HOLD MEETING TUESDAY

The confusion over the date of the Local 524 UE-CIO special seniority meeting has been ended. It will be Tuesday at 7.30 p.m. in the Brock Street Summer Gardens. Confusion arose when two different dates for the meeting to discuss seniority and flow charts were issued by the vice-president and the president, respectively.

Police To Meet In City For Convention

About 500 policemen from all parts of Ontario will be in Peterborough Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The occasion will be the annual convention of the Police Association of Ontario and will mark the first time the convention has been held in Peterborough.

As well as the 500 delegates, there will be a number of visiting policemen from Quebec and other provinces. The association includes provincial, city, municipal and railroad police. Convention headquarters will be in the Empress Hotel. Hotels, tourist homes and tourist camps all over the city and in the nearby district have been contacted to find space for the visitors. City police have had a busy time in recent weeks making all the arrangements.

Constable Douglas Farthing, president of the Kawartha District of the Association, has been working to prepare a booklet program for the three-day session.

President of the provincial association is Chief Constable A. Webster of Lindsay. Chief Garnet Samis of Lakefield is vice-president.

As well as the many business sessions scheduled, an extensive social program has been planned for the delegates. Registration, officially scheduled for Tuesday morning will actually start Monday evening as the delegates begin to arrive.

Mayor Max J. Swanston will officially welcome the delegates Tuesday and in the evening they will have a social evening.

Wednesday evening at seven p.m. in Riverside Park, the Toronto police All-Star team will play the Peterborough League All-Star team. The last these teams played in August, the game ended in a 7-7 draw. Following the ball game there will be an old time dance.

Thursday the delegates will be taken by bus on a scenic drive of the Kawartha Lakes, just at a time when the scenery is probably at its best.

The convention will end Friday evening with a civic dinner and dance.

Poor Brakes Cost Bewdley Man $10

Ruling evidence given by Constable H. R. Mesley in the trial Sept. 15 of Wallace Weatherup, Bewdley, was adsimsible in spite of the arguments of defence counsel Emmett F. Sheehy. Magistrate W. R. Philp K.C., found Weatherup guilty of having inadequate brakes and fined him $10 and costs in police court this morning.

The evidence Constable Mesley gave which was questioned by Mr. Sheehy was that he had asked Weatherup at the scene of the accident why he had not stopped at a stop sign. The constable reported Weatherup said he would have stopped if his brakes had held.

Constable Mesley also testified Weatherup had smelled heavily of intoxicants, but Weatherup testified he had not had a drink all day. On this the magistrate said the evidence of the accused could not be relied upon.

DEVOURS GOLDFISH

When it comes to goldfish Eddie Roach of Elm St., can take them or leave them alone. But if a $20 wager is thrown in he'll not only take them but chew them down with something approaching relish. So Ron Horton of Rubidge St. found out to his cost. It seems the boys were having a party for Herb Payne last week at the home of Bob McMaster, Wolsley St. During the course of the evening (Timber) Horton—never a man to let a sporting wager go uncovered—bet Eddie the $20 he wouldn't down an oversize goldfish. Eddie did and Timber paid.—D.W.

One Badly Hurt Five Uninjured As Car Upsets

Injured when the car in which he was a passenger turned over on No. 7 Highway Saturday night, Edward Grose, 63, of Rubidge St. is now in St. Joseph's Hospital. The accident occurred at the junction of No. 7 and the 4th Concession of Emily Twp.

Injuries include a fractured collarbone, ruptured lung and injured ribs. The four other passengers and the driver, Mervin Williamson, 58, all of Peterborough, escaped with only a severe shaking up.

Hospital authorities said today that Grose spent a "fair" night.

Others in the car were two brothers, Daniel Hobbins of Lake St. and Morris of George St., George Gimblett, Sr., of King St. and Harold Yelland of Rogers St. president of Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion.

The six men were returning from Lindsay late Saturday night. As the car rounded a curve in the highway its wheels struck the soft shoulder of the roadway and it turned over on its right side, at the junction with the Emily road.

Grose, an employee of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co., was given medical treatment by Drs. William Earl Jr. and Sr. of Omemee and was then taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

He is now being attended by Dr. J. M. O'Brien.

Provincial Constable F. N. Linklater of Lindsay investigated.

President's Cup In Golf Won By D. Vitarelli

Dootch Vitarelli won the President's Cup as the Kawartha Golf and Country Club held its official closing day for the season on Saturday. Competitions were held during the day with a good turnout of members, while the special events in the evening had a big crowd on hand. The night program included dinner, presentation of prizes and a dance.

J. E. Girven presented the cup for the city golf championship, to Fraser Dunfield, with Stan Whiddon the runner-up. The latter was Kawartha club champion. Runner-up to Vitarelli in the President's Cup play was Barney Barnett. Doug Burrows captured the Kawartha Cup with F. Kohli runner-up. In the men's two-ball play for the Glover Trophy, Roy Cournyea and Jack Condon were victorious over Les Reid and A. Sanderson. H. Siddall took the senior cup with C. Orr next. Competition for the Riley Trophy is not yet complete. President Frank Buckland made most of the cup presentations.

Many Tributes Paid To Late B. McManus

Funeral for Bernard McManus, who died at his home, Chemong Rd., Wednesday, took place Saturday from the Anglesey funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral. Requiem mass was said by the Rev. G. V. Gaughan and the Rev. P. P. Butler was in the sanctuary.

Pallbearers were Jack Hickey, Leo, Jack, Alfred, Ernest and Harvey McManus.

Mass was attended by a large number of friends and there were many spiritual and floral tributes.

Graveside prayers in St. Peter's Cemetery were said by the Rev. K. Malane.

St. James' Y.P. Hosts

St. James' Young People held a Fireside service in Wesley Hall Sunday evening and entertained members of the Young People's groups of Trinity United Church, Knox United Church, All Saints Anglican Church, Park Street Baptist and Murray Street Baptist Churches.

The service was opened with a sing-song, Miss June Bullied accompanying on the piano. A coloured film entitled "A More Christian Way" which dealt with Christian work camp fellowship and showed various types of work camps was shown. An interesting talk on work camps was given by Art Dixon, who spent considerable time at Quin-Mo-Lac, the Young People's Work Camp on Moira Lake this year. Refreshments were served at the close.

MR. AND MRS. CURTIS ARTHUR PARKINSON whose marriage has been announced by the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Knapman of Picton and Stony Lake. The bride is the former Miss Anne Harice Knapman, niece of Mrs. Walter Belleghem, Peterborough, and has recently graduated from Kingston General Hospital. The groom, a 1948 graduate in chemical engineering from Queen's University, is with the International Petroleum Company, stationed in Barrance Bermeja, Colombia, South America, where the couple will reside.

Ethel Latchford Bride Of Frederick Kiff Saturday

The marriage of Miss Ethel Eunice Latchford to Mr. Frederick Harvey Kiff was solemnized in George Street United Church Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Dr. James Semple. The bride is daughter of Mrs. Latchford and the late Herbert Latchford, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kiff, all of Peterborough.

Baskets of gladioli and ferns decorated the church for the occasion. Mr. Charles Allen played traditional wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Mr. Lawrence Latchford. Her gown was of filmy nylon chiffon with draped off-the-shoulder shawl collar on the tightly fitted bodice, and a full skirt which swept into a softly flowing train. Fine Chantilly lace outlined the collar and topped her matching mittens. Her embroidered veil fell from a sweetheart headdress of net and her bouquet was a cascade of pink roses and white gladioli.

Attendants were nieces of the bride, Miss Audrey Jones as bridesmaid and Margaret Vint as flower girl. Miss Jones was frocked in daffodil yellow, the long torso bodice of embroidered nylon, styled with square neckline and puff sleeves, and the full skirt was nylon net over taffeta. She wore a matching veil caught to a halo of flowers and mittens and carried a bouquet of roses and gladoili in pastel shades. The flower girl was dressed in mauve taffeta, the full skirt caught up in front with yellow bows, and she wore a poke bonnet to match and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Mr. Robert Graham was groomsman and ushers were John Latchford and George Kiff, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held in the YWCA Green Room with the bride's mother receiving in a gown of grey crepe, black hat, and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother assisted, gowned in navy figured sheer and navy hat, and hat pink roses on her shoulder.

Later the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Toronto and Montreal. The bride was wearing a suit of pearl grey gabardine with navy hat and accessories and she carried a navy shortie coat. Her corsage was a mauve orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiff will live at 228 Rubidge St.

MISS DALE LORRAINE DUGAN, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dugan, 209 Westcott St., whose engagement to Mr. Maxwell Stewart Haverstock, son of the Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Haverstock, has been announced.

er of the bride, and Adwin Smith.

A reception was held at the bride's home, 254 McDonnel St. Her mother was receiving the guests, gowned in navy crepe and lace, grey hat and navy accessories. Each had a corsage of pink roses.

When leaving on a wedding trip to points in western Ontario the bride was wearing a navy suit, grey hat and accessories, a navy topcoat and a corsage of white gardenias. On return Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will live at 632 Lundy's Lane.

SITUATION: You wonder what your young chidren should call your married friends.

WRONG WAY: Let them call the friends by whatever names you use.

RIGHT WAY: Have them say "Mrs. Brown" and "Mr. Brown" unless the friends express a preference for first names.

Special Purpose Menus

By MARY MOORE

Low-Calorie Dinner

Grape and Lemon Juice Cocktail (6 oz. Minimum sugar 60 cal.), Calves' Liver and Bacon (4 oz. 180 cal.), broiled tomatoes (2 large halves crumbed 40 cal.), Beet and Cucumber and Lettuce salad (minimum of mayonnaise 60 cal.), large dessert pear (70 cal.) clear coffee (0 cal.).

High-Calorie Dinner

Baked kabobs (see notes), fried potatoes (see notes), corn on the cob, sliced tomatoes, apple dumplings (see note), coffee.

One-Burner Dinner

Pork Hock Boiled with white beans (see notes), cabbage and tomato slaw, peach shortcake (see note), coffee.

Directions:

Kabobs—I do not want to tire you with stories of our barbecue parties, and I thought while we were eating kabobs last night around the fire that they were easily in the oven for a different kind of indoors meal.

In the event that these should appeal to you I will tell you how much of everything I used to make 36 of them (for 12 adults).

I bought 3 dozen 6-inch wooden skewers from my butcher; also a 1½-lb. piece of smoked side bacon and ¾ lb. very fresh calves' liver; eight small onions and nine or ten small underripe tomatoes.

I sliced and cut the bacon into 1-inch cubes, ¼-inch thick; I cut the liver into inch squares ¼ to ⅜ inch thick; I sliced the small onions ¼-inch thick and cut small tomatoes into quarters leaving on the skin.

Line these all up in production line order.

Put 1 piece bacon on skewer and push it 2/3 way down the skewer; carefully put on ¼-inch slice onion, then piece of tomato then piece of liver, then another piece of bacon. Have the last piece of bacon come 1 inch back from tip of skewer. For 12 people make 36 like this. If to be fried over outdoor fire put half or ⅓ of them in large skillet and when they are hot turn them, using the blunt end of skewer, for turning. I did this for the whole 36 in a very large skillet we bought for the outdoor fire, and I used my fingers for tuning. As the ones in the centre of the pan were done I asked the guests to "come and get 'em". But they could be placed on a large flat baking pan and done nearly as well in a very hot oven, turning them only once, and giving you an economical and tasty meat course for any day in the week.

We fried small potatoes whole and raw in hot bacon fat, and sprinkled them with chopped parsley just before serving.

I suggested pork hocks for the one-burner dinner, but spareribs or a piece of fresh shoulder pork would be good too with beans.

You could buy a small sponge or plain cake for the cake part of the shortcake, top it with sliced or chopped fresh peaches and top these with whipped cream.

Nina Craig, Ian Crawford, Married in Army Temple

The Salvation Army Temple was scene of a pretty wedding Saturday when Miss Nina Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Craig, London St., became the bride of Mr. Ian Brown Crawford, son of Mr. John J. Crawford and the late Mrs. Crawford, Montreal.

Major C. Everitt performed the marriage. Mrs. Gladys Routly played the wedding music and during the ceremony Mrs. Murray Thomas sang "The voice that breathed o'er Eden", "O Promise Me" and "Through the years."

The bride chose a gown of embossed organdy with the hooped skirt caught up at the hemline to show an underskirt of silk lace. The neckline yoke of net was edged with folds of organdy, caught with tiny pearls, and the sleeves were long and tightly fitted, ending in points over her hands. Her veil was caught to a coronet of pearls and she was carrying a cascade of red roses with sprig of heather. Mr. Craig gave his daughter in marriage.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister Mrs. Len Slaughter, gowned in mauve taffeta. Miss Cathy Craig was bridesmaid for her cousin and wore a bouffant gown of tourquoise taffeta with scalloped trim. Little Susanne Frost as flower girl was in pale pink embossed organdy. Each wore a hat and mittens of the same material as her gown and carried a Colonial bouquet of gladiolin and roses in matching shades.

Mrs. David Taylor was the groom's attendant and the ushers were Len Slaughter and Roy Barraclough.

The reception following was in the Sunday School hall. Mrs. Craig received with the wedding party in a dress of navy needlepoint crepe and wore a navy hat with pink trim and squirrel neckpiece. Her corsage was of pink roses and heather. The groom's sister Mrs. D. Taylor also received, and she wore a brown and beige ensemble and corsage of tea roses with heather.

For her going-away outfit the bride chose a pale blue gabardine suit, black hat and accessories and a wine shortie coat. Her corsage was a mauve orchid. After a trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls the couple will live at 199 Rubidge St.

Three Colours Predominate In Cooper-Turner Wedding

Pink 'mums and ferns with lighted candles on the altar of St. George's Anglican Church carried out the color scheme of a lovely wedding which took place Saturday afternoon when Mary Evelyn Turner and Leonard Walter Cooper pledged their nuptial vows. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Turner and the groom the only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cooper, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. E. C. Moore solemnized the ceremony. Mrs. T. Garland played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr. Samuel Castle who sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bridal gown was of white satin with overskirt of fine white net. The bodice was trimmed with applique of white satin flowers, which was repeated on the skirt, and it was fastened at the back with tiny covered buttons and finished with long sleeves that came to lily points over the hands. Her circular veil was of embroidered net, caught to a tiara of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of Bettertime roses with pom pom 'mums tied in the streamers.

Mr. Turner gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by the groom's sister Miss Gwen Cooper as bridesmaid, and her younger sister Miss Shirley Turner as junior bridesmaid. Dresses of pink and pastel green moire taffeta, fashioned identically with scalloped edge at the neckline and at the waiste where the full skirt was attached, were worn by the attendants and their hats were of the same material as their dresses. Their bouquets of pink carnations were edged with frills of green and pink ribbon.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Robert Fisher. Ushers were George Turner of Toronto, broth-

DOROTHY DIX

Misunderstood Relationship Has Girl Innocent Victim

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a girl 19 years old. Three years ago I came to the city from a small town and got a job in a department store. A short time afterward the big boss called me to his office and talked to me. Found out I had little education and urged me to go to night school and improve myself. Which I did. He is old enough to be my father and has treated me as a father might a daughter. Made it possible for me to get an education. Got me to join the church. He has

Dorothy Dix

Christian gentlemen should be to me, but his wife has become very jealous of me, and makes things very unpleasant at home for him.

I feel that I should leave the city so that there will be no further strain on their already strained relations, but he begs me not to. I want to obey his wishes because he has been so good to me, but I never want to be a party to breaking up a home, even if I am not guilty of any wrongdoing. What must I do?

TRUTHFUL.

Answer: Go. And at once. It is the only way that you can repay the kindness of your benefactor and save him from the scandal of a divorce and the anguish of a broken-up home.

That you are both entirely innocent of any wrong-doing does not affect the wisdom of this move. The world does not see the heart of the individual. It only observes its actions, and it smiles cynically and puts the worst possible interpretation on old gentlemen who take a paternal interest in a pretty young girl employee. Nor will all the prayers in the world cure the jealousy of a wife who sees her husband spending his money and taking delight in the championship of a girl who is half her weight and age.

Suspicious World

This is a suspicious world filled with jealous wives and scandal-mongers, and we have to meet it on its own low plane. We cannot change it. And it isn't enough to be good, we have to look good and avoid even the suspicion of evil. And that is why no young girl can have a platonic affair even with a man old enough to be her father.

If you leave your kind old friend, he will miss you for a while, but that will pass and his name and his home will be saved. If you stay, you will wreck him as well as yourself. So go.

Dear Miss Dix: We are a group of young mothers who will some day be mothers-in-law, therefore we have made a list of the things that our mothers-in-law do that annoy us most, and we have pledged ourselves to re-read this each New Year's Day in order to avoid doing the same things to our daughters-in-law that our mothers-in-law are doing to us. So here goes:

(1) Never find fault with our sons' wives' clothes, cooking, housework, or how they bring up their children. (2) Never side in an argument with either party. (3) Never ask either our son or his wife questions regarding personal matters, such as salaries, savings, cost of anything the couple may own.

(4) Never drop in for an unexpected visit. Always phone or write in advance, so the son's wife may let you know if she has a previous engagement. (5) Never stay in the same room when the young couple read their mail, open packages, or when they discuss their personal problems with each other. (6) Never have the changed to suit our ideas, such as running of the son's houses cooking, washing, mealtimes, etc.

(7) Never refer to the young folks' possessions as "my son's." (8) Never call upon our children when we don't feel well or are tired, as it is very upsetting to many women to have anyone lie down on their beds. (9) If possible try not to live with the young couple, but if we must, always act as a visitor, not the owner of the house. Remember ALWAYS that it is their house, not ours.

(10) Never correct a daughter-in-law, no matter what she does or says. Every daughter-in-law thinks she is Mrs. Solomon, and, anyway, mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law just don't mix.

WISHFUL THINKERS

Answer: Taking it by and large, the world's greatest optimists are the girls who marry and go to live with their in-laws and expect to be happy ever afterwards. It takes a miracle-worker to pull off that stunt. True, now and then Angelina and John's mother have the tact and forbearance to keep out of each other's hair, but for the most part it justifies the Chinese ideograph of a fight—two women in the same house.

Hence I commend these rules for keeping the peace to all prospective mothers-in-law.

until transparent; drain. Make a heavy syrup, boil a few minutes or until you think it is thick enough, but be very careful not to burn (syrup is about 1 cup sugar to ½ cup water); then lift out of syrup and roll in sugar and put on rack to drain. I colored mine with fruit coloring, and made different colors—it is lovely for cake and cookies.

Glazed Pineapple

I put my rings on a cookie sheet put in the oven as low as you can put it, and coat each piece with icing sugar and keep turning until it takes up all it will soak up, and looks to be glazed—this may take 2 or 3 pounds.

If you have any recipe on this glazed pineapple or citron would you print it in your column? It would be appreciated a lot by myself and two others that I know of; and also advice on what is a good all-round cook book to buy, with everything in it from canning, baking, meal-planning, meats, etc.

Hoping my little tips give you [illegible] the summer; it is O.K. year round, now because they have frozen fruit. I bake a banana cake, serve it with strawberry icing: crush berries, add icing sugar and 1 teaspoon butter, dash of salt. Make icing as you would only use berries; pineapple makes a very good icing too in the same manner.—Mrs. W. G.

Answer:

General Instruction for Candying or Glazing Fruits

Soft fruits like cherries, cranberries, peaches or berries do not need precooking. These may be put raw into the heavy sugar syrup. Hard fruits such as pineapple, pears, ginger, lemon peel, orange peel, grapefruit peel, citron peel all should be parboiled until partially tender.

Heavy Sugar Syrup: This syrup is usually made in proportions of 1 cup sugar to ½ cup water. Mix together and stir over heat until sugar dissolves. Add the fruit in 1 layer—never add fruit so that pieces lie on one another; cook very slowly putting asbestos mat under vessel to prevent sugar from scorching or browning at all. As soon as fruits take on a glazed appearance throughout skim out onto a plateful of granulated sugar. Or heat syrup to 240 deg. Fahr., drop in drained and parboiled fruit (if it is hard fruit) or drop in soft raw fruits, and cook about 10 or 15 minutes with heat turned as low as possible. Skim out onto platter and pour over the syrup—when all fruit is done—and let stand overnight. Lift out of syrup onto granulated sugar and let stand one day, turning it over occasionally. When it seems dried out it may be stored between sheet of heavy wax paper and covered. But this should be watched, for if it is not sufficiently saturated with sugar it might mould if it is stored too soon and not allowed to dry out.

I will recommend 3 cooks books to you; then you can go to the book store or the library and look through them and see which one suits your purpose best. The Good Housekeeping Cook Book, published by Farrar and Rinehart Inc., New York; The New American Cook Book, by Lily Haxworth Wallace, published by American Publishers' Alliance, New York; the Alice Bradley Menu Cook Book, published by the MacMillan Co., New York.

Thanks so much for the useful and ingenious hints you sent me. Write again, if I can be of help.

Keith E. Sproule Wed at Oshawa

Standards of white and pastel gladioli made a lovely setting in St. Andrew's United Church, Oshawa, Saturday for the wedding of Mr. Keith Eric Sproule of Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sproule of Peterborough, to Miss Joan Margaret Cuthbertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Filshie Cuthbertson of Oshawa. The Rev. George Telford officiated. Mr. C. J. W. Taylor was organist and Mrs. E. G. Storie sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of frost white satin fashioned with slim panelled basque and Juliet neckline framed by a Medici collar edged with accordian pleated satin. The same pleating finished the long tight sleeves and rounded peplum which dipped to winged points at the back. The full flared skirt swept to a circular train. Her veil was floor length, caught to a white satin bonnet, and she carried a cascade of gardenias with white heather sprays.

Maid-of-honor Miss Ruth H. Swartz of Natick, Mass., and flower girl, Miss Lynda Toppings, of Oshawa, were gowned alike in wishing-star blue faille taffeta, styled with empire bodice, short sleeves with winged cuffs and Peter Pan color, and the graceful pleated skirts flared from the hipline. They wore matching mittens and carried flower baskets filled with white and pale blue flowers and Bettertime roses, and for headdresses they wore small bands of the same flowers. Mrs. Donald MacDonald of Oshawa and Miss Katharine Gould of Toronto were bridesmaids and they were dressed alike in similarly fashioned frocks of fuschia rose faille, mittens of the same and carrying baskets of the same flowers with pink Delight roses, repeated in their head bands.

Groomsman was Mr. Arthur E. Foster of Niagara Falls. Ushers were Edward W. Hill, Toronto, cousin of the bride; Dr. David B. Start, Rochester, Minn., brother-in-law of the groom, and Wes. McLean, Thorold.

A reception followed at Adelaide House. The brid's mother was receiving in a gown of jewell blue crepe with lace top of the same shade over flesh-colored crepe, a matching hat trimmed with natural shade plumes and corsage of Killarney roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore a gown of deep wine crepe with matching lace top, black hat and accessories, and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

For a wedding trip to the New England States the bride chose a suit of ballet burgundy gabardine with velvet collar in the same shade, hat and accessories in dark blue and topcoat of the same, and when going away wore an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Sproule will live in Burlington.

Many Entertain For Nina Craig

Miss Nina Craig, bride of Saturday, was much entertained by friends and relatives in honor of the event.

Mrs. T. S. Craig, her aunt, and Miss Cathy Craig were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. T Roe entertained at her home on Homewood Ave. in the form of a grocery shower, those attending being members of the Eastern Star order of which the bride is also a member.

A shower of miscellaneous gifts was given when Mrs. J. Graham and Miss Helen Graham held a weiner roast. Another pleasant evening was spent when 74 friends of the Salvation Army gathered in the hall and presented Miss Craig with a shower of gifts. Mrs. D. Routly and Mrs. P. Braund were co-hostesses. Another shower of lovely gifts was from girls in the Package Dept., Quaker Oats Co.

Presentations to the bride included a gilt framed wall mirror from the Order of the Eastern Star, a tri-light lamp from associates in the Quaker Oats.

YOU WOMEN WHO SUFFER HOT FLASHES then FEEL CLAMMY

Due to 'change of life'

Are you going through trying 'change of life'? Does this functional disturbance make you suffer from hot flashes, nervous and clammy feelings, weakness and a sense of being irritable and high-strung? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms.

Many wise women take Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against this distress. Pinkham's Compound acts on one of woman's most important organs and has such a grand soothing effect.

In addition, this great medicine is a fine stomachic tonic. A real blessing for women who suffer this way.

NOTE: Or you may prefer Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron.

6—In Memoriams

PANTER—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Alice Panter, who passed away one year ago today.
September comes with sad regret,
And one that we will not forget.
The will be done seems hard to say,
When one we loved was called away.
Things have changed in many ways,
But one thing never changes,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Sadly remembered by husband and family.

PANTER—In loving memory of Mrs. Alice Panter, who passed away Sept. 26, 1948.
Upright and just in all her ways,
Faithful and true to the end of her days.
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
—Ever remembered by son Fred, and daughter-in-law Elsie

7—Cards of Thanks

42—Legal Notices

Weeds

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all Occupants and Owners of Property within the City of Peterborough that the provisions of the Weed Control Act will be rigidly enforced.

Section 4 of the Weed Control Act states:

"Every occupant of land or if the land is unoccupied the owners shall destroy all weeds designated noxious by the Regulations as often in every year as is sufficient to prevent the ripening of their seed."

Occupants and Owners of Land are advised to exercise great care in Destroying all Noxious Weeds before they mature seed. If these precautions are not taken, the Weed Inspector may exercise his authority and may enter on property for the purpose of Destroying Noxious Weeds.

The co-operation of everyone is solicited in a general clean-up of Noxious Weeds.

A. E. CHALMERS, Weed Inspector

OBITUARIES

MRS. GORDON L. FITZIMMONS

Mrs. Gordon L. Fitzsimmons 54, of 757 Moffatt Ave., Verdun Que., died on Sunday in a Peterborough hospital following a lengthy illness. She wasbo rn in Glasgow and had lived in Verdun for many years. For the past six months she had been visiting her sister-in-law Mrs. Walter S. Crone, in this city.

She leaves her husband and a sister in Scotland, Mrs. Charles O'Hara. She was a member of the United Church in Verdun.

The body is being sent from the Kaye Funeral Home to the Wilson Funeral Home in Verdun where funeral service will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m. Burial will be at Mount Royal Cemetery.

DAVID FORSYTHE

David Forsythe, 77, of 2151 E. Pearl St., Hazel Park, Mich.; died at his son's residence on Sunday following a lengthy illness. Born in Douro township son of the late David Forsythe and Jessie McGowan, he lived in Peterborough until a year ago before moving to Michigan. He was formerly a barber in Ashburnham and operated a shop at 73 Hunter St. E., for 12 years.

He leaves his wife, the former Edith Holden and one son Harold in Hazel Park. A sister, Miss Ellen Forsythe and two brothers William and Thomas, all live in Douro and a third brother, Finley, in Windsor. Mr. Forsythe was a former member of Mark Street United Church and a veteran of the Boer War.

Funeral service will be held at the Kaye Funeral Home on Wednesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. E. W. Rowland of Grace United Church will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

JAMES O'TOOLE

The death occurred suddenly at his home on Sunday of James O'Toole, 24 Aylmer St. Born in Asphodel township 74 years ago Mr. O'Toole has spent practically all his life in Peterborough where he operated for years the Albion Hotel in Ashburnham. He also was for 20 years with the Prudential Insurance Co. and for several years operated a coal and wood business on Perry St. Mr. O'Toole has been retired for the past 10 years.

Son of John O'Toole and Margaret Lonergan, early settlers of Asphodel Mr. O'Tooe was educated in the Asphodel and Peterborough schools.

There survives his wife, formerly Catherine McCauley, one son Earle of Peterborough, four daughters, Mrs. Rupert Miller (Margaret); Mrs. Richard Field, (Ann), and Miss Clothilde of New York City and Miss Agnes at home, and two brothers Nicholas and William of Peterborough.

He was a member of the Sacred Heart Parish, the Holy Name Society and the Altar Society. He formerly was a member of the Knights of Columbus.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday from his late residence to Sacred Heart Church at 9.00 a.m. for requiem mass. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Hockey Club Offers Capons And Turkeys

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 26 — (ENS). — The hockey club executive met on Sunday to draw up plans for a Thanksgiving bingo to be held at Edgewater Park, October 6, beginning at 8 p.m. The prizes will be 20 capons and five turkeys. A special prize, not less than $25 in value will be given to the holder of the lucky number.

Rector Told Work Crowned With Success

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 26— (ENS)—Members and adherents of Christ Church held a farewell gathering in the Parish Hall Friday evening for their rector, the Rev. W. J. Lennox, Mrs. Lennox and their children, John and Cheryl, who are leaving shortly for Toronto. Hilton Beatty presided and Mrs. F. Free led a sing-song.

"His stay with us has been crowned with success and he leaves our congregation without an enemy," Mr. Beatty declared. "He is really a true servant of the people." Mr. Beatty continued, "and we are happy to know he has the strength and will to perform faithfully and well the new duties set before him. We shall miss him but we realize that we cannot keep a good minister for ever," he added.

James Benor and Mrs. Fred Linton, president of the Parish Guild, also spoke. Major J. M. Bygott presented the Lennox family with a purse of money.

"Our associations with you," Mr. Lennox said, "have been on the happiest possible level. We feel we have taken roots in this community and it is hard to leave behind so many thoughtful and kind people. We are taking over our new work as your representatives," he said.

Mr. Lennox took an active part in the secular life of the community. He was a member of the Library Board, Chaplain of the Midland Regiment, a member of the executive of the Home and School Association, a director of the Rotary Club and a member of the local Masonic Lodge.

'Blue Baby' No Longer Sick

LINDSAY, Sept. 26 —The first year of the life of young Floyd Langdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Langdon, Elgin St., Lindsay has been a period of sickness and pain. All that is changed now and the little fellow is promised normal health and happiness.

The transformation is the result of the famous "blue baby" operation performed by Dr. Gordon Murray of international renown. The operation at Toronto General Hospital was successful the doctor has told the infant's parents, and it looks as though he will celebrate his first birthday in October with good health.

The operation was performed after the baby had been existing for two months by the use of oxygen at Ross Memorial Hospital and later in Toronto. Within the next two or three weeks the child will probably be home with his two elder brothers, aged five and two.

Mrs. David Coons Buried At Lakefield

Burial of Mrs. David Coons, Haultain, took place in Lakefield cemetery Sept. 17, after a funeral service from the Tedford Funeral Home. She died Sept 14.

Mrs. Coons was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sidney White. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and Mr. Cleveland Robb officiated at the funeral.

She leaves her husband, David, three daughters, Mrs. Victor McFadden (Mildred), of Apsley; Mrs. John Chappell (Ruth), and Mrs. William Bolton (Ruth), Lakefield, and one son, Clare, of Peterborough.

Pall bearers were: Messrs. Robert Pulford, Clifford Shields, William Bolton, D. J. Fitzgerald, Victor McFadden and John Chappell.

Argonauts Score Major Upset Tame Alouettes In 29-14 Victory

By JACK MITCHELL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

A blonde bombshell burst on Montreal's Delorimier Stadium Saturday and the explosion provided the major upset of Canada's senior football week-end as it blew Toronto Argonauts back into championship contention.

Bronzed Royal Copeland looked his old spectacular self as he paced the Argos to a 29-14 victory over Montreal Alouettes, scoring their first three touchdowns.

The victory before a crowd of 16,800 put Argos all alone in second place, two points ahead of Lew Hayman's Als.

There were no other upsets in the five-game Saturday card of the three leagues that challenge for Grey Cup play. In the other Big Four league game, Frank Frank Gnup's Hamilton Wildcats came close but the league-leading Ottawa Rough Riders beat them 14-11 to make it five victories in a row.

Better Showing

The winless Balmy Beach also made a better showing against Hamilton Tigers in the only Ontario Union game, losing 18-6 compared with a 45-2 pasting the previous Saturday.

In the Western Canada League Calgary's Dominion champion Stampeders emphasized their strength by whipping the third place Edmonton Eskimos 41-5.

Regina's second-place Saskatchewan Roughriders defeated the tail-end Blue Bombers 24-6 at Winnipeg in the other game.

Copeland, as retiring off the field as he is aggressive on it, was put in the shadows this season by Argos decision to import Americans. Last week, after losing to Montreal, coach Tedder Morris decided his new system wasn't working. The canny Malton farmer cut two of his seven Americans, reviving his old formations and again made the Krol-Copeland combination the spearhead of his attack.

Nick Volpe, third string quarterback until Russ Reader was fired, also made good in his big chance, scoring two of Argos five touchdowns. Joe Krol converted four of them.

The Alouettes points came on touchdowns by imports Virgil Wagner and Chuck Anderson, two converts and a single by Ches McCance and a rouge credited to Al. Stevenson.

Gnup's improving Wildcats extended Ottawa all the way. The Riders built their 14 points on two touchdowns by end flip McDonald, a pair of singles by Howie Turner, another by Tony Golab and a convert by Eric Chipper. Negro import Tom Casey scored the Hamilton touchdown and punted three singles. Bill Murmylyk kicked a placement.

HEAVE AWAY—Here's Frank Filchock winding up for one of his sensational passes that are helping Montreal Alouettes through the Big Four schedule. Filchock, 32, was playing coach of the Hamilton Tigers before joining Alouettes as quarterback this season.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Paced by Eddie Bell with three goals, the British Columbia All-Stars Saturday tied their Canadian Junior Lacrosse final for the Minto Cup by defeating the Ontario All-Stars 9-6 in the second game of their best of five series at Owen Sound. Third game will be played Monday.

British Columbia overcame a 6-5 margin going into the last half. Ken Jones started the victory march when he tied the game up in the third quarter to set the stage for Bell, who tallied one goal shortly afterwards and then added two more in the final quarter.

The western champions, who led 2-1 at the end of the first quarter, took advantage of Ontario mistakes and proved a faster squad on the night's play. Ontario won the first game 8-5.

Other marksmen for British Columbia were Shadon Hull, with two goals, and Jim Kinna, Gord Stewart, Cliff Johnson and Ken Jones with one apiece.

Doug Smith turned in a solid two-way game for Ontario. He registered two goals and an assist. Other goals were tallied by Max Woolley, Ted Howe, Don Hay and Steve Oneschuk.

Ben Gazelle of Toronto overcame a leg cramp Saturday to win the 20-mile swimming marathon at Lake George, N. Y.

Gazelle, a 38-year-old swimming instructor, reported that he suffered a cramp in his left leg after covering about 1½ miles in the chilly water. He said he was able to "rub it out" himself while swimming.

The triumph gave Gazelle first prize of $1,000 plus $125 for winning five of the eight laps.

At Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., it was announced that Don (Count) Grosso is dropping out of professional hockey during the coming season to coach Sault Greyhounds, senior club seeking a comeback as an Allan Cup contender.

Grosso formerly played for Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League. He was one of last season's mainstays with St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League.

Montreal Canadiens ran into a flurry of rugged opposition Saturday night at Montreal and had to settle for a 3-3 draw with Buffalo Bisons in a hockey exhibition game. Under close checking by the American Leaguers, the National Hockey League team showed only flashes of expected form.

Louise Suggs Sunday defeated the United States golf queen, "Babe" Didrikson Zaharias, to capture the women's national open at Prince Georges Country Club in Landover, Md. The 26-year-old Carrollton, Ga., lass fired a five-under-par 75 to give her a final 72-hole total of 291 and a six-stroke margin over Babe's 305.

Ted Schroeder of La Cresenta, Calif. Sunday retained his national amateur hard courts tennis title with a 6-1, 6-3, 6-1 victory over Eric Sturgess, of South Africa, at Berkeley, Calif.

Illegal Operation

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—(CP).—Montreal police said today they are convinced that a 23-year-old girl from St. Hyacinthe, Que., who died in a Montreal rooming house late Saturday, had been the victim of an abortion. The woman, identified as Fernande Michaud, apparently failed to recover from the effect of an illegal operation and police said they hoped shortly to arrest a man believed implicated in the case."

Expect Invitation To Edinburgh Festival

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—(CP).—J. M. Meiklejohn, co-director of the Ottawa Drama League company that performed at the Edinburgh Drama Festival recently, said Sunday night the Dominion Drama Festival probably will be invited to send an entry to Edinburgh next year. Returning here from Scotland during the weekend, Mr. Meiklejohn said Scottish drama officials were anxious that Canadian plays be entered in the festival.

Humane Society Commended For Year's Work

Delegates from the Peterborough Humane Society were among those from all parts of Ontario attending the anual convention of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Guelph.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mr. Frank H. Cooke, Guelph; 1st vice-president, Col. R. S. Timmins, DSO, Ottawa; 2nd vice-president, Col. William Neilson, DSO, Niagara-on-the-Lake; 3rd [illegible] presidents, Mrs. D. R. MacKay, St. Catharines, Prof. A. F. Stevenson, Toronto; secretary-treasurer, Reverend C. J. Loat, St. Catharines; assistants to Mr. Loat, Mrs. Noel B. Eaton, Oakville, Mrs. David Askew, Newmarket.

In his annual report the secretary, Mr. Loat, stated that success had been achieved in the society's efforts to improve conditions and to better the treatment given animals at rodeos, fairs, zoos, etc.

The much publicized case of the "Death March of Horses" at Thessalon was reviewed and a first-hand report submitted by Mr. Dalzel. Many letters and contributions to further this investigation have poured in from all parts of the Dominion, a convincing testimony of the public sentiment which this most regrettable incident has aroused. The society has been highly commended for the vigorous manner in which it has pushed the investigation of this case.

New and interesting features of the two-day convention included: A showing of the popular film "Animals in the Service of Man." (It is estimated that this film has been shown to audiences totalling 2,500,000 in the last two and one-half years, attesting its value as an educational feature.) "Identicode," a new system for the permanent identification of dogs, was introduced. A visit to the Ontario Veterinary College, as guests of Principal Dr. Andrew L. MacNabb, was an interesting experience. Of special interest to the visitors was the extensive and up-to-date equipment used in the treatment of animals, in particular the new operating rooms with their large operating tables for the accommodation of horses and cattle.

The convention had as guest speaker Mr. Thomas Justice, manager of the Humane Society of Columbus, Ohio. The keynote of Mr. Justice's speech was the urgent need of education for promoting animal welfare.

Cars Damaged 4 Minor Crashes

Four minor accidents were reported to police Saturday, two of them involving cars from rural areas and the other two strictly local affairs.

Donald McIndoo, 16, R.R. 1, Ida, reported he ran into a hydro pole on Park St. about 7 p.m. He had made a right turn from Lansdowne South on Park St. when another car approaching him turned out to pass a parked car. Young McIndoo cut over to the west curb to avoid a collision. His car jumped the curb and hit a hydro pole six feet from the curb, doing no damage to the pole and a little to the front of the car.

Two cars collided at the corner of Reid and McDonnel Sts. about 11.30 p.m. Police reported a car driven by Clifford Sargenson, R.R. 3, Bancroft, going west on McDonnel went through the Reid St. stop sign without coming to a halt. The Sargenson car collided with a car driven by W. C. H. Gray, 615 Reid St. There was some damage to both cars.

Purdy Young, 22, 696 Victoria Crescent, reported to police he broke off a hydro pole when he was crowded off the side of Albertus St. by another car about 5 p.m. The pole was broken off about 10 feet above the ground. There was some damage to the front of the car.

Another two cars tangled about 8.05 a.m. when a car driven by Harvey Staunton, pulling out of a lineup waiting for a train on Sherbrooke St., at Bethune St., was hit by a car driven by Leonard A. Byrd, 467 Albert St., trying to do the same thing.

Seek 2 Missing Men

POINT JUDITH, R.I., Sept. 26.—(AP). — A coat guard picket boat and three fishing boats searched the Atlantic Ocean in rising seas today for a young lobsterman and an older companion missing in a 28-foot power boat. The search began Sunday night when Mrs. Manuel Silva reported that her son, Daniel, 16, and James Stokes were two hours overdue after a trip to tend lobster pots.

Council Plans Snow Clearance

HARVEY, Sept. 26— (ENS)—Township Council decided at the September meeting to advertise for tenders for snow ploughing. Simpson Scott addressed the Council about a fence and was referred to a solicitor. Applications from Glen Hall for a taxi licence was received and will be considered at the next meeting.

The following resolutions were passed: "That all cheques issued by the Municipality of Harvey be signed by Reeve and Treasurer." "That an application be made to the Dept. of Highways for the advanced subsidy on Road By-law.

Community Gives Farewell Presentation

CAVAN, Sept. 26 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Eldrich Nelson and their son Roy were honored by their friends and neighbours on Wednesday evening prior to their departure for their new home at Bewdley.

The first part of the evening was spent playing euchre and crokinole. Mr. Tom Dooglas made an informal speech expressing the regret felt in losing this family from the neighborhood and Mr. J. D. Armstrong made the presentation of a tri-light electric floor lamp. Sharon Armstrong and Larry Argue presented bedlights to Mrs. Nelson and Roy.

Mayor In Favor George St. Site

Mayor Swanston is on the way to conviction that the Memorial Community Centre will be built on the property owned by the city opposite George St. wharf.

Business has been moving down George St. to Dalhousie St., a long jump in a few years. His Worship says, and that has had the seeming effect of moving the Townsend St. block into town. So, on the main street and close to the business centre of the city, the Centre should have a real shot at year-round activity and income.

"It may not be long until there is a bridge across the McDonald's Point narrows," says Mayor Swanston.

"Maybe the Dominion government might have lying around another one like that at the Locks. At any rate, I find opinion definitely leaning more than ever to the site opposite the lake. The next thing will be to get the extra money that's needed."

Ald. Hurrell Dodds said he hoped the Mayor was right. "I've held out for that site when there wasn't much hope for it. That spot is almost at the centre of the city. If there is some question about the footings, it shouldn't cost more than property we would have to buy if we didn't own the place at George and Townsend."

Thirty-one Children At First Mission Band

MILLBROOK, Sept. 26—(ENS)—St. Andrew's Mission Band held its first meeting since the holidays Thursday at the home of Helen and Bernard Ingham, under the leadership of une Blair, president. There was an attendance of 31.

After playing games on the lawn the children, under the guidance of Mrs. Arnold Fallis, traced the outline of a church on colored cardboard. The details, symbolic of this year's study of the United Church of Canada are to be added at home.

Alice Hawkins, secretary, recorded the attendance. Children who were new to the Band were Marlyn and Mariel Mae Husser, Carol Ridge and Tommy Marston.

Dorothy Ball, treasurer, took the offering, after which the children joined in the dedication verse. The first story of the new study book "If I Had Not Come" was told by Mrs. Ingham.

The children decided they would hold an open meeting later in the fall to which their mothers and friends would be invited. They practiced songs for that occasion.

Cookies and lemonade, supplied by the leaders, were served by the hostess assisted by June Blair, Alice Hawkins, Marlyn Husser, Dorothy Ball and Barbara Ann Thompson.

"World Friends" magazines were distributed by the literature secretary, Janet Hobbs.

The next meeting will be held in the Sunday School room Oct. 6.

Claims Record

READING, Pa., Sept. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Zimmerman, 27-year-old Reading mother, Sunday claimed a world's altitude record for light planes. Mrs. Zimmerman said she had climbed to 26,200 feet to break a previous record of 21,900 feet.

Women's Institute WorkShownOnScreen

CAVAN, Sept. 26 (ENS)—Women's Institute held a social evening in the Sunday School room of Cavan United Church on Wednesday evening. Rev. A. Husser gave a talk on "Our Responsibility in our Community" and Rev. Mr McLean showed slides of events in the life of Women's Institute. He showed some splendid pictures of the Women's Institute convention held at the OAC, Guelph in 1947. Other items on the program were a solo by Mrs. M. Byers, accompanied by Mrs. O. Kennedy and a piano solo by Miss Grace Newhall. The committee in charge served refreshments and a collection was taken for community work.

Daylight Guaranteed For Two More Weeks

HAVELOCK, Sept. 26 (ENS).—Havelock will have daylight saving time for at least two weeks more. The Council will discuss the matter at the October meeting and decide when the change back to standard time will be made.

Three Showers Held For Newlyweds

WARKWORTH, Sept. 26 (ENS)—This community has been holding a number of showers recently for the newly-wed couples.

A largely attended shower was held in the Masonic Temple for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn (nee Margaret King). The young couple were the recipients of an exceptionally large purse of money. Dancing was the special entertainment for the evening.

Monday evening a shower was held for Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Skinkle (nee Helen Carr) in the Masonic Hall and they were presented with a purse of money. Dancing was to music by the Potter Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Elmhirst (nee Doris Killingbeck) were guests of honor at a presentation party in the Masonic Temple on Wednesday. Mrs. Douglas Langford read an address and Mrs. Jim Sayles made the presentation of a purse of money on behalf of the community and Messrs. Douglas Langford and Jim Sayles presented an open bookcase on behalf of the charivari party, which serenaded them a few nights previously. Dancing was resumed to the music of Potter's Orchestra.

ADULT INSURANCE AT BABY RATES

$5,000.00 PROTECTION and a lifetime Retirement Income
FOR LESS THAN $1.00 A WEEK

Insure your son now—for, say $1,000. You pay a Baby Premium. When your son reaches the age of 21, the amount of insurance payable becomes $5000 (5 times the original $1,000) yet the baby rate you pay at the start remains the same sum.

And note this—
The increased protection to $5,000 is automatic—no medical examination is required, so that at no time under this plan will your son become uninsurable by reason of unforeseen illness or accident.

THE SAME YEARLY BABY RATE CARRIES ON TO RETIREMENT AGE—NO INCREASE
Don't you think your son will thank you when he is an adult, for making certain he gets insurance—saving him many many dollars in rates—and starting him on the way to a pension fund. Investigate this on behalf of your children. There's no obligation in mailing the Coupon.

• REMEMBER •
A Policy for $1,000 on this Plan pays $1,000 in cash, in the event of death from 10 years of age up to age 21. (Smaller amounts by Law up to 10 years). At 21 years of age the face of the Policy automatically becomes $5,000, payable in the event of death. Yet, although the face amount of the policy increases, the rate remains the same.

VALUABLE OPTIONS AT RETIREMENT AGE
This Policy has various options at retirement. At the selected age of 55, 60 or 65 the plan will provide:—
(1) a monthly income for ten years, and as long thereafter as your child lives—OR—
(2) a fully paid-up policy (no more premiums to pay) and a substantial cash payment—OR—
(3) a cash settlement on the surrender of the policy.

Police Question Mrs. Pitre On Bomb Explosion, Arrest Hinted Imminent

Woman Taken To Quebec Headquarters As Investigation Spreads, Decide On Questioning At Special Session

QUEBEC, Sept. 27—(CP)—Mrs. Arthur Pitre, 41-year-old friend of J. Albert Guay, Quebec jeweller who is charged with the murder of his wife in the Quebec air disaster of Sept. 9, today was taken to headquarters of the municipal police, at the city hall, for questioning. Philippe Chouinard, clerk of the Court of Sessions, said no warrant has been issued for her arrest. But reliable sources said her arrest was "imminent."

City police said the woman was being questioned in connection with the bomb plot which resulted in destruction of a twin-engine transport plane at nearby Sault Au Cochon, killing all 23 occupants.

Mrs. Pitre, under surveillance in her lowertown Msgr. Gauvreau Street home since Friday, previously was questioned by police. RCMP said she admitted then that she was the courier who took to the nearby Ancienne Lorette airport package believed to have contained explosives.

City police said decision to detain the woman for further questioning was reached at a special meeting among Noel Dorion, Crown prosecutor in the Guay case, and heads of the city police and Canadian Pacific Airways investigators.

Only yesterday, municipal police relaxed their protective guard over the woman whose act of taking an over-dose of sleeping pills Sept. 20, broke the case open.

But today after Mr. Dorion conferred with chief detective Roger Lemire, joint police chief Aime Guillemette and investigator Jules Perreault and Bluteau of the Canadian Pacific police, it was decided Mrs. Pitre should be further questioned.

Inspector Bluteau, accompanied by municipal detective Georges Lavoie, visited the woman in her home. She accompanied them back to Municipal Police Headquarters at the City Hall.

Before stepping into the car, she told a small crowd which had gathered before her home: "Don't lose your time here. You better go home."

Northland Flier Matt Berry Said Missing

EDMONTON, Sept. 27 (CP) — Matt Berry, famous northland flier, is missing on a 150-mile flight from Norman Wells, NWT, to Fort Good Hope, NWT, officials of Northwest Air Command of the RCAF announced today.

Flying a light single-engined aircraft, Berry left Norman Wells, 900 airmiles north of Edmonton, at 8 a.m. Sunday and officials said he had not been heard from since.

Officials said they had no information that anyone was with Berry.

They said a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane was scheduled to leave Norman Wells today on a search for Berry's plane.

Labor MP Asks Bomb Meeting

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP) — A Labor member of parliament urged today a face-to-face atom bomb conference of President Truman, Prime Minister Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee.

The suggestion came in the House of Commons after Attlee rejected Winston Churchill's demand for more information about the disclosure of an atomic explosion in Russia.

Attlee said it would not be in the public interest at present to go beyond the Sept. 23 joint statement of Britain, the United States and Canada, which had said merely that an "atomic explosion" had occurred in the Soviet Union. Scientists interpreted this to mean Russia has an atomic weapon.

Labor member A. R. Blackburn said the news of the Soviet atomic explosion meant Britain has been "outstripped by the Russians in the development of atomic energy."

He demanded an "immediate review of the whole problem" by the Labor government. He also told Attlee many people "feel that the present issue is so grave that President Truman and yourself should not shrink from having a conference at the highest level with Stalin."

Attlee replied that the government has made its policy clear—that there should be "international control of atomic energy."

Scientific Experiment Told Plane Exploded

QUEBEC, Sept. 27.—(CP). — An experiment conducted in Ottawa two weeks ago by scientists of the Department of Mines and Resources is said to have contributed to discovery of the cause of the Sept. 9 air crash at nearby Sault Au Cochon in which 23 persons lost their lives.

Prior to the experiment, it was revealed Monday night, special investigators were working on the assumption that a blast and not engine trouble sent the aircraft crashing into a hilltop.

A special compartment with the same interior measurement as the ill-fated DC-3 was put together and an explosion was set off with a quantity of dynamite believed to be similar to that which caused the actual disaster.

Results of the explosion told the experts what they already believed: there had been no fire in the plane and cause of the crash had been a dynamite blast.

Engineer On Flier Dies In Train Cab

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., Sept. 27 (CP)—George E. Kuntz, 61, engineer on the crack Continental Limited, died from a heart attack today in the cab of his engine.

He collapsed on his seat in the cab just a few minutes after he had asked another engineer to take over the controls of the Canadian National Railways Vancouver-Montreal express because he wasn't feeling well.

The name of the other engineer was not known. He was a friend of Mr. Kuntz's who was riding in the cab to another assignment.

The train was stopped at Alexandria, 55 miles east of Ottawa, and the body was taken off. The train continued on to Montreal after an hour's delay.

Has Quadruplets

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP) —Mrs. Bernice Ecker, 33, died Monday night less than three hours after she gave birth to quadruplets, two boys and two girls. Two of the babies, a boy and a girl, lived during the night and were placed in an incubator. Attendants at Holy Cross hospital said that Mrs. Ecker's husband, Vernon, told them he did not know of his wife's pregnancy. They said Ecker a truck driver, told them he brought his wife to the hospital to receive treatment for what he believed was excessive bleeding. A physician said Mrs. Ecker was suffering from anaemia.

Fear 37 Dead In Two Crashes In U.S., Mexico

By The Associated Press.

It was feared 37 people were killed in two crashes Monday night, one in Mexico and one in Oklahoma, officials announced The exact death toll has not yet beel determined.

Mexico airport officials today said a Mexican commercial airliner with 24 persons aboard was reported to have crashed on the slopes of Popocatepetl volcano.

Senator Gabriel Ramos Millan, chairman of the National Corn Commission, and two persons believed to be Americans were reported among those aboard the craft.

First detail of the reported crash came from Moises Bautista, a shepherd, who gave his news to local officials.

Bautista said he saw the plane fall and hit one of the subsidiary peaks of Popocatepetl.

There was no immediate report as to the fate of the plane's passengers.

Bomber Crashes

TALIHINA, Okla., Sept. 27 — (AP)—A United States air force B-29 bomber crashed into a small wooded patch near here Monday night, possibly carrying to death its 13 crew members.

City Marshal Jack Bishop said he counted 10 bodies strewn about the wreckage.

Air Force officers said the plane was from Smoky Hill base, Salina, Kas., on a non-stop navigational training flight over the south and southwestern United States.

Flames made it impossible for rescue volunteers to get within 100 yards of the plane.

Some observers said they thought they heard the plane explode in midair. Bishop and Ora Dill, another policeman, discounted this theory. They said the wreckage was heaped compactly into a wooded patch on a small hill.

Shortly after midnight observers at the scene said they sighted "something resembling flares." A search of a two-mile area failed to locate survivors, who have parachuted.

Nehru To Address House

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 — (CP) — Prime Minister Nehru of India is expected to visit Canada Oct. 23-26, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Monday in the Commons.

Makes Move To Offset Any Inflation

Devaluation Gives Britain Chance For Partial Recovery

LONDON, Sept. 27 (CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps today raised Britain's profits tax by one-fifth to offset the inflationary effect of cheapening the pound. The tax on profits now is 25 per cent. Sir Stafford told the House of Commons he is increasing it "as from today" to 30 per cent. At the same time Sir Stafford repeated his stand that personal incomes, including those derived from wages must stay at present levels.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer also warned British business men:

"If there is any further breakingaway from the voluntary limitation of dividends I shall consider myself at liberty to introduce legislation to restrict dividends in the next finance bill."

Sir Stafford opened the crucial debate in the House of Commons on devaluation of the pound. He was fortified by a Labor party caucus which, informants said, decided to stand behind the government on the currency issue.

Has Better Chance

Sir Stafford told the House that because of devaluation, Britain "for a period of time" has a better chance of emerging from her difficulties than before.

"Provided we take the right action," he added.

A treasury spokesman said Sir Stafford has authority to raise the tax on business and industrial profits at once. Later, the spokesman said, the chancellor presumably will submit some sort of formal motion asking House of Commons approval, which would be virtually automatic in view of the heavy Labor majority.

Informed observers saw the action as a sop to rank-and-file Labor which has been complaining that the little people will suffer most from the cheapening of the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 U.S.

In his speech Sir Stafford insisted that food price increases "are not likely to come either in large measure or soon." The price of bread, however, already is up a penny. The chancellor said that it may be that by the end of the year the cost-of-living index figures may be up about a point.

Checks Wages

On the subject of keeping wages at their present level Sir Stafford said:

"It is of critical importance that nothing—and I mean literally nothing—should be done to increase personal incomes arising out of profits, wages or salaries until we can see how far our policy has succeeded in bringing near a balance in our dollar-sterling trade."

Russian Plane Watches Airliner

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 26.—(AP).—A passenger flying here from Tokyo today is quoted by the Anchorage Times as saying a Russian fighter plane zoomed close alongside a Northwest Airlines transport last Saturday over the Northern Kuriles.

The Times says its information came from Bruce Aichison, Tokyo lawyer and a director of the Japanese Chamber of Commerce American Club. Aichison's story, told in an interview with a Times report, is:

Making his 22nd flight on the Great Circle route over the North Pacific, Aichison glanced from a window of the NWA airliner and noticed a huge airport on an island in the Russian-held Northern Kuriles.

Moments later a flighter plane with Russian insignia, apparently an American type given the Russians during the Second World War, shot up, flew for some time beside the big United States commercial plane and looked it over carefully.

The fighter pilot did not try to change the course of the airliner, and made no threatening "passes" with his plane. After following alongside for several minutes, he turned back and disappeared.

Canada Reported Expecting 4th Record Tourist Year

By The Canadian Press.

United States tourists flocking into the Dominion in unprecedented numbers indicate Canada is on the way to a fourth consecutive record tourist year.

A Canadian Press survey shows all provinces are entertaining more tourists than last year when United States visitors spent an estimated $270,000,000— $29,000,000 more than 1947, a record year.

No accurate estimate of the total number of tourists entering the Dominion or how much they spent is available but provincial tourist officials said business is booming.

British Columbia officials said all tourist trade records will be broken there this year. They said a conservative estimate of spending is about $50,000,000, comparpared with $45,000,000 last year. Alberta expected to do $20,000,000 worth of business compared with last year's $17,100,000.

Interim figures issued by Saskatchewan showed some 32,240 motorists visited the province up until the middle of July. Manitoba officials calculated tourists spent some $8,000,000 there so far.

Ontario reported "a decided increase" over the $175,000,000 spent by tourists in Ontario last year. No figures were available from the Quebec provincial government on tourist business but Quebec City and Montreal both reported an increase.

Louis Pare, director of the Quebec City Tourist Bureau, estimated 1,000,000 tourist will have visited the city this year, an increase of about 13 per cent.

Newfoundland, Canada's newest province, expected to receive more than the 10,000 tourists who travelled there last year.

POLICE ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO is holding its annual convention in the city of Peterborough commencing today. Policemen from all parts of the Province, visiting police from other provinces, provincial, city, municipal and railroad are included in the Association. Arranging last-minute details today before the meeting started are, Left to Right, Peterborough Police Chief John Thompson; Chief Constable Arthur Webster of Lindsay, president of the Ontario Association and Constable Douglas Farthing, president of the Kawartha district Police Association.

Police Capture Drug Boss In Montreal Raid

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—(CP). —Montreal's narcotics trade received a serious jolt Monday when RCMP seized 50 ounces of heroin valued at $150,000, and arrested the alleged "kingpin" of the undercover trade here. Arrested was Johnny Young, who was described by police as the boss of Montreal's dope racket and member of the notorious Perreault gang. Young will be arraigned in court today charged with being found in possession of narcotics.

R.C.M.P. said after Young was arrested that they swooped down on his mid-town St. Denis Street apartment in a swift raid. There they found the heroin and an arsenal of weapons including a machine gun.

Young spotted the police coming and made a break for it, but an R.C.M.P. Constable made a flying tackle and brought him to the ground on St. Denis Street. There was no gunplay.

Inspector Wilson Brady said that Young had "muscled into the local drug trade several months ago."

Powerful Blow

"His arrest today is the most powerful blow to the narcotics trade in the city's history."

Young is already facing charges as accessory after the fact in the Perreault gang slaying of two city policemen one year ago. He is the latest person arrested in connection with a series of raids growing out of a months-long investigation by RCMP of drug peddling in Montreal.

Less than two weeks ago, $85,000 worth of heroin was seized in a local railway station public locker and four men were arrested, including Rev. Arthur Tallefer, Roman Catholic priest of Ste. Madeleine d'Outremont parish.

The Mounties have worked undercover in Montreal's underworld for four months to crack the "enormous drug ring." Some police agents posed as addicts, while others became drug peddlars or gang contact men.

Bring Meat Packers Under Federal Code

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 — (CP).— The Commons Monday gave first reading to a Bill, sponsored by Alistair Stewart (CCF-Winnipeg North), that would bring a large part of the meat packing industry under provisions of the Federal Labor Code.

At present, labor disputes in meat packing plants come under the jurisdiction of the provinces even though several plants belong to the same company and are located in different provinces.

Under Mr. Stewart's Bill, the Federal Government would have jurisdiction in cases where a company carries on business in two or more provinces. In such cases the Federal Labor Code would apply.

500 Ontario Policemen Get Welcome From Mayor

Mayor Max J. Swanston officially welcomed 500 members of the Police Association of Ontario and the Ladies Auxiliary at the 17th annual convention which opened in Peterborough this morning. He said he thought the visitors would find the citizens "very friendly and co-operative."

"In Peterborough, our boys in blue are very highly respected," the Mayor said. "The people of the city enjoy a good deal of freedom, but have respect for the rights of others, together with a respect for the law. This makes police work in Peterborough fairly easy," he continued.

He gave the delegates a brief sketch of the city and its attractions. Mayor Swanston was introduced by Chief Constable John Thompson who also welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Peterborough Police Force.

Conduct Invocation

The invocation in the official opening was conducted by the Rev. P. P. Butler and the Rev. Dr. James Semple.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw was scheduled to address the meeting during the afternoon session.

Preliminary business was carried out during the morning. After the official opening, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary left to conduct their own business meeting.

Delegates began arriving Sunday. Since their arrival they have been busy seeing as much of the city as they could.

Expel 10 Diplomats To Leave By Sundown

BUDAPEST, Sept. 27 (AP) — Hungary has accused the Yugoslav Legation here of spying and has given 10 of its officials until sundown tonight to get out of the country.

The Foreign Minister handed the legation a note declaring Hungary will make sure in the future that "spies and assassins" do not come to Hungary disguised as diplomats.

The note added that last week's Budapest treason trial had proved that Premier Tito's regime had plotted to kick out the Communist Hungarian government, kill off its leaders and restore capitalism. The expelled diplomats included the legations first counsel, Dusan Sakota, second secretary Slavko Zecevic, and military attache Kilibrarda Mahajlo. The other seven were secretaries and clerks.

Mitchum Arrest Hinted Framed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27 ((P) —Was Robert Mitchum's marijuana arrest framed?

The district attorney's office says it is investigating "reports" that Mitchum and bit actress Lila Leed may have been victims of Hollywood's purported extortion ring.

H. Leo Stanley, chief investigator for the district attorney, questioned Miss Leeds Monday as the Mitchum case was reopened

Mitchum and Miss Leeds served time after narcotics officers raided the blonde's Laurel Canyon cottage a year ago. Also arrested in the raid but later freed was dancer Vicki Evans.

Miss Leeds told Stanley:

"I was putting up Vicki's hair and I was smoking a marijuana cigaret. Why didn't the cops, who were outside watching, as I found out later, pinch me then?

"They didn't. They waited until Mitchum got there."

Stanley said legitimacy of the arrests is not questioned, but his office is interested in reports they were "engineered."

Scores of Police Patrol Highways Near Coal Fields

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 27— (AP)—Scores of state policemen today patrolled highways in western Pennsylvania to prevent an outbreak of violence in non-union coal fields.

Monday night an unestimated number of officers from widely-scattered points gathered at the Clearfield barracks. Fourteen operators of 30 mines closed by picket violence last week prepared to operate as usual. Most of the mines are strip operations—where the earth's surface is scooped away to reveal shallow veins of coal.

Reports of violence came from western Virginia Monday. Two pickets were arrested and one unidentified person injured as bands of roving pickets closed all non-union coal mining operations in Gilmer county. And in Tuscarawas county in Ohio, nearly 200 men forced truckers hauling non-union mined coal to dump their loads.

"We are going to protect property and see that no damage is done," said Sgt. James Stuck of the state police. "So far we've arrested four men on charges of rioting or damaging property. We'll continue to enforce the law in Pennsylvania."

In Clearfield, developments came as the strike of John L Lewis's 480,000 United Mine Workers entered its ninth day. The miners walked out after trustees of the soft coal welfare and pension fund cut off payments—and after Lewis has emphasized that some southern United States operators had quit making the 20 cent a ton royalty payments.

Ban Is Lifted On U.S. Fruit, Vegetables

Canned, Frozen Foods Still Barred; Effective Saturday

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP) — Border points will be humming with activity next Saturday when Canada embarks on a policy of unrestricted imports of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The new policy, which reverses the one undertaken two years ago to conserve Canada's dwindling dollar supply, was announced on Monday in the Commons by Finance Minister Abbott.

Big shipments of United States pears, grapes, cranberries, green beans, beets, cauliflower and sweet potatoes are expected to flow into Canada for the first time since 1947.

Early next spring, when the U. S. new production season starts the import stream likely will pick up supplies of American watermelons, canteloupes, apricots, cherries, strawberries and peaches to whet the Canadian appetite.

These new imports will swell Canada's supplies of U. S. oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes, tomatoes, cabbage, spinach and lettuce previously available only through quota shipments.

Added Competition

Bountiful uncontrolled movement of American fresh fruits and vegetables likely will bring with it added competition to domestic producers, said an official of the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers' Association.

Announcing the lifting of the barriers, Mr. Abbott said it would not mean removal of restrictions on U. S. canned, frozen or other processed fruits and vegetables.

These still will be controlled under quotas. However, depending on future developments of Canada's exchange position, there may be other import-control relaxation and removal "in due course," Mr. Abbott said.

Meanwhile with the elimination of the fruit and vegetable controls, Canada's imports from

Second Tragedy Strikes Family

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 — (CP)— An elderly woman, on a visit to Ottawa Monday was fatally injured when she was knocked down by a school bus. Two young boys with her were slightly shaken up and bruised. The woman, Mrs. Mary Kidd, 71, widow of Rev. Charles Kidd of St. Andrew's Church, Gananoque, was staying with her daughter, Mrs. Murray Bowie, and had taken her two grandchildren for a walk when the accident occurred.

The boys, one aged two and the other five, were children of the late Dr. Murray Bowie, shot and killed by a demented veteran while sitting at his desk in the Veterans Affairs Department two years ago.

Mrs. Kidd is survived by two sons, Paul Kidd, Windsor, Ont., and Charles Kidd of Hamilton and Ottawa, and two daughters, Mrs. Murray Bowie and Miss Eleanor Kidd of Ottawa.

The funeral will be held in St. Andrew's Church, Gananoque, on Thursday.

Ernest M. Carefoot Dies In Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 27 (CP)— Ernest M. Carefoot, 61, central figure in narcotics and fraud charges here since March, 1946, died Monday night.

Cause of death was reported as coronary thrombosis.

Carefoot, who once had a medical practice at Milestone, Sask., was acquitted in December, 1946, of fraudulently practising medicine here. The charge arose from an alleged cancer cure. His wife said during the trial that Carefoot was disqualified by the Saskatchewan Medical Society in 1932 and moved to Belleville at that time. In May, 1946, Carefoot was acquitted of a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

Hopes Hydro Restrictions Eased By Christmas Saunders Tells Ontario

Power Curbs Go Into Effect October 1
Bar Electric Signs, Heaters; Higher Water Levels May Ease Situation

TORONTO, Sept. 27—(CP)—R. H. Saunders, Ontario Hydro Chairman, said Monday night he hopes that restrictions on use of electricity which go into effect in southern Ontario Oct. 1 can be eased by Christmas. The power-conservation restrictions will be similar to those imposed last fall, when a shortage also developed. They ban use of power from the Hydro system for outdoor advertising of for heating in homes or commercial buildings.

The restrictions will be much the same as those which took effect on Sept. 14 last year. A ban is placed on all outdoor electric signs using power from the Hydro Commission. Lighting of store premises during business hours is limited to one watt per gross square ft. Not more than 10 watts per lineal foot will be permitted for show windows.

The domestic consumer is prohibited from using space heaters and the installation of water heaters is restricted to those with thermostatic control and with approved insulation.

Heaters Banned

Space heaters, grates, radiators and boilers or any other electric device for heating hotels, tourist cabins, shops, offices and commercial premises are also banned.

Mr. Saunders made a special plea to householders not to use the space heaters because they burn up a tremendous amount of electricity and are costly to operate.

Hydro, he said, has been able to postpone the restrictions beyond last year's date because this year the water levels in the storage basins on the Ottawa and other rivers are higher.

While the situation is improved over that of a year ago, there are other circumstances which impel Hydro to act.

"At the Queenston-Chippewa plant we have been losing some 300,000 to 400,000 kilowatt hours per day because of the low level of Lake Erie," Mr. Saunders explained. "Whether this loss will continue, I am unable to say. "Whether the rains we have had in the last few days in the northern part of the province are any indication of more rain in the future, again I am unable to say.

"However, I must say that conditions are such that we cannot afford to take a chance."

Truck Driver Ringed By Flame

OSHAWA, Sept. 27 — Truck driver D. McKenzie of 704 Dawes Rd., Toronto, narrowly escaped being electrocuted Monday.

Transporting a steel dust bin to Belleville, McKenzie was entering Oshawa on Ritson Rd. S., from No. 24 Highway. His cargo, 15 feet six inches high, clipped a set of hydro wires strung across the street. They wripped down on the truck and road throwing blue flame.

McKenzie sat tight. Sent to the scene Constables Lorn Silver and Dennis Sears could do nothing to help the man as he huddled in the cab. Then with wires still glowing but no longer acting like snakes, McKenzie crawled gingerly from his "hot seat."

Public Utilities Commission employees arrived to shut off power and clear up the situation. But the driver found he could not proceed because an overhead bridge only permitted clearance of 14 feet 10 inches.

Finally rerouted north on Simcoe St. McKenzie's truck made its way carefully under still more wires which just skimmed the huge hopper.

Requests To Build On 32-Foot Lot

W. N. Blewett of Bridgenorth received from the board of works Monday night permission to build a house on a lot he has owned for years on the east side of Harvey St., between London and Dublin Streets.

The lot has a frontage of 32 feet, with a lane at the back. When subdivided 30 years ago by the Dickson Company certain restrictions were placed on the lots. All of them are now occupied with houses except the lot owned by Mr. Blewett, who wrote that he had been paying taxes on it 25 years.

To a suggestion that residents of adjoining properties be consulted, Ald. Doug Miller said he could not see why the neighbors should be asked about their attitude in view of the fact that they had already built on similar lots.

"If he couldn't build, are you going to charge him axes?" Ald. Miller queried.

"Are we sure he other lots have been built on?" Ald. J. A. Gillespie asked. To an affirmative answer he proposed the motion, seconded by Ald. Young, that Mr. Blewett be given a building permit.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

A backdraught that caused smoke to pour into the store instead of up the chimney brought firemen to the Davis Agency, 446 George St., Monday morning. In the afternoon an alarm box was pulled at Homewood Ave. and Monaghan Rd., but firemen found no trace of fire when they got there.

the U. S. of those items is expected to soar from a $38,000,000 a year business to more than $45,000,000.

Mr. Abbott said sterling and dollar devaluation and other results emanating from the recent tri-nation monetary talks in Washington caused the government to review its import controls position.

Pacific Coast Vulnerable Pearkes Warns

OTTAWA, Sept. 27—(CP)—A former commander of Canadian defence forces on the Pacific Coast told the government in the Commons Monday that Canada is vulnerable to attack throughout the whole length of the British Columbia Coast.

Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, who won the Victoria Cross in the first world war and who served both overseas and at home in the last war, said there is a huge gap in the Pacific Coast defences. He urged the Defence Department to do something about it.

The 61-year-old general, who entered politics in 1945 after his retirement from the Pacific Command, urged establishment of an RCAF auxiliary squadron on Vancouver Island. The Progressive Conservative member also said Canada should have an aircraft carrier to patrol the Pacific Coast as the Magnificent covers the Atlantic Coast.

Proper ground-defence units were needed at the airfield in Whitehouse, Yukon, which he described as one of the important links with Alaska defences in the Canadian Northwest.

Better Ack-Ack Needed

Improved anti-aircraft defences also were needed in British Columbia, he said during continued debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Today members turn to a bill extending the provisions of the criminal code to the province of Newfoundland and to another measure aimed at abolishing appeals to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

May Be Battleground

Gen. Pearkes said it was possible that Canada would become a battleground in the event of another war and the country could not afford to sit back and wait.

The United States, he said, maintains ships several hundred miles off the coast to plot the course of aircraft, report on weather conditions and help in the rescue of ships at sea. At the same time the ships acted as an outer ring of defence. This defensive ring ended abruptly at the Canadian border and the gap continued right to the Aleutians.

It was through the Canadian north that this country might become a theatre in the event of war. The recent exercise Eagle, carried out on the southern approaches of the Alaska Highway to study counter-attack methods against an airfield captured by the enemy, had shown glaring weakness in Canada's airborne training.

He said he was not alarmed at those weaknesses. It was to disclose such things that exercises were held. But there was no point to them unless the lessons were studied and the deficiencies removed.

Gen. Pearkes said he noted in the Throne Speech that consolidation of the three services was planned by the government.

He said he would support every endeavor to supply the forces with modern equipment and hoped that unification, still scanty, could come about on all levels.

Currency Badly Handled

E. D. Fulton, PC, Kamloops, said there has been "neither consistency nor intelligence" in the government's handling of the currency problem. In devaluing the dollar 10 per cent last week, the government had taken a step which Finance Minister Abbott had flatly rejected last March. Yet in Mr. Abbott's address on devaluation, he had said the difficulties to be overcome had been evident since before last March.

The only long-term solution, said Mr. Fulton, lay in allowing currency to find its own level in world markets instead of setting artificial values as Canada had done. Canada should be willing to guard sterling markets by accepting pounds freely in payment for Canadian exports until those countries had enough dollars to pay for goods from the Dominion.

Angus MacInnis, CCF-Vancouver East, said trade and currency problems will not be solved until the western democracies match the co-operation in military affairs with co-operation on a similar scale in economic matters.

Sam Carr's Appeal Dismissed By Court

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal today dismissed an appeal by Sam Carr, central figure in the 1946 Russian espionage trials, against his conviction and six-year sentence on a charge of conspiring to forge a Canadian passport for a Russian agent.

Carr's six-year term in penitentiary will start from April 12 of this year, date on which his appeal was first launched.

The former organizer for the Labor-Progressive party has been in Carleton county jail in Ottawa since January 31 when he was returned to Canada following his arrest in New York.

Carr's appeal against the conviction was based largely on the fact he considered evidence given at his trial pertained largely to espionage matters for which no proof was submitted.

Man Wounds Girl Friend During Graveside Service

MONTREAL, Sept. 27—(CP)—A solemn funeral service attended by more than 200 negroes was suddenly broken up here Monday when a love-frustrated man began firing a revolver into the group and wounded his 34-year-old girl friend. In hospital today with two bullet wounds is Rose Evans, of Montreal, while John Frederick Turney, 49, a Canadian National Railways employee, is dead of a self-inflicted shot through the heart.

Miss Evans' condition was described as not serious by hospital authorities.

Police said Turney appeared at the funeral where he pleaded with Miss Evans to come back to him. Police said the two were on intimate terms until recently.

Shoots Wildly

When she refused, Turney pulled a .45-calibre automatic revolver from his pocket, police said, and pointed [illegible] shots were fired wildly in the crowd, sending panic-stricken mourners scurrying for safety behind headstones, while Miss Evans ran away screaming.

Turney gave chase and two more shots rang out felling Miss Evans. Then Turney slipped the gun under his coat and fired one shot through his heart. He died instantly.

Gerard St. Jean, a taxi driver, told police he drove Turney and an unidentified man to the burial for another negro. He said he saw the pair walk into the silent crowd around the graveside. A few moments later, he said, he heard two shots and saw Turney chasing Miss Evans on the cemetery grounds.

Makes Moves

He left the door ajar, however, for increases in any case where a wage "is insufficient to provide a family with a minimum standard of living."

Organized labor in Britain is worried that inflation arising out of devaluation will bring higher prices. There has been pressure from some unions for wage increases.

Keep Control

The Chancellor also promised Britain's present price controls on goods sold at home "will continue in force and be rigorously administered."

The motion of confidence asked by Prime Minister Attlee's government is so worded that a negative vote could be construed also as a vote against the policy of maintaining full employment and safeguarding present social services.

Because this wording makes the motion difficult to oppose the opposition Conservative Party announced that it would propose a substitute in both Houses of parliament for the government's motion.

Oliver Stanley was the first Conservative to take the floor when Cripps finished talking. He declared:

"Devaluation is one more expedient to be added to those temporary expedients leading to a series of crisis which the Chancellor himself tells us have distinguished the government's handling of our economic affairs.

Short-Sighted

"If the Chancellor had foreseen in July what actually happened we should have saved two months' drain on our reserves and it might have been possible to stabilize the pound on a higher figure."

Devaluation was announced Sept. 18. Preceding that announcement Sir Stafford had opposed such a move.

Stanley accused the government of minimizing the dangers of rises in the cost of living.

"A rise in the cost of living is inevitable and must be substantial," he said. "I suggest that the government should tell the country now the estimated rise in the cost of living rather than have it dribbled out of them later on."

In today's speech, the Chancellor said the government did not underestimate the effect devaluation would have upon the life and livelihood of the people at many points.

Sir Stafford spoke after Labor Members of Parliament met in caucus. Reliable informants said the members decided to stand behind the government on the pound devaluation issue.

Call a Halt

On the Washington financial decisions Sir Stafford said a halt had been called on the tendency of increasing separation in the economic sphere among the western democracies.

This separation had been directly contrary to the close political and defence association which was growing up so satisfactorily.

"This association was in grave danger of being made ineffective unless we could bring the dollar and non-dollar economies into a more healthy relationship to one another," the Chancellor said.

Britain was not concerned with any more loans or gifts. The government was concerned with creating conditions by which it could attain a dollar-sterling balance through the ordinary channels of commerce.

He said Britain has decided to appoint "a very senior official" to her ambassadorial staff in the United States. His full time would be occupied by studying particular problems arising from the Washington talks. The United States and Canada would make similar arrangements.

He said the government decided on devaluation only after a full review of the situation. Dollar imports could not have been cut down further without breaking contracts and creating grave unemployment.

Cost Accounting System Outlined

Accountants and student accountants were privileged to hear a well planned address on the work and problems of A. Wander Limited at a dinner meeting of the Peterborough Chapter of Industrial and Cost Accountants Association of Ontario at the Empress Hotel on Monday.

The talk was given by Gordon Langhorne, accountant and [illegible] is of Swiss origin and was first in operation in 1865. The head office is now in London and the organization has 14 plants providing pharmaceutical products, Ovaltine, vitamin and malt extract products to almost all countries of the world. The Peterborough plant have in the past been able to ship a large part of their products to South and West Africa but present exchange rates have eliminated this market.

Mr. Langhorne very ably outlined the procedures followed in their general accounting and cost accounting and the forms and reports required for effective management of such a diversified business. The open discussion following the address revealed that one feature of the reports to head office was unusual and yet very practical. A. Wander Limited head office require all manufacturing, trading, and profit and loss items to be expressed in percentages of "adjusted turnover". Adjusted turnover is the term used to describe the volume of sales adjusted by the increase or decrease in sales value of finished goods inventory. When applied to all 14 plants this figure provides head office with a constant base for comparisons of performance at any plant with that of any other plant, and enables the head office to obtain accurate data on short notice.

Mr. Langhorne was introduced by Ron Payne of CGE and thanked by Ted Jones of CGE. Chairman of the meeting was Stanley Adamson of CGE.

Police Question

Meanwhile, the provincial police continued to unravel the mysterious surroundings of the bomb plot.

Guay appeared in court today and was remanded to Oct. 4 for preliminary hearing. It was his first court appearance since he was formally charged Saturday and given a three-day verbal remand. The remand gave police an opportunity of questioning him further.

The 32-year-old jeweller was declared sane Monday by Dr. Gustave Desrochers, medico-legal expert and Dr. C. A. Martin, psychiatrist.

Working through a maze of love intrigues in shoddy Quartier du Palais, police Monday night questioned a 47-year-old paralytic whom they believe to be the maker of the bomb which exploded the twin-engine Canadian Pacific Airlines plane.

Police were reluctant to discuss details of their investigation of the paralytic other than to say they were keeping a "close watch" over him.

To date police have made only one arrest in the case. They have charged J. Albert Guay, a Quebec City jeweller with the murder of his wife Rita, who was a passenger on the plane. Police say he arranged to have the bomb placed aboard the plane.

Rumors were current today that another arrest would be made, but police declined to substantiate it.

Question Waitress

The case also led to the questioning of Marie-Angle Robitaille, pretty waitress with whom police said Guay was in love.

Police believe that Guay's romantic entanglements and the $10,000 insurance policy carried by his wife played an important part in the plan that killed Mrs. Guay.

Police said that the paralytic under scrutiny is a wizard with his hands. He is a jeweller by profession and has worked for Guay on several occasions.

Work Stoppage At Lock Works

Following the announcement of the Peterborough Lock Co that it was breaking off negotiations with Local 527 (UE-CIO) in the present contract dispute, 180 workers staged a work stoppage at the plant today.

The contract ends September 30 and negotiations between the company and the union have been continuing since September 13.

At a membership meeting held in the union hall on George St., Monday night, it was decided not to take the dispute to conciliation at this stage. And a recommendation was delivered to the company early today that it bargain directly with the union on a basis of "good faith."

No reply was received, union officials state, and as a gesture of protest the workers laid down their tools until noon.

The stoppage came directly after the 10-minute break period at 9:30 a.m., and continued until 12 o'clock noon.

Union demands for the new contract include a 40-hour week with the same take-home pay; a substantial wage increase; and improvements in the present vacation schedule.

Present basic rates at Peterborough Lock range from 93 cents an hour to $1.27.

School Granted $100 For Sports

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27 — (ENS)—A grant of $100 was made to the High School for sports equipment by the Board of Education on Monday.

Principal H. R. Hendershot was given authority to purchase 40 atlases at $1.35 each for Grade 10 geography class.

Secretary W. Stephens was instructed to pay an oratorical fee of $7 to Clarence McKague, Castleton.

Mr. Hendershot said the increased school attendance necessitated the addition of another teacher. He recommended that a utility teacher be engaged for the remainder of the school year.

He suggested that next year a commercial course should be instituted, with a fully qualified teacher in charge, to give pupils a wider choice of subjects.

Mr. Hendershot was asked to ascertain the number of pupils who would be interested in a commercial training and report his findings at the next Board meeting.

Tenders for the purchase of scrap iron at the Public School were opened and A. J. Meyer's tender for $40 was accepted.

Principal Charles Haig of the Public School reported that the division of the primary grade into morning and afternoon classes was working satisfactorily.

A communication from Tatham Co. Ltd. regarding the contract between the School Board and Messrs. Bristow and Moore was laid over for further study.

Grows Big Hogs With Steam Heat

INNISFAIL, Alta., Sept. 27 (CP) —Knut Magnusson, a Swedish immigrant, is trying to develop hogs that will grow in a hurry and save production costs in raising them for bacon.

Starting with the Yorkshire, one of the best bacon producers, Mr. Magnusson crosses with such other breeds as Hamprace and Chester-Land-Race. The hybrids will grow faster, he says, but their bacon value still is to be proved.

Mr. Magnusson came to Canada two years ago from Sweden, where he was associated with the agriculture department to carry on the work started by another Swede, Andrew Anderson, his father-in-law and a noted prairie farmer.

Mr. Anderson, who died in 1945 developed long grasses that supplied half the Canadian market on his farm near here.

Using infra-red lamps and steamheated pens, Mr. Magnusson is producing hogs from December to February, months when production usually lags and market prices are high. This practice has spread but Mr. Magnusson was one of the first to prove it's a practical business venture where farms have electricity.

How to GIVE YOUR CHILD A BETTER START

Your little boy or girl has a long road to travel before meeting with the responsibilities of manhood or womanhood. Your own experience, however, will tell you how wonderfully helpful a Junior Estate Policy will be then. Until your child is 21, this policy includes a little life insurance and an emergency cash fund to use, if necessary, for education, wedding plans, or a start in business. Best of all, at age 21 the life insurance automatically increases to $5,000 without change in premiums. Imagine how helpful it will be to your son in manhood to have five or ten thousand dollars essential life insurance at childhood's premiums. And there are suitable options for girls.

16-Year-Old Fined $100 For Having Beer

COBOURG, Sept. 27 (ENS) — Ronald Willis, 16-year-old Camborne youth, pleaded guilty Monday to illegal possession of beer and was fined $100 and costs. Police found Willis sitting in a car with a case of beer on Saturday which had one bottle removed.

Charged with attempting to steal money from the poor box of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Port Hope on Sept. 19, Peter Shannon transient, was sentenced to four months definite and two indefinite when he appeared in police court Monday. Shannon has a previous record including conviction for a similar offense.

Joseph Lynch, was remanded until Friday when he appeared [illegible] from a local drug store. Chief W. J. Carey told the court that he noticed him in town on Saturday and was keeping an eye on him. He learned later that Lynch was trying to peddle some perfume in a local hotel. However, before police here caught up with him, he had taken a bus to Peterborough. He was picked up there and returned to Cobourg. Another shoplifting charge will be laid here against the accused, police said.

River Becomes Dump

TORONTO, Sept. 27 — (CP).— The Don Valley Conservation Authority charged Monday that so much sewage is being dumped into the Don River, which flows into Toronto Bay, that the sewage is carrying water instead of the water carrying the sewage. In a brief presented to the Ontario Legislature's Conservation Committee, the association contended that the river, at one time used for boating and swimming, is rapidly being reduced to the status of an open drainage ditch.

Teach Children To Think Duty Of Schools

School is to prepare boys and girls for living in this world, Leo Copp, principal of the Peterborough Normal and Training School told the Optimists Club, Monday night.

He emphasized that this was a changing world. The teacher can predict what sort of student he will likely meet in his next class, but there is no way of telling what problems the same student will have to face in future years.

Education that permits the student to adjust himself to his environment was the theme that ran through Mr. Copp's address entitled, "What Schools Should Do For Us In This Democracy."

A glance at the evening press should convince anyone of the necessity of such an education, he said. Current topics included the atomic controversy, possible bacterial warfare—as outlined by Brock Chisholm—and the building of Soviet rocket sites on the Nazi pattern.

"Education should make a youngster think for himself," he said.

"Every time I hear of a child who gets into difficulties in the police courts I feel we have failed in the school," he stated. "The blame, however, lies not only with the homes and churches."

To the regret of club members Mr. Copp said he would have to cut his address short. He skimmed over two comparatively recent German fields of thought. The first of Kant, Hegel and Spinoza was constructive, he felt; but the second of Schopenhauer and Nietzche led to the recent amoral attitude of the German youth.

Compared with this attitude he placed that of the Optimists Club with such idealistic projects as "Boys' Town."

"In the back of your minds must be an ideal that benefits the boys of this community," said Mr. Copp. "Just keep on going and the best of luck.

The speaker was introduced by John Pierce and thanked by Les Davis. President Les Edwards was in the chair.

Innes Refuses To Be A Patron

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (CP) — Controller John Innes said Monday he has withdrawn his name from the list of patrons of an organization known as the Charitable Foundation for the Aged.

Sgt. E. R. Walker of the Toronto police, which are investigating the organization, said a number of other patrons have either withdrawn their names or do not recall giving permission for them to be used.

The Foundation is selling tickets at $3.50 each for a charity ball to be held here Oct. 12 on a west-end dance pavilion. Its sponsors advertised the Foundation was designed to augment the income of old age pensioners and to provide them with better living conditions.

Postpone Discussion

TORONTO, Sept. 27 — (CP).— City Council Monday postponed consideration of Toronto's $179,000,000 master plan for three weeks to enable civic committees to give further study to the proposals. The plan was sent on to the Council after being approved unanimously by the city's Board of Control.

Tourist Home Burns

CORNWALL, Sept. 27 (CP). — Fire Monday destroyed a tourist home at Moulinette, six miles west of here, causing loss estimated at $17,000. Cause of the fire in the large frame building is unknown. The building was unoccupied at the time of the outbreak.

Calls Grand Jury Aristocracy Of Public Work

COBOURG, Sept. 27 (ENS) — Fall assizes opened Monday with a heavy docket presided over by Mr. Justice J. K. MacKay. The grand jury took under consideration an indictment of rape against Robert Broome of South Carolina. Broome is alleged to have raped a 15-year-old Haldimand Township girl when he was with the circus at Cobourg August 21. There is a second count of carnally knowing a girl between the ages of 14 and 16.

The rape case, if it gets past the grand jury and a motor accident damage case, Bradley vs. Bruin Products, are expected to take most of the week with a docket of at least eight cases remaining for trial if court sits next week.

In addressing the grand jury Mr. Justice MacKay said it is always a pleasure and a privilege to be associated with a grand jury in the important task of the administration of justice. The administration of justice in Canada inherited a saving principal from the Old Land in its democratic character. The people have a direct part in the administration of justice in both criminal and civil courts.

"No matter how important a judge may be or may think he is, there is still the fact that parliameant, that is to say, the people make the laws and the judiciary has the task of interpreting these laws but the more important and far-reaching task is that of determining the guilt or innocence of an accused. This task has been reserved by the people for themselves. You are the determiners of truth, revealing our country as the land of free and courageous citizens," he declared.

"You are the guarantors of justice, exactly, evenly and universally applied you are the custodians of civilization because without law there can be no civilization. When there is no court there is no law; no truth and integrity, no cause. The grand jury is the aristocracy of public service. The Bible of the British constitution are the Magna Charta, the Petition of Rights and independence of the judiciary.

"Independence of the judiciary does not give to it arbitrary rights but gives it the right to carry out its duties without fear from the Crown, the government or executives.

"A judge is beyond the control of King or parliament within the proper scope of his duty. In the old days the exponents of liberty were jailed on trumped up charges but the genius of the people devised the jury system and the grand jury determines whether there is sufficient evidence to put a man on his trial," His Lordship said.

He then went on to explain the functions of a grand jury and the nature of the charge contained in the indictment of the present sittings of court.

Two Families Each Of Four Generations Attend Anniversary Services At St. James

ROSENEATH, Sept. 27—(ENS) Four generations of the McCracken and Timlin families attended the anniversary services at St. James' Anglican Church on Sunday. They were 87-year-old Mrs. Thomas McCracken, her son, Mr. Herbert McCracken, who is church warden; Mr. Ray McCracken and his two children, Ronald and Judy.

Four generations of the Timlin family were represented by 83-year-old Mrs. Willis (Timlin) Stuart, of Tyrone; her son, Mr. Ernest Timlin, Cobourg; his daughter, Mrs. Henry Haynes, Port Hope, and her son, Billy Haynes.

Among those attending the anniversary services were Mr. and Mrs. Roy White, Harwood; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Timlin, Cobourg; Mrs. Henry Haynes and son Bill, Port Hope; Mrs. Willis Stuart, Tyrone; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McCracken, Peterborough; Miss Merle Braithwaite, Springville; Mrs. Stuart Atkinson, Mr. John Atkinson, Dartford; Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Timlin, Centenary; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Adams, Fenella; Mrs. Solomon Leach and Miss Ruby Adams, Fenella.

A Trent Valley Authority?

Mr. Vincent Eastwood, Chairman of the Peterborough City Trust and an elder citizen zealously watchful of the city's welfare, has proposed that an authority be established to prevent and forestall pollution of the Trent waterways. We consider this proposal sufficiently important and urgent to merit the early consideration of municipal, district, Provincial and Federal officials.

* * *

Polluted waters are unhealthy to humans, harmful to vegetation, fish and animals, crippling to the tourist trade, and very expensive to cleanse, as Peterborough's experience shows. The best way to have clean waters is to prevent their being polluted in the first place. Peterborough, the largest centre on the Trent system, has a filtration plant and a sewage disposal plant. The latter is being remodelled at the cost of about half a million dollars. Comprehensive control to prevent pollution of the system anywhere along its length or at its sources is urged not because Peterborough, now attempting to reach a state of grace in this matter, wants merely to force other municipalities on the system into similar expensive ways. Peterborough of course, is anxious to protect its investment and its waters, but it also knows that a partial job of cleansing is no cleansing at all. If towns and villages up stream dump raw sewage into the water; if factories proposed or existing, are allowed to debouch their waste into it; if cottagers empty garbage into bays and lakes; the system is polluted.

* * *

As Mr. Eastwood says, the importance of such a project as a Trent Valley Authority grows steadily as the population of the watershed increases, and the longer action is delayed, the greater will be the remedial costs. It concerns the future of fifty and a hundred years hence more than of the next two or three.

* * *

This is one of these matters in which a dozen agencies and governing bodies have a stake, but none has an inclusive one or paramount jurisdiction. Among the agencies involved are the Trent Valley Canal as an unit of the Federal Department of Transport, the Federal and Provincial Ministries of Fisheries, the Federal Board of Works, the Departments of Health (Federal, Provincial and local), and a dozen communities and counties from Lake Ontario to Georgian Bay. The logical first mover in this matter would be the Peterborough City Council, for Peterborough is the largest centre on the system. The logical senior authority to investigate the proposal and institute proceedings, would be the Ontario Department of Planning and Development. So we particularly invite the attention of the City Fathers and the Honourable Arthur Welsh to Mr. Eastwood's proposal.

Laszlo Rajk

Laszlo Rajk, former Huingarian Foreign Minister, and until his arrest the second ranking Communist in Hungary, has been sentenced to death on charges of conspiring with U.S. agencies to overthrow the Communist regime.

The pattern of his trial has now become familiar. High-ranking officials of church, state and army in Russia and other eastern European communist countries who have been brought to trial have given, seemingly voluntarily, abject and amazing confessions of guilt, have repented, but have not pleaded for mercy. Rajk has accepted his death sentence as "justified" and has protested his lawyer's appeal for mercy.

Why do these Communists (for Rajk is still a Communist) behave as they do when brought to trial? The cause is not some strange Russian-concocted truth-philtre. A social and psychological explanation was given several years ago in Koestler's novel Darkness At Noon, whose thesis cannot be stated in a few words. A political explanation in Rajk's case is that he is a Hungarian Marxist, not Russian, as Tito is a Yugoslav Communist, not a Cominform party-liner.

Laszlo Rajk was born in 1900, son of a poor Transylvanian farmer. He studied Marx, became a schoolteacher and an active Communist organizer, and was imprisoned in 1931 for his subversive activity. He led a brigade in the Spanish Civil War. When Franco won, he escaped to France, and, just before war broke out, to Hungary. Moscow gave him the job of organizing the resistance movement in Hungary. He was arrested by the Fascist police in 1944 and sentenced to death, but escaped. When the Red Army entered Budapest, Rajk returned as Secretary of the Communist Party. In 1946 he was appointed to the key post of Minister of the Interior, organized an efficient secret police, and ruthlessly purged the country of non-Communists.

His record, therefore as a fanatical Communist, is clear. But he was no Muscovite. His first visit to the Kremlin was paid only a year ago May, where he was rebuked for his deviationist tactics. After Tito's quarrel with the Cominform he was relieved of his post as Minister of the Interior, became Foreign Minister, and finally was removed from all offices. He is said to be clever, ambitious, hard-working, a witty speaker, and to have a following in Hungary. At the last election he was at the top of the list of candidates.

If Rajk is allowed to die, his execution may strengthen the anti-Kremlin cause throughout the Balkans, as well as in Hungary.

Freedom To Blow Up The World

The atomic explosion in Russia has again stirred up alarm about this earth's future and revived demands that the nations of the world come to an agreement on how not to blow each other to bits. The alarm will continue, but it seems that agreement on any system of control is as far away as the moon, of which sensible citizens of this planet would prefer to be inhabitants if atomic bombs begin to fall in an aggressive way. Mr. Pearson yesterday said Russia's proposals were "hypocritical and meaningless" if she continues to demand national sovereignty over the bomb.

It does not make for peace of mind to review the course of control efforts to date. The Atomic Energy Commission of the United Nations was set up by unanimous resolution of the General Assembly in January, 1946. That was, prophetically, the last measure of unanimity. In June of that year two plans were presented to the Commission. The Acheson-Lilienthal American report, later perfected and sponsored by Bernard Baruch, proposed that exclusive control of all means and materials for the manufacture of atomic energy be given one agency, directly responsible to U.N. After real supervision and control were established, the U.S., Britain, and Canada would agree to destruction of stockpiles (of bombs). Russia proposed that the stock piles (being built up by Britain and the U.S. as fast as possible) should first be destroyed, and then an international control be set up.

By last July the Atomic Energy Commission voted nine to two to suspend its meetings until some basis for agreement existed. Since then the six permanent members of the Commission—Canada, China, France, Russian and Britain—have been trying, at the direction of the Assembly, "to meet together to determine if there exists a basis for agreement". That is the way matters stand at the moment. The six have yet to make their report to the present Assembly now convened in New York. Whether or not the Russian explosion has provided a "basis for agreement" remains to be seen. Explosions do not by their nature make very good bases for anything; they are up in the air sorts of things.

R.M.C.—85 p.c. Academic

In the news accounts of the visit of the Governor-General to Kingston and R.M.C. last week-end, and of plans to do a million dollar job of remodelling the buildings, a small item deserves prominence. It is that 85 per cent. of the cadets' training time is now spent on academic work. That is as it should be.

It is well that R.M.C. cadets should be in good physical condition, be able to march smartly, and be familiar with routine regimental practices, but they can get most of that training during the summers when they are attached to service units. The culture of brains, not brawn, should be the chief concern of R.M.C. It is the science, philosophy and geopolitics of defence and war which should be cadets' chief study, since they are the potential colonels, staff officers and generals. They are expected to provide the brains of army, air force and navy, not the bulk. The only young men who should be permitted to attend Military College are those judged to have a capacity to absorb all that the college and later staff colleges have to teach, and can themselves make a contribution to tactics, strategy and military knowledge.

U.S. Industrial Disputes Are "Charged With Dynamite"

By FRANCIS WILLIAMS

(Special Report from Washington to the London Observer and Peterborough Examiner)

THE reaction of the Trade Unions in Britain and other sterling area countries following devaluation is now being watched with increasing anxiety in America, for the extent to which higher wage demands could offset the immediate advantage of the lower export prices brought by the exchange adujstments is fully realized. At the same time decisions in the disputes between managements and the unions now reaching a climax in certain major industries in the United States such as steel and car manufacture, may have an effect no less substantial on the ability of the sterling countries to increase their exports to America.

If these disputes should, as is still possible despite the mediation efforts of the President, result in widespread stoppages, then the American market may be drastically reduced just at the time when its expansion is essential for international economic recovery. But if his mediation is successful and agreements are reached which can provide a pattern of labour-management relations which will influence the whole of industry, there may be a period of stable markets accompanied by a steady if undramatic increase in consumption which could be of incalculable benefit to Britain and the other sterling countries in their efforts to correct the trade balance. This is particularly so because of the nature of the issues under dispute, which are much more important and complicated than a simple wage increase demand.

Indeed, it would be true to say that these disputes, though charged with dynamite for America and the rest of the world, are probably the most "intellectual" in the history of labour. And though American trade union leaders and American employers, with a United States Government official to keep the peace, confront each other at the conference table, the views which count most in the struggle are those of an Englishman—Lord Keynes, who killed himself by his labours in trying, and failing, to achieve an immediate settlement of the post-war Anglo-American economic situation which would avoid exactly these exchange problems which now confront the world with crisis and make this American industrial dispute of such painful importance to Britain.

TO understand the dispute it is necessary to understand the background to the post-war American labour situation. These are the main facts. The United States civilian labour force now totals upon 64,000,000 people, of whom round about 4,000,000 are at present unemployed. Of these 64,000,000, just over 15,000,000 including the great majority of factory workers, are organized in trade unions—the highest total in American trade union history. Some 7,000,000 of these organized workers are in unions affiliated to the oldest American trade union body, the American Federation of Labour, which caters particularly for craft workers; some 5,800,000 are in unions affiliated to its greatest rival, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, which came into existence after the great slump of the early 1930's and caters particularly for workers in mass production industries. The remainder are in independent Unions, of which the United Mine Workers, led by John L. Lewis, is the most powerful.

The wages of all organized workers in manufacturing industries and of unorganized workers also, to lesser extent, have as a result of rising trade union influence, risen regularly year by year since the beginning of the war. The average industrial wage is now about 100 per cent higher than in 1940, against a cost of living rise of 68 per cent., so that there has been a net gain of something over a quarter. Moreover, until this year, the trade unions had succeeded in persuading the major industries to accept an almost automatic annual rise in hourly wage rates.

THIS year the two biggest C.I.O. Unions, the Steelworkers and the Automobile workers decided to extend the pattern despite—or, as they claimed, because of—the recession and rising unemployment. They demanded new agreements including both wage increases and a scheme of old-age pensions, sickness and other benefits paid for by employers. Although the two unions concerned are C.I.O. members, the A.F.L. which cannot afford to let its rival steal a march, at once showed interest. The result of the demand is certain, therefore, to affect the pattern for later A.F.L. demands. It will also, because of the importance of the industries concerned, affect the practice in many less highly-organized industries.

What is significant is that both unions argued the case for their dual demands by appealing to Keynes. Their argument was that the Keynesian analysis of wages showed wages were the most important factor in consumption. In time of unemployment and recession it was, therefore, they claimed essential to raise wages to increase consumers' demand and also to provide social security in order that consumers who in a vast majority are wage earners, would have sufficient confidence in the future to spend. Employers retorted with a rival interpretation of Keynesian theories, arguing that his analysis had shown wages to be most important as the major element in production cost and that as a consequence increased charges on industry either through wage or pension payments would force prices up and increase recession danger.

At this point President Truman referred the steel dispute, which was the more threatening of the two, to a fact-finding board. Significantly he put at its head a professor of economics, Professor Carroll Daughterty of North Western University. And Professor Daughterty has also called upon Keynes—whom he names no fewer than seven times in a personal footnote to the Board's unanimous report and refers to as "the master"—for a solution.

HIS view is that the Keynes theory does not support the demand for higher wages at this stage, since according to Keynes, they would increase cost and because of other factors, might not be reflected in higher consumption. But the Keynesian theory does, he argues, support the demand for social security benefits, since the need is for a sense of personal security which will encourage workers to spend the wages they have. This view has now been accepted by the unions but not so far by the steel owners.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT has also been accepted by the Government, and, according to the latest indications, by Ford Motor Company in their negotiations with the automobile workers. Upon whether or not the steel companies can also be persuaded to accept, in part at any rate, this middle-way interpretation of Keynes in the discussions now proceeding depends whether there will or will not be a strike and, to no small extent, on how far the American market will be able to absorb a larger quantity of sterling goods following devaluation.

Thus the influence of Keynes, which much affected Britain's economic policy while he was alive, has, four years after his death, become the chief issue in the American industrial dispute and a factor of considerable importance to Britain's economic future.

A SHOT IN THE ARM, BUT —

Give The Royal Commission A Chance

(MONTREAL STAR)

WHEN the Massey Royal Commission was appointed, it was widely hailed as an admirable attempt by the Government not only to review the whole field of fine arts, letters and culture in Canada (insofar as the state is involved) but as a means of lifting from the field of acrid, partisan controversy the discussions that had been raging over the heads of the CBC and the Film Board. It was a controversy, particularly so far as radio was concerned, which was doing no good and had also succeeded in rendering more or less sterile the annual activities of the Radio Committee of the House of Commons. This body, set up to review radio activities in Canada, had degenerated into something like an annual cat-and-dog fight. To ask a Royal Commission to review the situation impartially seemed to many observers an admirable method of getting us all back on the right track.

There are unhappily a few signs of the beginning of a campaign to diminish the position, the prestige and authority of the Massey Commission, a campaign to throw the real burden of radio review back into the hands of the House of Commons committee. That body can, of course, appoint whatever committees it wants, to investigate whatever subject it chooses. It may be suggested, however, that the Government this year might usefully give the Radio Committee a rest. The Royal Commission is on the job, already gathering its information and it will not be very long before its recommendations will be to hand. To renew the old, heated controversy in the now half-poisoned atmosphere of the Radio Committee is not likely to lead to any very useful result.

MEANWHILE, however, it may be worth while to examine briefly the shape of the attack that has been made on the Commission. For example the Winnipeg Free Press has this to say:

"....It does not appear that the Royal Commission has the time or the authority to make a thorough investigation into the finances of the CBC. On the cultural aspects of radio without doubt the Royal Commission will have many helpful ideas to suggest, but surely Parliament, which holds the national purse and levies all taxes like radio license fees, is solely responsible for a full audit of the CBC's expenditures and revenues."

Why has the Royal Commission not got either "the time or the authority" to undertake this task? It has all the time there is, certainly much more time than a parliamentary committee could ever have. As to its authority, its term of reference are clear. The object of the Commission, as Parliament laid it down, is to conduct an examination into such state agencies and activities as, inter alia, radio and films, "with a view to recommending their most effective conduct in the national interest." How can the Film Board and the CBC be examined without reference to the funds they have had at their disposal? How can recommendations be made as to their future while dissociating the recommendations from their cost?

Motorist Sets Up Three New World Records

A United Kingdom racing motorist has set up three new world records for 500-cc class cars. They have been created by Lieut. Colonel Goldie Gardner driving an MG car on a motor road near Ostend. He averaged just under 155 miles per hour for the kilometre, 154½ m.p.h. for the mile. On flying start runs for the five kilometre, the average was 150 m.p.h. These figures easily beat previous records established last year in Rome by Perono Tariuffi. Colonel Gardner expressed himself as very satisfied. "We feel that United Kingdom engineers have proved what can be got from the 5-horsepower car. Furthermore, I still had some power in hand".

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanity. Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest, O Lord, and teachest him out of thy law....For the Lord will not cast off his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance...

Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity? Unless the Lord had been my help, my soul had almost dwelt in silence.

When I said, My foot slippeth; thy mercy, O Lord, held me up. In the multitude of my thoughts within me thy comforts delight my soul. (Ps. 94: 11, 12, 14, 16-19.)

◇ ◇ ◇

O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgements, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? (Rom. 11: 33, 34.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Hear my voice, O God, in my prayer: preserve my life from fear of the enemy. (Ps. 64: 1.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Thy testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart....I hate vain thoughts: but thy law do I love. (Ps. 119: 111, 113.)

Right Man For Job

(Windsor Star)

As Minister of Justice, Hon. Stuart Garson is piloting through the House the bill to abolish appeals to the Privy Council, and in this matter the government hardly could be served by a better man.

A minister of justice from Quebec might be accused of indifference to the British connection in promoting such a measure. One from Ontario might be charged in some places with insincerity. But Mr. Garson is a Westerner and aloof from those ancient differences and rivalries.

He spoke effectively, too, in moving second reading of his bill, especially when he pointed to the advantage the present appeal system gives to the "wealthy, reckless litigant" who by the threat of further costly proceedings could force a poor or prudent respondent to accept an unfavourable settlement.

The carrying of appeals to "the foot of the throne" involves an outlay that only the well-heeled litigant can make, and it's time this farce was ended.

Lloyd's £100 Million Income

Lloyd's of London, the world's most famous underwriters, last year recorded an income of some £90 million. This figure is disclosed in the annual return issued recently. Ninety million pounds does not, however, represent the total premium income written in 1948 since a considerable part falls to be paid this year and next as risks take effect. The final picture will be provided by the 1948 underwriting and this is expected to show a total income well exceeding £100 million. Lloyd's most celebrated activity—Marine and transit insurance—accounts for £47.5 million of the £90 million. Income from aviation insurance amounts to approximately £3 million. Claims on this combined account total £11.7 million of which £1.5 million are taken by aviation claims.

Trip To England Told Rotarians

Airfields of the Canadian, British and American forces in Britain, after they served their purpose, were used as prisoner of war camps and now Displaced Persons camps, Mrs. William Addyman told the Rotary Club Monday. Mrs. Addyman, having just returned from a trip to England, was giving her impressions of England today.

She told the club members that she had the opportunity to visit one of the camps which are regulated by international treaty. In these camps, she added, are artists, lawyers, school teachers, and doctors. All people in the camp are screened before being sent to their new homes. She told the tragic account of one man who drowned himself because he thought he had TB and would not be allowed to leave the country.

Mrs. Addyman outlined the system of municipal government in Peterborough, England. She said that the Council is elected by the people and the aldermen appointed by the council. The mayor is appointed also by the council for a period of one year. He in turn appoints his lady mayoress, the deputy mayor and the deputy mayoress.

The need for gift boxes still exists, Mrs. Addyman said. She concluded by saying that everyone knows that the people over there withstood the tremendous odds far beyond human endurance and that they need tolerance and understanding.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, introduced Mrs. Addyman, who was [illegible] Rotarian Thomas Taylor.

Dr. Harold Long reminded the Rotary Club that this week is dental health week.

A singsong was conducted by Charles Allen.

Three WI Groups Hold Joint Meet

TRENT RIVER, Sept. 27 (ENS) —About 60 attended "visitors' day" of the Trent River Branch of the Women's Institute on Thursday afternoon, when Westwood and Belmont branches were guests.

Mrs. Earl Greenly, president, welcomed the guests and Mrs. E. Birdsall of Westwood branch and Mrs. Harry Scott of Belmont, responded to the welcome.

Mrs. T. J. Brown, historical research convener, gave a paper entitled "Trent River."

The secretary, Mrs. Ross Pollock, had received word from the department that the branch is unable to have a short course in needlepoint.

Fruit and cards were ordered to be sent to the sick.

Plans and reservations are being made for the annual Toronto convention to be held in November.

Mrs. Birdsall gave a demonstration on how to make chocolate wafer cakes from condensed milk and graham wafers. These were served at lunch time.

Mrs. Harry Scott of Belmont and Mrs. Aubrey Wood, Westwood, gave readings and Mrs. Goodsby, Belmont, sang with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Harry Scott. A lap lunch was served by the Trent River branch.

Showdown Expected In Ford Dispute

DETROIT, Sept. 27 — (CP) — A showdown in a contract dispute involving 115,000 Ford Motor Co. workers was little more than 48 hours away today after a second straight week-end of bargaining.

Negotiators recessed their long talks at 1 a.m. to go back into another session in 12 hours.

Sunday's 12-hour meeting led to some speculation of a settlement, well ahead of 12:01 a.m. Thursday, when a union notice automatically terminates the contract.

A strike at nearly 48 Ford plants across the United States probably would be called shortly after that unless the dispute is settled by then.

Drink Brings Six Into Court

Six cases on charges under the Liquor Control Act appeared before W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court Monday morning.

A written plea of guilty was made by Max J. Martin, 739 Monaghan Road, to a second offence under the Act within a year and was fined $50, and costs.

Donald Andrews, 19, 202½ Charlotte Street, pleaded guilty to having liquor other than in his residence, and was fined $15, and costs. He also pleaded guilty to going through a red light at the corner of Hunter and Water Streets Saturday, and was fined another $5, and costs.

Mervin Brown, 26, 577 Harvey Street, pleaded guilty to having liquor other than in his residence Saturday, and was fined $10, and costs.

Charged with a second offence of being drunk, Kenneth Robinson, Fraserville, and received a week's adjournment. Henry Larkin, Toronto, pleaded guilty to having liquor in his car and was fined $15, and costs.

The trial of Elmer Tripp, 739 Monaghan Road, charged with a third offence of being drunk, was adjourned to October 15.

Sunday School Holds Rally Day

SPRINGVILLE, Sept. 27 (ENS) —There was an attendance of approximately 60 at the annual Rally Day service in the Sunday School Sunday morning. The service was conducted by Melville Johnston, superintendent, and Dr. C. S. Reddick. Scripture was read by Lorraine Paddock, Carolyn Whitfield and Betty Stevens.

A drama entitled "The Missionary Box" was presented by Roger Hanbidge, Mrs. Bert Visee, Dianne Cullen, Lila Seymour and Howard Johnston.

Special offering was taken by Carl Preston and Jack Sargent.

For the first time since his illness, Dr. Reddick occupied the pulpit. He was assisted in the services by Frank Stevens.

Board Of Trade Meets For Dinner At Stony Lake

NORWOOD, Sept. 27—(ENS)—Irwin Lodge, Stony Lake, was the setting Thursday evening for the Norwood Board of Trade dinner meeting. Executive members and their wives were seated at the head table together with the guest speaker and his wife, Dr. H. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell, of Peterborough. Dr. A. R. Atkinson presided.

After a turkey dinner, Dr. Mitchell gave an address on signs and symptoms of heart disease.

During a short business session the treasurer, Mr. Forshee, gave an encouraging financial report. Mr. Lyle McMillan was applauded on becoming wheat champion of Peterborough County.

Rev. R. D. Duncanson, chairman of the recreation committee, stated that about 100 had received instruction during the summer but owing to vacations at the time of the examinations, only 39 entered the various grades. All were successful. Owing to heavy calls on his time for added church duties, he suggested that some younger men might take over and get boys' work under way for the season's activities.

Three films were shown, follow by dancing.

"THERE'S ONE IN EVERY CAR!"

Not a large thing, is it? Many motorists would fail to recognize it because they've never actually SEEN one . . . It is one of the valves like those in your car.

At sometime in the life of every car the valves must be ground and reseated to bring back the original power and pep.

Such jobs requiring skilled mechanics working to close tolerances (thousandths and ten thousandths of an inch) can be no better than the men who do the work.

Do You Know...

how far birds fly to migrate?

Every year, at certain times, millions of birds in every part of the world suddenly take wing and fly varying distances to foreign climes. No one yet has been able to satisfactorily determine the prime impulse of these migrations and to fathom the great mystery of its accomplishment.

Do You Know . . . that the Arctic Tern nests within the Arctic Circle and then flies over more than 10,000 miles of ocean to winter on the islands of the Antarctic! . . . that the Grey Plover breeds in the Arctic Circle and winters in equatorial countries! . . . that swallows ringed in Great Britain have been traced to South Africa, more than 6,000 miles away!

Do You Know . . . that migrants usually fly at under 3,000 feet? . . . that the average distance flown in a day is 200 miles, even though the full flight may be thousands of miles? . . . that many species manage to cross these enormous distances without a break! . . . that even young birds, making the trip for the first time, make the flight unerringly, without guidance from the older birds!

Do You Know any interesting and unusual facts? Our "Advisory Panel" will pay $25 for any authenticated readers' submissions if they are usable. All letters become our property. Write Black Horse Brewery, Station L, Montreal, P.Q.

DISTANCE MAN—Ralph Kiner threatens Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs with this grip and stance, before and after his golf-like swing.

Ruth's Record Threatened By Golf Swinging Kiner

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—(NEA)—A lot of people would dislike to see Babe Ruth's home run record of 60 broken.

The Bam was so great they would prefer to see it stand.

But Ruth's seasonal mark is going to go some day, sure pop, and it might as well be Ralph McPherran Kiner of the Pirates and Greenberg Gardens.

When Kiner blasted his 51st and 52nd homers the same night against the Braves, most everybody expected Hack Wilson's National League mark of 56 to be broken, but time was running out on Mr. Slug and Ruth's 60 seemed beyond reach. Still you never know about Kiner, who manufactures home runs in clusters.

I'll have to repeat somewhat what I wrote about Kiner when I first saw him. The Alhambra lad is one of the mighty few individualistic ballplayers. He holds the bat directly in front of him, straight up and down, swats the ball with his wrists and forearms, adopting a perfect golf swing for baseball.

Kiner is anything but a disciple of the deadly level swing that belonged to Shoeless Joe Jackson, Lefty O'Doul, the Waners and other remarkable hitters. Kiner rifles the ball into the left field stands simply by uncocking his wrists. This buggy whip, or twist of the wrists, enables him to hit the ball at the last instant, after the pitch has done everything it is supposed to do. It gives him the tremendous advantage of not having to commit himself early.

Kiner frunishes additional evidence that any style is good, as long as co-ordination and the eye are there, and the batter brings the bat into the ball correctly. Forbes Field's Greenberg Gardens were built for Old Hankus Pankus, but blossomed into a target for Kiner.

Because he performs half the time in Pittsburgh, Kiner is a right-hand pull hitter unhandicapped by spacious left fields. He enjoys the same home advantage that Junior Stephens has at Fenway Park.

The left-hand pull hitter has all the best of it at other parks.

Shooting at Greenberg Gardens, Kiner has but to smack the sphere 334 feet and into a screened in area with a 16-foot fence. Imagine what Joe DiMaggio would do to that, or, for that matter, what Ted Williams would accomplish aiming at the Yankee Stadium right field stands 296 feet from the plate throughout half the schedule.

Kiner, 27, has his best three years as a distance hitter ahead of him, for extraordinary hitters are at their peak around 30.

Babe Ruth's record will take a lot of breaking, but Ralph Kiner really tees off.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Two provincial championships in one year—that's the proud record of Hastings. Folks there have reason to brag of their young athletes, as few larger centres can say as much in a titular way. Last spring saw their puck lads win the OMHA midget "D" crown and the A. P. McEvoy Memorial Trophy. The first Ontario title ever to come to the village. Last Saturday saw the softballers capture the OASA junior "C" championship and another memorial cup. Both trophies were up for competition for the first time. The hockey champs were given a banquet by the village ladies and presented by the council with jackets. The softballers will no doubt be remembered, too.

In the past year, Peterborough had a surge of championship squads after pretty much of a drought in that respect. Won so many titles, in fact, that the city actually ignored the whole thing in a civic sense, and never came up with one grand championship dinner. Though that was mooted in the spring. Some eight titles came this way in rugby, lacrosse, hockey, basketball and cricket. They were either provincial or COSSA crowns, and [illegible] title. Of course, civic presentations of windbreakers, etc., for that many champion clubs in one year would have boosted the tax rate here! But it speaks well for the calibre of sports in this borough.

After OLA Crowns

Speaking of Ontario titles, two of our minor lacrosse clubs are still much in the hunt. Our peewee team, run by Barney Dundas and Ed Woodcock, go into finals later this week against Fergus, two out of three games. And tonight at 8.30 in Miller Bowl, Rowan Chute's bantams do battle with Brampton. Latter won the opener of the best-of-three OLA semi-finals, but the local boys figure they'll even that up this e'en. If they do, the team with the highest number of goals gets the third game, Convener Walt Murphy informs us. Come out and give the boys some support, eh?

Thought softball was all wrapped up and stored away for this year at the East City Bowl, but no, there's an exhibition at seven there tomorrow evening. Toronto City Police play the local loop all-stars in connection with the police convention in the city. A good squad which showed here earlier, and the team handled by Johnny Russelle and Howie Dalton will have to hustle. Ken Guilfoyle or Bob Greenlaw will likely start on the home slab, and the top diamond talent in town will be seen in action—that's if the weather behaves. This will wind up local softball, unless Toronto Tip Tops (now world's champs) can be obtained for a tilt here in the near future.

Bun A Fine Choice

Triple Link junior "B" puck club has chosen Bun Kingdon as coach for the coming hockey campaign, and the former ace forward of the Petes is a first-rate choice. He shone for years on good Petes' junior, intermediate and senior "B" squads, proving a heady and clean hockeyists all through—and he has aided at times in the coaching of the Petes. Glynn Edwards is club prexy, Don Anderson secretary, Bob McCuaig treasurer and Andy Price the team manager. Half a dozen or so players left from last year, a big flock of local and district prospects, and several newcomers, so the Oddfellows ought to be strong this semester. They'll drill as soon as there's ice here.

Trenton Mustangs of the Lakeshore grid group will play the Panthers an exhibition at 8.15 tomorrow night under the lights in Morrow Park. It should be an interesting football fray and the only Panthers' home joust this week, as they're at Orillia on Saturday. Jack Black of Oakville Braves suffered a fracture of the spine as Orillia defeated them last week-end, a sad blow for this ORFU team. The injury came in a pile-up. PCVS seniors are off Friday for an exhibition under arcs at East York Stadium, Toronto. The local junior schedule starts Saturday at Morrow Park when PCVS plays St. Peter'sh High. And that's the football setup for this week.

Peterborough Golf Club's official closing day is Saturday ... Western walloped OAC 25-0 and London sheet is one spot says: "A brilliant play by Jack Matthews set the stage for one major. He lofted a high boot from his own 40 to the Guelph 27; racing down, he gathered in his own punt to give Mustangs possession". Annual open PMHA meeting is at 7.30 p.m. Thursday in the "Y". Rotary Club plans a puck exhibition here about Oct. 14 betwixt Legion and another club ... Senior school soccer tomorrow: Queen Alex vs. Central at Oval, King Edward at King George, and Confeds vs. Queen Mary at King Edward ... Intermediate tilts Wednesday: Queen Elizabeth at King George, and Confederation at Central ... Enough tall tales for a short guy.

B.C. All-Stars Dump Ontario

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 27 (CP).—British Columbia All-Stars defeated Ontario All-Stars 16-10 here Monday night to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five Canadian junior lacrosse final for the Minto Cup. The fourth game will be played here Wednesday.

British Columbia, after taking a 3-2 lead in the first quarter, broke the game wide open by counting four goals within three minutes early in the second session. They were in front 9-4 at half-time and 12-6 after three quarters.

Lanky Cliff Johnson unveiled a wicked, sidearm shot that earned him four goals in the winning cause. Top point scorer, however, was Doug Hull, who rapped home three goals and assisted on two others. Russ Buchanan notched two goals and two assists. Gordie Stewart and Eddie Bell also scored twice each for the Westerners with single counters scored by Jim Kinna, Gord Nickle, and Gord Sinclair.

Don Moore, Jack Kapasky and Ted Howe paced the Ontario club with two goals each. Others went to Lloyd Gibson, Doug Smith, Max Woolley and Don Hay.

King George Wins

King George defeated Queen Mary 3-0 yesterday in an intermediate school soccer fixture. The winners had more finish around the goal in a close contest. Ellis scored in the first on a rebound, and Dorrington followed with a corner kick from Baptie. In the second, Hale tallied on combination with Dorrington and Baptie. Teams:

Queen Mary: Brown, Beck, Dafoe, Jones, Peacock, Friar, Wilfong, Dubay, Plunkett, Reynolds.

King George: Innes, Nurse, Pollard, Barclay, Roberts, Dixon, English, Ellis, Dorrington, Hale, McNaughton.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Rookie Lou Gehrig, New York Yankees first baseman, hit his first major league home run 26 years ago in New York. One of the greatest players in the game, the Iron Horse set a record of 2,130 consecutive games before voluntarily withdrawing himself from the Yankee lineup on May 2, 1939. He died of a spinal disease June 2, 1941.

Junior Puckists Coached By Bun Kingdon

Bun Kingdon last night was appointed coach of the local OHA junior "B" Oddfellows for the coming hockey season. This starry forward of the Petes for many years succeeds Archie Weir as mentor of the Triple Link team, which may be in a grouping with Kingston, Belleville and Oshawa, or possibly with a Toronto team instead of Kingston.

Glynn Edwards was elected president of the IOOF hockey club, with Don Anderson secretary and Bob McCauig treasurer. Andy Price is the manager. The club has most of its equipment ready and will start practising in October as soon as there is ice. Some two dozen city and district prospects have been lined up with eight or nine possibilities from further away. The team lost about nine via the over-age route but has about six good boys left from last year's teams. All positions are wide open.

Vancouver Trips Hamilton 12-10

VANCOUVER, Sept. 27 (CP)—"We were beaten by a great club, and we've no excuses. But we'll be better next time."

That is how the Hamilton Tigers' playing-coach, Eddie Powers, summed up the easterners' 12-10 lacrosse defeat at the hands of Vancouver Burrards Monday night. The Tigers — defending Mann Cup champions—go against Burrards in the second game of the best of five series at New Westminster, B. C., tomorrow night.

Burrards won Monday night's game because they were faster and in better shape. The veteran Tigers showed signs of travel-weariness and tired rapidly.

All Hamilton players were loud in their praise of Burrard goalie Jack Green, playing his first Mann Cup series.

His performance in turning back 20 of 30 shots overshadowed the display of Hamilton goalie Doug Favelle, who was called on to save 23 and turned away 11.

After Don Matheson's goal gave Vancouver an early first-quarter lead, the Burrards were never headed and they nursed a 7-6 lead at the half.

Jim Anderson collected four markers plus an assist to pace their scorers while Matheson collected three goals and one assist. Other Vancouver scorers were Earl McDonald with two, and Harry Buchanan and Jack and Bus Byford with singletons each.

George Masters collected a brace for Tigers along with singles by Tommy Love, Russ Black, Elmer Lee, Doug Davidson and coach Eddie Powers.

Bob Carpenter let it be known at Philadelphia Monday that for his money Eddie Sawyer is the manager of the year—"or any year"—for leading Philadelphia Phillies into third place.

Carpenter, youthful owner of the National League club, has expended more than $1,000,000 to revive the "futile Phils."

The Phillies only once in the last 30 years attained the first division. That was in 1932 when the Phils were fourth.

Carpenter said Sawyer's achievements were "truly remarkable" particularly because he was working with players of extreme youth.

"I am firmly convinced," Carpenter said, "that our club this year is the youngest team ever to play in the major leagues, and that made Eddie's job even more difficult.

This is the second year as a major league pilot for the 38-year-old Sawyer. He was called up to replace Ben Chapman in mid-season last year. Before that he managed clubs in the New York Yankees' minor-league chain and Phils' farm clubs at Utica, in the Eastern League, and Toronto

At London, promoter Jack Solomons said Monday that devaluation of the pound has forced him to drop plans for a light heavyweight championship fight in London this fall.

He had been attempting to match title-holder Freddie Mills of England against Joey Maxim of Cleveland O.

Solomons said he had advised Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club of New York of his decision.

"I think the chances are very good that the fight will be held in America," Solomons said, "but it will be strictly an IBC promotion."

(In New York, the IBC had no immediate comment.)

Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees' high-priced outfielder, may recover from a virus infection in time for the last two games of the American League season with the Boston Red Sox here Saturday and Sunday, Dr. Jacques Fischl announced at New York Monday.

"DiMaggio's temperature is down to normal," the Yankee physician said in the most encouraging report since Joe became ill Sept. 18.

"He should be ready to play in the final series of the year with the Red Sox this week-end."

Ponder, chief claimant to the three-year-old title, took another big stride in that direction at New York's Belmont Park Monday by winning the Lawrence Realization as Calumet Farm and jockey Steve Brooks crashed through with four triumphs.

Favorite in the $20,000-added mile and five furlongs realization Ponder survived a thrilling stretch drive to prevail by half a length over Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Blue Hills. Another length away Robert J. Kleberg's Prophet's Thumb was third in the field of six three-year-olds. Ponder paid $2.60.

Montreal Edges Bisons 6-5 In 3rd Triumph

By the Associated Press.

Montreal Royals are on the brink of repeating as International League playoff champions today.

Montreal, third-place finishers during the regular season, needs only one more victory to enter the Little World Series against the American Association's playoff winner.

The Royals took a three-game-to-one lead in their best-of-seven final round series with pennant-winning Buffalo Monday night by edging the Bisons 6-5.

Gene Markland's error with the bases loaded and one out in the last of the ninth allowed Rocky Bridges and Toby Atwell to score the tying and winning runs.

Rookie Ronnie Lee started for Montreal and lasted until the fourth inning when the Bisons scored four times to break a 1-1 tie. Homers by Coaker, Triplett and Jack Hussey featured the uprising. Clarence Podbielan relieved Lee and blanked Buffalo the rest of the way to pick up the victory.

The Royals climbed back into the game in the sixth inning scoring three runs off Jim Wilson, who went all the way for Buffalo. One of the runs was a home run by George Schmees.

Bridges opened the ninth with a single. Atwell bunted and all hands were safe when Wilson threw too late to second to nail Bridges. Chuck Thompson followed with a sacrifice and Manager Paul Richards ordered Wilson to walk Sam Jethroe to set up a double play.

Al Gionfriddo made Richards' look good, grounding the ball to Markland, but the infielder let the ball go through and both Bridges and Atwell scored to end the game.

Torrid Boston Red Sox Upset Yanks In 7-6 Tilt

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The possibility was strong today that United States railroads—and not New Yorks famed subway system—will transport the participants in the 1949 world series.

The right of way between Boston and St. Louis is the expected route of the series personnel instead of the hour ride via the underground from Ebbets Field to the Yankee Stadium.

New Yorkers' hopes of a "subway" world series suffered another rude jolt Monday when the torrid Boston Red Sox defeated New York Yankees 7-6 to snap their first-place tie and move a game in front of the floundering Yankees in the American League race.

The dreams of a dime classic were jarred Sunday when St. Louis Cardinals moved 1½ games in front of Brooklyn Dodgers by downing Chicago while Brooklyn lost to Philadelphia.

A disputed squeeze play, that climaxed a four-run eighth inning rally gave the Red Sox their triumph over the Yankees before 66,156 fans.

Sox Trailing

Bobby Doerr bunted Johnny Pesky across with the big run. Doerr dropped the ball down the first line. Tommy Henrich's throw had Pesky beat but umpire Bill Grieve called Pesky safe. He said later the Red Sox runner slid under Yankee catcher Ralph Houk.

The Sox entered the eighth trailing 6-3. Birdie Tebbetts began the rally against Joe Page with a single and gave way to pinch-runner Tom O'Brien. Lou Stringer batted for Jack Kramer, second Boston pitcher, and walked. Dom DiMaggio, worked the count to 3 and 2, fouled off a couple pitches and then lined a hit off the leaping Phil Rizzuto's glove. The runners were off with the pitch and O'Brien scored easily. If Rizzuto had caught the ball it would have been a triple play. Stirnweiss then booted Pesky's grounder to allow Stringer to score.

Ted Williams shot a grounder to the right of Henrich. The first baseman dived for the ball and missed. Stirnweiss stopped it but Williams was safe as Page neglected to cover first.

Vern Stephens flied out. DiMaggio scored after the catch to tie the score, Pesky advancing to third. Doerr then flashed that bunt sign to Pesky and he promptly executed the play to cash in Pesky and arouse the ire of the entire Yankee forces.

All High Hopes of 1945 Not Fulfilled By UNESCO

By PROFESSOR D. W. BROGAN

PARIS, Sept. 27 (Special to London Observer and The Examiner).—The fourth general conference of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) opened in Paris a week ago Monday. It is the first conference since Dr. Torres Bodet of Mexico succeeded Dr. Julian Huxley as Director General and there is a natural interest in the change of the high command.

There is another ground for special interest in the meeting for, as the organization itself admits, it has not fulfilled all the high hopes of 1945. Partly this is simply the recognition of the disillusionment inevitable in the life of any institution. "Heaven lies about us in our infancy"; UNESCO is no longer an infant and heaven is far away.

Partly the feeling of disappointment simply reflects the fact that it is 1949 and not 1945. It is not, for example, the fault of UNESCO that the USSR has not joined. It is not the fault of UNESCO that member countries such as Czechoslovakia have been assimilated to the Russian model. UNESCO is not responsible for the cold war between Moscow and Washington or for the less cold war between Moscow and Belgrade.

It is not responsible for the onslaught on "cosmopolitanism" in Russian cultural life any more than it is responsible for the panicky American reactions to "dangerous thoughts."

Utility Value Increasing

Paradoxically, the utility of UNESCO is increased by the sad state of the world. The Organization is highly serviceable in diminishing the obstacles to the free movement of men and books [illegible] but how much better would it be if students and teachers could, as Mr. Bevin once put it, go to Victoria and buy a ticket for anywhere they like. At the moment one is inclined to take a pessimistic view that nothing UNESCO does or can do is nearly as useful for the advancement of learning as would be the stabilization and universal convertibility of currencies. How often in UNESCO itself, and in universities and the meetings of learned societies, has such and such a project been ruled out because X cannot go to Y because of currency difficulties. UNESCO tries to, and does, minimize these obstacles, but if libraries could buy all the books they wanted, and scholars move as freely as they could in the days of Abelard or Descartes, all that UNESCO does for them would be done better, more simply, more economically by themselves.

But, of course, a great deal done by UNESCO has never been done before or was done inadequately. It is, in our divided world, still worth while bringing people together, even from societies dedicated to mutual hostility. It is probably a pity that Russia did not join, although it is also worth pondering whether an organization containing the USSR would, in the world of today, be welcomed as an ally by governments more or less reasonably afraid of political and cultural infiltration.

It is, of course, nonsense to assert that when scholars of different nations meet they necessarily like or get to understand each other. All that they may in fact learn is that they neither know nor like each other. Yet that in itself can be useful. It does "Anglo-Saxons" good to learn that there are situations where compromise is impossible, where, as the French say, a door must be opened or shut. It is even more useful for the white races to realize that they are a minority, and, also, to realize that, from the point of view of India or Haiti, even poor European countries are rich and fortunate. Such obvious truths need to be kept alive in the minds of teachers and writers, and UNESCO, by its own genuinely international personnel and their attitude, helps in many ways to make these truths self-evident.

An Awkward Job

That alone would hardly justify collecting from the member States nearly nine million dollars, about a million more than last year. The new Director General has the awkward job of presenting an increased budget in a year when retrenchment, if not reform, is becoming a popular slogan in all countries.

How is UNESCO's work done, or not done? An answer can be given with confidence in some fields. UNESCO does indispensable work, that no one else could do, in organizing the republic of learning, in creating trained groups of specialists, in the dissemination of knowledge of techniques of all kinds, from the conservation of archives to the national diet of impoverished countries. It organizes education and relief work for refugee children, as well as promoting the intrests of higher learning.

But it wants to do more, and should do more, in the field clumsily called "mass education." Unlike the old League of Nations Committee for "intellectual cooperation," UNESCO is not mainly interested in helping an intellectual elite, but in using "mass media" to tackle illiteracy, ignorance and technical backwardness. So a project like the present attack on illiteracy in Haiti is more important in the eyes of UNESCO than helping groups of scholars to do their jobs.

Yet there is a human tendency to think in terms of the needs of an elite. Most officials of UNESCO are, roughly speaking, of the academic type. The problems of the intelligentsia are more easily defined than are those of the great under-privileged masses. It may even be that what Miss Rose Macauley once called the "not so very intelligentsia" can be identified and helped more easily than peasants in Siam or Brazil, to name two countries where UNESCO is trying to help.

Yet UNESCO will stand or fall by its success in the greater task. I think it will stand. It very rightly refuses to offer help which is not asked for. It realizes that the amount of help it can give is and must be limited not only by financial considerations, but by the willingness of the countries or groups concerned to help themselve. In this very touchy world it is important that UNESCO has not got the reputation of being meddlesome, or of being a kind of intellectual district visitor, poking its nose into other people's business.

UNESCO has to pretend that there is a cultural religion of all sensible men and try to foster it. There isn't — yet — but, as far as it has any hope of being created, UNESCO is the main fosterer of that republic of learning that the world needs.

OIL FOR EAST—A 1,150-mile pipeline is being laid from Edmonton to the Great Lakes at Superior, Wisconsin. The cost is $90,000,000 and the purpose is to bring Alberta oil to eastern markets. From Superior, the crude oil will be transported by water to southwestern Ontario refineries. Merely to fill the pipeline will take 1,838,000 barrels, or 64,330,000 gallons, and it will take 26 days for a barrel of oil to move from Edmonton to Superior. First oil should reach Regina in the fall of 1950, and Superior in early 1951. The line is being built by Interprovincial Pipe Line Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Imperial Oil, Ltd. This Imperial Oil map shows its route.

Wanted—1,000 Engineers Holland Revises Economy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first of a series on Holland's position to re-establish herself on a sound economic footing. It discusses how she is dealing with her problems.)

By WILLIAM BOSS

THE HAGUE, Sept. 27 (CP).—The Netherlands, which already employs Canadian pilots, trains Canadian doctors and has a sprinkling of Canadian ex-servicemen in various types of employment, has openings for 1,000 trained engineers.

Her program of "reindustrialization" calls for a minimum of 3,640 qualified civil engineers by 1953, yet her technical university at Delft can provide only 2,630. Where the extra 1,000 will come from is worrying the country's planners.

They are revising the country's economy with an eye on the fact that imports exceed exports [illegible] 10 to one, a situation which must be curbed before the end of Marshall Aid in 1952.

Left Aside

Two factors, either of which would guarantee Holland's prosperity — the economic revival of Germany as a market, and the successful solution of colonial troubles in Indonesia, source of much of her raw materials — are being left aside in the industrial replanning.

Experts hope to:

1. Raise the country's exports.
2. Replace Holland's dollar imports, as Britain is doing, by imports from countries with which she has fewer currency difficulties.
3. Increase home production of dollar articles and materials, especially cattle fodder, which alone could save $20,000,000 annually.

Though without iron ore of her own, The Netherlands is the largest exporter of pig iron. She plans to increase by 25 per cent the capacity of her blast furnaces at Ijmuiden.

Hydro-electric production is to be multiplied to aid the new industrialization. To accelerate commerce new arterial highways are planned, together with further electrification of her railways.

Diversification and increase of output is looked for in the metal-processing industries, in chemicals, and in textiles, wood and paper.

A new wrinkle in exports is an intention to market in Canada fresh-cut flowers and vegetables, hermetically sealed in cellophane into which a refrigerating gas has been pumped. Flowers packed this way have been sold in South America and have been fresh three weeks after cutting in Holland.

SOURCE OF SALT

Extensive mines of rock salt near Cracow, Poland, have been worked continually since the 13th century.

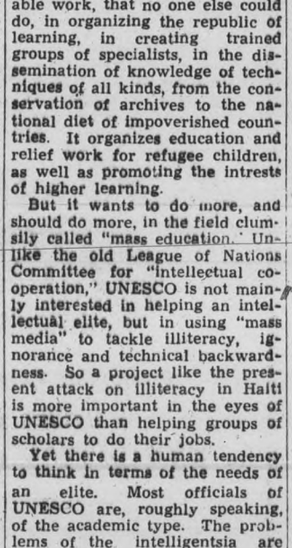
FOUR SQUARE — A Purely Canadian Company



IN THE PAST four years we added more than half a million telephones and installed new equipment in every exchange in Ontario and Quebec. At the same time we were able to make substantial improvements in service. But it took a lot of money, over two hundred million dollars!

There remains much to be done! Many applicants are still waiting for telephone service, and many more subscribers' present service is not adequate to their needs. We intend to meet their wishes, and to continue making the service clearer, faster, better in every way.

This will take more millions for new equipment and buildings. As in the past, this money must come from the savings of thousands of Canadians who are willing to invest in the telephone business.

UEW President Under Fire In Own Local

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 27 (AP)—Albert J. Fitzgerald, president of the United Electrical Workers of America (CIO), today came under fire from members of his own local.

Members of the Local 201—one of the UE's largest—voted Monday night to bring charges against Fitzgerald for failing to abide by their mandate at the national convention.

Fitzgerald, leader of a left-wing faction in the International Union voted for himself for re-election as president. The Lynn local had instructed their 10 delegates to cast their presidential ballots for Frederick Kelley business agent of the Lynn local.

Outsiders were barred from the membership meeting but Kelley said he had been instructed to draw up charges against Fitzgerald in writing.

Whether this would mean an attempt to suspend or expel Fitzgerald from the Lynn local of the union has not been determined. The issue will be put before the membership for a vote at the October meeting.

Meanwhile, Kelley told a reporter the Lynn local, comprising 17,000 members, is determined to stay in the CIO at all costs.

Kelley, leader of a right-wing faction, said this meant the Lynn local would follow the advice of CIO president Philip Murray.

When the left-wing faction won at the UE's national convention, Murray told a reporter:

"We will take care of Fitzgerald later."

Murray refused to elaborate, but there was speculation here the CIO might consider setting up a new electrical union.

Suggest Floyd Curtis To Roads Commission

Floyd Curtis of the Ashburnham brick firm may be appointed by city council to the Suburban Roads Commission, succeeding the late M. H. Gainey.

Mayor Swanston said last night the council should take some action in the near future to name somebody for the unexpired part of Mr. Gainey's term.

Ald. Doug Miller suggested Mr. Curtis, a former member of the council. The vacancy was left to the executive committee for consideration.

Find New Homes For Residents Hatton Property

First approach to the removal of the Wartime houses on the Hatton property at the west end of Charlotte St. was mentioned by Mayor Swanston at the board of works meeting Monday night.

Central Mortgage and Housing have been proposing that, if the 126 houses on that property are to be whisked away, living accommodation for the tenants should be considered in the meantime.

"They have three years to go," Mayor Swanston said, "so there is no hurry yet. However, it was understood from the beginning that these houses would not remain there permanently."

"Central Mortgage has declined to sell any of them, but, is transpires, they have a kindly concern for their tenants, many of whom have been paying rent since the houses were built."

Mayor Swanston said the buildings might be sold for summer cottages, or some other such use, but the city would not be favorable to them being moved somewhere in its borders.

For the present there is no urgency in this matter, but sentiment of the council appeared to approve the building of a substitute block of houses for the Charlotte St. tenants.

On the other hand, it was thought that possibly private building might have overtaken the postwar pressure of demand by that time.

Nutrition Key To Dental Health, Dr. J. J. Craig Says

When people become educated enough to appreciate the nutritional value of foods, tooth decay will be prevented, Dr. J. J. Craig told a dinner meeting of dentists and representatives of organizations interested in dental health Monday. The dinner, at the Empress Hotel, marked the beginning of Dental Public Health Week in Peterborough city and county and was attended by prominent dentists and public health officers from Toronto and other parts of Ontario.

"It is the physiological approach which will solve dental health problems," Dr. Craig said. "It will never be done with chemistry and pharmacology" he declared. By brushing the teeth after every meal the chances of decay were lessened, the doctor said and it was also essential for the very young child to visit the dentist regularly.

Speaking as president of Peterborough Dental Public Health Association, Dr. Craig said those organizing the Dental Week wanted to focus attention on parents, teachers and children, bringing to their attention the part which nutrition played in dental health care.

Dr. Hugh McLaren, assistant director, Dental Division, Dept. of Health and Welfare, who was introduced by Dr. W. Preston Jr., said that it was with the children born today that any community must be concerned if it wanted to prevent tooth decay. Decay had already set in among children of high school age. Dental trouble could affect the speech, hearing and breathing of a child, he said.

Disease of the gums was the principal trouble among adults, Dr. McLaren continued.

The application of sodium chloride, administered by dentists had brought a signal reduction in dental ill health but there was no proof yet that this procedure could benefit adults. The advantages of this treatment were admissable only in statistics, not by individual results.

Reduction of Cavities

Among a group of children between the ages of three and 13 a reduction of two-fifths in the number of cavities could be effected by application of sodium chloride. No dentist could say to the parents of any one child, however, that this treatment would benefit their child.

It had been noted that children drinking water containing fluoride had fewer cavities. Addition of fluoride to drinking water had not, however, been found justifiable, the doctor claimed.

Safety Device Sent On To School Board

Board of Works is sending on to the Board of Education an idea for a safety device of "school sentinels" which has been effectively adopted in Kitchener.

J. A. Halliwell, traffic superintendent, Kitchener, explained the method in a letter prompted by the observation of Ald. Hugh Waddell of their use in school areas.

Kitchener has 30 of them that cost about $700. They are five feet high, made of hardboard, weighted at the bottom to resist wind, and are painted to represent the figure of a boy.

"As you approach them they look like traffic officers, and their effect is to cause car drivers to slow down," Ald. Waddell said. "They are placed on the street when children are going to and from school, 8.30 a.m. to 9 a.m.; 11.30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 3.30 to 4.15 p.m. Lettering on the back calls attention to a police order to drive slowly, at no more than 15 miles an hour, in that block. The senior pupils are monitors in charge of this safety idea. They place them on the streets and remove them."

"The teachers would look after them, if we had these sentinels in Peterborough," said Ald. Adam Sands, "and for that reason I think we should consult the Board of Education. They would have the authority to place them on the streets during the stated periods."

Ald. Doug Miller seconded the Sands motion. He said he had been greatly impressed by the care shown by Peterborough teachers and senior pupils in marshalling and guiding the younger children at street crossings. "They muster the youngsters on one side of the street and lead them across in a body. I think it is a great credit to them for the careful way in which they look after the smaller children."

Two Constables Named To Force

Two new constables were appointed to the Peterborough police force Monday afternoon by the Police Commission.

The new men are Robert B. Menzies, 23, R.R. 3, Peterborough, and Douglas M. Stark, 24, 37½ George St.

More than 10 men applied for the two positions and Chief Constable John Thompson, after some preliminary examination, interviewed 10. On these interviews, six were chosen for recommendation to the Police Commission who had the final choice.

Both recruits are big men with high school education; Menzies is six feet and Stark six feet two.

Open Season Announced For Partridge

District Forester A. B. Wheatley of Lindsay headquarters, Department of Lands and Forests, has issued a bulletin pertaining to fall shooting dates in the Trent district.

In the counties of Peterborough and Victoria, north of Highway 7, open seasons for partridge will be Oct. 8 to Oct. 29 and Nov. 14 to Nov. 23. These dates are also applicable to Haliburton, with bag limit of five birds per day and possession limit of ten birds.

South of Highway 7 in Peterborough and Victoria, Northumberland and Durham with the exception of Township of Darlington, there is one season, Oct. 8 to Oct. 29, bag and possession limits the same as above. In Darlington Township there is an open season of two days, Nov. 4 and 5, bag limit three birds per day.

Pheasants may not be taken in any counties with the exception of Darlington township; here the season is two days Nov. 4 and 5, and the bag limit three cock birds per day. Hen pheasants may not be shot and the shooting hours for all types of birds will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Standard Time. Special township licenses are required for pheasant shooting.

A two-day open season for black, grey and fox squirrels is being allowed in the counties of Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham on Nov. 11 and 12. Bag limit is five per days in the aggregate.

$20 Bills Suspected Two Men Arrested

A grocery store keeper in Peterborough became suspicious of two men Monday when they asked him to change $20 bills when making small purchases. He notified city police that he thought the men might be dealing in bogus bills. After searching for the men in the city, police arrested Robert Langlois and George Bonick who said their homes were in Toronto.

The men were remanded on charges of vagrancy today when they appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp K.C., in city police court and will be brought before the court again Oct. 2. Bail was set at $1,000 each.

Police have not yet determined authenticity of the bills.

Aldermen Check Expenditures; Finances Low

In the municipal fiscal race between appropriation and expenditure, it looks now like a photo finish at the end of the year. City council is trying to show in appropriation, and will be satisfied with a nose decision.

That was not the language of Ald. H. Dodds, chairman, at the meeting of the board of works Monday night. What he said was that back in March, the council, at the behest of Mayor Swanston undertook to rate expenditures behind appropriations.

"But, that has not been strictly complied with," the chairman said. "So, the other morning the mayor and Ald. Waddell, chairman of the finance committee, went into the figures of the board of works with me as they stand now, and this was the necessary decision.

"There is to be no more work, of a nature that has to be paid out of the estimates, to be done this year."

Ald. Dodds passed around a sample chart of some of the items listed in the appropriations, and showing the present amount expended. The difference is $13,591.13 overspent on those six items.

The council set $2,000 as the sum for pavement maintenance, and the amount spent is $3,139.58.

Overexpenditures

Appropriation for street oiling $16,000, spent $19,653.24; for sanding walks (winter) $6,000 estimated and $7,497.33 spent; for cleaning sewers, $2,500 appropriated and $6,983.41 spent; drains $5,400 in estimates, $5,643.57 spent; wage increase $1,574, with nothing in the appropriation column for that item.

Total of appropriations on those few outlets $31,900 and actual expenditure $45,491.13.

Work done under pressure of public demand, was Ald. Dodds' explanation of the current margin of deficit. "New streets were being opened and houses built on them and painted. We had complaints that an hour after a lot of painting was started, it was being spoiled by dust. So those streets had to be oiled, in addition to those we had planned.

"We cleaned out more sewers than usual to get away from the aroma that was coming out of manholes. We cleaned out all that was possible to be done

"Those are just a few of the items to show what we have been up against in trying to keep within the estimates and at the same time satisfy the people. I am glad to say that in the majority of our items we are within the estimates, and if we are careful from now on, I think we can finish the year on the right side."

The implication was the finish is going to be close either way.

"The council has backed up the mayor in what he said. So far we are within the estimates in our department, but we can't keep on spending."

Mayor Swanston said the monthly bill of the board of works was about $15,000, with less than $40,000 left in its account "to do it with".

Transfer Workmen

Ald. Dodds said a number of the board's men were being transferred to sewer jobs which are paid for as local improvements.

Ald. Doug Miller presented a poser to the stern spirit of restricted spending for the rest of the year. Eighteen inches had been taken off the surface of Hillcrest Ave. for a gravel top. That job was delayed about a month by the belated arrival of the stone-crusher. The new metal was needed to give body to the road and also to restore its level for the benefit of fronting residents.

MAURICE REA

Maurice Rea Resigns Post Held In Legion

Secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Legion Branch 52, Peterborough, Maurice Rea has resigned. Mr. Rea has held the position since February, 1948, after serving nearly three years with the Canadian Army and the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Last year Mr. Rea supervised the Poppy Fund of which the returns were above those of any previous year. This year at the re-organization meeting of the Poppy Fund the members agreed to break up the campaign into committees. Chairman of the campaign was again Mr. Rea.

Mr. Rea served a year and a half with the Canadian Army as an instructor in artillery. He was later transferred to the Air Force and was a year and three months as a sergeant air gunner.

His resignation is accepted as of October 15 and then Mr. Rea will leave to take up a position in Montreal.

A successor has yet to be named. Written applications will be received until Wednesday, Sept. 28, when the applications will be opened to decide a new secretary-treasurer.

Lost End Of Finger On Printing Press

Catching his fingers between two rotating cylinders of a printing press, William James, 65, 564 Chamberlain St., had the end of one finger amputated in Civic Hispital Monday morning.

Mr. James was working on the same printing press at the Canadian Nashua Paper Co. with which he had been working since 1920 without an accident.

Isaac Allore, 552 Harvey St., had a cut on his arm attended to at the Civic Hospital Monday. He gashed himself when he tripped and fell while working at the C.G.E.

$615,000 Bylaw Presented To City Council

Arrangements for the borrowing of $615,000 for the enlargement and completion of the sewage disposal plant were formally phrased in a bylaw to which the council in special session Monday night gave first and second readings.

Third reading is deferred until the council receives the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board for the proposed sale of debentures. The bylaw is being sent to the Board with an order of the Ontario Department of Health affirming that this Peterborough expenditure is a necessary undertaking.

The bylaw was introduced by Ald. H. Dodds authorizing to spend $375,00 on the sewage disposal plant was obtained by vote of the property owners several years ago.

Approval of the Municipal Board to the raising of an additional $240,000 is one of the important purposes of the bylaw.

Another Dodds bylaw authorized the letting of the contract to George Hardy Limited, Toronto. It gives the council authority to execute an agreement with the contracting company for the construction of the sewage disposal plant.

Following the advice of Gore and Storrie, Toronto engineers, the council has now reached the final stage in the preliminaries to building. The plans are complete, the tenders have been disposed of, sanction and blessing of the Provincial Department of Health has been strongly expressed, the council has let the contract and directed the signing of the agreement with the contractor, and all that remains is getting the approval of the Municipal Board to the $615,000 debenture bylaw.

4 Hi-Y Clubs Re-organized

Twenty-five members of last years Hi-Y Clubs held a re-organization meeting in the YMCA Monday. The boys decided to form two senior clubs, an intermediate club and a junior club. Last year there was a senior club, two intermediate clubs and a junior club.

In the senior A club this year there are 17 members with the possibility of several others being added. Seven from last year's club returned while 10 intermediates who were eligible to join the senior club moved up. A committee was named to bring in a new slate of officers. This club plans to hold two luncheon meetings a month on Mondays and two meetings a month on Sunday nights, running alternately.

The boys in the Senior B club are those who have spent at least two years in the intermediate club.

David Ingram was chosen to set up a nominating committee while Al Cunningham will be chairman of the membership committee. They expect to have at least 15 in the club.

Several of last year's junior club members moved up, having graduated last term to Grade XIII. Ted Cranfield was selected to name the nominating committee with Bill Watson to act as chairman of the membership committee. This club will organize the Junior Club around November 1.

A dance will be held this Saturday night in the YMCA auditorium or gym, sponsored by the Senior A club to start the [illegible] Clubs activities for the year.

Girl 7 Attacked

TORONTO, Sept. 27 — (CP).— Police said a seven-year-old girl was kidnapped Monday night a short distance from her home, criminally assaulted, and turned loose a few blocks away. The child told her parents a truck driver who offered her a ride attacked her. She was released from hospital after an examination.

CBC Records Geese Honking

MONTREAL, Sept. 27 (CP) —A group of four CBC international service radio men returned here Monday with recordings of thousands of honking Canadian geese taken in Cabbage Willows, NWT, for broadcast on voice of Canada programs.

The party, led by J. S. Peach, supervisor of the voice of Canada's English language service, is attempting to publicize Canada's northland as a game area for American sportsmen.

"Although we do not beam our broadcasts directly to the United States, listeners there hear our broadcasts to the Caribbean area and Latin America and write us hundreds of letters every month Many of them tell of planning to visit Canada for hunting and [illegible] broadcasts of goose feeding grounds may attract even more," Mr. Peach said.

Pair On Trial For Bogus Bills

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 27 (CP)— Mrs. Frank Cipolla, 25, of Guelph, and Miss Edith May Lafreniere, 24, of Brockville, were committed for trial in higher court on Monday when they appeared for preliminary hearing on counterfeit charges.

The two women are charged with possessing and passing counterfeit $10 bills.

The pair were arrested here last Sept. 18 as they stepped from the Morristown, N. Y., ferry. Police said a search of the Brockville rooming house in which they were staying yielded $7,500 in bogus $10 bills. An additional $42,000 in counterfeit money was found in the Cipollo residence at Guelph.

In a statement to police, read in Magistrate's Court Monday, Mrs. Cipollo said she had returned to her Guelph home Sept. 2 after visiting friends to find a shopping bag partially filled with $10 bills She said she decided to take the money with her when she came here to visit Miss Lafreniere. She said she did not know the money was counterfeit at that time.

Constable Jack Wylie of the Brockville police force told court Miss Lefreniere admitted at the time of her arrest that she knew the bills were counterfeit.

Chretien Gets Life Sentence

SUDBURY, Sept. 27—(CP) — Fearful days are awaiting a date with death are over for Gerard Chretien, 23, convicted murderer whose death sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment.

Word that the dark-haired, gun slayer's death sentence had been reduced came Monday after an appeal to the Federal Cabinet. He had previously been scheduled to be hanged Thursday.

Chretien, former resident of Clarence Creek, near Ottawa, was the second man to miss the Thursday date on the gallows. His death-house cribbage partner, Albert (Punch) Quesnel, of Espanola, Ont., was freed last week when an appeal court quashed his conviction.

Chretien was convicted of killing William Wilson last December after forcing his way into a Sudbury home where his former girl friend, Gertrude Lamothe, 19, worked. Wilson and his wife occupied rooms in the home.

Leo Landreville, Chretien's counsel, said the appeal was based on "the question of mental deficiencies of the prisoner and the circumstances of the crime."

Judge Cowan Refuses To Dismiss Charges

BRANTFORD, Sept. 27 (CP) — Following an all-day hearing of Crown evidence, Judge D. J. Cowan late Monday rejected dedismissal of a joint charge against four of the leaders in last February's textile workers strike in Paris, Ont.

Val Bjarnason, Ontario director of the United Textile Workers of America (AF of L), William Stewart, international representative in Brantford, Mrs. Helen Muller, who was a union organizer at the time of the strike, and Heln Murphy, secretary-treasurer of the striking local in Paris, were arrested following a picket line demonstration last February 17 and were charged with being members of an unlawful assembly.

When their delayed trial was started Monday, Crown evidence was given by six provincial police officers and by five Penman employees who had not come out on the nine-weeks strike.

Formby Captures Old Country Folk

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (CP) — Old country folk raised the roof with applause and stiff Torontonians raised an occasional eyebrow when George Formby brought his Lancashire songs and stories to the Royal Alexander Theatre Monday night.

The toothy English comedian wound up an eight-act music hall show, complete except for the bustling bar between the acts. He showed a dancing team, a comedy musical act, a vocal trio, an impersonator, a magician and a female juggler.

Formby made "knee" the rhyme for Nelly and "ankle" for "grass" in the same songs he sang to British troops under fire.

His sellout reception indicated his cross-Canada visit will draw the same nostalgically-enthusiastic crowds from over the water that greet old-country soccer teams on tour.

Five Swimming Meets Planned For YM Pool

Five nights have been set aside during the coming fall, winter and spring seasons for the Boys' Swimming Club of the YMCA. Last year the boys attended meets out of town but never played hosts to other YMCA's throughout Ontario.

This year the boys will compete with the swimmers from Toronto West End YMCA on October 15 in the first of the five meets. The others are: November 19, Ontario Championship events; January 21, Hamilton YMCA swimming club; February 25, Broadview YMCA of Toronto; April 9, Ontario championship events. All the meets will be held in the YMCA pool.

Besides these events at home the local swimming club will be competing against Hamilton on October 22 and December 3. Toronto West End YMCA will play hosts to the local club late in November.

Membership of the club averaged about 30 boys last year. Gordon Minty, Honorary Swimming Director at the YMCA, hopes to have more under his wing this year. The club meets every Monday and Thursday at 6.15 p.m.

With most of the swimmers gradually improving Mr. Minty says the boys who have looked most promising so far are: Alec Baptie and Ross Dobbin in the 11 and under, Michael Triggs and Frank DeCarlo in the nine years and under, Jack Boorman, Jim Heffernan, Scott Pearton, David Cuffe, Donald Stewart and Terry Northrop in the 13 years and under, Bill Watson, Donald Wood, Bob Boyce and George White in the 16 years and under.

Eleanor Powell Planning Film Comeback

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27 (AP). —Eleanor Powell, who tapped her way through many a musical a few years back, may make a permanent thing of her film return.

The long-stemmed tapster is set for a guest apeparance in "Duchess of Idaho" with Esther Williams. Her old home lot also wants her to sign on for one picture a year for the future.

This information comes from her husband, Glenn Ford, on "The White Tower" set.

Glenn, a native of Port-Neuf, Que., turned down a chance to co-star with Lana Turner in "A Life of Her Own?" He didn't like the role. That's getting to be a problem picture, what with Lana reported balking at doing it, too.

Garfield Plans

John Garfield will skip doing a Broadway show this season. He will take on another picture after "The Big Fall" and produce his own "The Italian Story" in Italy next Summer. John is still a commuter from New York; says it gives him a fresher approach to movies not to live here. He now is in a hospital for a checkup after a dizzy spell. Nothing serious, the studio says.

Richard Conte is the latest to feature male cheesecake in ads for his latest picture. He joins Vic Mature, Alan Ladd, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and other bare-chested stars. If this trend keeps up, young actors won't be asked "Can you act?" but "Let's see your chest."

Shorts on Stars

Celeste Holm, free from her studio contract and glad of it, heads for New York after "Champagne For Caesar." She has a couple of play deals cooking and if one jells, she'll give movies the go-by for a year.

Red Skelton must be training for his future film, "Watch The Birdie." He was taking flash photos all over the Chanteclair party following Ed Wynn's telecast. Red has a year and a half left of his studio contract and is well lined up with vehicles. They are "Yellow Cab Man," "Three Little Words," a Lassie film, "Birdie," "How To Win Friends and Influence People" and "Joe Aladdin."

BOSOM PALS—Fat or lean, it makes no difference to these Windsor animals — they lick the platter clean. The two amicable table-mates are Rusty, a small dog of mixed ancestry, and a still smaller orphan kitten. The cat and dog affection grew when Rusty lost her pups and the kitten lost its mother.

Baptized Sheila Irene

ROSENEATH, Sept. 27 (ENS). —A baptismal service was held at Roseneath United Church at the morning service on Sunday, when Sheila Irene, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Broadworth, was baptized. Rev. R. C. White, pastor of the church, officiated.

Funds Asked For Talking Books For Blind

Donors to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind during the current campaign, which continues in Peterborough County until Oct. 1, are helping some of Canada's 15,000 blind people to read. For many years Braille was the only system whereby the blind were able to read, but for many it was too difficult a task. Today, however, the Institute has a talking book service which is given free to all blind people.

Talking books are recorded versions of printed books, read by trained speakers. They are not condensed or altered in any way. Literature of all kinds has been recorded from the Bible through the classics, works of biography, history, philosophy and travel, to recent best-sellers and the Reader's Digest. They may comprise any number of records from 12 for "The Razor's Edge," by Somerset Maughan, to 114 for Tolstoy's "War and Peace." From the Library of The Canadian Institute for the Blind, talking books are sent free of charge to readers in all parts of the country.

The books must be played on special transcription machines, similar to the phonograph but having a lower rate of revolution. These were not manufactured during the war and there were hundreds of blind people unable to obtain them. Now they are available again, with the result that now borrowers are being added to the membership of the CNIB Library in rapidly increasing numbers.

The demand is still ahead of supply of both machines and records, although many new ones have been bought and more are on order. Many more will still be needed for some time to come.

The expansion of the Talking Book Service is just one of the reasons why continued public support is necessary if the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is to maintain its program of rehabilitation and service.

The current campaign is under the sponsorship of the Peterborough Advisory Board to the CNIB of which W. C. Hughes is chairman. Contributions should be forwarded to the treasurer, T. T. Rodger, manager of the Dominion Bank, Peterborough.

Awarded Bursary At Old Vic Theatre

Martha Jamieson, who designed all the sets for the 11 plays put on by the Peterborough Summer Theatre this year, has been awarded a bursary by the British Council of Arts and Letters. She sails Wednesday for England.

She received a letter last week that she had been accepted as a student at the Old Vic Theatre School in London. While at the school she will study design for the theatre in all its aspects—costume and lighting besides the sets themselves.

She will also have the chance to visit theatre of London and the rest of England. She is hoping to be able to spend two winter seasons at the school.

Next Summer Miss Jamieson will be looking for work in a theatre, "preferably in Canada," to help finance her second season in England.

"I hope to adapt all I learn in England to the Canadian theatre," Miss Janieson said.

Rev. Kenneth Gillespie Welcomed In Montreal

The Rev. Kenneth Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gillespie, 110 Lock St., who was inducted early this Summer at Murray St. Baptist Church, was welcomed Monday in Montreal, where he has taken his first appointment. He is director of Christian education at the First Baptist Church, Montreal. A graduate of McMaster University, Hamilton, Mr. Gillespie grew up in Peterborough and is a former PCVS pupil. He was greeted Monday in Montreal by the minister and officials of the church at a supper meeting of the Junior Board.

Union Will Combat Race Discrimination

TORONTO, Sep.t 27 (CP)—The United Rubber Workers of America (CIO) after vigorous debate Saturday, voted to set up a "fair practices" department to combat racial, religious and nationalistic discrimination in the employment of workers.

The move brought to a close the union's 14th annual convention.

An increase of 5 cents in monthly dues for a "war chest" for strike and defence funds was voted down earlier.

Proceedings in the week-long convention slowed to almost a halt Friday as bitter factional disputes consumed the time of the more than 600 delegates from United States and Canada.

Saturday it was necessary to refer all 42 resolutions, proposed for convention discussion, back to the new general executive board, a the convention closed.

Buffalo, N. Y., was chosen as the 1950 convention site.

Factories And New Schools Changing Face Of Britain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New factories, new schools and new houses are changing the face of Britain.

The cost of this change since 1946 has been estimated at more than £2,000,000,000 ($6,200,000,000) — and there are still vast projects under way.

Since the war 943,000 new houses have been built, but of this total only 427,000 are permanent dwellings. The remainder consists of temporary structures and restored war-damaged houses.

The Government's temporary housing scheme has yielded restoration of 140,000 unoccupied war-damaged houses and the conversion of large old houses into apartments for 119,000 "additional units of family accommodation."

On the industrial front, factories and power plants are going up as fast as labor and materials can be found. First of 25 new power stations planned by the British Electricity Authority was opened recently at Kingston, Surrey, at a cost of £6,000,000.

In Kensington, Southwest London, three 10-storey office blocks designed to house 3,500 government employees are being constructed at a total cost of £1,000,000.

Tobacco Factory

A new tobacco factory to employ 1,000 persons is taking shape on a 20-acre site outside Newcastle-on-Tyne. Its owners, W. D. and H. O. Wills, says 15 acres will be set aside for gardens and recreation rooms, conforming with modern industrial ideas.

Plymouth recently acquired a new radio factory occupying 75,000 square feet in the centre of eight acres of open land. Here, too, recreational facilities for the workers are being provided on a large scale.

One-storey aluminum schools designed to offer maximum sunlight and air soon will dot Britain. At Bristol, the first of this type is half way to completion.

Governmental and industrial plans sometimes conflict with those of the Council for the Preservation of Rural England. On the borders of Berkshire and Hampshire a threat hangs over 9½ square miles rural land which the Metropolitan Water Board would like to take for a reservoir.

"This would mean turning 1,500 persons out of their home," a CPRE official said. "It would also mean an annual loss of 400,000 gallons of milk, 500 tons of wheat and 300 tons of barley, besides flooding a beautiful stretch of pastoral countryside enjoyed by cyclists, ramblers and motorists."

Detain Student U.S. Apologizes

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP)—The United States State Department has apologized for detaining a Canadian student at New York when she was returning home from a European trip.

The External Affairs Department said Monday the girl, Ruth Comfort of Toronto, was detained for one day by U. S. immigration authorities. She was released from detention Sept. 12.

The girl is the daughter of Chas. F. Comfort, Canadian painter commissioned as official Canadian army war artist during the Second World War.

The department said Hume Wrong, Canadian Ambassador in Washington had protested the detention.

Miss Comfort was returning from the Netherlands with a group of Canadian students on the Netherlands' steamer Volendam when she was taken into custody. She had been visiting Europe on a tour sponsored by the International Student Service.

One big advantage with a new floor of Armstrong's Asphalt Tile is that it offers almost endless opportunities for original designs.

It comes in a wide range of plain and marbleized colours. And, since it is installed one tile at a time, you can create your own pattern—to harmonize with any colour scheme, to make a narrow room look wider, to make any room more attractive!

Another definite advantage is that Armstrong's Asphalt Tile costs less now than it did back in 1939. Upkeep cost is a minor item, too. This modern flooring withstands wear, stays new-looking for many years, with only occasional washing and waxing.

Flooring contractors everywhere in Canada are installing attractive modern floors of Armstrong's Asphalt Tile. Ask any Armstrong contractor or dealer in your locality to show you colours and sample floor designs, or to give you an accurate, free estimate.

Gayest Throng In Years To Attend Palace Wedding

LONDON, Sept. 27 (CP)—Hundreds of musicians, singers and ballet dancers will go to St. James' Palace Thursday for the reception following the wedding of the 26-year-old Earl of Harewood, the King's nephew, and his 22-year-old Austrian-born fiancee, Marion Stein.

Not for years will St. James' Palace have seen such a brilliant artistic gathering, occasioned by the fact that Miss Stein is an accomplished professional pianist.

There will be impresarios, symphony conductors, opera stars, music critics, pianists and other instrumentalists. Sir John Anderson and co-trustees of the Covent Garden Opera House have been invited, along with musical personalities from the Edinburgh and [illegible]

Conductors Sir Thomas Beecham and Bruno Walter have received invitations, together with the the Glyndebourne Opera Centre's staff and representatives of the Bryanston Summer Music School, which was founded by the late Earl of Harewood, the bridegroom's father.

The Queen and Queen Mary are likely to attend. So are Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. If the King's health permits, he will be there, too.

The bride, in white and carrying white flowers, will enter the church on the arm of her father, Erwin Stein. Her bridesmaids, also in white, will be Lydia Brenan, an old school friend; Catherine Shanks, a fellow-pianist; and two younger bridesmaids, both distant cousins of Lord Harewood—6-year-old Davina Margaret Lloyd and 8-year-old Sarah Lanyon.

Her page will be 3-year-old Malcolmn Nigel Forbes, son of the Master of Forbes and grandson of Lord Forbes. Gerald Lascelles, brother of the bridegroom, will be his best man. Three clergy will take the service, the Bishop of Ripon, the Vicar of St. Mark's and the Vicar of Harewood.

For her wedding Miss Stein has chosen ankle-strap toe-and-heel sandals of silver French brocade with a half-inch platform. For her going-away outfit she will wear court shoes in soft burgundy-colored suede and grosgrain with a quarter-inch platform.

Plans for rushing new piedges were discussed and it was decided to hold the "rushing party" on October 24.

The book for study this year is on Beauty. Mrs. J. Dougherty gave a talk on "The Body Beautiful" with illustrations. Miss Muriel Adams introduced Mrs. E. McWilliams whose current event topic was the devaluation of western currency, and she discussed its causes and effects.

Miss Joyce Wyatt served coffee at close of meeting.

Fitchett-Fleming Vows Taken At Bride's Home

A pretty early fall wedding was solemnized Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fleming, Percy Township when their second daughter, Mary Leona, was united in marriage to Harold Nelson son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert-on Fitchett to Morganston. The home was beautifully decorated with fern, evergreen and autumn flowers.

The Rev. N. Cole officiated at the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Ed. Huycke, sister of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charmingly gowned in white satin with finger tip veil of silk net, held in place by a halo of orange blossoms. Her flowers were red roses. Dorothy Fleming, was her sister's maid of honour wearing powder blue moire, with headdress of pink and blue roses and she carried red rosebuds and fern. Miss Helen Richardson of Hastings was bridesmaid and her gown was of pink sheer and lace and she wore a matching headdress and carried red rosebuds. The bride's youngest sister as flowers girl was in a quaint gown of peach taffeta and carried pink rosebuds in a nosegay.

Mr. John Fitchett was his brother's groomsman.

The reception for 60 guests was held at Roselawn Tea Room Campbellford. The bride's mother received wearing a gown of navy figured Bengaline, matching hat and corsage of roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore grey crepe with black accessories and a corsage of roses. Assisting with the lunch were Misses Eunice and Doris Thompson, Phyliss Johnston and Jean Fleming all of Hastings, Bernice Scott of Norwood, and Lavigne Parker, Roseneath.

For travelling the bride wore a Loganberry gabardine suit black hat and accessories. After a trip to the Thousand Islands and points east, they will reside on the groom's farm at Morganston.

Costumed Bowlers Play One Game

Unpleasant weather hampered the Peterborough lawn Bowling Club masquerade tournament Saturday evening. However, good sports always make the best of a situation, so sides were chosen and one game played before adjourning to the club rooms for a social evening.

Bob Hendry as master of ceremonies uncovered some amazing talent at this impromptu party. The following contributions were well received: Mrs. R. Beems, Mrs. C. Willison and Mrs. G. Kelly, solos; Mr. T. Parker, monologue; Mrs. W. Perks, step dance; Mr. R. Hendry, songs. Mrs. W. Greenslade was at the piano.

Everyone who was in costume received a basket of peaches, compliments of the Board of Directors. Special prizes were awarded Mrs. P. Moore, Mrs. W. Greenslade, Mrs. G. Fee, Messrs. G. Adams, W. Perks and H. R. Martin.

Feminine 'Switchmen' Keep Railroading In The Family

EAST SYRCAUSE, N.Y., Sept. 27—(AP)—A feminine trio of "switchmen," one of them a grandmother, are "high balling" hardy New York Central engineers in and out of the railroad's freight yards here.

The three women "switchmen" have been handling their "man-sized" jobs from five to six years.

Mrs. Ray Whitehouse, veteran among the three, has been on the job six years. Miss Irene Ingison has been working nearly five years and Mrs. Everett Card will soon round out five years. All began their work during the war.

Trainmaster Albert J. Zwilling, who says he believes the trio now is one of the few in the United States handling such work, terms the women "three of the best switchmen I have."

Attired in overalls and heavy men's shirts, they spend their days throwing yard switches to funnel incoming trains onto proper tracks and separating freight cars "humped" in the yards to make up new trains.

Mrs. Whitehouse, wife of a building contractor, says she took the job because she was "determined to keep railroad in the family." Her fathr was a New York Central engineer for 40 years.

Mrs. Whitehouse is proud of her membership in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which, she says, required a special dispensation from the international organization "before they would admit a woman switchman."

Mrs. Card's husband also is a switchman for the railroad. A grandmother, she says she likes housework and cooking "next best to pulling switches."

Miss Ingison at night turns to her regular trade of dressmaking. She says she is railroading because "there aren't too many jobs paying women $10.71 for an eight-hour day, seven days a week."

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Easy Divorces Life Curse Changing Minds Suffer

DEAR MISS DIX: I married a woman whom I loved fiercely. In about two years we parted over a kids' argument. There was no bitterness about our divorce. We ate dinner together after it was granted and went to the theatre, shook hands and acted our part as cold-blooded people. It was mostly bluff on my part and she called it, and pretended to be glad. I married almost immediately as a gesture of defiance. It was a failure and I am getting a divorce. She married a fine man who has been good to her, but the trouble is we still love each other, are miserably apart, and desire nothing on earth so much as to be reunited. Shall she tell her husband what he must suspect, that she still loves me, and ask him to set her free? Or what?

A FOOL

ANSWER: It seems to me that the best and most honorable course would be for the woman to tell her husband the truth and, at least, give him the opportunity of withdrawing from an unhappy situation with dignity and graciousness. For assuredly no gentleman would wish to keep bound to him a woman whose heart belonged to another or to hold a woman against her will.

In any case, it seems impossible to save this poor innocent man from being the victim of you and your wife's folly. For whether he gives her a divorce and lets her marry you or not, his happiness is blasted, for no woman who loves one man can be a good wife to another man.

Danger

Your letter calls attention anew to the danger of easy divorce. For there are so many men and women who think they have fallen out of love with each other when they are only fed up with each other. So they rush to the divorce court with charges of incompatibility of temper or mental cruelty or whatnot and get their divorce and then regret it ever afterward. For separation does its perfect work and makes them get a perspective on the virtues they were too close to see. The thousands of ties that knit a husband and wife together and that are never all broken.

And the love they thought was dead comes back to life. They are lonely for each other. They know that there is something even about their faults that makes them dearer to each other than any other human being can be. But so often this knowledge comes too late. After they have made other ties that cannot be broken.

Most divorces are mistakes that both parties regret.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two teen-age girls who wish to ask your opinion on a problem that concerns our futures. My girl friend insists that in order to have a happy marriage a girl should marry a man she does not love. She believes in a companionship marriage where both the husband and wife are in business, and that there should be no children. Her point is that if a girl marries someone she does not love, she will not be hurt in case of divorce.

I believe that to have a happy marriage love is necessary, and that it is a wife's duty to take care of the home and rear a family. What do you think?

GINGER

ANSWER: I think you are 100 per cent right, Ginger. Your friend is all wrong and if she tries out her theory of a companionship marriage, she will find it a failure. For she will be neither bonded nor free. Neither a girl who can run around having dates with other men without getting talked about, or a wife whose husband satisfies her.

To begin with, if your friend's matrimonal program were known, she would have a poor chance of ever getting a husband at all, for most men marry for love. The average man wants a wife who makes him believe, at least, that she is crazy about him, and who puts and tackles him and he would not be attracted to a girl who just regarded him as a friend.

Also, the average man wants a wife who will make him a home and who will give him children and whose interests are his interests. So any girl who is non-domestic in her tastes, who is more interested in her job than she is in a husband, and who is allergic to children is likely to remain our Invaluable Miss Smith in whatever business office she works.

Marriage without love is dust and ashes in a woman's teeth. There is nothing in it that keeps her happy and satisfied, for it takes love to make the wheels go around. It takes love to make a wife see a hero of romance in a commonplace looking man; to work her fingers to the bone to make him comfortable; to make her willing to wear basement bargain dresses and wash babies' diddies, and still think it all worth while.

As for your friend thinking that she can avoid being hurt if her husband philanders by not loving him, that is a pipe dream. It can't be done, for her pride will be stabbed to the quick even if her heart is not broken.

Grace Simpson Presents Gavel To Legion Branch

Ex-servicewomen of Elizabeth Smellie branch of the Canadian Legion No. 452 held their first fall meeting Monday evening in the Armouries, with Comrade Rosa Humphries presiding.

Plans were discussed for Christmas welfare work. Also for the fall baking sale to be held in the Market Hall, October 29. Comrade Alice Morin announced arrangements being made for a progressive euchre party to be held in the club rooms sometime in November.

At close of meeting, Comrade Grace Simpson presented the branch with a gavel, which is an important part of any organization equipment, representing the keeping of law and order. President Humphries gratefully accepted it on behalf of the members.

Refreshments were served under direction of Comrades Irene Vivash, Helen MacFarlane and Molly Curtis. The remainder of the evening was spent in viewing members' service snapshots.

Meat, Bread Prices To Be Studied At CAC Meeting

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 — (CP) — Housewives will be able to air their grievances on food prices at a conference this week of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

It is the second annual meeting of the CAC, formed in 1947 to study consumer problems and work toward improvement of standards in Canadian homes.

Women from across Canada will attend the two-day session, to open Wednesday. Among the 200 delegates, several will represent national women's organizations.

While reports and speeches—foundation upon which most conventions are built—have their place on the agenda, plenty of time also will be devoted to discussion of the housewife's current food budget troubles.

Under the cryptic heading 'consumer problems' the agenda lists such items as margarine, electrical interference, fancy packaging, and international trade.

Prices also come into this "problem" bracket, with meat and bread cost listed for study.

The president, Mrs. F. E. Wright of Port Credit, Ont., will present her report Wednesday.

Junior Sodality Forms Committees

St. Peter's Junior Sodality held their opening meeting Sunday evening in St. Mary's School. Prefect Elizabeth Begley presided. Brief talks were by the Moderator Catherine McTeague and Vice-Prefect Kathleen Lucas.

The Rev. F. Gaughan, spiritual director, was presented with a farewell gift.

Preceding brief outlines given by the chairman and co-chairman of each committee the Sodality formed three committees; Eucharistic and Our Lady's committee, chairman and co-chairman of which are Anne Ferren and Rosella Connelly; Apostalic and Good Literature Committee, chairman and co-chairman, Mary Rutherford and Maureen Finn, Social and Publicity Committtee, the chairman and co-chairman, Anne Howell and Betty Szammers.

Last week an initiation party was held in St. Mary's School for 28 new members.

Tickets to be sold on a hope chest were distributed. Proceeds will be used to furnish a room in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Pat Out But Do Not Roll Dough In Making Biscuits

By MARY MOORE

It is a mean trick to tell you about the lovely meals we are having at our house instead of inviting you to share them,—but I will do my best to describe them to you so that you can serve them to your families.

My friend and girlhood chum, Garnett, is here and with more and better recipes in her head than ever, and she is doing the cooking.

Two specials that stand out from all of the things that she has made are a new recipe for "Biscuits" and a new way to make blueberry pancakes. (See more further down on mixing blueberries into batters.) When I call biscuits "tea biscuits" she says "I don't know where you get the "tea" part—what I make is plain "biscuits" but she's from Missouri and reserves the right to be ornery". (I [illegible] of all justice she [illegible] very often exert that right though—for she is one of the cheeriest people I know).

Garny's Biscuits

Two cups bread flour, sifted, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ cup best quality shortening, 2-3 cup milk. Work shortening into dry ingredients which have been sifted together; add milk, then pat out instead of rolling. Cut out into 2-inch biscuits having dough about 1 to 1¼ inch thick before baking. These are nice cut out in small diamond shape. Bake at 475 deg. Fahr. until they rise and fall sideways a little. For a special occasion, glaze them by brushing with egg yolk diluted half and half with cold water, about 2 minutes before removing from oven.

Garny has been in a lovely resort town where the cooking at the Lodge where they stopped was superior—to put it mildly.

One Sunday morning they were served

Blueberry Pancakes

and the batter was not darkened by the berries so Garny made her way to the kitchen in her smiling and inimitable manner and asked the cook how she kept the batter so "clean-looking".

This is it: One and one-half cups unsifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons melted butter, about 2-3 cup cleaned and dried blueberries, fresh. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat the egg and add the milk and butter to it and stir into the batter until all lumps are gone. Drop into barely greased hot frying pan in 1 large 5-inch pancake for each frying, and place a spoonful of blueberries in centre of pancake. As soon as it bubbles all over, turn it over to brown other side. Serve at once with honey and butter. Note: These do not help you to reduce.

This same cook told Garny that all of her blueberry batters were made by adding the blueberries after the batter was in pan—that is, if she were making a blueberry cake—she would put half the batter in pan, then spread it with a layer of washed and dried fresh berries and put on remainder of batter and bake the cake. This way batter stays clear and clean. Same with blueberry [illegible]

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are introducing your mother to a casual acquaintance and her name is different from yours.

WRONG WAY: Say, "This is my mother," giving the other person no clue as to your mother's name.

RIGHT WAY: Say, "This is my mother, Mrs. Jones"—so the other person will know what to call her in speaking to her and in saying "goodby."

"You'll certainly have some explaining to do—sheets from the Grand, towels from the Ritz, chambermaids from the Plaza—"

Weeds

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all Occupants and Owners of Property within the City of Peterborough that the provisions of the Weed Control Act will be rigidly enforced.

Section 4 of the Weed Control Act states:

'Every occupant of land or if the land is unoccupied the owners shall destroy all weeds designated noxious by the Regulations as often in every year as is sufficient to prevent the ripening of their seed."

Occupants and Owners of Land are advised to exercise great care in Destroying all Noxious Weeds before they mature seed. If these precautions are not taken, the Weed Inspector may exercise his authority and may enter on property for the purpose of Destroying Noxious Weeds

The co-operation of everyone is solicited in a general clean-up of Noxious Weeds

A. E. CHALMERS,
Weed Inspector

City Has Trouble Securing Laborers

"We haven't as many men as we had ten years ago," said Street Commissioner Burgess at the board of works meeting Monday night. "We've taken men on, but they don't stay. They do not want to get down into sewers and do that kind of work."

Mr. Burgess said his department was making new roads and trying to keep up with the general maintenance job. Only one shovel is available, "and with the equipment we've got, we can't do all the new work and maintenance."

That comment was expressed by Mr. Burgess in regard to a question by Ald. Herbert Young about the levelling of the lot bought by the city this year at the corner of Romaine St., on the west side of Monaghan Road.

Ald. Young said residents of that locality had enquired of him when the city was going to do something in making the property presentable. It was bought by the city for a "green lot", and also as an investment in safety for traffic approaching the C.P.R. from the north.

17 Pints Confiscated

Confiscation of 17 pints of beer was ordered today in city police court by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., when Lorne Wallis, 191 Rink St., pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his residence. He was fined $15 and ordered to pay $2.50 costs.

David Montgomery, Lakefield also pleaded guilty to the same offence and had to pay a similar fine and costs.

Canadian Coal Gets Chance At Big Market

OTTAWA, Sept. 26—(CP)—The combination of dollar devaluation and the United States coal strike has given Canadian mines a chance of taking the big Ontario-Quebec market away from U.S. mines.

It's doubtful, however, if Canadian mines can increase their production quickly enough to take full advantage of the situation, say mining sources.

Devaluation of the Canadian dollar boosted the cost of U.S. coal by 10 per cent, enough to give coal from Nova Scotia and Alberta a fighting chance in the big market in the central provinces despite the high cost of transport.

Deliveries from the U.S. have stopped since the coal strike began last week.

Lags Behind

But Canadian production still lags far behind consumption.

In the first seven months of this year, for example, Canadian production was $10,242,370 tons. But imports of 12,389,461 tons were needed to meet Canadian needs.

Despite an increase of eight-cents-a-ton in the costs of hauling coal, authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners last week, officials believe coal from the west and the maritimes still will be able to compete with U.S. coal in Quebec and Ontario.

Transport costs, however, keep Nova Scotia coal from going any further west than Montreal and keep Alberta coal from Quebec. But there appears to be a heavy demand for Alberta coal in Ontario and for Nova Scotia coal in the Montreal area.

Canadian coal production so far this year is running ahead of last year and imports are down. This may indicate that Canadian mines yet may be able to supply most of the Dominion's needs.

Does He Support Park St. Drain?

When R. G. Hay of Meyesburg, south of Campbellford took his pen in hand to write the council he apparently intended to set down a protest against a proposed levy for the Park St. sewer.

Evidently he owns property on Park St. south, and the council has been writing him, with the others, for their reaction to the proposed terms of paying for the work.

The letter follows: "Being the event of my 41st anniversary, retrospection is in order. It occurs to me that I have received a communication from your clerk three times regarding improvement of Park St. south.

I have been soundly impressed with the idea that I am a mere property owner or deed holder by your planning officials. Is petitioning necessary any longer? What sort of co-operation should you expect.

Have you a divine task of planning or are you mere mortals prepared to sacrifice your contemporaries for some vague future glory?

I believe in planning, individually and generally, but not at too great a cost to a generation that will get little benefit, but suffer and pay toward it. I have written doubtfully.

Yours very doubtfully,
R. G. HAY."

Ignored Speed Limit Two Drivers Fined

J. S. Fontaine who police claim exceeded the traffic speed limit by driving at 70 mph pleaded guilty today in city police court to speeding. He was fined $15 by Magistrate W. R. Philp K.C., and ordered to pay $2.50 costs.

Peter Gravelle Bridgenorth was fined $10 and ordered to pay $2.50 costs after pleading not guilty to a charge of careless driving. He was involved in an accident with a truck and another car on Highway 7 approximately five miles east of the city. He claimed that he had stopped his car half a car's length before entering the highway but this was refuted by Crown evidence.

On Standard Time

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27 — (ENS)—The week-end switchover from Eastern Daylight Time to Eastern Standard Time by the local town council has put Campbellford out of step with neighboring towns and villages.

It is believed the council will act shortly to remedy the confusing situation.

Rink Fund Increases

HASTINGS Sept. 27 (ENS) — Two recent donations to Hastings rink fund have brought the total figure to date to $10,323.48. A second donation from W. F. Jones was for $50. J. E. Ayrhart, Campbellford, gave $10.

Hectic Season Under Way For NHL Soon

By The Canadian Press.

It's back to another hectic season in the National Hockey League. With only two weeks left until the season gets under way all six clubs are busily shifting the teams into their version of a Stanley Cup-winning squad.

Pre-season training camp sessions have already been completed by Detroit Red Wings while the others are sifting scores of big-time hopefuls in an effort to pick a team.

The season gets under way Oct. 12, when Boston Bruins meet Detroit.

The NHL champion Red Wings broke up training camp at Sault Ste. Marie, Monday, after they defeated the Indianapolis Capitols, their American League farm club 6-0.

Meanwhile, Boston Bruins are training at Hershey, Pt., and New York Rangers are temporarily stationed at Lake Placid, N. Y. The world champion Toronto Maple Leafs still are at St Catharines, and Chicago Black Hawks are at Sudbury.

From manager Jack Adams of the Red Wings comes word that his new line of Sid Abel, Jimmy Peters and Pete Babando will be "one of the NHL's top lines this season."

Most promising player in the Detroit camp was former Black Hawks player George Gee. "Gee has been our best forward in camp," Adams said. He is slated to pivot Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe as the Red Wings first string line."

In Montreal, the Canadiens, stinging from the remarks handed out by coach Dick Irvin about their 3-3 tie against Buffalo Bisons of the AHL Saturday have been going through stiff workouts.

Colin Kilborn of Edmonton has left the Montréal camp and declined a pro contract, general manager Frank Selke said Monday Kilborn, who gave no reason for turning down the offer, is reported to have highly impressed Irvin.

In the Toronto camp husky Tim Horton, termed by general manager Conn Smythe as "the No. 1 defence prospect in Canada," was signed to a pro contract Monday. He will report to the Pittsburgh Hornets Leaf farm team, today.

The Black Hawks, now launching on an exhibition tour, are featuring the talented Frank (Mr. Zero) Brimsek in the nets. Brimsek, who has showed impressively in workouts, was obtained from the Bruins last season for a reported $25,000.

HURDLER—Next winter Bill Larochelle will be a hurdle and relay delegate to the British Empire Games in New Zealand, but he has other things on his mind this fall. A second-string halfback with the University of Western Ontario Mustangs last year, Bill has moved to a first-line backfield spot with Ottawa Rough Riders, Eastern Canada football champions.

Aldermen Check

It was reported that H. L. Garner was enquiring about oiling or repairing Weller St. Traffic to Civic Hospital was heavy, Mayor Swanston said, and the road had been broken for the extension of sewer and water services.

Ald. J. A. Gillespie said the sanitary department would be able to get under the wire or be close to it. Wages were amounting to more than was anticipated. At the present rate of $1,115 a week, that bill to the end of the year would be $16,725 with only $13,200 left in the wage appropriation for the collection and disposal of garbage.

However, cost of incinerator repairs was only $400 against the estimate of $3,000.

"We are keeping within the rest of the estimates," Ald. Gillespie said.

The theme of that discussion was vigilance and restraint on spending that has not been provided for. Mayor Swanston said the objective was to close the year without leaving a deficit for the council of 1950 to assume.

Nutrition Key

Drastic reduction in consumption of sugar was strongly advocated by Dr. McLaren. It was important to cut out the in-between-meal-time snacks. Acid formation in the mouth started within three to five minutes of eating and continued from 60 to 90 minutes. Use of the tooth brush after every meal was, therefore, vitally important. The old advice to use a tooth brush morning and night was not adequate in the light of modern knowledge.

Public Health In Bible

Dr. J. Mather, director of Halton County Health Unit, traced the history of public health care back to the centuries before Christ. The Book of Leviticus in the Old Testament was the best public health text book produced up to the 20th century. Sewage disposal was one of the topics mentioned.

The Venetian Republic introduced quarantine in the 14th century when disease was carried by travellers to the Orient.

An RCAF recruiting officer during the Second World War, Dr. Mather said, dental defects far outstripped any other complaint among recruits for the service. At first men were rejected on those grounds but that practice would not be continued. He described the state of servicemen's dental health as "nothing short of ghastly."

Dr. Mather referred to instances where School Boards provide free dental care for children and said that one board started this service to pre-school aged children from the age of three. He spoke of apathy among parents and described how the free service had increased interest to the extent that those who had received free treatment for their children appreciated the value so much that they would continue to have their children treated even if the free service was discontinued.

Dr. Mather pointed out that information about dental health was comparatively recently discovered. Acid producing bacteria had been known only 60 years.

In the past, the major role of dentists had been repairing rather than preventive work. That was negative work. It had made dentists extremely good technicians. Preventive treatment was the main theme at the dinner Monday.

A physician, who claimed his public health work resulted in an active interest in dentistry along with all other aspects of life concerning the health of the public, Dr. Mather said that dental public health problems problems were being met in Halton County partly by appointment of a full time public health dentist and assistant.

The speakers were thanked on behalf of the dinner guests by Dr. R. C. Honey. Miss Helen Hajnik entertained with songs.

J. J. Dutton, secretary of Peterborough Dental Public Health Association, announced the week's program of radio talks which included a talk by Dr. Glenn Mitton, professor of Dental Public Health at the University of Toronto today, a forum discussion of prevention of tooth decay Wednesday at 9.30 a.m., and Dr. S. J. Graham, Dental Officer of the Peterborough Board of Education Thursday at the same time.

Film shows at the library had been arranged for the first three nights of the week. Exhibits at the library were displayed by Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, Milk Foundation, Health League, Victorian Order of Nurses, Board of Health and the Department of National Health and Welfare.

Dr. Glenn Mitton will address a meeting of parents and teachers at Queen Mary School auditorium Thusday evening, at which meeting a news film entitled Who Will Teach Your Children will be shown.

Those living in communities outside Peterborough city are to be visited by members of the Peterborough Dental Public Health Association as follows:

Tuesday, Douro; Wednesday, Warsaw, No. 10 Smith Twp., Cordova Mines, Apsley; Thursday, Norwood, Lakehurst, Havelock, Westwood; Friday, Lakefield, Stewart Hall, Ennismore.

Guests at the top table during dinner were: Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman; Dr. Glenn Mitton, professor of Dental Public Health, University of Toronto; Dr. Vernon Fisk, President of the Canadian Dental Association; Dr. R. E. Moyers, professor of Orthodontics, University of Toronto; Dr. Lloyd Grosse, President of Ontario Dental Association; Dr. Evered White, President of the Academy of Dentistry, Toronto; Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough Medical Officer of Health; Dr. S. J. Graham, Dental Officer of Peterborough Board of Education; W. W. Dawson, President of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture.

Resort Owner Cleared

JOLIETTE, Que., Sept. 27 (CP) —J. Hector Lafontaine, a nearby Lac Des Sables resort owner, Monday was cleared of responsibility in connection with the drowning of four women July 23, when his motor-equipped boat overturned on the lake. Charges of criminal responsibility were withdrawn following the testimony of Lafontaine's 12-year-old son, Gerald, who said his father did not know he used the boat to take people cruising on the lake.

Reserve Judgment

TORONTO, Sept. 27 — (CP).— Judgment was reserved Monday on an appeal by Sam Carr, a central figure in the 1946 espionage trials, against his conviction and six-year sentence on a charge of conspiring to forge a Canadian passport for a Russian agent. It is expected the decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal will be handed down today by Chief Justice R. C. Robertson.

Truman Powers Give Hope Of Freer Trade

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Some one once, upon being congratulated on making some easy money, remarked:

"It is not a question of what I will do with it; but what would I have done without it?"

That illustrates the situation in regard to many things which have been taking place in the world in the last few years.

The actual favorable happenings tend to be taken in a "that's good" attitude, without much thought of what the situation would be without them.

In this category comes the signing Monday by President Truman of a Bill which restores his power, suspended for a while, to make tariff-cutting agreements with other countries.

Until June 12, 1951, the President of the United States can make reductions as great as 50 per cent in that country's tariffs, in return for lowered duties on United States goods.

Failure of Congress to renew this power in 1948 has been an embarrassment ever since in international trade talks.

The power has not been restored because every one in the United States has turned free trader. Far from it. Many American producers are worried about the competition they may have to face from the rest of the world, and many would like to go back to old principles which would virtually shut every one else out of the American market.

Fatal Blow

A reversion of the United States to the trade isolationism of 25 years ago — and it could have happened—would have been a near-fatal blow to present efforts to get mankind to trade together and be prosperous together.

Decision of Congress to renew the power of the President to cut tariffs does not by a long way solve all difficulties, but it allows peoples to stay on the right path.

It was a fitting thing that President Truman signed the Bill in the presence of Cordell Hull, former Secretary of State, who first led the United States on this way when what he was trying to do seemed little more than pious hope.

If trade barriers created in the 20th century are overcome in the decade to come, then all peoples might raise a monument to Mr. Hull.

To Open Hospital

TORONTO, Sept. 27—(CP) — The new $200,000 Red Cross outpost at Wiarton, the only large hospital in the Bruce Peninsula, will be formally opened Oct. 5, Red Cross officials announced here Monday. Russell T. Kelley, Ontario Minister of Health, is expected to speak at the formal opening of the 20-bed hospital.

Arrive In Hong Kong

HONG KONG, Sept. 27 — (Reuters)—The American liner General Gordon arrived Monday from Shanghai with 1,275 foreign evacuees. Among the passengers was T. C. Davis, Canadian ambassador to China, and L. H. Lamb, British minister.

Campbellford Burial For Anthony Culkeen

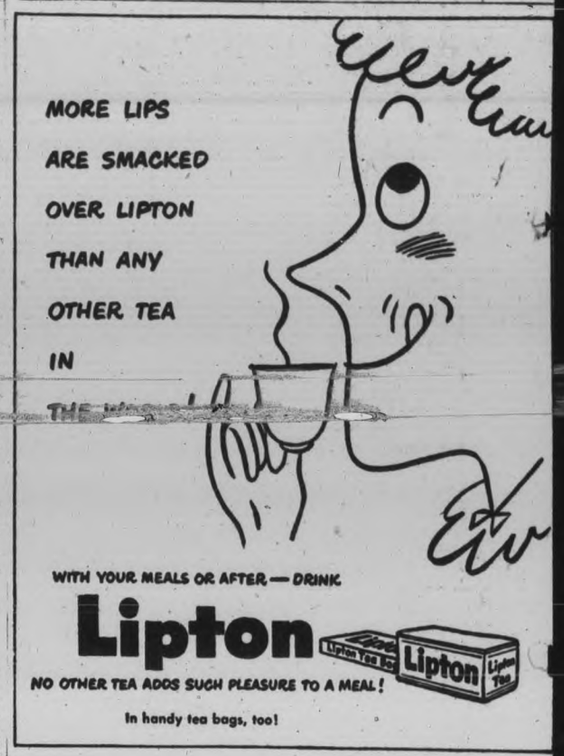
CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27 — (ENS)—Funeral service for Anthony James Michael Culkeen, 41, was held in St. Mary's Church, Monday. Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. J. C. Moloney and burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mr. Culkeen died in Toronto on Friday from injuries received on Sept. 12 when he fell from the roof of a friend's house which he was helping to build.

Born in Seymour township, son of the late James Culkeen and Louisa Hicks, he was educated in the local Separate and High schools. In 1939 he went overseas with an Irish regiment and served in Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. Since returning to Canada he has made his home in Toronto.

Surviving are his wife, the former Jean Young, and one son, Michael; four sisters and one brother, Mrs. A. Desbarieux, Campbellford; Mrs. C. Phillips, Mrs. F. Webb and Miss Irene Culkeen, all of Peterborough and Joseph Culheen, of Kilworthy.

Pallbearers were Dan Calnan Thomas Maich, Fergus Webb, William and Albert Cotton and Walter Lund. Fowers bearers were Joseph, Aloisius and Anthony Desbarieux; Gerard, James and Neil Culkeen.



JOINS MILLIONAIRES

Winger Bryan Robertson of Timmins arrived at Sydney, N. S., Monday to join defending Maritime champion Sydney Millionaires hockey club, team officials said.

Robertson, high scoring member of Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Hockey Association for the last two years, is the third newcomer to the moneymen. Others are defenceman Bob Gray of Saskatoon and forward Mac Beaton of Brandon.

U.S. Publishers Not Suffering By Devaluation

MONTREAL, Sept. 27 — (CP) — The American publisher has suffered no detriment through recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar because he pays the same amount in United States funds for newsprint as he did before, R. M. Fowler, president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, said Saturday.

He was commenting on a statement released Tuesday by Cranston Williams, General Manager of the American Newpaper Publishers Association, on the effect of devaluation.

Mr. Williams also asked two leading Canadian newsprint producers Friday what price action could be expected as a result of devaluation, making the U. S. dollar worth $9.80 Canadian.

He mentioned the $6.80-a-ton price increase at the time parity was reached in July, 1946, between the Canadian and American dollars. Price of newsprint delivered at New York now is $100 a ton (U.S.).

Misunderstood.

Mr. Fowler said the ANPA general manger, in his Tuesday statement, had made one reference to the events of July, 1946, that could be misunderstood

This reference was to the announcement by a Canadian manufacturer that his 10-per-cent price increase at that time only offset the loss caused by raising the Canadian dollar to parity with the U.S. dollar .

The increase came after price control in the U. S. had expired.

Actually, said Mr. Fowler, restoration of price control in the U.S. July 25, 1946, wiped out the increase. "It was not until mid-August (of 1946) that a price increase of $7 per ton was permitted by the revivified office of price administration."

This action "made no reference to the changes in exchange rates, but was based solely on increased costs of production and the need of assuring more adequate supplies for the U. S. market."

"In these cirucumstances," said Mr. Fowler, "the abortive action taken in July, 1946, affords no precedent for the present situation. Present monetary problems and the over-riding national interest which these currency changes are designed to serve transcend any considerations which operated three years ago in an entirely different economic situation."

J. ARTHUR GUAY who has been detained in Quebec and charged with murder in connection with the Canadian Pacific Airlines crash near Quebec City recently in which 23 persons were killed. According to police Guay had a time bomb placed aboard the sky-liner by his girl friend, Mrs. Arthur Pitre, who is also in police hands. The mass murder also involved a $10,000 insurance policy which Guay had taken out in his wife's name naming himself as beneficiary. Mrs. Guay was killed along with other passengers and crew on the plane. Mr. and Mrs. Guay are shown above on their wedding day.

Food In Army So Good No Complaints

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (CP)—The modern Canadian soldier doesn't grumble about food—it's so good—or about clothes—he has four suits—Defence Minister Claxton said today.

He told the Industrial Preparedness Association a private in the army now is issued with two suits of battledress, two summer-weight uniform, a greatcoat, a ralncoat, gloves, two pairs of boots, shirts, underwear, socks, neckties mitts gym clothing, mufflers, puttees shoes and many other articles.

The daily diet has been improved in quality and quantity until it now costs virtually $1 a day to feed the average serviceman.

When Viscount Alexander, Governor-General, an old soldier of some repute himself, recently ate an army private's meal he promptly said "it's better than I get myself."

Average Diet

Here, said Mr. Claxton, is an average diet sheet for one day at Camp Borden, Ont.

Breakfast—tomato juice, oatmeal porridge with brown sugar, branflakes, grilled bacon, one fried egg, hot tea biscuits, toast, butter, honey, coffee, fresh milk, canned milk.

Lunch—creole soup, soda biscuits, baked ham with raisin sauce, scalloped potatoes, mashed potatoes, sliced tomatoes, mashed carrots, creamy rice pudding, fresh cheese, brown and white bread, butter, tea, canned milk.

Dinner—split pea soup, croutons, cold cuts of meat, sweet mustard pickles, succotash, beet and celery salad on lettuce, cherry cobbler, peanut butter, fruit bread, brown and white bread, butter, tea, fresh milk, canned milk.

"You will not be surprised," said the Minister, "that I have not had a complaint about food in a year."

Sees Gigantic Bargain Sale As Result of Devaluation

MONTREAL, Sept. 27 (CP)—A "gigantic bargain" sale of goods and services to the dollar area as a result of recent sterling area currency devaluations, is forecast by the Bank of Montreal in its September Business Review, issued today.

The bank points out that the "sudden spate of devaluation, after protracted official resistance to the step, reflects a belated and salutary admission that price is once more a vital factor in determining the volume and direction of international trade."

Despite Sir Stafford Cripps' statement that the rate of sterling can always be raised "if events prove that we have gone down a bit too low," the report says the stage is set for what it terms "a gigantic bargain sale."

"In this regard it has been pointed out that, mathematically, the very process of marking down to $2.80 a sterling area article which formerly cost the U.S. buyer $4.03 would mean an equivalent reduction in the sterling area's dollar earnings. In terms of reality, however, it would be misleading to conclude that unless the volume of goods moving to U.S. markets is increased by an amount more than proportionate to the devaluation, the great experiment will be futile," the bank stressed.

Other Factors

"Other factors, notably the extent to which imports from the dollar area may be reduced and the strong possibility of shifts in relative prices in the area affected also enter into the question."

The report adds:

"It need hardly be added that this new and realistic effort to bridge the dollar gap requires also a willingness on this side of the Atlantic to accept the flow of goods that must be forthcoming from overseas if a balance is to be restored. The situation in this regard presents a challenge to North American sincerity and understanding."

Turning to the question of the devaluation of the Canadian dollar, the review states that the Canadian action has not been one of readjustment of a grossly overvalued currency but rather a deliberate attempt to effect a reasonable compromise consistent with the realities of our own position as a creditor nation in relations to the sterling area and a debtor in respect of current account transactions with the United States.

Professor Falls 70 Ft. To Death Off Stadium

PRINCETON, N.J., Sept. 27—(AP). — Accidental death is the official version in the death of Prof. Frank D. Graham, 59, internationally-known economist, who fell 70 feet Saturday from the rim of Palmer Stadium.

Dr. Carmine Prunetti said the death was accidental. Police said Graham, a native of Halifax and an expert on international financial affairs, plunged to his death a minute or so after seeing Princeton University defeat Lafayette College 26-14.

Mrs. Mary Louis Graham, wife of the Princeton professor, told police she and her husband became separated in the crush of 22,000 persons leaving the big concrete horseshoe-shaped stadium after the game.

Police said that although witnesses told of seeing a man run toward the top of the east side of the Stadium, no one reported seeing how Graham reached the top of the 5½-foot wall behind the last row of seats. A three-foot gravel walk separates the wall from the seats.

DRIVE BRITAIN BANKRUPT--CHURCHILL

CARRIED BOMB? Mrs. Arthur Pitre, Quebec mystery woman involved in the plane crash which killed 23 people, was arraigned in court today on a charge of attempted suicide. She took an overdose of sleeping pills and cracked the case wide open.

Quebec Woman Arraigned For Attempted Suicide

QUEBEC, Sept. 28—(CP)—Mrs. Arthur Pitre, the mystery woman in the Quebec Airline disaster of Sept. 9, today was arraigned on a charge of attempted suicide and was remanded for preliminary hearing Oct. 6.

She was brought before Judge Laetare Roy in sessions court this morning from the Quebec women's jail where she was questioned Tuesday night about her part in the alleged bomb plot which resulted in destruction of the airliner and 23 persons aboard.

Mrs. Pitre, discharged from hospital last Friday after treatment for an overdose of sleeping tablets, has admitted she was the mystery woman who carried a parcel to the airliner the day it took off. Police claim the parcel contained a home-made bomb which blew the plane up.

Led from police headquarters Tuesday night for her transfer to jail, Mrs. Pitre scowled and tried to dodge a battery of photographers who had been waiting for her for more than eight hours. Earlier she had posed for them in her apartment—for a price.

Meanwhile RCMP, Provincial and City Police continued careful scrutiny of past liaisons between Guay and a number of his friends.

Among them was Mrs. Pitre's 47-year-old brother, Genereux Ruest. Paralyzed from the waist down, he is a wizard in making delicate mechanisms. There has been no indication by police that he was in on the plot with Guay but they are investigating to see if he may have had a part in making the machine.

Coffee Prices Likely Go Up

TORONTO, Sept. 28 — (CP).— Wholesalers say they have raised the price of coffee three to four cents a pound to offset the 10 per cent devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

Most retailers are selling at the old prices until they get new stocks in, but housewives can expect to pay more for their coffee this week.

Coffee prices have gone up for three reasons, according to the trade. The Canadian dollar is worth less; the British Ministry of Food has stopped sale of Commonwealth-grown coffee outside the sterling area, and dollar-area buyers must buy from South America and pay for coffee in US currency.

One importer said Tuesday that there was a rising market for coffee all over the world. He bought from Colombia, he said, and it had gone up 4¼ cents a pound this month.

"When you add 10½ per cent exchange on US currency, two cents a pound duty and 8 per cent sales tax, you can see what effect that will have on the retail price," he said. "And I think the prices will rise still further."

A coffee wholesaler said prices would probably go up a further one or two cents, but he did not believe they would go any higher.

Jury Tries Again To Decide Treason

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28—(AP)—Six silent men and six silent women will try once more today to decide whether Tokyo Rose is guilty of treason against the United States for her wartime radio broadcasts from Japan.

They reported late Tuesday night, 34 hours and 30 minutes after they had received the case, that they were unable to agree unanimously on a verdict.

Judge Michael J. Roche urged them to "reconsider and re-examine all the evidence," as leisurely as they liked, to prevent if possible a second long and expensive trial. This trial is in its 13th week.

They had begun deliberating the case against the Los Angeles-born defendant, Iva Toguri D'Aquino, at 11:44 a.m. (PST (3:14 p.m. EDT) Monday.

Police Spot McDonald In Tennessee

Seen Casing Bank Robbed of $30,000 Companion Arrested

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (CP)—A Toronto paper said today it learned that Donald (Mickey) McDonald who escaped in 1947 from Kingston Penitentiary was seen Tuesday by police in Nashville, Tenn.

The paper quoted T. A. Fox, secretary to the Nashville chief of detectives, as saying McDonald and another man were seen "casing" a bank recently robbed of $30,000.

McDonald's companion, George Little, was arrested and questioned but McDonald escaped.

"We have definite information that it was Mickey McDonald, the fellow who escaped from your federal pentitentiary and we are hot on his trail," Fox said.

"They were casing the bank," he said. "They walked up and down and in and out three or four times. We seized a car in which there were three guns in the glove compartment."

Little has refused to give police any information. Police said they found $640 in counterfeit $10 bills in his possession. Toronto police said recently they believed McDonald was involved in a counterfeit ring.

McDonald escaped in August 1947 from Kingston Penitentiary with Ulysse Lauzon and Nicholas Minille. Minille was recaptured in Oakland, Calif., and Lauzon's body was found in July, 1948 as Pascagoula, Miss. Police said he had been murdered.

Yugoslavs Order Hungarians Out

BELGRADE, Sept. 28 (AP) — Yugoslavia slapped back at a one-time Communist partner Tuesday night by ordering nine Hungarian diplomats to get out of the country.

The action, widening the iron curtain rift between Premier-Marshal Tito and the Russian bloc, followed by 24 hours Hungary's action in giving walking papers to 10 Yugoslav legation officials in Budapest.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, said Hungary obviously intended to "bring about severance of diplomatic relations between Yugoslavia and Hungary."

Meanwhile, Marshal Tito in an address accused Russia and her cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) satellites of "rattling their arms" along the Yugoslav border. The cominform countries, said Tito, are "digging trenches in Hungary and Romania."

Faith-Healer To Be Arraigned

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 (CP)—An alleged "faith-healer" today faced a charge that he failed to report a communicable disease that resulted in the death of an Ontario farm woman.

Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier disclosed Tuesday night that Rev. Dr. George James Grant, 74 of Kars, Ont., will be arraigned in court Thursday.

A coroner's jury ruled Tuesday night that 27-year-old Mrs. Frederick Golden of Lietrim, Ont., died Aug. 12 as a result of diphtheria while being taken either to, or from Dr. Grant's office by her relatives.

A rider to the verdict said the farm woman "had an excellent chance of recovery had she been given proper medical treatment in time."

In testimony at the two-day inquest both Fred Golden, husband of the dead woman, and her mother, Mrs. Walter Kossatz, said Mrs. Golden had insisted that only Dr. Grant treat her for her ailments. Mrs. Kossatz said her daughter was "frightened of (recognized) doctors.

Find Missing Python

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28—(CP)—An 11-foot python, first reported as stolen from its Stanley Park Zoo cage, turned up Tuesday. Attendants found it under a water tank, where it apparently crawled after escaping confinement.

Has Pollution Bill

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—(CP)—The Commons Tuesday gave first reading to a bill sponsored by Rodney Adamson (PC—York West) aimed at preventing the pollution of navigable waters. He said that when the Navigable Waters Act was passed, it provided against the pollution of waters by sawmills. His bill would enlarge the act to prevent pollution of waters by oil, oil sludge, chemical wastes and other matters.

Says Stairway Only Escape From D Deck

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (CP) — Federal government inquiry into circumstances of the fire that destroyed the cruise ship Noronic with heavy loss of life opened today under Mr. Justice Kellock of Ottawa.

Twenty questions for the opinion of the court are listed in its terms of reference. They include:

Cause of the fire and the ship's fire protection facilities; the number of passengers and crew she was certified to carry and how many survived its ill-fated post season cruise; what crew members were on watch when the blaze started; whether its master, officers or crew were to blame for the ship's loss and whether there was negligence on the part of the Noronic's owners, the Canada Steamship Lines.

Ten minutes after the inquiry opened it adjourned for long enough to transfer to council chambers at City Hall because of limited accommodation at Osgoode Hall.

Union Represented

After introducing himself as a representative of the Canadian Seamen's Union, Carl Herman of Toronto was told by Mr. Justice Kellock there was no objection to his remaining although the union's interest was not clear.

'So far as we know none of the crew were members of your union," said the commissioner. He saw no reason for representation from any union other than the union of which the Noronic's crew formed part.

Herman remained.

Roy Kaudie, western superintendent of the C.S.L., first witness called described means by which ships passengers and crew could have made an exit from their accommodation to the outside decks.

He worked from a blueprint plan of the Noronic, under questioning by commission counsel J. W. Pickup.

Knaudie, describing stairways and passageways deck by deck, said there was but one main stairway leading from "D deck."

"So far as the passengers were concerned, there was only one exit on this deck," the commissioner noted. "Yes," replied Knaudie.

The witness said the alarm system consisted of a bell which rang in the engine room, wheelhouse, the mates and officers quarters and the stewards quarters. A switch thrown in any of those places would set off Claxon signals throughout the ship.

Just prior to luncheon adjournment, the Commissioner succeeded in obtaining from the witness the admission ship's officers had

Professor Barred At U.S.Border

No Specific Charge Laid In 3 Months Denies Communist

KINGSTON, Sept. 28 —(CP)— Prof. Glen Shortliffe, refused entry to the United States to join the teaching staff of Washington University at St. Louis, said today that "no specific charge has been made against me, nor has any evidence been produced."

A report from Washington Tuesday revealed that the U.S. immigration service advised Dr. Shortliffe some weeks ago he had been temporarily excluded "as a person whose entry is deemed to be prejudicial to the public interest of the United States."

The C.C.F. party member said he had resigned from the faculty of Queen's University here last summer to become an associate professor of romance languages at the American university.

He was re-appointed Tuesday to the Queen's faculty to replace Dr. Marcel Tirol, of the university's French department, who died suddenly last Sunday.

Leave of Absence

Dr. Shortliffe said after an appeal to the U.S. immigration service failed to gain him entry he had made plans to continue his studies this year in France. He was on one year's leave of absence from Queen's.

In a statement here today, the professor said he and his family were granted permission early this summer to enter the United States and that later he had returned to Canada to arrange for shipment of his furniture and personal effects to St. Louis.

"At this point the immigration department refused to readmit me to the United States, stating that every entry of a non-citizen is a separate entry under the law and that it had incurred a new investigation by returning to Canada," he said.

"The officer in charge hoped that this new investigation would be completed by July 18.

Too Late Then

"By the end of July no decision had been reached, so I was compelled to inform both the U.S. immigration and Washington University that it now was too late for me to consider going to the United States."

"I might add that I have still not been informed of any decision arising out of this second investigation of my political beliefs."

Dr. Shortliffe said he considers himself a "Liberal Socialist" and has long been a member of the C.C.F. party. He said he has often made speeches for the party but has never held office.

He said the U.S. authorities did not accuse him of being a Communist.

"The fact is," he said, "as the U.S. oficials are fully aware, that I have been a strong critic of Communism and of the Soviet government.

"Moreover, I have strongly criticised some aspects of American foreign policy, whose failings in my opinion, have been eloquently demonstrated by recent events in China.

"If these criticisms are offences affecting my admissability to the United States, I not only consent to plead guilty, I insist upon doing so."

"I would not now go to live in that country if I could. I prefer to remain in the free world."

Acquit Ambersley

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 28 —(CP)—The jury was directed today to acquit David (Irish Davey) Ambersley of manslaughter and wounding charges arising from the rifle shooting of Richard Slifka. Ambersley, 63, and Edward (Dempsey) Richards, 33, are charged jointly with manslaughter and wounding following an early morning fracas at Ambersley's suburban Hamilton residence last Aug. 6.

Plant Fumes Send 9th Man Into Hospital

PORT COLBORNE, Sept. 28—(CP)—A ninth employee of the International Nickel Company refinery here was admitted to hospital Tuesday for examination in connection with an undetermined bronchial illness which caused the death of one man and sent seven others to hospital.

Dr. William Moffat who is in charge of the case says the men are "cyanosed, which means there is an impaired oxygen exchange in their lungs."

Basil Super, who was taken to hospital Tuesday, was admitted as a precaution, said Dr. Hugh McBernie, assistant to Dr. Moffat. Seven others are receiving treatment.

Dr. Moffat reported today the condition of the men in hospital was further improved.

He said they all were feeling better today and the physical signs of the ailment were decreasing. Some are continuing to be held for observation although it is questionable whether they are all ill, he said.

The rest of the 200 employees working in the building where a secret process is used in the oxydizing of nickel, are continuing work. R. C. McGuire, plant superintendent, said workmen replacing the eight stricken men are required to wear respirators and are being given medical tests regularly. He said the plant must continue operation to enable investigators to carry out their tests.

(In Toronto, Dr. H. C. Rickaby, Deputy Mines Minister, said "I think our inspectors have a fairly good idea of what occurred. Some little part of the process, which has been in operation since 1931, went wrong and the men inhaled poisonous gases.")

Frank Guillou, 59, died Sunday of what doctors diagnosed as bronchial pneumonia.

Frank Kopinak, president of Local 637 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO), announced following a meeting of the local on Tuesday night that union representatives will join the investigation today.

Charges Attlee Government Brings Country To Very Brink Of Disaster

Suggests Cut In Taxes To Encourage Worker To Boost Production, Demands Labor Ousted From Leadership

LONDON, Sept. 28—(CP)—Winston Churchill today called on parliament to kick out Prime Minister Attlee's Labor government and make way for another which he said could set the British pound free to find its own level in world markets. The Conservative leader, in a slashing attack, denounced the Labor government as having brought Britain "to the verge of national and international bankruptcy."

His address opened the Conservative attack in the three-day debate in parliament on Britain's devaluation policy.

Churchill said even if the Labor government was forced to devalue the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 U.S., "it cannot be a good thing and we have suffered a serious disaster." Under the present strict controls, it would prove a "new drain upon our latent strength and remaining motive power."

The wartime Prime Minister said the Sterling area countries which use the pound still have great strength, and that Britain needs only a new government which could inspire confidence at home and abroad."

"I believe strength, working freely and backed up by intense productive efforts of all the communities concerned, would in a short while achieve a far better rate of exchange against the present figure of $2.80, to which we have been condemned," Churchill said.

His Suggestions

Churchill said Britain must:

1. Cut taxes to increase the incentive to work, especially among wage earners.

2. Ease up on "needless and vexatious controls and interference with the flexibility of private enterprise."

3. Elect a government which could command national and international confidence.

Churchill, whose own government was succeeded by Labor in 1945, loosed a verbal barrage against Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Sir Stafford Tuesday announced a rise in the Business and Industrial Profits Tax and repeated that wages and personal incomes must be held to present levels.

Churchill called Sir Stafford a "blunderer," who he said had an unreasoning prejudice against private profits.

He said Britain has reached a point which is "both serious and strange."

"Overall there looms and broods the atomic bomb which the Russion Soviet, for reasons not yet explained, have got before the

Launch Inquiry Into Jailing Of Kurt Meyer

HALIFAX, Sept. 28—(CP)—A move has been made to investigate the civilian imprisonment of Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, 38, Canada's only enemy military war prisoner, it was reported here today.

The investigation is being launched through the efforts of a group of unidentified private citizens who maintain that a military prisoner should not be incarcerated in a civilian penitentiary. Meyer, sentenced to life imprisonment for war crimes while an officer in the German army, is in the Maritime Penitentiary at Dorchester, NB.

The citizen group has retained H. P. McKeen and R. A. Ritchie, prominent Halifax barristers, in connection with the case, and it is reliably learned that the lawyers have already visited Dorchester and had a three-hour interview with the famous prisoner. They made the trip after receiving permission from the Justice Department.

Gen. Meyer, described by Warden George T. Goad as a "good-behavior" prisoner, is on the Penitentiary Library staff. He is serving life sentence for responsibility in the shooting of disarmed Canadian war prisoners. He receives no special favors or punishment. He receives and writes letters regularly, and under prison regulations, is allowed an extra letter monthly because he receives no visits from relatives. His letters go to his wife and three children in Germany.

King's Cousin To Wed In U.S.

LONDON, Sept. 28 — (AP). — The Marquess of Milford-Haven handsome cousin of the King, and one of Britain's most eligible bachelors, announced his engagement Tuesday to Mrs. Romaine Dahlgren Pierce Simpson, a New York Park Avenue divorcee.

The Marquess, 30, who now makes his living selling heaters, told newspaper men today he and his fiancee will sail on October 14 for the United States. The marriage, he added, would be "late in November."

Mrs. Simpson, an attractive 26-year-old piano student, was divorced in 1948 after two years of marriage to William A. Simpson, whose father was once president of Marshall Field & Company, Chicago department store.

Mrs. Simpson has an 18-month-old girl by her first marriage.

Western Allies Cut German Mark 7 Cents

BONN, Germany, Sept. 28 (AP) —Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced today that the three western allies had decided to cut the value of the west German mark from 30 cents to 23.80 cents in United States funds.

Adenauer, head of the new west German Republic, said the allied recommendation had been given to his cabinet as a result of devaluation of the British pound.

Originally, Adenauer declared, the Germans had wanted the rate set at 22½ cents.

The west German cabinet still has to act on the allied decision before devaluation is officially carried out, Adenauer said.

Holland Out To Grab Canadian Market

Hard-Hitting Business Man In Charge Of Drive For Dollars

By WILLIAM BOSS

THE HAGUE, Sept. 28.—(CP). — The Netherlands has put a hard-hitting business man in charge of her drive for dollars.

He is Lolle Smit, former managing director of the Philips electrical enterprises at Eindhoven. Named in mid-September, he already plans a tour of Canada and the United States in October and promises to go with solid ideas for exploitation of North American markets.

Faced with a 10-to-1 excess of imports over exports, Holland also has given her industrialists an incentive to concentrate on dollar markets.

Where previously they had to convert all their dollar earnings into guilders, they now may keep 10 per cent. of their dollars for their own purposes.

Releases Million

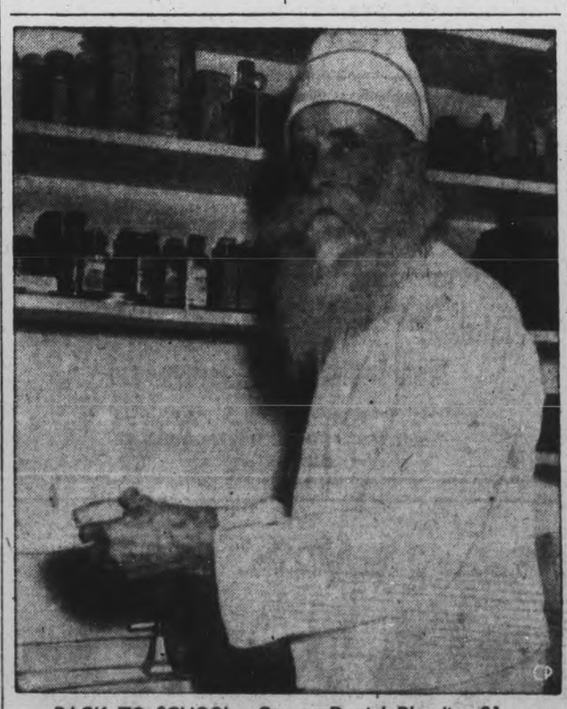
Canadian officials estimate that this releases $1,000,000 a year for Dutch business men to spend as they wish in Canada. And they look for a marked increase if the Netherlands' trade drive succeeds.

Smit, a stocky, grey-haired man with plenty of bounce, is a salesman from way back. Master of five languages and able to "get along" in many more, he is former European sales chief for a large United States automobile company (Studebaker). Britain made him a commander of the British Empire for services during the Second World War.

There are traditional products which he hopes to boost in the North American market—cheese being one.

"The United States alone consumes $600,000,000 worth of cheese a year, and of that only $50,000 worth is Dutch," he says. "We've got to get a larger share of that market.

"We expect great things from the Canadian market, for we see it as wider open than the American. Competition isn't so keen, we think, and we expect especially great things from our high-quality electrical and technical exports."



Smit's organization will include a commercial attache at the Netherlands Embassy in Ottawa—Col. H. van der Vaart expected to arrive in early October.

U.K. Top Air Officials Arrive In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 (CP)—The United Kingdom's top air officials flew into Ottawa today to pay tribute to Canada's war-time effort under the vast British Commonwealth air training plan.

At Trenton, Friday the UK Secretary of State for Air, Arthur Henderson, will join with the Ambassadors of Australia and New Zealand to present memorial gates for the RCAF's Trenton base to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Besides Mr. Henderson, the big four-engined RCAF North Star landing at nearby Rockcliffe Airport early today brought Lord Harold Harington Balfour of Inchrye, former Secretary of State for Air, and Lady Balfour to attend the ceremonies.

BACK TO SCHOOL—George Daniel Blondin, 81-year-old bearded prospector and reputed millionaire from Bourlamaque, Que., appears right at home in this kitchen. He is one of a large group of miners and prospectors who are taking a domestic science course at Val d'Or. After all, the veteran prospector points out, food is a mighty important item in the bush country.

British-Canadian Scientists May Be Invited To Join U.S. Atomic Work

Senator Sure If Men Properly Screened
Partial Knowledge Can Be Shared
Will Not Allow Full Bomb Partnership

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—British and Canadian scientists may be invited to join in atomic energy development in the United States, it was learned today. Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (Rep. Iowa) told a reporter he has asked for legal advice on whether any such arrangement can be made. He wants to know whether it would violate terms of the United States Atomic Energy Act, which he and others contend bans exchange of A-bomb information with any other country.

Another committee member, who asked not to be quoted by name, said it is his belief that British and Canadian experts could be taken into the American propect without any change in the law.

This Senator said he would not be surprised if some such proposal is made as a result of British-Canadian-American atomic talks which James E. Webb, Undersecretary of State, has said probably will be put on a continuing basis.

Mother, Quads Die In 24 Hours

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—(AP)—A woman who wasn't sure she was pregnant, and the quadruplets born to her Monday night, all died within 24 hours.

The last survivor—a tiny girl whose weight was estimated at not more than a pound—died in an incubator Tuesday afternoon.

The babies were born three to four months prematurely.

The mother, Mrs. Bernice Ecker, 33, gave birth to the babies Monday night in Holy Cross Hospital. She was rushed there by her brother Francis Fitzgerald, 30, who was visiting at his sister's home.

Mrs. Ecker's husband, Vernon, a truck driver, was at work. He said he did not know for sure Mrs. Ecker was expecting and had planned to take her to a doctor Friday to find out.

4-Hour Parking Limit For Trucks At Night

The parking bylaw permits only a four hour limit for trucks that are left standing at curbs through the night, said Mayor Swanston in a comment on complaints of infractions of that regulation, at the Board of Works meeting Monday.

"Chief Thompson has been asked to have warning tickets placed on such trucks," Mayor Swanston said.

The attitude of the committee was to avoid prosecutions at least until truck owners were reminded of the prohibiting rule.

It was said that trucks standing all night at the sidewalk edge were a neighborhood and traffic nuisance and also a detriment to property values. Opinion in the council was that a comparatively large number of trucks are offenders.

$400,000 Expenditure BrantfordWaterworks

Brantford utilities commission is planning additions to its waterworks system that would cost around $400,000. They are talking of increasing the capacity to seven and one-half million gallons a day; erection of $500,000 elevated water storage tank; and construction of a building for the storage of chemicals used in the purifying of the water.

These are described as minimum essential measures that are required. The commission is asking Gore & Storrie of Toronto engineers, for a report on the system.

Accused Of Receiving Stolen Outboard Motor

Joseph Fontaine, 75 Park St., was charged in city police court today with receiving an outboard motor knowing it to have been stolen. The motor, valued at more than $25, was said to be the property of Bernard Whalen.

After the charge was read by Magistrate W. R. Philip, KC, Fontaine elected trial by a higher court. Oct. 5 was the date set for the preliminary hearing in city police court.

Nursery School Plea Renewed Park Hill Area

Requests for a Nursery school from residents of the Dixon House neighborhood have been brought to the attention of the Recreation Commission. Thursday night an open meeting will be held for all those interested in such a school.

As the result of divided opinions of the members of the Recreation Commission at their monthly meeting Tuesday night, a committee of four will attend the Thursday night meeting. They were also instructed to consult the Superintendent of Schools, K. S. Wightman and the Board of Education, about the possibilities of a School in that area and report back to the commission at a special meeting.

Jack Dane, Director, told the Commission that there were two ways of operating such a school. The first plan would call for the Commission to operate the school with a fee being charged for each child. This fee, he said, would be sufficient to cover the cost of supervision, supplies, lunches, equipment and building maintenance.

The second plan would allow the Dixon House Neighborhood Council to operate the school paying the supervisors and other expenditures. This plan would call for a monthly rental for the building being paid by the Dixon House Council.

The estimated expenditures are, one supervisor at $120 a month, one assistant at $80 a month, supplies per month amount to $5; lunches per month $12.

Accommodate 40

Forty children will be accommodated at the school, 20 in the morning class and 20 in the afternoon. The suggested fee for a child would be $7 a month.

Make Application

Mr. Dane said that an application for permission to operate a day nursery has been sent to the Department of Public Welfare. Elsie Stapleford, assistant director of the Day Nurseries branch, said in a reply that the following information would be required before proceeding with the licensing: a list of indoor play equipment, a fence around the playground, a drawing of the parts of the building to be used as a nursery, enrolment for mornings and afternoons; confirmation that children will have medical examinations before enrolment, confirmation that the staff wil have chest x-rays and medical examination; the names and training of the staff.

At the request of the recreation director the Fire Department inspected Dixon House on September 19 and made numerous recommendations for improving the building.

House Approves Principle Ending Appeals

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—(CP)—The Commons has put its stamp of approval on the principle of a government bill aimed at abolishing appeals to the judicial committee of the Privy Council in London.

The approval—it was not unanimous—was given Tuesday after members rejected a Progressive Conservative amendment that would have shelved the legislation for six months to permit further study of the bill's likely effects on the rights of minorities and the provinces.

There was no formal recorded vote on the amendment or on the bill's second reading, which signifies adoption in principle. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and his supporters [illegible] to signify their opposition to the reading and to the defeat of the amendment.

Now—probably on Thursday or Friday—the bill will be studied clause-by-clause by a committee of the whole House. And the government has already been told by Wilfrid Lacroix (L—Quebec-Montmorency) that amendments to some clauses will be submitted.

In the Commons debate on appeals, Mr. Lacroix suggested that at least four of the nine judges in Canada's proposed final court of appeal be appointed by the federal government from lists submitted by the lieutenant-governors of the provinces.

This would give the provinces a role in selecting the judges and would get around the constitutional requirement which makes it necessary for the federal government to sponsor judicial appointments.

He urged that in constitutional disputes between the Dominion and the provinces, the court be required to give unanimous decisions just as a jury. This would guarantee the provinces that they were not being forced to give up a right to the federal government simply by a majority vote of the court.

MORE ABOUT—
Charges Attlee

British though happily not before the Americans," Churchill said.

Churchill said that what with Britain's financial crisis, the conflict between its leading parties, and now the atom bomb question, "it will be generally agreed that the hour is grave."

The government has asked for a vote of confidence.

Up To Voters

That means the Attlee cabinet is asking "how have we done?" Churchill said, and he commented: "That is a question which the electors will have to pronounce upon at no distant date."

The Conservative amendment to the motion of confidence says a return to prosperity "can never be assured under the present administration."

If it should carry—which is hardly even a possibility—parliament would be dissolved and an election called immediately.

Labor, however, holds 389 of the 640 Commons seats. Reports are that the party has a virtual pledge from all but extreme left-wingers to support the Cabinet when the vote comes tomorrow.

There is a possibility the government might be defeated in the House of Lords, where Lord Woolton is scheduled to move a similar amendment on behalf of the opposition, which outnumbers the government in the Upper Chamber.

Spend Lavishly

Churchill declared in the Commons:

"In this last four lavish years the Socialist government have exacted upwards of £16,000,000,000 ($49,600,000,000) and spent them —over four times as much every year as was the cost of running the country in our richer days before the war. . .

"They have taken 40 per cent of the national income for the purposes of governmental administration. And our taxation has been the highest in the world."

Churchill said Britain has been brought to the verge of national and international bankruptcy."

This occurred, he said, despite the fact that "in all history no community has ever been helped and kept by gratuitous overseas aid—that is by the labor of other hard-working peoples—to anything approaching the degree which we have been under the present Socialist government."

Even if the Labor government was forced into devaluation, Churchill said, "the hard, blunt, simple conclusion remains that it cannot be a good thing and we have suffered a serious disaster."

Whatever the advantage of devaluation, Churchill said, the timing was wrong. It should not have been left until a crisis broke upon us, but should have been taken in anticipation of it."

"It is not easy to palliate the Chancellor's blunder," he said.

Sir Stafford's acceptance of the devaluation from $4.03 to $2.80 left him "woefully weakened in reputation," Churchill declared, and shouts of "no" came from the Labor benches.

He said if the government had felt it had no other course but to supplied in part information for the plans relating to fire equipment on each deck

Mr Justice Kellock said he had the impression from Knaudie's evidence, the witness spoke of what was marked on the plans and not of things that actually were on the ship

The hearing resumed at 2:15 p.m. EDT.

Sitting in as assessors are three marine experts, Capt. Robert Mitchell of Port McNicoll, Capt. H. S. Kane of Montreal and Neil B. Gebbie of Toronto. The court has the power to subpoena any witness whose testimony it feels might be relevant.

J. W. Pickup of Toronto, Commission Counsel, Tuesday estimated that the testimony-gathering job will take at least two weeks, possibly longer. He added many of the survivors from a [illegible] posted to come forward on their own to testify. It has already been announced that Canadian law will protect witnesses against damage suits.

Wading Pool Site To Be Moved Back Up

Permission to the Lions Club to build their wading pool immediately south of the swimming pool, instead of the west, was granted in a recommendation of the board of works Monday. The location is to be on property bought by the council this year.

The wading pool site which had been approved was to be in the lower section of Riverside Park, north of the ball grounds fence. That place is nearer the river, and has been considered by the club as a hazard to the small children who might wander from the wading pool.

The location nearer the swimming pool had already been approved by City Engineer Chalmers when the project was first proposed.

Police Key Men In Tourism Convention Told

Ontario is losing thousands of tourist dollars because leaders in the tourist industry do not realize the value of the policeman in the overall tourist picture, Pete McGillen, former city editor of the Examiner, said in an address to the Police Association of Ontario this morning.

Mr. McGillen said the policeman was "the forgotten factor in the tourist trade."

"You are the key man between the stranger and your hometown," he told his police audience. He said a discourteous or gruff policeman can ruin a vacation more thoroughly than any one. The police officer symbolizes the

"If he radiates good will, he will become a salesman for Ontario, without pay, giving us the valuable advertising that we can't buy," he said.

Police Leave Impression

The public is educated to look for policemen for help and direction. Therefore, he declared, a policeman should know his district, where the liquor store is, what gas stations are open, where overnight accommodation is available and the many other bits of information a tourist may want to know.

The police officer who goes out of his way to help a stranger leaves a lasting impression with that visitor. It is not always an easy thing to do, he said. The policeman has his own troubles which may make it almost impossible to be friendly and smiling on some occasions. Then too, he commented, "there are a flock of mean, ugly-tempered characters behind steering wheels in Ontario today."

"We spend thousands, to staff border reception centres, tourist information booths on the highways, but we almost completely ignore the policeman who can and will do more good in one year than a completely staffed booth," he said.

cheapen the pound, it should have made this "part of a general policy of setting our finances in order." The government, he added, should cut its spending.

"On what?" shouted a heckler.

"You ask him that," Churchill thundered in reply, referring to Sir Stafford. "He has the power to answer that question and the duty to answer that question."

The Chancellor Tuesday said the government is in no position to reduce defence spending and has no intention of pruning social services spending.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN DRAIN

After a long illness Mrs. John Drain, a resident of Dummer Township most of her life, died today at the home of her son Earl, in Belmont Township. She was in her 71st year.

The former Maud Elliott, Mrs. Drain was born in Dummer and educated there. She was the daughter of the late John Elliott and Phoebe Istead.

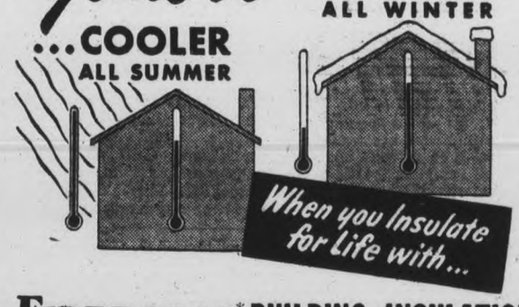
Left are two sons, Earl of Belmont and Basil of Dummer; a brother William H. Elliott of Dummer, and six grandchildren. Her husband predeceased her.

Her chief activities were in church work, and she was a member of Carmel United Church.

The funeral will be Friday at 2 p.m. from the residence of her son Basil of Clarina, the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh of Havelock United Church officiating. Burial will be in Norwood Cemetery.

Three Get In Mix Up Which Cost $7.50 Each

Three men who told Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in city police court today that they got into a mix up through a misunderstanding were each fined $5 and ordered to pay $2.50 costs for causing a disturbance Sept. 16 on Water St.



Detective Clarke said he was told there had been a hold-up at the Mid Town Motors, but when he arrived he found it was a fight between the three men and not a hold-up.

None of the three men, who were Harry Goodman, 57 George St.; Aubrey Hancock, Chemong Rd. and Paul Immings, 315 Bethune St. refuted the detective's evidence.

Lightning Fires Barn

OSHAWA, Sept. 28 — (CP). — Fire, started by lightning, Tuesday night destroyed a barn and its contents on the farm of Donald MacArthur in Reach Township. Loss was estimated at $9,000. Neighbors and passing motorists helped remove all of MacArthur's pure-bred cattle from the barn.

Gave Friend Bad Cheque For $50 Cash

"In the interests of the accused I would suggest a jail sentence of two months," Crown Attorney John Bradshaw said in city police court today when Grace Ephgrave, Young's Point, was convicted of accepting $50 on a worthless cheque.

Stanley Easton said he cashed the cheque for Miss Ephgrave when she came into his store. He knew the family and cashed the cheque readily.

When the cheque was deposited at the bank he received word from the Royal Bank, whose cheque it was, that Miss Ephgrave had closed her account at that [illegible]

Mr. Easton said he received a letter from Miss Ephgrave three days later, asking him to hold the cheque. Shortly after this he received another letter enclosing $10 with an offer to pay the remainder of the debt as soon as possible.

When asked to submit her defence, Miss Ephgrave said she thought Mr. Easton ought to have given her more time to pay. He had been a friend and she had not expected him to take her to court.

Reorientation Of Canadian Arms

Since Canada was a British [illegible] her arms, military tactics and methods of training have been British. A very important change is occurring now. Canada is seeking as much as possible to integrate her arms with those of the United States. This is a logical and practical sequel to the shift in world leadership from Britain to the United States. It is also a result of lessons learnt during the war. The British methods and equipment were not inferior; in some ways they were superior, but early in the war the folly of dependence on British types of equipment was realized, and the need for interchangeability of American and Canadian was apparent.

* * *

Our planes, guns, signals systems, administrative methods and even uniforms are being shifted from British types to American. An example of this change is the Government's decision to equip the R.C.A.F. with F86 jet fighters. Thirty of these planes have been ordered, and the Government has secured the rights to build them in Canada. An order for a hundred has been placed with the Canadair company of Montreal. It is American Sabres not British Vampires which the R.C.A.F. will use. Another example of the closer integration of Canadian arms with American is in the training being given staff and regimental persons. Hundreds of Canadian officers and men are being sent monthly to American bases for supplemental training.

* * *

Some of the reasons for this shift to the United States are readily apparent. For instance, air attack against this continent would probably come over Alaska or the Canadian north. The air defence must therefore be a joint American-Canadian operation. Planes, techniques, supply and maintenance should be on a common basis. Already in the North, where the U.S.A. has training bases. There is community of effort.

* * *

Some reasons are not apparent to the general public, but were obvious to high military planners and industrialists during the last war. During it Canadian factories were busy turning out British type equipment, for Canadian troops as well as British. Every single product had to be re-engineered, every single blue-print had to be redrawn to adapt it to the engineering standards of North America. One commentator has said that the greatest single contribution Canada made to the last war may have been the work her industrial engineers did in re-drawing all the British radar plans, down to the last detail. This was a wasteful, and perhaps dangerous process—dangerous because hundreds of thousands of components were made in Britain and had to be transported here. It was too great a dependence on a long and risky trans-Atlantic pipeline. It will not happen again.

Another reason for a unified American military production is that there is little danger of this continent being over-run; Europe could be. Why, therefore, hitch military production to British prototypes which could conceivably be put out of operation, or even converted to enemy use? A logical conclusion to the process of standardization which Canada and the United States have entered upon would be the standardization of the arms and practices of all the Atlantic Pact nations—on an American pattern. It would be necessary, of course, to ensure that the American pattern and equipment were the best.

Driving Across Canada

It can be done, as Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan testifies, after having driven to the Pacific Coast through Canadian territory alone. And he says that the road surfaces are not at all bad, even in Ontario's north. Certainly they are improved from what they were fifteen years ago when venturous people, even from Peterborough, drove across the country without using American roads. Nevertheless, no Trans-Canada highway yet exists, and the biggest gap is in Northern Ontario. The route now practicable is from North Bay and Cochrane to Hearst and Geraldton, then south to Nipigon. This is along road number 11. The seemingly more direct route—from North Bay west to Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie is Number 17. This road comes to a dead end just a few miles north of the Sault, at Montreal River. It is the gap from Montreal River to Nipigon, along the shore of Lake Superior, that makes the Trans-Canada highway in Ontario an imaginary line on maps.

Dominion-Provincial conferences are to be held on the route and financing of the Trans-Canada Highway. It may even be decided not to complete Number 17 at all, but to develop the northern Number 11, which is, surprisingly, only 26 miles longer than the projected, completed Number 17 would be. (From North Bay to Nipigon by Number 11 is 646 miles; by Number 17, 620 miles.) Whatever the immediate decision, some Superior to connect the Sault with the Lakehead at Port Arthur, and to serve the new communities such as Marathon.

Scouting The Scout Hat

After October the first, the traditional half-Australian, half-South African, and mostly Boer-warish broad-brimmed scout hat will be optional wear in British scouting circles. It has been decreed that the wearing of berets, maroon or green, will be considered right and proper turn-out for camps, hikes, and other informal occasion. Never having been partial to the Scout hat at any time, and being addicted to French berets, army berets, or artists' berets as manly and smart headgear (women, of course, should be forbidden them), we approve the change.

The Daily Telegraph of London wonders why "a highly distinctive headgear which has the merit of keeping off both sun and rain should find less favour than the beret which does neither" should be discarded. The reason is precisely that: the beret does not keep off sun or rain, the old scout hat does. Scouts are not sissies on hikes. They want to feel the sun and rain. The beret is moderate; it is warm enough, but not too warm. It keeps rain out of the hair, but allows a rain-washed face. It keeps sun off the bald spots on the top of the head (senior scouts like Bank Presidents do have bald spots), but allows the face to tan. Besides, no one has to chase down a mountain slope after a beret. (Bank presidents should never have to run down mountain sides after scout hats.) The beret cuddles up to the wind; the old fan of a hat tilts with the wind like a sea gull.

Does the Daily Telegraph really believe the broad scout hat to be distinctive? Every time we wore one we were mistaken for an Australian or a Mounted Policeman. But every time we wear a beret, every pair of female eyes take notice.

But why bother our heads about beret versus Stetson? Mr. Jackson Dodds, Canadian Boy Scout Commissioner (a banker by trade) has decreed that the beret will not be worn, and the big thing will continue to be, by Canadian scouts. So (t)hat's (t)hat.

Professor Marcel Tirol

The sudden death of Professor Tirol of Queen's University on Sunday will be lamented by a host of friends and former students in this district. He was attending dedication ceremonies at R.M.C. during the Governor-General's visit to Kingston, and collapsed from a heart attack. Dr. Tirol came to Queen's from Scotland in 1930, and his conscientious scholarship, his gusts of Gallic excitement (when his voice would explode and his moustache bristle) and his paternal, kindly heart endeared him to a generation of students. He was 62 years of age and due to retire at the end of this academic year as head of the Department of French. Although both he and Madame Tirol became devoted to Canada, they had long planned the time when they could return to reside in their native France and Belgium, where damp Kingston winters would no longer chill his aging heart. Our sympathy goes out to Madame Tirol on her sudden grievous loss.

Cordially Welcome

Peterborough has five hundred policemen. But that is a purely temporary arrangement, for the 500 are here but for a few days, attending the annual convention of the Police Association of Ontario. His Worship the Mayor yesterday gave them the official civic welcome; our words of greeting are perhaps superfluous, but we offer them with right good will nevertheless, and not merely because it is good policy to stay on the sunny side of the law's arms of blue. We hope that they enjoy their convention, see Peterborough from Armour Hill, and are not called on professionally while here through some unusual disruption of the quiet of this law-abiding city.

A London Letter

From CONRAD FROST

IN the foyer of the Phoenix Theatre last week, only the Americans were really discussing devaluation. The Queen Mary had been coming into Southampton when the news had broken that their spending money was worth nearly half as much again.

An American voice said: "Guess I'll go the whole hog and get myself a British sports car."

And one solitary British voice reproved a companion's exuberance: "Stop grinning like Sir Stafford Cripps, darling!"

At this point a memory teased me. I checked on it later. For the record, Cripps, a man of his word, told a Hull City Hall meeting in March 1936: "It is fundamental to Socialism that we should liquidate the British Empire as soon as we can."

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE were a lot of Americans in the foyer London's shows these days, it was an American show with an American star, in this case Paul Muni.

Broadway has come to London with a vengeance. There are only seventeen shows running on Broadway at the moment against a comparable 40 in London's West End. And at this moment the London theatre is doing nicely, thank you, in spite of the inconvenient times at which most curtains rise.

Ten shows commence at 7 o'clock, nine raise their curtains at 7.15, eleven at 7.30. Yet most West End restaurants do not serve dinner until 7 o'clock. The result is a mushroom growth of new, small and expensive continental-type restaurants, where the waiters work with one eye on the clock, where the service is slick and swift, and the diners swallow their coffees and liqueurs whilst the bill is being paid. It is all rather like waiting for a war-time Zero hour.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE gilt and ornate foyer of the Phoenix or the beamed and tiled tap room of the English village pub have this in common—the alien tongue and accent no longer cause a lifted eyebrow.

In hundreds of village pubs, tonight and any night, you may hear the multilingual talk of a nation busy absorbing "new blood." The slow-drawling countrymen no longer look up in hostile astonishment at "Mein Herr," and "A rivideroi." The Germans, the Poles, the Lithuanians, Italians and Rumanians have learnt to play darts and shove-ha'penny.

Forty-eight thousand foreign agricultural workers, 16,000 of them ex-prisoners of war who "like it better here," are helping to change the rural face of Britain.

The village, like the London theatre where now nobody dresses, is not what it was.

◇ ◇ ◇

SMARTEST and newest fashion note spotted in the foyer of the Phoenix, one of the three theatres I'm dated to visit this week on a round up of London night life, was the new Pinchbeck or Victorian jewellery—massive collars, bracelet and earrings. The blonde who wore them had a Mayfair accent, a Riviera sun-tan and a Dior Look-highish frontal neckline, dipping at the back.

The Pinchbeck jewellery is already coming to the gift counters of the shops here. There are still 82 more shopping days to Christmas, but the big stores report advance buying to be already on a big scale.

Indications are that some of the best sellers will include musical corkscrews which play Auld Lang Syne, footwarming electric stools at 36/10d, handbag perfume applicators to retouch the important pulse spots (the throat and wrists) during the evening. And for the youngsters toy television sets with six cartoon films operated by handle, costing 25/11d.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT is, of course, no longer necessary for the Londoner to rush his dinner to see a West End show. Sandwiched in between my three 'Live' shows this week I am seeing three straight and one musical play on television. About 640,000 Londoners will be in the "home" audience, and the show begins at the comfortable hour of eight-thirty.

Now this is a revolution that is bothering everybody. Planning the week's theatre trips, my wife wanted to see the Stoll "Ice Vogues." But the "Ice Vogues" show is to be televised from Radio Olympia next week. Then she had a fancy to see Cicely Courtneidge in "Her Excellency," but this new musical is being televised this week. So neither of those two shows took our money at the box office.

The hard truth is that 7,000 new licences for TV every month mean that some 21,000 Londoners completely change their habits. They cease to listen much to sound radio, except with great discrimination when there is no TV competition. They cease to go to the cinema. It is still anybody's guess whether a taste for the live theatre for the occasional "let's go out" evening, is being developed.

The costliest-ever form of entertainment, working on a shoestring £2,000,000 a year, faces crisis this winter. Behind the glitter of Radiolympia, being opened on September 28th by Mr. Herbert Morrison—who probably knows by now another date, too!—is anxiety. The Television people want more money, but the die-hards at Broadcasting House insist on spending capital on extending and improving the sound radio services to which fewer and fewer listen.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALL these things are factors in the changing kaleidoscope of London night life. The cinemas have hit the doldrums and the Empire is introducing a live show to attract customers to the box office.

The old established restaurants are doing badly because they won't fall in line with the changed time-table of London night-life. The night clubs are many of them running at an obvious loss—one, well known but necessarily unidentified, had ten guests, on an average evening last week, who danced to the music of two bands, nine musicians in each. People start the evening earlier, go home sooner. Restaurants and night clubs miss the tides, as the Socialists fear they may do if they hesitate much longer.

The dressing up fashion is dead because men have revolted against it. A dress suit costs £40-£50, and needs the mood of leisurely dinner and late curtain rising.

The boom comes to places like the Lex garage, in Soho, where you can park your car, have a bath and a changing room, and dine before or after the show. The only thing the Lex garage hasn't got is a stage. If it had one, it could let it tomorrow. The theatre boom is such that at least three new plays are in the queue to find an empty theatre.

The tour of "Queen Elizabeth Slept Here" has been extended, to mark time until a West End house becomes available. "The White Falcon" is rehearsing in the hope that a stage will soon be vacant.

I recommend that they keep their eye on the Phoenix, where, in spite of Mr. Muni, was so much more interesting in the foyer than in the auditorium!

JOHN'S AMAZING SIGNAL SYSTEM

The Costs of Royalty

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

PERHAPS the pomp and circumstance of the British monarchy is more dazzling to citizens of other lands than to His Majesty's own subjects. But international relations are not helped when some Americans, like the friend to whom an Evening Citizen correspondent refers, begin to wonder why they should aid in financing the luxury and grandeur they imagine. When the Gallup Poll can find one per cent. of Americans believing "the costs of royalty" to be the major cause of Britain's dollar shortage, a degree of salutary disillusionment is plainly needed.

The distribution of British wealth in pounds has no direct relationship to a shortage of dollars in foreign trade. And the Crown as a business item in the nation's books shows a profit to the public treasury.

King George VI would be rich indeed if all revenues from Crown properties were his own. But in 1760, even before the American colonies revolted, George III surrendered Crown lands to the nation. Since then the sovereign has been dependent on supervised parliamentary grants arranged at the beginning of each reign, and with other royal personages he is put down in the Civil List for an annuity.

The present King has in addition voluntarily surrendered the Duchy of Cornwall revenues of approximately $370,000 a year. He has never drawn the full $440,000 voted annually for his personal expenses. Though his official residences are maintained by the state, he has heavy bills for the upkeep of family households, royal bounty, and the subscriptions his name must lead. The public may visit almost any of his palaces when he is not in residence. The nation made a net profit of more than $3,800,000 on Crown properties in 1947-48, paid the costs of royalty, and pocketed a surplus of about $2,200,000.

The British want their ruler to maintain a suitable style of living, but their respect would wither if he were to revel in luxury like some millionaires elsewhere. They love the occasions of colourful pageant and stately ceremonial that lend dignity to the great activities of state and link the present with the past. They are loyal to the Crown as the symbol of their common heritage. But they know the King as a hard-working executive, a public servant who stands above faction. They think that in the monarchy they have a valuable institution on pretty good terms.

Perhaps One Jail Will Be Enough

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

DISSATISFACTION was voiced in the Senate this week when the members learned that Newfoundland has but a single penal institution, which serves both as an ordinary jail for first and short-term offenders and as a penitentiary for longer-term convicts. Several senators objected to a proposed amendment to the Criminal Code which would exempt Newfoundland from the requirement, applicable in other provinces, that separate provincial institutions must be provided for prisoners given terms of less than two years.

There is merit in the principle upheld by the senatorial critics, and long established elsewhere in Canada, that those serving relatively short sentences (especially young first offenders convicted on minor charges) should not be confined together with the tougher, more confirmed criminals sentenced to penitentiary terms. Even in federal penitentiaries, some effort is now being made to segregate the younger, initial offenders who seem redeemable. The senators' voted insistence that provision for separation of the two classes of prisoners be made by 1954, seems both fair and feasible.

However, it must be cause for some satisfaction to Newfoundlanders that the extent of crime and the number of offenders in that province have not made it necessary — this far, at least—to maintain more than a single institution. And doubtless the modest criminal population of the island will be quite content to get along with only one prison.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And in process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord. And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering: but unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

And the Lord said unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen? If thou doest well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou does not well, sin lieth at the door. And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him. And Cain talked with Abel and his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him. (Gen. 4: 3-8.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. (Matt. 4: 23.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying....

Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgement: but I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgement: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire. (Matt. 5: 1, 2, 21, 22.)

Veterans Are Hit

(St. Catharines Standard)

How many Imperial War Veterans on British pension are there in this district? There are a great many throughout Canada, and in London alone there are reported to be 200 men and families dependent on their British war pensions. Devaluation of the pound sterling has hit this class harder than any other.

D. H. Griffiths, O.B.E., director of British Empire Service Legions in Wales, points out that a one hundred per cent. British pension for a disabled veteran is only 45 shillings a month, or approximately $9.06 in Canadian funds; "totally inadequate," he says. He plans to get in touch with British Ministry of Pensions before he leaves Canada, and also with Ottawa, in the hope of being able to have something done to help these old soldiers. Imperial pensions have always been low compared to Canadian or American pensions, but this devaluation of the pound intensifies this inequality.

Minister Takes Gospel Into Many London Pubs

By H. L. JONES.

LONDON, Sept. 27 — (CP). — A 37-year-old Irish minister, known in the pubs of London for his ready wit and his "down to earth" gospel, has become the guiding hand in a vast, city-wide evangelistic campaign.

It is aimed at Greater London's estimated 7,000,000 agnostics with the double purpose of bringing Christianity home to them and recruiting missionaries. It is going to take two years, but Rev. Harry Hood says it is going to be worth it.

In that time he and a score of co-workers will campaign in a circle around London. They will carry their message into pubs, homes, movies, schools and even race tracks. Their teaching will be spread by sermon and film, by loudspeaker and poster and by just "plain talks."

Behind the campaign is the Mildmay Movement for World Evangelization, representative of all Protestant churches. By taking Christianity into unusual places it hopes to interest people not only in God but in the various missionary societies and the work they do among the world's missions of heathens.

Organizing Secretary

Mr Hood is organizing secretary of the "Ring London" campaign. Sunday evenings he spends in pubs without his "dog collar." Pub frequenters have come to know and like the informality of this tall Irishman with the quick smile who talks to them over their pint. He does not believe the public house is the "door to hell," nor does he hold with those who say a man must go to church to be a Christian.

"I don't believe in this 'Get ready for Heaven' gospel— the paradise in the sky sort of thing," says the former Baptist minister. "This whole thing is related to life down here and a man either finds Jesus Christ in his heart or he doesn't.

"Most times he needs help, but he doesn't have to go to church to do it, though most good Christians do go to church."

Mr. Hood maintains that because a man plays the horses or frequents a pub does not mean he is not a Christian.

Christianity, he says, can not only be the means of individual happiness. It can be the saving force in the world against such threatening ideologies as Communism if the message can be put across.

He hopes to be a coach or physical education instructor.

Big Heavy Line To Battle Collegiate Boys

PCVS senior footballers are hoping the old saying, "The bigger they are the harder they fall", comes true Friday night when they meet the East York Goliaths in East York Memorial Stadium.

If the PCI'ers can down the six-foot monsters from East York Collegiate, they'll take the COSSA with their eyes closed, say the football fans at the school.

Here are some of the facts about Coach Harry Hull's boys. They have 12 players over six feet tall and the average weight along the wingline is 195 pounds. Some of the players are: Neil Brown, a middle, 6 feet 6 inches tall and 215 pounds; the Johnson twins, Bruce and Doug, 6 feet 5½ inches and 200 pounds, each; Don McCrae, 6-foot two-inch end; Larry Yule, 6-foot two inch and 195 pounds and Jim Mosgrove, Norm Dyson, Bill Surphlis, Ron Underwood, Bob Kimoff and Tom Boyce, all six-footers.

Coach Bev Goulding's senior boys were slightly surprised when they took the always powerful Riverdale senior squad so handily (35-5) Saturday night in the Exhibition Park. Their plunging and end runs kept them well in the game as the Riverdale boys broke through the strong PCVS line on nearly every passing play.

This easy victory could not be used as an excuse for one night's layoff from practicing. Monday the boys were back at it harder than ever.

For followers of the Collegiate team the East York Collegiate-Peterborough game will be heard over station CKEY for the last half of the game.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Fred Orpen, owner of Toronto's Dufferin race track, plans what he calls a "break race" for his Long Branch race meeting.

Owners and trainers of Canadian-foaled horses will submit their own conditions for the race, to be run Monday, Oct. 17. Orpen's only stipulations are that there must be at least 10 starters and the race must not be exclusively for non-winners.

A prize of $50 is offered the author of the winning conditions, plus $100 to that owner or trainer if his horse wins the race. This is in addition to the regular purse.

"I am serious about this thing," Orpen said Tuesday. "Horsemen have been complaining for years that racing secretaries don't write the right kind of conditions. So we are going to give them a chance to make their own conditions."

He said he intends to continue with the plan at all future meetings at both his tracks, Dufferin and Long Branch.

A nine-point effort last weekend has stretched the lead of Vern Graham of Calgary Stampeders in the Western Interprovincial Football Union scoring race.

The Calgary home-brew now has totalled 31 points in six games statistics compiled at Winnipeg by The Canadian Press show. His total is six points better than that of Sammy Pierce of Saskatchewan Roughriders, plunging backfield import from Baylor University. Pierce's 25 points comes from five major scores.

Tied for third spot are two ends Woody Strode of Calgary and Matt Anthony of Riders. Each has scored four touchdowns for 20 points.

The famous Hamilton round-the-bay marathon race will be staged by the army, navy and air force veterans club this Saturday with Scotty Rankine of Galt back to defend honors won last year.

Edwin Groves (Murph) Chamberlain, who announced his retirement from the National Hockey League a month ago, has been re-instated as an amateur, league officials said at Montreal Tuesday.

Murph turned professional as a forward with Toronto Maple Leafs in 1937 after playing amateur hockey in Sudbury for the Frood Mines team. He played successively with Montreal Canadiens, Washington, New York Americans before returning to Montreal in 1943.

He said on his retirement that he might join Sydney Millionaires of the Cape Breton circuit.

Toronto Maple Leafs will play Pittsburgh Hornets in a "Baz Bastien night" benefit hockey game in Pittsburgh Oct. 17, it was announced at New York Tuesday.

All proceeds from the game will go to Bastien, former star Pittsburgh goalie blinded in one eye as a result of an injury suffered during practice earlier this month. Bastien's eye was removed in an operation following the injury.

Both the National League club and its American Hockey League farm team will use their regular line-ups for the game.

Julius Alpar, 41, Hungarian immigrant, is seeking a coaching job—in any one of 16 different sports.

Alpar, who arrived in Toronto last May, has hopes of raising Canada's status to international championship levels in fencing, skiing, waterskiing and other sports.

He says he has plenty of experience to back him up. He was sports instructor with the United States army of occupation in Germany for more than two years and was formerly ski instructor for the Hungarian army.

A brief summary of the rugby football setup locally the rest of the week. Trenton Mustangs of the Lakeshore ORFU group plays the Peterborough Panthers at 8.15 tonight in Morrow Park under the arcs, an exhibition joust. Mustangs are in the same loop as Cobourg Galloping Ghosts. The Panthers are off Saturday for a group fixture in Orillia. PCVS seniors go to Toronto Friday p.m. for a floodlight exhibition with East York in their stadium. Saturday here sees the opening of the junior district COSSA schedule between the PCI-ers and St. Peter's High. And that's the grid score for now.

Remarks the other day of Mayor Max Swanston indicated that he is becoming more and more in favor of the Memorial Centre being built on the George St. site opposite Little Lake. Ald. Hurrell Dodds and other council [illegible] have advocated a further check on this site from time to time, also. Personally, we always favored that spot, once the Quaker property was let slide. We believe a thorough check on approximate cost of the required footing on the George St. site should be had and an earnest effort made to have the Centre constructed there. And we think this should be done in the near future, as already the project has dragged out far too long.

* * * * * *

A Fine Central Site

Provided the extra cost of footing for the building does not exceed by too much the approximate cost of purchasing a suitable site, this place on George St. should appeal to most citizens. It is city property, it is about as central a site as one could find, and it certainly could stand some beautification. It may be swampy, but many buildings in Peterborough—including Canada Packers—are built on similar soil, and a goodly area in Toronto is built on reclaimed land. Year-around revenue should be greater in an auditorium situated at George and Townsend streets, also.

Administrative Boxing Council will be introduced at a show in the Ashburnham Hall at eight p.m. Friday when a three-bout card of amateur boxing will be shown. Louis Carveth, 121, meets Bob Legana, 124, in one bout, while Jerry Tyler, 128, faces Ken McArthur, 126, in another. Third one yet to be lined up. Also an educational film from the Department of Education and a Joe Louis fight film from the Local Film Council. On top of this 15 minutes boxing instructions under direction of Jack Dane, recreation director. Boys interested and fathers generally are invited free to get an idea of the boxing program planned here for the season. At least 300 spectators can be accommodated.

Then The Rains Came

Brampton was leading our OLA bantams 4-3 at the end of the third quarter here last eve when heavy rain forced the game to be called. The B's had won the first of the best-of-three and may lay claim to this one, but the local club is protesting that Bramton was 20 minutes late arriving, and the game could have been finished had it started on time. Which is quite true, and the OLA should order a replay. The locals were coming along fast and felt they'd have won this in regulation time. Meantime, no word on our peewees in finals with Fergus, though that series may open Saturday. OLA has let our clubs sit around weeks at a stretch awaiting playdown opposition, and that's not good for teams.

Tip Tops of Toronto, now world's senior softball champs, may still play an exhibition here. At any rate, local officials are after them to fulfil a promise made several weeks ago ere the Toppers went to Arkansas and took the world's title. Yesterday, the Tip Top management stated they wouldn't playoff with Levy's in the Beaches Fastball League finals, as the ASAA forbids the world's championship club to play in any tourney after the big series. But they had beaten Levy's 10 out of 11 games this season so they figure they're still tops. This team would prove a great attraction here some night next week if good weather prevailed.

Close Contests Marked In School Loop

Confederation defeated Queen Mary 4-0 in a senior school soccer tilt at King Edward Park on Tuesday afternoon. Best for the winners were M. Bryan, E. Dunstan, and S. Pearton; for the losers, J. Watson, R. Dunn and Merrett.

Perfect positional plays were evident on both sides accompanied by close combination. A long drive from 20 yards out by Dunstan opened the scoring. This was followed by a Simmons, Holland and Scott Pearton combination, with the latter scoring. On resumption, Queen Mary set up a terrific pace to find Confederation replying with clever tactics with Miller registering the third counter. Dunston dropped a long shot in below the cross-bar for the fourth goal.

Queen Mary—R. Houghton, goal; J. Watson and P. Nisbett, full backs; R. Roberts, R. Dunn and J. Deck, half backs; MacIlwain, J. Merrett, D. Nisbett J. Stewart and G. Cullen, forwards. Subs: J. Jackson, R. White, J. Hillier, P. Harrison.

Confederation—M. Bryan, goal; M Parry and R. Brooks, full backs; B. Bryan, E. Dunstan and T Post, half backs; B. Davis, R. Holland, R. Miller, S. Pearton and C Simmons, forwards. Subs: P. Cresher, G. Corner, A. Rogers.

Referee—Mr. Rutherford.

Missed Penalty Kick

In the intermediate series of school soccer Prince of Wales and King Edward failed to score and split the points in a keen tussle on Prince of Wales grounds Tuesday afternoon. King Edward were more aggressive throughout but lacked finish around the goal; while West-enders spoiled their opportunities through individual play that was nullified by the full backs. In the last minutes of play Prince of Wales were awarded a penalty kick that Downer failed to convert as Halcrow stopped the shot.

King Edward — R. Halcrow, goal; R. Keating and W. Rowe, full backs; G. Hunt, J. Mills and R. Rowe, half backs; A. McArthur, R. Lachlan, D. Sutherland, P. Dugan and A. Curtis, forwards. Subs: F. Ball and A. Regan

Prince of Wales—K. Johnson, goal; T. Vorthrop and S. Allin, full backs; J. Morton, C. Peel and P. Sparrow, half backs; G. Downer, G. Hancock, R. Oliver, D. McFadden and B. Godfrey, forwards. Subs: J. Allin, P. Falkner, B. Corp and P. Ballantyne.

Referee—Mr. McKee.

May's Best Grove

The postponed junior soccer tilt between May's and Grove soccer elevens was played Tuesday afternoon at May's shcool with the former winning 1-0. This is the first year that these schools have participated in organized sport and they gave a good account of themselves in a strenuous battle with May's aggregation gaining the only counter through Greenis.

May's—M. McFadden, goal; D. Clark and B. Griffin, full backs; E. McGrath K. Dunstan and R. Shaw, half backs; G. Greenis, J. McFadden, F. Chambo, B. Burns, and K. Orgill, forwards. Subs: R. Marshall.

Grove—R. Wood goal; R. Lindsay, and J. Hotston, full backs; G. Duncan, J. Bailey and L. Hargreaves, half backs; F. Davey, F. Simmons, W. Simmons, R. Sanders and B. Copping, forwards. Subs: G. Keene.

Referee—L. Bird.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary intermediates blanked Queen Alex yesterday in their School Soccer League encounter on the northend pitch. Friar and Brown each scored a pair while Dubay got the other on a passing play. Friar scored once on a corner kick and again on a passing play. Brown counted on a lone breakaway and later on a long kick. Teams:

Queen Alex — Conway, McNamee, Merrett, McKinney, Reid, Whitton, Johnson, Olmstead, Kilburn, Anderson, Eadie, Hewitt, F Anderson, McGee, Snowden, Woodward.

Queen Mary—Finn, Hillier, Harris, Dafoe, Beck, Jones, Dubay, Wilfong, Brown, Friar, Peacock, Reynolds, Plunkett.

Lindsay Takes Title Whips Little Britain

LINDSAY, Sept. 28 — Lindsay Walkwoods won their first Tri-County Baseball League championship Tuesday night by whipping Little Britain 7-2 to capture the best-of-five final series, three games to one.

Twice victor over Britain, young Hank Debois again did the trick, hurling one-hit ball until the seventh inning.

Britain came back with two runs after Lindsay went out in front 4-0 in the seventh, but John Burn doubled with the bases loaded to sew up the game in the eighth. Lou Hennessey Sr., Jim MacKey, and John Brown were Walkwoods' other top hitters, Stu Hicks had two of Little Britain's five hits.

Yelverton Lasses Rub Out Quakers 17-10

BETHANY, Sept. 28 —(ENS)— Postponed twice last week due to rain, the final game of the East Durham Softball League was held in Bethany Athletic Park on Monday evening, the Yelverton girls taking a decisive win over Peterborough Quakers with a 17-10 score. Aileen Kerr did some nice pitching for the winners, with Margaret Shea catching; Bernice Kerr and Madge Kerr taking batting honors with two home runs when the bases were loaded. Yelverton chalked up seven runs in the first inning, four in the second, one in the fourth, two in the fifth and three in the sixth. The Quakers played steady ball, but just couldn't beat the Yelverton combination. They counted two in the first, two in the second, three in the fifth and three in the seventh.

Umpires were Brenton Dawson and T. Skitch, Millbrook.

The teams:

Yelverton: Aileen Kerr p, Margaret Shea c; Marjory Stinson 1b, Madge Kerr 2b, Berniece Kerr 3b, R. Malcolm ss, Phyllis Stewart lf, Ernestine Robinson rf, Grace Kerr cf.

Quakers: H. Dunford, M. Wood, S. Bagnall, B. Iyotee, E. Lynch, D. Newnham, M. Fontaine, L. Willshaw, B. Brawn.

The teams competing in this league, in order of their final standing were Yelverton, Quakers, Bethany, Bailieboro and Wallace Point.

Pittsburgh Trips Cards 6-4 Chops Lead To One Game

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The St. Louis Cardinals' violation of the unwritten baseball rule "let sleeping dogs lie" could cost them the National League pennant.

Pittsburgh Pirates, a docile sixth-place club when Ralph Kiner isn't on the prowl, act like a pack of roaring lions when they clash with St. Louis.

The Pirates are one reason the Cards lead Brooklyn Dodgers by only one game. They have beaten the Cards 11 times in 21 meetings this season. On the other hand, they won only six games out of 22 from Brooklyn.

Pittsburgh chopped the Cards' advantage Tuesday night by scoring a 6-4 triumph over their despised rivals before 27,283 fans The Dodgers were idle.

Sox Down Senators

While the Pirates jolted the Cards Boston Red Sox downed Washington Senators 6-4, to protect their one game American League lead over New York Yankees. The Yankees defeated Philadelphia Athletics 3-1, in the afternoon.

The Pirates belted Red Munger, righthanded ace of the Cards for five runs in the second inning to clinch the game Tuesday night.

Rookie outfielder Tom Saffell dropped Munger through the trap door with a grand-slam home run to climax the rally. An error by Red Schoendienst made all five runs unearned.

The Cards clash again with Pittsburgh today while the Dodgers open a two-game series with the Braves in Boston. Both the Cards and Dodgers have four games left to play.

11th Straight Win

Joe Dobson, with help from Walt Masterson, pitched the Red Sox to victory over the woeful Senators. The victory was Boston's 11th straight and its 14th consecutive decision over Washington. The Sox socked the Montreal-born sinker ball artist Paul Calvert for six runs in the first six innings.

Vic Raschi hung up his 20th victory in pitching the Yankees to victory over Philadelphia. The New Yorkers jumped on Toronto born Dick Fowler for all of their runs in the third inning. Bobby Shantz stopped the Yankees on one hit the rest of the way.

Both the Yankees and Red Sox have four games left to play.

In the only other games Tuesday, Cleveland Indians shaded Chicago White Sox, 3-2, on Joe Dobson's ninth inning single, and Cincinnati Reds took Chicago Cubs 5-4.

HE'S STOPPED—Clare Martin, left, of Waterloo, and Jack Stewart of Pilot Mound, Man., of the National Hockey League champion Detroit Red Wings, check teammate Marty Pavelich, back to camera, as they workout at their Sault Ste. Marie training camp prior to the opening of the 1949-50 NHL season. The Wings are gunning for their second straight NHL title.

Makes Survey For Best Football Rules

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 (CP) — Which are better, Canadian or American rugby-football rules?

Associate Professor John F. (Jake) Edwards of Queen's University, Kingston, has just completed a study which recommends a composite of both. His survey shows that the Canadian game is edging toward the U.S. sport but that in many respects, Canadians think their game has decided advantages.

For years, football players and fans have been arguing bitterly about the number of downs, interference, the single point and the size of the playing field.

Prof. Edwards sent out a questionnaire to every major football club in Canada during work on the thesis for his master's degree in physical education at the University of Michigan.

Set of Rules

Here are his major findings for an international set of rules;

1. The Canadian single point score should be incorporated into American football but the point for kick to deadline should be eliminated because there is no defence against it.

2. A kick receiver should be allowed a five-yard radius to make his catch and get under way but the defence should be made to play every punt, eliminating the "fair catch" in which U.S. players can touch down a punt and make the ball dead.

3. The U.S. goal posts should be returned to the goal line (at present they are 10 yards behind) to encourage field goal attempts.

4. The Canadian playing field of 110 by 65 yards should be adopted (the American field is 100 yards by 50).

5. Twelve players, as in the Canadian game, should make up a team instead of 11, as in the U.S. because the extra man makes possible the colorful lateral pass.

6. Canada should adopt the American names for players positions—tackle, guard, end, centre, etc., instead of inside, outside, middle. (The American names already are used in Western Canada.)

7. There should be increased interference in the Canadian game by both backs and linemen.

8. A narrow majority of those polled told Prof. Edwards that there should be interference for running back punts and kick-offs.

9. All backs should be allowed in motion before the ball is snapped (the Canadian pattern) instead of the American rule allowing only one in motion.

10. Three downs instead of four should be adopted.

Royals Whip Bisons 8-3, Try For Title

By The Associated Press

Montreal Royals, who had a hard time qualifying for the International League playoffs, will carry the circuit's colors in the Little World Series.

Clay Hopper's defending little world series champions, earned the right to represent the International against the American Association's playoff kings Tuesday night.

The Royals defeated the pennant-winning Buffalo Bisons, 8-3, before 18,352 Montreal fans Tuesday night to win the final round best-of-seven series, four games to one. The Bisons' lone victory came in the opening game.

Montreal will meet either Indianapolis Indians or the Milwaukee Brewers for the title. The Indians enjoy a three-game-to-one lead over Milwaukee. The first three games will be played in Montreal with the series likely to start Friday night.

Sam Jethroe, star of the playoffs for the Royals, came through again Tuesday night. Jethroe drove home three runs with his fifth play-off homer and a pair of singles.

It was a nip-and-tuck affair until the seventh inning when the Royals exploded for four runs to sew up the game. Jethroe's homer featured the uprising.

Dan Bankhead started for Montreal and was in constant trouble throughout because of wildness. Dan walked nine but was tough in the clutch. Bankhead was lifted in favor of Johnny Van Cuyk.

Young Gilles Dube Talk Of Hockey Crowd

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Sept. 28 (CP)—The talk of the town here today, where the National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens are staging their pre-season training camp, is young Gilles Dube.

Dube, 163-pound left winger with Sherbrooke St. Francis of the Quebec Senior Hockey League last year, Tuesday night slammed six goals past goalie Gordie Bell, to lead the "Reds" to a 12-7 victory over the "Whites" in an intra-squad hour-long hockey game.

Maurice Richard, counted twice for the winners and Norm Dussault, Roger Leger, Elmer Lach and Leo Gravelle, one each.

Dube who worked the left lane with Richard and Lach was set up for several of his markers by the two former "punch" line players. Toe Blake, until his retirement two years ago was the third member of the punch line.

Ashburnham Hall Rental Fee Set

A $3.50 fee will be charged, at the discretion of the chairman of the Recreation Commission and the Director, to all groups or organizations who use Ashburnham Hall. This was the outcome of a study made by the property committee of the commission on the two buildings Ashburnham Hall and Dixon House.

Gordon Armstrong, acting chairman of the commission in the absence of R. J. Bolton, told the members Tuesday night that the cost of operating the Ashburnham Hall was averaging $3.62 a day. He suggested in the property committee's report that a service charge be asked to cover the charge of maintenance.

All the members agreed that a greater effort should be made to make all the facilities of the commission more and if possible, self-supporting. Whether or not the organizations pay the service fee was left to the discretion of the chairman, Mr. Bolton or the director, Jack Dane.

Mr. Armstrong reported that for six months, from January to June, Dixon House was used 288 times by 21 organizations. The cost of operating the building amounted to $1,556.38 or $10 a day. The property committee recommended that each group be assessed an amount in accordance with the space used. They recommend that consideration be given to the type of activity carried on and the work done by the group using the building.

As in the case of Ashburnham Hall the commission felt that some fee was necessary. The fee was left at the discretion of the property committee.

Other reports given at the meeting were: Finance, R. E. MacDonald; playgrounds and swimming, Mrs. R. Whalon; drama, Quirt McKinney; office space in the new city buildings, Gordon Armstrong.

Suffers Minor Injury

H. T. Hall, 63, 188 Antrim St., a cyclist, fractured a finger in a fall after colliding with a car at the corner of Hunter and Bethune Sts. about 5:10 p.m. Tuesday.

Bert I. Burgess, 631 Weller St., told police he was driving east on Hunter St. and while waiting at the intersection for a car driven by J. C. St. Laurent, 559 Bethune St. to turn across Hunter St. Hall riding east on Hunter St. on his bicycle, struck the right rear fender of his car and fell from his bicycle.

DISCARDED HOUSEHOLD RELIC MAKES UNUSUAL PAPERWEIGHT FOR LOCAL OFFICE WORKER

Phil MacDonald has hit on an unusual way to make use of his wife's floor polisher. "The perfect paperweight for my desk", he says, "and also useful for striking matches". When asked if his wife had any objection to this annexation of household equipment, MacDonald laughed. "Since I put NYOLITE liquid plastic finish on our hardwood and linoleum floors we don't have to wax them any more. They wipe clean with a damp cloth and pay absolutely no attention to the abuse of our great hound dog and our three youngsters. It's easy to apply, dries hard and shiny in an hour. And it's non slippery. No more waxing for me!"

U.K. Likely Ask Canada To Cut Prices

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—(CP)—The United Kingdom likely will ask Canada to cut prices so Britain may continue large-scale shopping in this country next year, it was learned Monday.

The price cuts will be asked as a means of getting around the full 25 per cent slashes in dollar imports which the U.K. and other Commonwealth countries are expected to undertake—even with sterling devaluation.

It appears, however, that instead of Canada agreeing to price snips right down the whole list of commodities she hopes to sell Britain in 1950, the U.K. may be asked to make selective shopping—buying less of those goods which Canada can sell elsewhere.

These problems of Anglo-Canadian trade are being discussed on a prenegotiation basis by the continuing committee on trade, meeting in closed sessions here. The sessions are expected to finish tomorrow.

No Immediate Bearing

It is believed that the U.K. officials have told Canada that sterling devaluation will have little immediate bearing on previous intentions to cut purchases in the dollar area by one-quarter.

It is understood that Britain will not feel the effects of devaluation until next spring, since most of the foreign buying in the U.K. to fill Christmas requirements has already been completed.

The officials, which include Max Mackenzie, Canada's deputy minister of trade, and Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada, are believed to be studying expected Canadian shipments overseas of food, lumber and metal products.

When the U.K. officials return to London their studies will be considered by the Labor Cabinet and may form the basis for new Anglo-Canadian food contracts in 1950.

It was understood direct negotiations to complete new contracts will be started in about six weeks.

The negotiations will not affect the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement which runs until next July. However, bacon, cheese and egg contracts will end in December.

Children Play Rally Day Music At St. Andrew's

MILLBROOK, Sept. 28—(ENS)—Sunday School Rally Day was observed in St. Andrew's Sunday morning. The Sunday school followed the choir in the processional and, led by the beginners' class, filled the front seats.

Mr. Herbert Patton, Sunday School superintendent, led the prayers. Miss Estelle Hetherington was at the organ and those in the Sunday School orchestra who contributed to the music were: George Ingham, leader and 'cellist, Gerald Hubbeard, violinist; Bill Smith, cornet; Beverley Patton, Mary Guthrie and Anne Dawson took turns playing the chimes.

After prayer was offered by the Rev. T. H. Husser, B.A., G.D., Betty North and Edith Elson sang a duet.

The scripture lesson, which was in three sections, was read by Marie-Claire Husser, Jessie Lunn and Fred Weatherilt.

Mrs. Walter Collard, of Balm Beach, guest soloist, sang.

Assisting the regular church ushers, Mr. A. Payne and Mr. W. Elson, were Bob Thompson and Warren Challice, of the Sunday School.

Following the offering, taken to be used for the Sunday School in the home by mail and air, Summer Service volunteers, and Christian Youth caravans, all the classes of the Sunday School joined in chorus.

Miss Jean Burnham, superintendent of the beginners' depactment, told the story of "The Good News Parcel."

Mr. Husser announced that Holy Communion would be celebrated next Sunday.

Trent River News

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hutchison of Havelock, accompanied by Mrs Eleanor M. Wood and Miss Annie Hutchison of Trent River, are visiting in Western Ontario and the States.

Miss Olive Harvey, Detroit, Mich., and Louie Craighead, Campbellford, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Henry and Donnie.

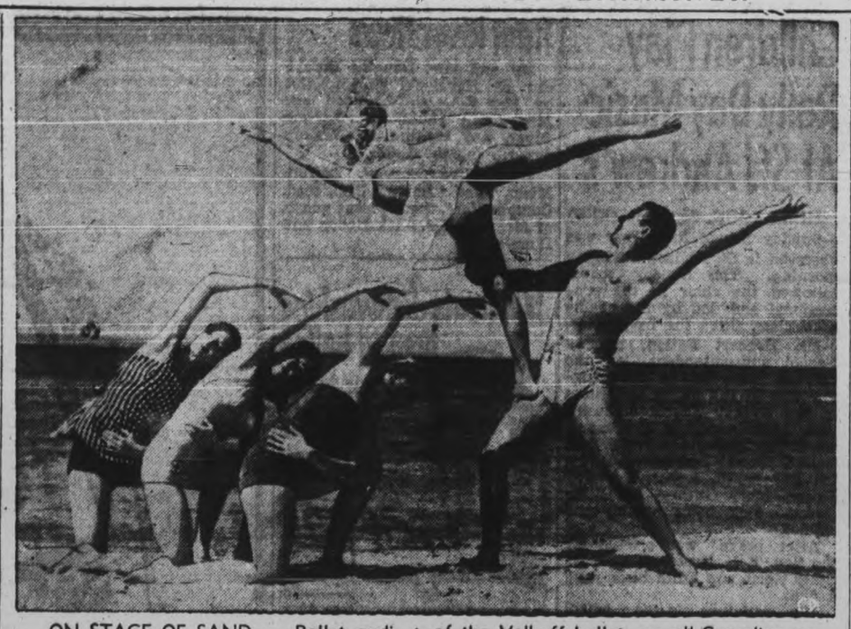
Russia Is Buying Cotton Crop Dumping Cotton Piece Goods

By CLARE HOLLINGWORTH

CAIRO, Sept. 28 — (Special to London Observer and Examiner). —For the last two months there has been a Russian cotton-purchasing mission in Egypt. During its first six weeks the mission bought 40,000 bales of medium-grade cotton at an average price of $50 per kantar (99.05 lb), making a total outlay of three million sterling — and the money was actually paid in sterling. A fortnight ago, due to a rash statement by the Minister of Agriculture, who described this year's crop as a "disaster," owing to the ravages of cotton worm, prices shot upwards and the Russians stopped buying. On a further statement that destruction will not be as wholesale as at first thought — reliable experts estimate that 10 per cent of a near-record crop of 11,000,000 kantars will be lost — prices declined again, but the Russians have not yet recommenced purchasing. A large proportion of the cotton they have bought is for delivery to Czechoslovakia.

In addition to buying cotton the Russian mission, which consists of 23 members living in the Greek quarter of Alexandria, is carrying out a certain amount of Communist propaganda, and has made contact with Communist cells amongst the Greek community and in the cotton industry, particularly in factories where Egyptian textiles are manufactured and which, owing to high prices and dwindling world demand, were beginning to lay off workers.



At the same time Russia has been trying hard to dump on the Egyptian market quantities of cheap cotton piecegoods which sell at a third of the price of locally-manufactured articles. It is believed that this is part of a general Russian plan for spreading discontent and trouble in the Middle East. Should Russian dumping continue, local mills might be forced to close down, creating more unemployment and, consequently, more recruits for the illegal Communist Party.

The Egyptian Cabinet, however, has been in a difficult position, for at least until this weekend it had seemed certain that the U.S. would not buy any Egyptian cotton this year, and that British purchases would probably be much smaller than usual.

Egyptian cotton merchants have naturally become far more optimistic about sales to America since Sunday's devaluation of the pound. Although the stock exchanges in Cairo and Alexandria are closed until Wednesday there has been an average rise of five dollars per kantar in cotton prices amongst brokers doing brisk business on pavements.

I understand, however, that at least until some orders are received from the U.S.A., the Egyptian Government will be reluctant to take drastic steps or ask the Russian mission to leave the country, because it is most unlikely that Russia will buy more cotton should the Government end Russian dumping.

ON STAGE OF SAND — Ballet audiences usually witness presentations in theatres but on a remote Georgian Bay beach, near the resort town of Wasaga, ballet is presented on the sand dunes against backdrops of foliage already coloring Ontario's north woods. Here members of the Volkoff ballet, an all-Canadian organization organized in 1938 by Boris Volkoff, go through a routine. Acrobatics are combined with grace as this group performs. Left to right, are: Doris Wade of Toronto, Mary McMillan of Port Hope, Lila Anderson of Lambton Mills, Lillian Jarvis and John Marsha, both of Toronto.

Declares YMCA Fights Elements Of Destruction

Division majors, team captains and team members assembled in the YMCA Monday for the annual YMCA membership campaign banquet. S. G. Payne, a member of the board of directors and chairman of the membership committee, introduced the division majors, R. H. David and David A. Kerr.

R. B. Arnold, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, told the campaign members that more people should back the constructive elements in the community such as the YMCA, thus destroying the destructive elements. Mr. Arnold was introduced by Charles Cummer and thanked by Fred Hills, past president of YMCA.

The campaign captains will hold a meeting Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. to report progress. The campaign ends October 3.

Each division major introduced his captains and teams. In Division A under Mr. Kerr are: Team 1, Rod Reed (captain), H. G. Correll, William Dadson, Fred Welford, Al Menzies, S. Freeman; Team 3, Ron Watson, (captain) Barnet Dundas, Frank Jones, William Jones, Reginald Seabrooke, Kenneth Bachelor; Team 5, Newton Hamilton (captain), Donald Anderson, Stanley McBride, J. CANADA NEEDS HEALTHY RAILWAYS TO SERVE HER PEOPLE

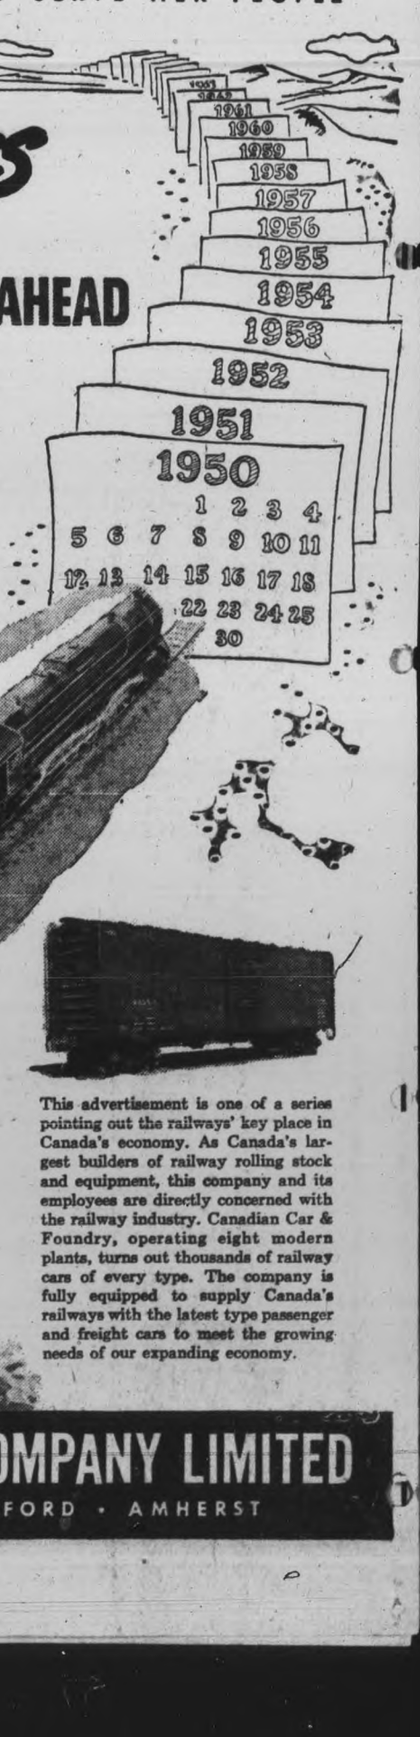
CANADA'S RAILWAYS MUST LOOK YEARS AHEAD

THEY are the veins and arteries of Canada's life.



They bring the supplies which every city, town and village home—and every farm—must have to eat, keep warm, and work... And they take to market the products of men's labour.

So, summer and winter, as far ahead as anyone can see, they must do their part to safeguard the well-being and security of every single Canadian—even those too young to see a railway—even those not yet born...

And, in the war, they became the nation's "fourth armed service", and did double duty.

You see, it is not enough for Canada's railways to be equipped for the ordinary. They must be prepared to cope also with the extra-ordinary, with emergencies.

All this takes long-term planning. Rolling stock cannot be built overnight, nor tracks, nor terminals. Nevertheless, Canada's railways must look ahead to be ready always for anything.

This advertisement is one of a series pointing out the railways' key place in Canada's economy. As Canada's largest builders of railway rolling stock and equipment, this company and its employees are directly concerned with the railway industry. Canadian Car & Foundry, operating eight modern plants, turns out thousands of railway cars of every type. The company is fully equipped to supply Canada's railways with the latest type passenger and freight cars to meet the growing needs of our expanding economy.

Special Agent Outlines FBI History

A special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in charge of the Buffalo office, H. G. Maynor, briefly sketched the activities and the history of the FBI in an address to the 17th annual convention of the Police Association of Ontario today.

From its small beginning in 1908, when it was concerned with a mere handful of [illegible]ypes, the organization has grown in both size and jurisdiction and now operates in 128 types of cases, he related.

The Bureau's most extensive growth has been since J. Edgar Hoover took over in 1924 on several conditions, most notable of which were that he be allowed to set education qualifications for applicants and be permitted to institute a training school for recruits.

Now the FBI operates through 52 field offices throughout the United States, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, Mr. Maynor said. But men of the various divisions stick to their own areas rather than dashing about the country as radio programs would lead people to believe.

He explained that the FBI operates as a branch of the Department of Justice under the Attorney General. Other government departments also have their investigating bureaus, but the FBI has the widest scope, he told the policemen.

Much of the FBI work comes through the ever widening interpretation of the Interstate Commerce Act, which was extended to include stolen cars taken across a state line, forged cheques cashed in one state but drawn on a bank in another, and a number of other offences involving crossing state borders.

The recently passed Atomic Energy Act has greatly increased the amount of work they have to do, he pointed out. Because of it, he said, the FBI is now carrying on about 4,000 investigations a month of people who are expected to work with the Atomic Energy Commission in any capacity from carpenters to scientific research.

Mr. Maynor was thanked by the provincial association's president, Arthur Webster, Chief Constable of Lindsay.

LINDSAY'S ASSENT

Lindsay council is giving its consent to the raising by one foot of the level of the Trent system dam in the town. It was recently proposed at a public meeting in Lindsay which deplored the low water levels in the Scugog reach of the Trent.

Car Jumps Curb Crashes Into House

Faulty steering mechanism was blamed by driver Charles Seal, 87 Park Hill Rd., for causing his car to jump the north curb of McDonnel St., plunge across the lawn and bang into the side of the home of Mrs. M. Lasher, 362 McDonnel St., just before two a.m. Wednesday morning.

Two panes of glass were knocked out of a basement window and a water pipe was damaged in the house. The front of the car was smashed in. Traffic Officer Clare McGillen investigated.

Why Did Couples Sit In Car? Court To Decide

"Were two young couples sitting in someone else's car just for somewhere to sit or with intent to steal it?" is the poser set for Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C., in city police court today.

The question arose during the trial in city police court of John Billingsley, 555 Douglas Ave., who, with Roy Ellis, RR 5, Peterborough is charged with attempting to steal the car, the property of Mrs. Helen Thompson, 311 Lewis St.

After Billingsley pleaded not guilty and his trial was heard, Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C., reserved his judgment. Both youths were remanded to Oct. 3 with bail to continue at $500. Billingsley, unable to find bail, has been in custody since his arrest Sept. 22

Mrs. Alice Bye, 310 Lewis St., said she had heard someone trying to start Mrs. Thompson's car, parked in front of her house. She saw two young men and two single girls in the car. Knowing that Miss Jean Robinson, 309 Lewis St., was in close contact with Mrs. Thompson, she telephoned her, asking her to tell the young people to get out of the car.

Miss Robinson said she told them to get out of the car and they went away.

Mrs. Thompson said she and her husband had not been at home during the time of the alleged incident.

Detective William Clarke said that when he met Billingsley on Charlotte St., the day after the alleged incident, he had admitted being in the car.

Company Asks For Conciliation

As a result of a deadlock which has developed in the negotiations between the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., Ltd., and local No. 527, UE-CIO, the company has recommended that negotiations be continued through the standard procedure of conciliation.

The present contract, which expires Sept. 30, has been under discussion since Sept. 6. The company and the union feel that a deadlock now exists in negotiations. The company realizes that a joint submission to the minister of labor for appointment of a conciliation officer would assist to speed up the final settlement of a new contract. This proposition was presented to the negotiating committee.

Before the union replied to the company's proposal the employees staged a sit-down strike on Tuesday morning, on completion of their official rest period at 9:40 a.m. and continued this until noon.

The items in dispute are numerous and include wages, vacations and hours of work.

MADE AND DELIVERED FRESH DAILY

Tonight, Thursday and Friday Night

In McDonnel Street Gospel Hall at 8:00 p.m. sharp.

You are invited to hear MR. GEORGE RAINEY of Mount Plymouth, Florida. Mr. Rainey has been with us since last Saturday and is bringing timely messages from the Word of God. If you have not heard him, you are passing up something worth while.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S MEETING is special for YOUNG PEOPLE.

Everyone than can possibly attend these meetings will be made welcome.

6 Health Groups To Co-ordinate City Activities

Five of the six health organizations which Peterborough Health League invited early in the summer to form a central health organization in the city have agreed to the proposition. At a meeting of the League Tuesday, George Barnes, chairman, was authorized to meet representatives of the other organizations to form the central body.

Represented on the central committee will be the Health League, the Tuberculosis Association, Dental Public Health Association, Cancer Society, St. John Ambulance and the Canadian Institute of the Blind.

Co-Ordinating Body

Each organization will continue to function individually as in the past, Mr. Barnes explained. The new body will serve as a means of co-ordinating specific health projects in the city.

"We would have been able to have a very fine exhibit at the Peterborough Fair if this co-ordinating committee had existed this summer," Mr. Barnes said. He also explained that in making contact with the Home and School Associations, Board of Health and other bodies, the various health organizations could speak as one body. All branches of public health work would be more effectively represented during the National Health Week in February, Mr. Barnes said.

Murphy Heads Student Body

Sam Murphy, last year treasurer of the Boys' Athletic Association, was elected Monday president of the Student Council at PCVS. This was the climax to a weeklong election campaign between the two parties, the Spics and the Spans.

Others elected Monday were: Betty Merritt, vice-president; Irene Nicholls, secretary; Richard Schram, treasurer. The defeated candidates, Harold Grafstein, Peter Turner, Helen Dinsdale, and Larry Langley will head the standing committees of the Council.

Monday afternoon in the senior assembly the candidates for secretary made their election speeches and were followed by the candidates for presidency winding up their campaigns. Immediately following the assembly the students started to vote.

By classes they went to the Collegiate office where they obtained their ballots, moving on to the school library to mark them.

In one hour and 15 minutes, 801 students cast their votes with only four of the ballots being spoiled. Tuesday morning Mr. C. S. Browne, principal, announced the results.

Merchant Protests Sidewalk Chute

C. G. Kingan, of the Kingan Hardware, Simcoe St., wrote to the council Monday that he liked to be reasonable, but he had to object to the S. S. Kresge practice of leaving their goods chute in the sidewalk open for long periods.

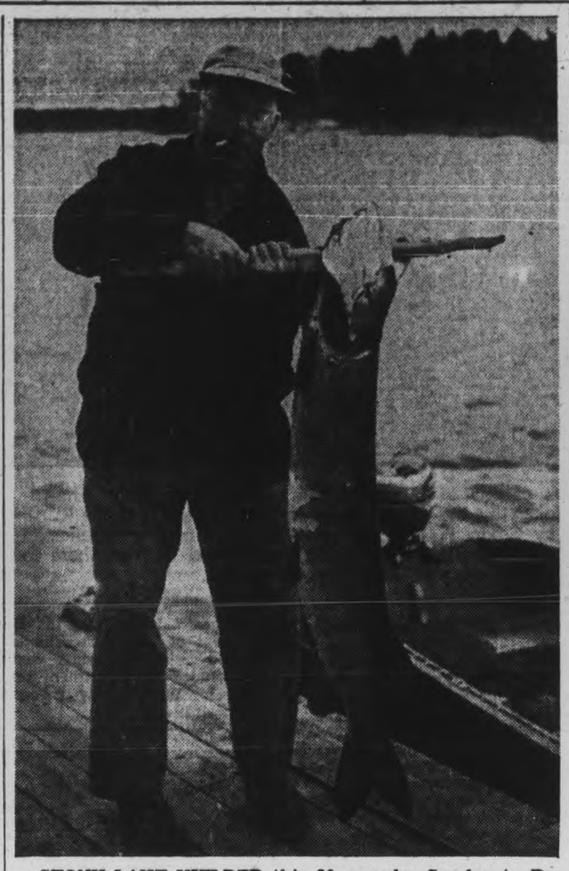
His suggestion was that "It should be open only as long as may be required to take in goods."

The council appeared to have information that the chute is kept open to provide ventilation in the kitchen.

"I took this matter up with City Engineer Chalmers," said Mayor Swanston. " He told the Kresge people it would be closed altogether if the use of the chute was not confined to intaking freight. I have been informed that they have been keeping the sidewalk open three-quarters of the day."

To Ald. Doug Miller, Mayor Swanston said there had been satisfactory reports about change of practice by the store.

A motion by Ald. Adams Sands expressed approval of the Kingan proposal, and sent the letter on to Chief John Thompson for a report.



It was remarked that the sidewalk chute at Zeller's was used properly.

Mr. Kingan objected that the Kresge practice kept the sidewalk blocked for long periods. And a collection of bicycles did not improve matters, he added.

Police Urged To Approach Job With Some Imagination

"A policeman's lot is terribly hard," John A. Bradshaw, Crown Attorney for Peterborough County, took as the subject for his address to the opening day meeting of the 17th annual Police Association of Ontario Tuesday afternoon. The sentence is a paraphrase from Christopher Morley, Mr. Bradshaw explained.

But said the crown attorney, the policeman's job need not be one of mere drudgery. There is much pleasure to be gained from the job if the policeman approached it with a little imagination.

There is more to be found on the cool or wet beat than some drunk beating up his common law wife. There is much to be seen in the world around, sparkling snow hiding ugliness with its beautiful crystals, or the quiet beauty of a tree lined street early in the morning.

But most of all, the thing which can take some of the drudgery out of routine work, is the realization that the policeman is a part of a law enforcement team. It is a team which includes magistrates, crown attorneys and defence counsels, as well. The team must work as a whole to best serve the interest of the public, Mr. Bradshaw declared.

Police work is a vocation as old as human society, Mr. Bradshaw reminded his listeners. It is a vocation which has always played a vital part in any civilized community. He said, although a train engineer had the safety of 400 or 500 in hand and the captain of an ocean liner the safety of 4,000 or 5,000, a small handful of policemen every night are protecting some 40,000 or more.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw was introduced by Corporal L. A. McClure as "one of the most efficient and fair crown attorneys in Ontario."

DIES IN MARKHAM

Rev. George Rowland, 65, active in the ministry of the Presbyterian church for more than 30 years, died Tuesday at Markham, 15 miles northeast of Toronto. He served in pastorates in Montreal, Stratford, Toronto and Port Hope, and was a former moderator of the Peterborough presbytery.

REJECT FLOW CHARTS

At a special membership meeting Tuesday night the rank-and-file of Local 524 (UE-CIO) rejected the flow charts as a basis for layoffs and transfers at CGE. The tentative agreement between the union executive and the company is thus automatically terminated, the Publicity Committee of the local has informed the membership. Voting was 380 opposed to flow charts and 318 in favor.

CAR IS DITCHED

Arthur Whetung of Otonabee emerged uninjured from his car when it turned over in the ditch on the old Keene Road Tuesday night. The old model car was being driven south, about five miles south-west of Peterborough, when the right front wheel hit a culvert and it ran into the west ditch and tipped over. Provincial Constable Joseph Hanson investigated.

Boer War Veteran David Forsythe Dies

Funeral service for the late David Forsythe, 77, of 2151 E. Pearl St., Hazel Park, Mich., was held to-day from the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. E. W. Rowland of Grace United Church and the Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark Street United Church officiated. Pall-bearers were Lawrence McBain, Fred Holden, Donald, David, Robert and Glenn Forsythe. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Forsythe died on Sunday at the residence of his son Harold in Hazel Park following a lengthy illness. He was born in Douro Township son of the late David Forsythe and Jessie McGowan and had lived in Peterborough until a year ago. He was formerly a barber in Ashburnham operating a shop at 73 Hunter St. E., for 12 years.

A former member of Mark Street United Church, Mr. Forsythe was also a veteran of the Boer War.

Sault Police Appeal To Association

The help of the Police Association of Ontario was sought by the Sault Ste. Marie Police Association at the first day's meeting of the provincial association in a disagreement with the Sault city council over a wage and pension plan arrangement.

After some discussion, the matter was referred to the Resolutions Committee for examination and a report on what, if anything, could be done for the member association.

John C. Rowswell, president of the Sault Ste. Marie Police Association, reported the events which led up to a disagreement with the city council. He said last spring, the police, together with other civic employees of the city, including firemen and workmen of the Board of Works, were given a raise of $20 a month. The reason had been partly that it would take care of the five percent payment to a pension fund.

However when the raise went into effect, it was found that any employees taking part in the city pension fund, which took in most of the policemen and firemen, were given a raise of only $10 to compensate for the fact they would be getting a pension in time. In many cases, when five percent of the wages was also subtracted, for payment to the pension fund, policemen were drawing less take home pay than they had before the raise.

Firemen Have Control

President Rowswell said the firemen of the city have a contract with the city government stating they are to get a $20 raise, but the police had no such contract. They have petitioned the city council, but have been told in effect, take it or leave it.

"We want the pension," Mr. Roswell said, "but we don't want to pay our share and theirs too!" The matter was referred to the resolutions committee.

The provincial association was given a cheque for $100 by the Ottawa Police Association for the help the parent organization gave Ottawa police in its fight with the Ottawa Police Commission during the summer. The police commission suspended some policemen from the force because they joined the newly forming police association in the city.

Sergeant Major Tom Knight of the Ottawa police force said he wanted to express his most sincere thanks for the help given them by the parent organization and the police associations of Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor and London.

The meeting decided not to sponsor a boys band annual competition until it was better able financially to do so.

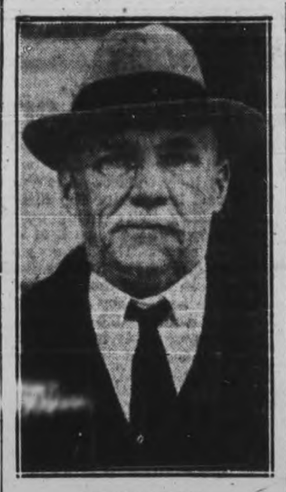
Mayor Praises Toronto Police

"One thing to be said for the Toronto Police Department," said Mayor Swanston Monday night, "when they do you a favor, you don't get any bill for it."

Inspector Vernon H. Page recently surveyed Peterborough's traffic rules and practice, and prepared a lengthy report which has already been before the Police Commission.

"I've read it through," said Ald. Hugh Waddell, "and I think it is a very good report. It has a lot of things which might be incorporated in our traffic rules."

A motion by Mayor Swanston and Ald. Grant Miller passed the report on to the legal committee of which Ald. Sands is chairman for study and complete report.



One of the members casually enquired what the report had cost.

"Just one meal," said Mayor Swanston. "That's all Inspector Page would take, and as far as I have observed it is typical of the way we get along with Toronto. There was no expense in getting that report."

FELL FROM SWING

Falling from a swing when playing with a group of youngsters at Hastings Tuesday, Peter Crate, nine-year-old son of F. F. Crate, Hastings, fractured his right wrist. He is now in Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

ERNEST BEER

Ernest Beer Ex-Reeve Manvers Dies

Twice reeve of Manvers Twp., and a councillor for several years, Ernest Beer died Tuesday night at his farm home, Highway 7A, Manvers. In his 79th year, he had been in poor health for the past two years, but had continued farming until his death.

Mr. Beer was first elected to the Manvers Council in 1930. He was returned the following year, and in 1932 he was elected deputy-reeve.

After dropping out of municipal politics for two years in 1934, he once again offered himself for election and went back as Reeve. He held the office of Reeve for two years—1934 and '35. Then he retired and did not seek election again.

Mr. Beer particularly distinguished himself on the Northumberland-Durham county council, giving Manvers strong representation.

He was born in Hope Twp. and moved with his family to Manvers when a small boy. For the remainder of his life he farmed in that district and took an exceptionally keen interest in local affairs.

Left are his wife, the former Mary Kerr; three sons—Edgar and Allan, both of Bethany (Allan is a present member of council), and Bruce of Brampton, where he is county agricultural representative; four daughters—Mrs. Fred Barnard of Bailleboro, Mrs. Hugh Davidson of Oakwood, Mrs. Edna Paton of Peterborough, and Miss Betty Beer of Toronto, and a sister, Mrs. Irwin of Cobourg.

Long an active member in Bethany United church, Mr. Beer was a steward and at one time Sunday school superintendent.

The funeral will be from his residence on Highway 7A, about a mile west of the village on Thursday at 2.30 p.m., the Rev. W. Crandall of Bethany United church officiating. Burial will be in Fallis cemetery, Manvers.

Acid Thrown In Face

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 28 — (CP)—Matthew Campbell, 42-year-old barber, had the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid thrown into his face Tuesday when he answered a knock at his shop door. Campbell was blinded by the acid which burned his cheeks, forehead and lips and entered his eyes. Dr. N. W. Woywitka described his condition as "satisfactory" although it is feared he may be blinded permanently. The intruder escaped with $86.

Resort Owners Sweep Way For Conference

Three groups of resort and camp operators in the Kawartha district are meeting this week to discuss general problems that may be presented to the appropriate provincial authorities at the Oct. 7 conference.

Representatives from the Departments of Lands and Forests, Travel and Publicity, and Highways will attend this full-day conference of resort owners, held in the Empress Hotel.

Another reason for the meetings is eventually to organize all the Kawartha Lake operators with a view to improving present tourist-resort facilities. They are sponsored by the Resort Operators Section of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

One of the first steps will be the organizing of a Kawartha Committee giving representation to all interested areas in the related chain of lakes.

Preliminary Meeting

The first gathering was of proprietors from the Rice Lake area at Bewdley, Monday night. About 25 attended from such communities as Hastings, Harwood, Keene, and generally Rice Lake and Lower Otonabee region.

None of their findings have been made public, except one recommendation to the Department of Lands and Forests that more game wardens are needed in that area. Several speakers said it is the largest in the Kawarthas, most heavily populated, and the greatest amount of fishing is done there.

One suggestion was that every resort operator should be appointed a deputy game warden.

Other subjects under discussion were provincial and county roads, highway advertising signs, the advisability of re-stocking Rice Lake, opening and closing dates for the fishing season, and game law enforcement.

Upper Lakes Meeting

Resort operators from Stony, Katchawanooka, Clear and Lovesick Lakes, as well as Deer Bay, will assemble tonight at Irwin Inn at Crowe's Landing. And on Friday others from Pidgeon, Buckhorn and Chemong Lakes will meet at Gail Park in Ennismore at 2 p.m.

TWO HAVE POLIO

Two cases of polio were reported for the week ending September 24 by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. One of the cases was in Port Hope and the other in Brighton village. One case of chickenpox and one of red measles completed the list.

25,000 British Troops Concentrated At Hong Kong

From MICHAEL DAVIDSON
(Special to the London Observer and Peterborough Examiner)

HONG KONG (By Cable) Sept. .., — Twenty-five thousand or more young British soldiers, concentrated in a tiny area of foreign soil, living under active service conditions but without the excitements and incentives of active service, and largely deprived of normal relaaxtion, might be expected to create serious problems of morale.

Yet senior regular officers of the Fortieth Division in Kowloon say they are surprised and gratified by this infant formation's high morale. They ascribe it partly to the fact that for most of the men camping out is still novel enough to be fun even when the weather, as now, is appalling; and partly to the revised "outlook" which nature and the composition of to-day's army has induced.

National Service has brought in such a proportion of highly-educated and critically-minded young men that the old square-bashing, unthinking discipline has been superseded by what one staff officer today called "community thinking"; while the principle that leadership and command are vested in the officers and NCO's remains, the rank and file today are "let into" the Army's mental process—they understand what they are doing and why Men of this Division—some 60 per cent are National Service boys—are largely of the type that, if interested and satisfied they are doing something worth while, will enjoy doing it.

The Fortieth Division was formed in Hong Kong. It is composed of battalions drawn from the King's Own Scottish Borderers, the King's Shropshire Light Infantry, the South Staffordshire Regiment, the Middlesex Regiment,, the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, and the Leicestershire Regiment, together with a Tank regiment and two battalions of Gurkhas.

But from General Festing, the Commander-in-Chief of Hong Kong's combined defence services down, the Army is acutely alive to the urgency of providing every possible means of relaxation: Clubs, hostels, where men on short leave can sleep, rest camps, libraries, and games grounds and equipment for every camp.

Senior officers of the Division are carefully studying the "new" young officer who comes often neither from public school nor from Sandhurst. Only his badges make him different from his men. Psychologically these subalterns start with a disadvantage the old "officer class" type did not have. Whereas the latter had to build a bridge between himself and his men, gradually winning their confidence, affection and respect, today's second-lieutenant starts with too easy a bridge already there—he is "one of them" and has no simple task in gaining their respect.

So the "drill" here for young officers is friendliness with their men without familiarity; their seniors watch carefully to save them from making some psychological blunder which would wreck their chances of establishing real leadership. The difficulties facing these young officers are shown in the remark of a regular sergeant: "These young chaps they make officers nowadays aren't what the officer class used to be — they don't understand men as the others did." What he probably meant was that they understand them too well; there isn't the "gap" which, as one lieutenant-colonel put it, "even the Soviet appreciates you have got to have between officer and man."

With the mechanization and democratization, the Army has become an adventure in psychology. (OFNS Copyright.)

Find RCAF Trainee Unconscious On Road

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 28 (CP) —A 19-year-old RCAF trainee, believed to be from Toronto, was found lying unconscious late Monday night along the edge of Highway No. 2 about 100 yards east of Crumlin.

He was identified as LAC Jack Brett, 19, believed to be of Toronto and to have been training at Greenwood, Nova Scotia.

At first he was believed to have been the victim of a hit-run car.

Hospital authorities discovered he was suffering from partial amnesia.

Brett was visiting in London and had started hitch-hiking home to Toronto when he was apparently overcome by illness.

The letter said cost of the bridge would be included in department estimates for 1950-51, now in course of preparation.

Lakefield Tourist Booth Handled 3,900 Enquiries

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 28—"Give the tourists full value for their money" was the keynote of the address given by Gil Watson of Gil-Mar Lodge to the resort owners who gathered at South Beach Hotel on Wednesday night. The meeting was sponsored by the Tourist Committee of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce and 48 resort owners, some with their wives, were present. They were represented from the districts of Chandos Lake, Stony Lake, Buckhorn, Young's Point, Burleigh Falls and Lakefield.

A full report of the tourist booth operated in Lakefield during the Summer of 1949 was presented and other subjects considered included a report of the 10,000 edition tourist booklet; suggestions and criticisms on the two above mentioned items; four or five ideas for attracting tourists and pleasing them after they get here. Mrs. O'Brien, the booth attendant, reported a total of 3,900 inquiries. A total of 841 people were sent out to accommodation in the surrounding district.

The chairman of the Tourist Committee, Don Hendren, reported that plans were already under way for the booklet and booth for next year. A number of those present expressed their desire to join the Chamber of Commerce and the number of members among the resort operators alone now stands at 40. The hope was expressed that a number of other resort would come forward and join, so that additional strength could be available for tourist promotion plans.

Beware False Advertising

The guest speaker, Gil Watson, made it emphatically clear that resort owners should never be guilty of false advertising. If you have running water, tell them where it is. In some cases it turns out to be the river or a spring 100 yards away! "Only through an organization," he went on to say, "can a district do much in the way of attracting and satisfying tourists. We must work together and if the travellers aren't satisfied with our place, make it your job to get some place suitable to them so they will leave with satisfaction. Keep the rates posted in a prominent spot, give the tourists their dollars' worth and they will come back to you.

Jack Forbes Graduates RCMP Course

Jack Forbes, 19year-old son of Mrs. George Gimblett, 304 King St., is now a fully fledged RCMP constable and has begun his field duty at the far northern port of Churchill.

The Peterborough youth left home in January for the Basic Training Depot at Regina. While there he underwent a rigorous initial training course designed to suit him for the duties of a constable anywhere in Canada.

Examinations had to be passed before he could be transferred to the advanced training depot at Ottawa and he completed them successfully. His passout parade was held the first week in September and after saying good-bye to relatives, he left for Churchill.

He expects to be at that northern Manitoba centre for at least a year.

Forbes, who now tips the scales at 196 pounds, is an excellent athlete. While at PCVS he played hockey, rugby, soccer and basketball. His favorite sport is swimming.

For four years he was a member of the YMCA Swimming Club and always did well in competition. One year he won the trophy for the 15-mile 'Y' marathon.

NOT MODERN WEAPON

Rockets for use in war were introduced by Sir W. Congreve in the 19th century.

IN THE UNIFORM of the RCMP is Jack Forbes, 19, of 304 King St. He is shown after the recent passout parade at Ottawa when he became a full-fledged constable. His first posting was to Churchill where already such clothing as this has been changed for something warmer.

Movie Stars Superstitious Reporter Finds

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28 (AP). —When Frank Morgan, Richard Dix and Sam Wood died last week a prime superstition was further imbedded in this superstitious town.

The old witch's tale that "death comes by threes" has become virtually an accepted fact with omen-conscious film people.

This culture of Dame Fortune is natural in an industry in which luck seems to play an important role. The studios themselves are superstitious. There is no Stage 13 in town (they are called 12A).

Students of horoscopes and numerology abound in Hollywood. And many filmsters avoid like the plague such show business omens of bad luck as whistling in the dressing-room, hat or shoes on a bed, peacock feathers, opal jewellery.

Private Superstitions

Stars have their own superstitions, too. Bette Davis thinks that rainy days are lucky. It rained the day she dropped from her Universal contract. Instead of packing up for New York, she waited out the day. Warners called her and she began her long and successful career there.

Rita Hayworth is superstitious about the color blue. She wears something blue in every scene. Likewise Red Skelton insists on wearing maroon.

Errol Flynn won't take a picture without a medallion around his neck. He says it was given to him by a New Guinea missionary whom he once helped in the jungle.

Lauren Bacall in inseparable from a bracelet which Humphrey Bogart gave her on their first picture together. It was a whistle and the words, "If you need me—just whistle."

Red Apples

The Barrymores send each other red apples at the start of pictures and plays; it's an old family custom. Milton Berle talks to his mother in person or via telephone before beginning a picture, radio or TV show. James Cagney will start no new venture on Sunday.

Quebec-born Glen Ford injects the initials "OPC" into every picture he does. He won't say what they signify, but draws them on covered wagons, mail boxes, or anything handy. Bette Davis heard about it and bet him $50 he would not get the initials into "A Stolen Life." She watched him carefully. At the end of a beach scene, he asked for payment. While reading his lines, he had drawn "OPC" in the sand.

Wyatt, Mrs. W. King, and Mrs. W. McIlvena.

Bull-Gummer Nuptials Held At Warkworth

Warkworth United Church was the scene on Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Zella Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gummer, to Mr. John Allan Bull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bull. The Rev. H. G. Lester performed the ceremony.

A profusion of gladioli, asters and zinnias with ferns and autumn leaves formed a lovely background setting. Mrs. Louis King played traditional wedding music and the groom's sister Mrs. Norman Andrews was soloist. Before the ceremony she sang "I love you truly" and during the signing of the register, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown of her own original design and make. The long torso bodice had a wide collar and off-shoulder effect and the deep neckline was framed in French lace, and the long pointed sleeves were tightly fitted. The skirt fullness extended into a court train that was edged with lace. Embroidered silk net formed a halo that was held in place with orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible and gardenias with streamers tied with carnations.

Her maid of honor was Miss Jean Duffus of Kingston, wearing a frock of pink sheer, and her bridesmaid Miss Gwen Wartman was in a frock of mauve net over taffeta. Misses Betty Gummer and Vivian Bull, sisters of the bride and groom, were junior bridesmaids. Their dresses were of yellow and green net over matching taffeta. The bride's niece Dianne Gummer as flower girl was in pink organdy. Each attendant wore flowers the color of her dress in her hair and they carried bouquets of mauve, pink and white asters.

The groom was attended by his cousin Mr. Louis King. Ushers were Jack Gummer and Bill Bull.

The reception was at the bride's home where her mother received wearing a dress of Devon green crepe with black felt hat and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore grey crepe with black accessories and corsage of carnations.

For travelling the bride chose a tailored suit of grey gabardine, grey accessories and a black shortie coat, and her going-away corsage was of pink roses. After a trip to United States the couple will live at Warkworth.

Police Ladies On Scenic Drive

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ontario Police Association opened meetings Tuesday morning at the Empress Hotel simultaneously with the Police Men who are holding their 17th annual convention in the city this week.

Mrs. Harold Mesley, president of Peterborough Ladies' Auxiliary, extended a welcome to 53 out-of-town members. Mrs. E. Miles, of London, Ontario, president of the Ontario Police Association Ladies' Auxiliary, took the chair for the reading of the minutes, communications and business discussions.

A scenic drive through the Kawarthas district entertained the ladies during the afternoon and they stopped at South Beach Hotel on Clear Lake for supper. Afterward they returned to the city and joined the men for an enjoyable evening program.

Some unfinished business was taken up when the women convened this morning. They were addressed by Dr. Agnes K. Moffat who spoke on "Women's Structure," showing diagrams of the organs discussed in an informative talk.

A trip through the Quaker Oats Company was the climax to a sight-seeing tour of the city this afternoon.

After the softball game this evening, conventioners will enjoy an old time dance in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Golf Winners At Peterborough

A "honey pot" competition for 18-hole golfers at the Peterborough Club field day Tuesday was won by Mrs. H. Baptie, and Mrs A. McConkey was winner of a spoon. The low net score was held by Mrs. W. Vanstone, with Mrs. Baptie second and Mrs. H. Bletcher third.

Nine hole players had an even holes competition which was won by Mrs. F. W. Blaiklock. Mrs. B. Bell won a spoon, and was also low net winner. Mrs. S. McBride, Miss M. Hatton and Mrs. Blaiklock were tied for second low net.

Plans have been made for the Club's closing field day next Tuesday. Play will be started in the morning, buffet luncheon served in the club house at noon followed by a business meeting and tea will be served at the conclusion of activities.

NEWCOMERS TO PETERBOROUGH who have taken director's positions on the YWCA staff. (left) Miss Marion Foster, BA, from Calgary, graduate in social work from the University of BC, program director. (right) Miss Audrey Hustwitt, graduate in Physical and Health Education from the University of Toronto, swimming director.

Meet New Staff Members At YW Open House Thursday

Peterborough YWCA enjoys a renowned reputation throughout the Dominion and it may well be expected to improve this position in the coming year. Open House on Thursday evening will be highlighted with the introduction of four new staff members. Miss Leta Brownscombe, general secretary announces the appointment of these highly qualified women to conduct a full time schedule of fall and winter activities.

Miss Marion Foster, a westerner, has come here as program director, and arrived just a week ago. She takes a new position, that has been created to fill a need. Her work will be to interrelate the gym, swim and club departments in their activities with an eye to preventing overlapping and also to promoting their projects throughout the Y. She will also help the young adult clubs in program planning.

Experience in several Ys as well as education gives Miss Foster an excellent background for the position. She is a graduate in social work of the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, and last year qualified for her Bachelor of Arts degree. Several years after completing her social work were spent in the Edmonton Y, then she went to Victoria and later returned to her home in Calgary and took a position with the Y there. Each followed a program somewhat similar to the local institution.

Winter Swimming

Swimmers will again be able to continue this sport throughout the winter and non-swimmers to prepare for a good summer at the lakes. Lessons for all ages and all classes of swimmers will be given by Miss Audrey Hustwitt of Toronto, who takes charge of this department.

Miss Hustwitt received a degree in physical and health education at the University of Toronto in June, and was highly recommended for this position by the school. She plans to follow the former swimming schedule closely but she will also teach ornamental swimming and diving and hopes to work up displays.

Previous to graduation, Miss Hustwitt followed her sport to the outdoors in the summer. One season was spent at a Girl Guide camp near Winnipeg as waterfront and program director and three at Glen Bernard Camp. For four years she taught swimming for the Toronto Board of Education during June and continued this work through two summers. At university he was featured in synchronized swimming, having previously belonged to the Mermaid and Toronto Ornamental Clubs. She is also a qualified Red Cross water safety examiner.

The steady stream of wholesome youth that is the trade mark of Peterborough YW very frequently is stopped in its course at the "desk." Whether to pay fees, gain information, deposit purses or just to "use the telephone," their wants are quietly and efficiently satisfied by the person in charge. In the afternoons and on Wednesday evening it will be Mrs. R. L. McConkey, who has recently moved to Peterborough. Her experience was gained in the Montreal Y, residence branch.

Only a small group of Y girls reside in the building but their care is none the less important. Mrs. D. Aylward, formerly a club leader in Parrington YWCA, England, has taken over the residence superintendent's office. In several months she has gained more and more the confidence of the girls in her charge that is her desire. But she wishes they would remember to tell her when they find their misplaced belongings as quickly as they report losses. Mrs. Aylward plans to set up a fire drill system which she feels is necessary in a building of this type.

Miss Lenore Edwards is continuing as junior girls' work secretary and already she has assisted in organizing a new club in this department. Health education is again under the direction of Miss Caroline Littlefield. As well as her gym and ballet classes she is giving coaching in basketball, volleyball, badminton, and archery.

Those not familiar with the Y or who want to get an insight in other departments will especially enjoy the Open House program. Starting at seven-thirty Thursday evening, there will be a swim demonstration, gym demonstration, discussion of clubs. Then, entertainment by the residence girls, a sing song and finally lunch.

King's Own Class Celebrates 32nd Birthday

King's Own Bible Class of St. James' United Church celebrated the 32nd anniversary Monday evening when the president, Mrs. G. Pearson welcomed about 50 members and friends who later sat down to a chicken supper convened by Mrs. G. Harris and her committee.

Mrs. J. Hocking and Mrs. S. Ivison were in charge of the table setting and decorations, which were carried out in pink and white with a large birthday cake centering the head table. Pink candles were in silver holders and bud vases held pink and white baby asters.

At the head table were the past presidents who were introduced by Mrs. Pearson and each presented with a lovely corsage, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ball. Mrs. A. Davis, a past president, was unable to attend, and those present were Mrs. H. F. Doig, Mrs. E. Kitney, Mrs. G. Harris Mrs. G. Vannest, Mrs A. Rosborough, Mrs. J. Freeman and Mrs. Hogan.

The class was pleased to have a valued member with them for this occasion, Mrs. A. Wilson, 92 years old, whom they all call "Mother."

Mrs. A. E. Prest, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school expressed good wishes. Two solos were sung by Mrs. J. Telford, principal of King Edward School accompanied by Mr. Jim Abraham who also played piano numbers.

The Rev. F. Craik introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Telford, who gave an interesting address on "Consumers, Survey."

Mrs. G. Rowe and Mrs. R. Tate moved a vote of thanks to all who made the evening such a pleasant event.

A short business session followed the banquet with Mrs. L. Gibson in charge of a devotional period.

Arrangements are being made for the concert by the Campbellford choralions on October 14.

DOROTHY DIX

Truth Clarifies Situation Who Fathered the Child?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are young couple in very modest circumstances, just getting established. Recently my husband brought me home from a business trip a bracelet. I need so many things more than jewelry that I just couldn't help showing my disappointment. When he saw how I felt, he gave me a $20 bill and said he would never give me anything but money in the future, and that henceforth I could get my own presents. He was hurt, but when I tell him I am sorry he says: "It's all right, but I'll never buy you another thing." Do you think I made a mistake, and that I am being practical to the exclusion of more valuable traits?

E. C.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: The trouble with practical people is that they are not always good judges of values, and they do not realize that a bit of foolishness that expresses a sentiment may be the most worthwhile thing that it is possible for money to purchase.

That is the mistake you made about your bracelet. You thought your husband wasted his money in buying it when he might have put it in something substantial, like a washing machine or a vacuum cleaner or a new set of pots and pans. No doubt you are right from the practical point of view. But your husband bought you the bracelet because it symbolized to him your youth, your pretty arms, because you still had for him the glamour of beauty and he wanted to hang you with jewels, as every man in love has always desired to adorn his sweetheart, and he had a glow of joyous anticipation in thinking of your delight in it.

Let Him Down

Thetn you let him down because he had been extravagant, because he wasted his money, because he hadn't brought you something useful. You've killed something in him that will never come alive again.

When a man begins giving his wife practical presents or money and telling her to buy what she wants, he may love her still, but the romance is gone. The joy of giving to her is one. He doesn't day-dream about how she looked in this or that, or picture her joy and how her eyes will brighten at a surprise. He is afraid of getting the wrong thing. It is safest to give her a check. And the champagne has turned to dishwater.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I expect to be married in the near future to a big-hearted boy who has no system whatever about anything. I feel that we should handle our income on a budget basis and start systematic savings. We contemplate putting down a little payment on a home. Do you think haphazard saving would be best, since it would suit his easy-going nature? Or do you think I should stick to my point, which he agrees is right and probably would be best? He dislikes putting our marriage on a business basis.

SYSTEMATIC

ANSWER: I am a thrifty soul myself, always for systematic saving. I have seen so much of the misery that comes with wasting and the despair that comes with old age that has spent as it went along and laid up nothing for the rainy day tht is sure to come to every one sooner or later.

There is no such thing as haphazard saving. You have to do it in accordance with some iron-bound rule that you make and have the strength not to break. Othherwise you will never save anything, for there is always something that you want, some pleasure that you would linke to indulge in, and put off saving to the day when all your desires will be satisfied. Of course, that time never comes.

When you are getting married and beginning a new life is the best time to start your husband to saving. Start in then with your budget. Make him realize what things cost, and tht if you deny yourself one thing you may have something else. By all means, start paying for a home .To keep in debt for the right things is one of the best way of getting rich.

As for the young man's fear of putting marriage on a business basis, why marriage is a business proposition, and the only way you can make a success of it is by properly financing it. The young couples who are saving and paying for their homes, who are free from the anxiety of want, have a thousand times better chance of being happy than those who spend everything as they go along, and who live always with the fear of what would happen if the breadwinner should lose his job or get sick.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: When I married I had a child 3 years old. This child thinks that my husband is her father. Must I tell her who her right father is? Shall I tell her now while she is young, or later? Or shall I not tell her at all?

MERA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you were a widow, why not tell the child that her own father is dead, but that her new father loves her just as well as if she were his own little girl? But don't make a point of the matter. Let her know it and put it in the back of her mind. If she is an illegitimate child, don't tell her anything about her father at all. Take a chance on her never finding it out.

DOROTHY DIX.

Women's Support Asked by CAC On Dollar Crisis

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 (CP)—Impact of dollar devaluation upon the consumer was described today by Mrs. F. E. Wright of Port Credit, Ont., as "a matter of grave concern." Mrs. Wright is president of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the oening of the association's two-day annual meeting, Mrs. Wright urged women across Canada to support the C.A.C., which in the two years since it was formed has worked toward an improved standard of living in the Dominion.

"Impact of the devaluation of the dollar and the international trade situation upon the consumer is a matter of grave concern at this time," Mrs. Wright told the delegates, many representing national women's organizations.

"We are seeking advice from you on ways in which we can help to cope with the difficulties arising from these problems," she said. "With the cost of living at its present high peak, the effect of the recent increase in freight-rates also will be examined.

Mrs. Wright said "to enable us to do the work as it should be done, we need the support of every woman in Canada . . . for the strength and informed opinion that comes from a wide membership.

"With the complexity of modern living, we can be more intelligent citizens and better homemakers if we can relate our own practical endeavors go the economic trends of our times, and with united effort and through democratic means, be a tremendous force in maintaining stability."

Mark St. WMS Hears Reports

Mark St. WMS met Tuesday afternoon in the church parlours with Mrs. E. Alton in the chair for the opening. She read an interesting thought for the month and led in prayer. Announcement of the sectional rally at St. Andrew's Church on October 6 was made. Mrs. H. Scriver announced a Mission Circle rally at Mark St. on October 5. It was decided to hold a thankoffering meeeting on a Sunday evening with a guest speaker.

Mrs. F. Stevenson spoke on temperance. Mrs. A. J. Macklin reported on clothing parcels sent overseas and asked for donations for a shipment in November. She also reported on Christian Stewardship and led in prayer for the adopted missionary. Mrs. E. Dinner reported 50 calls made during the summer. Mrs. K. Ferguson announced a Baby Band Auxiliary tea to be held October 19. Mrs. E. Lillico read correspondence including a letter from Miss Bamfoeth in India.

Mrs. J. Hunter took charge for the devotional period which opened with quiet music played by Mrs. F. Stevenson. Mrs. Hunter gave some thoughts on prayer, followed by the Lord's Prayer and a psalm read in unison. Prayer was offered by Mrs. E. Lillico and Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Hunter read a scripture portion. Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. F. Samis, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. E. King conducted an interesting program introducing the Study Book.

6—In Memoriams

INNES—In memory of my mother, Mrs. Gordon Innes, who passed away Sept. 24, 1925.
Memories are all I have
Of the one who is so dear.
All I can do is think of her
Each day of the year.
Until at last, in God's good time,
With her I shall abide.
And the one who is so dear to me
Will be ever at my side.
—Ever remembered by daughter Mildred, George and grandchildren Ellis.

JACKSON—In loving memory of James K. Jackson, who passed away one year ago, September 28, 1948.
Your dear kind face to see,
Your loving smile, your welcome voice
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who have such can tell
O! the grief that is borne in silence
For the one I loved so well.
—Sadly missed by wife Viola, Robert, Louise, Dorothy, Audrey and Mary.

Trial For Rape To Go Forward Says Grand Jury

COBOURG, Sept. 28 (ENS) — True bills for rape and carnal knowledge of a girl between the ages of 14 and 16 were brought in by the grand jury Tuesday against 22-year-old Robert Broome of Anderson, South Carolina. Broome was employed by a circus at the time it played in Cobourg on August 21 and it is alleged that he raped a 15-year-old Haldimand Township girl in a sleeping van on the circus lot.

The sister of the girl told the court that she and her other two sisters went to the circus and took in both the afternoon and evening performances. She and the complainant met some circus employees during the afternoon and were also with them in the evening. Around two in the morning, while looking for her sister, she found her in one of the circus trailers.

The girl, said to have been raped, testified that she met Ronnie Slosser, employee of the circus and that she was with him both afternoon and evening. Past midnight, while waiting for her sisters, she went for a short walk with Slosser and as it was cold she entered one of the vans. There were bunks inside and she and Slosser sat down on one and talked. Later another man came in and Slosser went out. The alleged rape occurred after that, she related.

Under cross-examination by Harvey Brent, witness said that it was correct that there was no room between the upper and lower bunks to sit upright and that she had to lean back on her elbows and she admitted an exchange of kisses with Slosser. She testified, however, that she resisted Broome's advances but that he overpowered her. She estimated that she was alone with Broome for over an hour.

Evidence of medical nature was given by Dr. W. W. Wilkins of Cobourg and Verda Vincent of the Attorney General's department.

ALL A MISTAKE — Pretty 21-year-old Ruth Comfort, University of Toronto student and daughter of Charles F. Comfort, noted Canadian war artist, was retained 24 hours by U.S. immigration officials at Ellis Island on her return from an international student conference in Holland. She was accused of making an inflammatory speech aboard the vessel bringing her home. U.S. State Department now announces it was all a "regrettable and unfortunate mistake." Prince of Wales Graduation

A large gathering of parents and friends assembled in the kindergarten room of Prince of Wales School Tuesday evening for the graduation exercises.

Mrs. F. Gray presided at the meeting, assisted by Mrs. H. Parnell who led the devotions and Mrs. P. W. Johnson who accompanied on the piano for the various musical numbers. Mrs. J. Donaldson spoke briefly on dental health week.

Valedictory addresses were given by Margaret Parnell and Ann-Lynn Hamilton. Both pupils spoke with pride of their school, and remarked on the patience and understanding displayed by the teachers at all times.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. James M. Fraser of the Chamber of Commerce. He spoke on the aims and aspirations of both local and Canadian groups. He emphasized the fact that as long as there exists in a community a margin between what a city is, and what it should be, then there is a need for a Chamber of Commerce. It is truly a representative body, comprised of men from all walks of life: business men, professional men, farmers, and artisans. "It is a voluntary organization of "forward-looking" citizens bound together by their mutual interest in promoting commercial and industrial enterprises."

Mr. Fraser touched briefly on phases of the program adopted by the Chamber of Commerce and concluded by stating that this group hoped to broaden their activities by assisting in a nation-wide education program in the not too distant future.

A vote of thanks was given by Mrs. Percy Killingbeck to Mr. Fraser, and to all who assisted.

Mr. R. Rutherford and Mr. H. Wilson presented graduation certificates to the pupils in their respective classes.

The graduation list is as follows:

Gaye Bonisteel, Robert Boyce, June Byer, Ann Marie Charlebois, Marvel Dunlop, John Drummond, Anne Gray, Robert Green, Terrance Heard, Frederick Jay, Wayne Johnston, Marten Kitchen, Robert Leach, Kenneth Lockie, Deane Lynch, Donald Moffatt, Garry Orde, June Outwater, Margaret Parnell, Donald Robertson, Betty Rosborough, David Simpson, Wayne Stevenson, Robert Vass, Bobbie Williams.

Mr. Wilson conducted a lively singsong, followed by the serving of refreshments to graduates and friends by Mrs. H. Kearns, assisted by members of the Home and School executive.

Doctor Receives Retirement Gift

COBOURG, Sept. 28 (ENS) — Dr. George Kells, who retires next month as superintendent of the Ontario Hospital here, was honored by the staff yesterday at a presentation party. He was for 25 years with the Ontario Hospital Service as psychiatrist. The address was read by C. R. Wartman, the bursar, and the presentation of an engraved rosewood cane and travelling bag was made by Miss E. Porter and Dr. S. O. Morris. On behalf of the staff, Miss E. Ralls presented Mrs. Kells with a bouquet of roses.

Unwilling To Testify

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 28 (AP)—Fear of legal entanglement has reduced the number of Noronic survivors willing to testify voluntarily, Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said Tuesday. Last week Dr. Gerber conducted an informal hearing in Cleveland at which C. Ralph Willson of Cleveland charged that Noronic Capt. William Taylor had been drunk at the time of the Sept. 17 disaster which claimed 132 lives. Capt. Taylor immediately denied the charge and a suit for $250,000 charging slander was filed here in his name against Willson.

"You, sir, do you want real-life problems in your films, or do you come to the pictures merely to escape?"

Fashions Chosen By Television

Women viewers in and around London have decided that choosing fashions the television way is by far the least tiring. At the latest televised fashion show, the new autumn and winter home and export fashions from many of London's leading dress designers were displayed. Bettie Spurling, who was herself one of Britain's most popular mannequins and "cover girls,' arranged the collection and took considerable trouble to round up some of the prettiest mannequins in time for the show.

The girls displayed evening gowns, afternoon dresses, country and formal suits and overcoats with emphasis on accessories such as handbags and jewellery. It was notable that the ordinary pearl necklet is out; even the pearl choker is a little outmoded; what is fashionable now is a linked collar of pearls almost wide enough to cover the shoulders—a kind of shoulder-yoke, in fact. Shoes, too, are changing. Ankle-straps are going out and in their place slim, undecorated court shoes are being worn.

Red Cross Participating In Dental Health Week

Monthly meeting of the Peterborough branch of Canadian Red Cross Society was held in the Red Cross Rooms, Tuesday, at 3:30, President Mrs. C. J. Ray in the chair.

Emphasis was placed on Dental Health Week, in which Peterborough branch is participating. The Red Cross exhibit of nutrition at the Public Library is in charge of Mrs. A. Sollitt. In addition, the Peterborough branch is co-operating with the Dental Health Committee and the Apsley branch in arranging a meeting at Apsley this evening to create interest in dental health in that district. This meeting is also to take the form of a reception to introduce Dr. Herbert J. Parkin and Mrs. Parkin to the community and to welcome Miss L. Grover, the new nurse in charge of the Outpost Hospital.

Peterborough branch has succeeded in procuring the services of Dr. Parkin under its community doctor's services plan. Dr Parkin opened an office in Apsley September 1.

Mrs. R. J. Ward undertook the distribution of wool for children's knitted garments. Mr. D. Loomis and Mr. R. M. Glover reported on soldiers' and civilian relief.

Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell reported on the loan cupboard and Mrs. W. M. Cruthers spoke for the Visiting Committee. She will be glad to receive names of any who wish a call from a member of her group.

The Junior Red Cross is reopening in the class rooms and Miss E. Dix reported their activities.

Mrs. W. Hinds, convener of swimming and water safety, gave a glowing picture of the progress made in swimming this summer when her committee worked in co-operation with Recreation Commission and the YWCA and YMCA. About 200 children received Red Cross awards. Proposed plans for the winter months in home nursing were outlined by Mrs. J. Sharp.

Reports on disaster relief and the blood donor service were given by Mrs. Ray. Stress was laid upon the necessity of preparedness at all times for disaster, and it was proposed that a number of panel trucks be lined up for emergency ambulances.

Confiscate Bulletin

PRAGUE, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Czechoslovak government confiscated the United States Infomation Sevice's Daily Bulletin distibuted hee today, claiming that it contained an "insult" to Russia. The alleged insult, the Czechs said, was contained in the Bulletin's epint of a New Yok Times editoial which suggested that Geman scientists had helped the Russians in discoveing the secet of the atomic bomb.

Social Situations

SITUATION: Your are staying at a small resort hotel.

WRONG WAY: Ignore the other guests at the hotel when you meet them on the grounds.

RIGHT WAY: Speak to guests you meet. A pleasant "Good morning" or "Good evening" is plain courtesy and will not be taken as an indication that you are trying to get acquainted.

IS BACKACHE JUST A SIGN OF AGE?

Many people suffer an aching back needlessly—believing you must expe a few aches and pains when you're "getting on" in years!

But backache is often caused by the faulty action of kidneys and liver. See how much better you feel after taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and your kidneys and liver both filter out impurities from your bloodstream. That's because this time-proven Dr. Chase remedy treats two conditions at once—contains special remedial ingredients for both the kidney and liver disorders which often cause backache.

If you're feeling worn-out, tired, headachy—with painful joints and aching back—look to your kidneys and liver. Try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills tonight. At all drug counters. 16

"Why accept anything less than the most Beautiful BUY of all?"

Stand by for a Chevrolet and get the most for your money

It's your money you're spending, and you're entitled to get the most motor car, in return. All Canada says that means Chevrolet — the most beautiful buy of all—and the car that gives EXTRA VALUES in every phase and feature of motoring. It brings you fine-car advantage after fine-car advantage, from Fisher Body Styling and Valve-in-Head performance to Centre-Point steering ease and the greater riding comfort of the longest, heaviest car in its field. And offers these advantages at the lowest prices! So, why accept anything less than the most beautiful buy of all?... Invest in a Chevrolet and get the most for your money!

Insist on getting these EXTRA VALUES exclusive to Chevrolet in its field!

WORLD'S CHAMPION VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE — the extra efficient power plant that's setting the trend for the industry.

FISHER BODY STYLING AND LUXURY — found elsewhere only on higher priced cars.

CENTRE-POINT STEERING — giving maximum steering ease with minimum driver-fatigue or "car-wander" and found elsewhere only on costlier cars.

CERTI-SAFE HYDRAULIC BRAKES (with Dubl-Life Rivetless Brake Linings) — assuring swifter, safer stops for you and your family.

FISHER UNISTEEL BODY CONSTRUCTION — with steel welded to steel all around you for maximum solidity, quietness and safety.

CURVED WINDSHIELD with PANORAMIC VISIBILITY — supplying that extra vision which means extra safety, exclusive to Chevrolet in its field.

LONGEST, HEAVIEST CAR IN ITS FIELD with WIDEST TREAD, as well — giving more room, more riding-comfort, more road-steadiness and safety.

5-INCH WIDE-BASE WHEELS (with Extra Low-Pressure Tires) — the widest rims in the entire low-price field, providing greater ride-stability.

EXTRA ECONOMICAL TO OWN—OPERATE—MAINTAIN — and bringing you more when you trade; for Chevrolets are most wanted — new or used!

Thanksgiving At Two Churches

APSLEY, Sept. 28—(ENS)—Harvest Thanksgiving services were held in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Owenbrook, and St. George's Anglican Church, Apsley, on Sunday. Both churches were decorated with vegetables, fruit and flowers. Ruth Hester sang, accompanied by Derek Hester.

A special service was conducted by Rev. C. A. G. Spence, chaplain of local branch 381 of Canadian Legion at St. George's in the morning.

Donald Hester conducted the services in both the other churches.

Rally Day was observed in Trinity United Sunday School with a good attendance of pupils and visitors. Special music was supplied by the pupils.

LAKEHEAD PORT

Port Arthur, Ont., was formerly called Prince Arthur's Landing.

Nearly 3 Hours To Land Muskie

HAVELOCK, Sept. 28 (ENS)—Sailing around Crowe Lake to tire a muskie which offered too strong a resistance to be landed, Stanley Towes, Belmont Lake, took two hours and 40 minutes to catch a 29 lb. fish measuring 44 inches in length and 19½ inches in girth. Mr. Towes was acting as guide for Lloyd Wannamaker and Chas. Fair of Frankford.

RULED 304 YEARS

The House of Romanoff was the ruling house of Russia from 1613 to the revolution in 1917.

Anglican Church Marks 87th Year

ROSENEATH, Sept. 28—(ENS)—Anniversary services were held at St. James' Anglican Church on Sunday, marking the 86th milestone in the church's history. The church was officially dedicated in 1863.

The building has been recently wired for electricity and the new lights were used for the first time on Sunday. The interior of the church was lavishly decorated with Autumn flowers and foliage by the members of the WA.

The services were marked with the singing of special anniversary hymns with Miss Doreen Nichol at the organ.

Canon C. R. Spencer occupied the pulpit at the morning service and Rev. Bedford-Jones, rector of St. Peter's, Cobourg, was the guest speaker at the evening service.

Will Admit Germans

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 — (CP) — Resources Minister Gibson told the Commons Monday the government now is prepared to consider applications for immigration to Canada from certain classifications of German Nationals. Applications from close relatives of persons living in Canada would be considered and dealt with by order-in-council.

India Crushes Communism In Feudal Hyderabad State

HYDERABAD, India, Sept. 28—(AP)— The government of India, which found itself face to face with one of its knottiest Communist problems when it took over the princely State of Hyderabad, now believes it has the situation under control, but it is taking no risks.

Peasants of Hyderbad's southeastern district of Warangal and Angonda, driven to desperation by oppression of feudal landlords, had welcomed Communist organizers. By the time Indian troops reached this corner the Communists were solidly entrenched.

Soon after his installation a year ago, Hyderabad's Military Governor, Maj.Gen. J. N. Chaudhuri, launced a vigorous two-pronged anti-Communist campaign.

One prong was revision of the land tenure laws. The other was an order to shoot on sight any disrupters of the peace.

At the end of a year, the governor believes the campaign has brought permanent benefits.

Warangal and Nalgonda until last year provided flagrant examples of absentee landlordism. Huge tracts of land were owned —but never visited— by the Nizam and his nobles.

Rent Grants.

Rent collectors were the tyrants on the scene. Their words was law and there was no appeal.

The two districts together cover about 10,000 square miles and have a population of about 3,000,000.

Communists armed the peasants and trained them for guerrilla fighting.

Operating swiftly in the political vacuum that followed the Nizam's surrender, the Communists set up their own local and district governments. They tried past "offenders" and hanged them from the nearest trees. They distributed the lands among the tillers.

Chaudhuri abolished absentee landlordism and issued strict orders not to tolerate lawlessness of any kind and to "shoot at sight" those whose movements were suspicious.

About 4,000 Communists now now in jail. About 100 Communists, some in their teens, have been convicted of murder and sentenced to death.

The Truth about Nylon Stockings

There is quite a lot of confusion about how to wear nylon stockings. Should they be turned inside-out? Should they be worn with the seams on the inside? Here are the true answers to these questions — and an end to the confusion about how to wear nylons.

The question of how to wear stockings first came up some years ago. Many women discovered that by turning their silk stockings inside-out, they could get a duller, sheerer stocking appearance. And to achieve this duller, no-sheen look, even the best groomed women were willing to sacrifice a part of their good grooming by wearing the seams of their stockings on the outside.

Well-Groomed Women always Wear Their Nylons with the Seams Inside

Actually women did not have to go to the trouble of turning their nylons inside-out. A leading Canadian manufacturer, the Butterfly Hosiery Company Limited, has for years been making stockings inside out through Butterfly's exclusive reverse-knit process. Only Butterfly nylons have that sheerer, softer, duller, no-sheen look already on the outside. And important too, Butterfly seams are on the inside where they belong.

Now that Butterfly nylons are in full supply again, Canadian women may have all the things they look for in smart stocking appearance, with no turning necessary.

Butterfly nylons are already inside-out for you (We call it Smart-Side-Out). And the seam is on the inside—where it belongs.
